MORNING STAR AND CATHOLIC MESSENGER.

NEW ORLEANS, SUNDAY, JULY 5, 1868.

MISCELLANEOUS IRISH NEWS.

ANTRIM.—The Belfast Northern Star of a late date says that Father Richardson, whose efforts during the month of September, 1867, to establish in Belfast the temperance society known by the name of "God's Truce," were so successful, is again on a visit to that town, with the object of enrolling new members in the association, and of rekindling the ardor and confirming the resolution of those who joined during his former visit. It understands that numerous adherents are attaching themselves to the society.

When Flynn, the ruffian street preacher, was arrested and brought before the magistrates in Belfast, Mr. O'Donnell, R. M., thus addressed him: "The magistrates here will interpose their authority, and will not allow a person like you—a vulgar, ignorant, and fanatical firebrand—to come here and create a disturbance." Had the English magistrates so treated the infamous Murphy, what an amount of mischief would have been prevented? With them the devil drives.

A Belfast correspondent, under date of June first, says: The impending general election has commenced to create a little interest here. It is confidently believed that an effort will be made to give a third member to us, and that should the principle of representing minorities be adhered to in the Irish bill, it is not improbable that you may see a moderate Liberal one of the representatives of Belfast.

CARLOW.—The new Catholic church of Arles was solemnly dedicated by the Rev. James Walshe, D.D., Bishop of Kildare and Leighlin, on Sunday, 1st ult., under the title of the Church of the Sacred Heart." The new church, built on the site of the old one, is magnificently situated, and belongs to the Gothic style of architecture, and to that particular class once so much in use and known as the "Early Decorated."

CAVAN.—A Cavan correspondent says: The Liberals throughout the county are most indignant at the figure Cavan cut in the late important divisons in Parliament. We are able to return a true Liberal if a presentable gentleman offered himself. The heart of Cavan is sound, and the priests of Kilmore will make a determined stand against any ascendancy candidate that may offer. No local man of influence has yet put forward his claims to support.

CLARE.—It is said that John Dunbar, Esq., of the Temple, London, the ex-Indian judge, will be a candidate for the representation of the borough of Ennis.

CORK.—A Clonakilty correspondent of the Dublin Freeman says: In anticipation that this county will be divided into two ridings by the new reform bill, the Liberal party, as well as the Tories, are contemplating the probabilities of the new situation. If the division finally resolved on by the House will include, in the western district, Clonakilty, Bantry, Skibbereen, and even Dunmanway, there is no reason why the Liberals should not return one of their own choice. In that case, it is said that Mr. McCarthy Downing will be invited; others allege that Vincent Scully will try his luck; while a third party are understood to favor the pretensions of one learned in the law.

A Youghal correspondent says, in reference to a candidate for that borough: The merits of Mr. Francis Lyons, the present mayor of Cork, and son to Dr. Lyons, who was "father of the Liberal party" in Cork for years, and who represented the beautiful city up to his death, are very favorably spoken of. So also of Sir John Arnott, as well as a local landlord, Mr. Little.

The Cork Herald of a late date says: A few days ago a party of pleasure-seekers, belonging to the neighborhood of Dunmanway, visited Roscarberry. In the course of their excursion one of the party, named Beamish, more adventurous than his companions, went on a precipitous cliff, from which he fell. The fall was from a great height, and in the descent, which terminated fatally, the unfortunate man was fearfully mangled by the projecting rocks.

The Limerick Reporter announces the death of the Very Rev. Dean Hayes, of Melbourne. This sad and unexpected event occurred recently at Gayfield, near Dublin, in the fifty-fifty year of his age. The Very Rev. Dean Hayes was a native of Cork, a member of the Augustinian Community in that city, and for the last twenty-five years a resident of Melbourne, where he was highly respected by every one.

DUBLIN.—The Nation of the 6th ult. says: The three young men, J. J. McGrath, R. F. Stockwell, and J. Graham, whose kidnapping by the police on the 16th March last we commented on at the time, have, after a causeless incarceration of nearly three months, been let out of prison. R. F. Stockwell, upon heavy bail being given for his future good and peaceful behavior, (as if he had been guilty of any other conduct in the past,) is graciously permitted to reside in Ireland; but the other two victims of detective "suspicion" are banished, at their own expense, beyond the seas for the term of their natural lives. In conformity with their sentence of transportation, without trial, they sailed on the 4th June for New York, and no doubt, carry into their exile an appreciative gratitude for the benefits they have derived from the British constitution as it practically works in Ireland.

The Munster News of a late date says: God help the Irish! The greed of the government for their poor savings is again betrayed in the effort to grab another deposit. The other day they proposed to make a haul of the toll levied on drunkards and other transgressors, and transfer the sums to their full exchequer; and now they are aiming at taking the funds of minors and others from the law courts of Ireland and burying them in their "consolidated" and already crammed money bags. Great Britain is wallowing in wealth, and still, like the daughter of the horse-leech, her cry is for more. This is the evidence: "In the House of Commons, on Thursday, Mr. Sclater Booth obtained leave to bring in a bill for transfering the fee funds of the courts of chancery and exchequer in Ireland to the consolidated fund."

The Kingtown correspondent of the Irish Times, under date 3d ult., says: Augustine E. Costello, who was recently convicted, at the late special commission, of having joined in the "Jacknell Expedition," along with Halpin, Warren, and others, and sentenced to twelve years' penal servitude, came over here this morning from England, in the royal mail steamer Leinster. The convict, who appeared in good health and spirits, has, since his conviction, been confined in Milbank prison. On landing, he was at once taken to the ordinary mail train in waiting, where a strong detachment of the local metropolitan police, under Inspector Richard Gallagher, surrounded the convict, and had him conveyed quietly, on arrival at Westland row, to Mountjoy prison. It is understood that Costello's being brought back to this country is in consequence of a writ of error, which has been applied for and granted on his behalf.

The same journal adds: Patrick Meares, who, at the special commission for Fenianism, had been released from Kilmainham prison by order of the lord lieutenant—who has also remitted the remainder of his sentence—left for Liverpool, to embark there for Australia. It may be recollected that this man was arrested near Dundrum, in the county of Dublin, on the 6th of March, along with Patrick Doran, who was tried with the celebrated General Thomas F. Burke, and found guilty of high treason, when they were sentenced to be hanged, which was afterward commuted to penal servitude for life.

KILDARE.—Dr. Gregory, F.R.C.S.I., was recently elected medical officer for the Robertstown and Kilmeague dispensary district, at a salary of £100 per annum.

KILKENNY.—A well-to-do farmer, named Sullivan, residing at Kilmanagh, county Kilkenny, died on the 3d ult., from the effects of hurts, received on the previous day.

KING'S COUNTY.—A correspondent, writing from Parsonstown, under date 1st ult., says: The Liberal party of the King's county will soon be "up and doing."

LEITRIM.—A Carrick-on-Shannon correspondent, under date of May 31, says: The county Leitrim electors will make a bold effort to give Dr. Brady a proper colleague. The anti-Catholic cry got up in England by the Tories, and the "No Popery" riots which their Murphys are stimulating, will produce fruit for "religious equality" even here.

The Anglo Celt of a late date says: We have learned from a reliable source, that the tenantry on a certain estate in Innismagrath, county Leitrim, are suffering the fate of the oppressed with bitter anguish. Since 1861 the rents have been doubled, and in some instances trebled. The rents due on the first of May had to be paid within twenty-four hours, and with the receipt a notice to quit on the first of November next was served. We heartily sympathize with the poor people, and we shall take special care to bring their case most prominently before the public.

LIMERICK.—The Limerick Reporter says: We regret to record the death of Rev. John Owens, O. P., (who but a very few weeks ago received sub-deacon's orders,) at the early age of twenty-one years, in the convent of the Dominican Fathers, at Mettray, in France, after a protracted illness, which he bore with the most perfect resignation to the Divine will. He was the eldest son of Mr. John Owens, of Upper Henry street, Limerick, and was esteemed and beloved by the members of the religious order to which he had attached himself in youth, and of which, from his acquirements and virtues, he promised, if life had been vouchsafed him, to be an ornament.

It is said that Col. Dickson will offer himself again for the representation of the city of Limerick in Parliament.

MAYO.—On the 3d ult., three gentlemen, staying at Bole's hotel, Newport, hired a boat from a young man named Clinton to take a run through the beautiful islands of Clew Bay. After proceeding a few miles the wind blew fresh, and the boat got capsized, and were it not for the strength and good swimming qualities of Clinton, who brought them separately safe to land, the party would have been lost, as they could not swim. It may be mentioned that the gentlemen rewarded Clinton very honorably for his clever and successful effort in saving them, by presenting him with a purse of sovereigns, and promising to assist him in his future career.

SLIGO.—An Australian journal (Brisbane Courier) says: We regret to have to announce the rather sudden death of Mr. John Gore Jones, barrister at law. Mr. Jones was confined to his bed only a few days, but it was not believed that he was in danger of death. Mr. Jones was, we are informed, a native of Sligo county, Ireland, and of a highly respectable family.

TIPPERARY.—A correspondent of the Nation, says that on the 23d of May the remains of Mr. Pat Meagher, of Beakstown, a student of the diocese of Cashel, and who had the greater part of his studies for the priesthood completed, were interred in the Catholic burial ground at Garravocleheen, Thurles.

On the 25th of May, at the Templemore Convent, two young ladies received the white veil from the Archbishop of Cashel. They were Miss M. McDonnell, called in religion Sister Mary Magdalen, daughter of the late Thomas McDonnell, Esq., Cork; and Miss McKey, called in religion Sister Mary Claire, daughter of the late John McKey, Esq., Rathdowney, Queen's county.

WATERFORD.—A fire lately broke out in Lismore Castle, which, it is believed, was the work of an incendiary. The Duke of Devonshire has offered a reward of £200 for the arrest of the guilty party.

The Waterford Citizen says the foundation stone of a new wing to the Ursuline Convent was laid by his lordship the Most Rev. Dr. O'Brien, on the 31st of May.

WEXFORD.—The Dublin Evening Post announces the death, on the 1st ult., of the Rev. Dr. Kirwan, C.C., Little Bray, late of SS. Michael and John's parish, Dublin. His death was caused by apoplexy.

The Probate Court, Dublin, has recently been the scene of an interesting trial, concerning the will of the late Lady Sophia Esmonde, which bequeathed away from her family some £50,000 to Protestant educational purposes. The plaintiffs are William Browne, Joseph Harvey, and William Rice Meredith, executors of the testatrix; and the defendants are the Right Hon. Sir Thos. Esmonde, Bart., the husband of the deceased, the Earl of Granard, her son-in-law, the Countess of Granard, and the Hon. Mrs. Deane Morgan, her daughter. The testatrix died on the 22d of November, 1867, at Johnstown Castle, in the county Wexford, leaving a will, bearing date the 5th of August preceding, in execution of powers vested in her by her marriage settlement. The validity of this will was contested by the defendants, on the ground that it was not executed according to the provision of the Wills Act; that the testatrix was not, at the time of its execution, of sound mind, memory, and understanding; and that it was procured from her by undue influence, exercised and practiced by the Hon. Mrs. Deane Morgan and the Rev. Edwd. Hughes, Protestant clergyman. The whole strength of the Irish bar (with the exception of Mr. Butt, Q.C.,) is engaged on either side; and the cross examination of Parson Hughes and the executors did not show their conduct in a very favorable light.

WICKLOW.—Henry Banks, M.D., who for many years was dispensary physician to the districts of Wicklow and Ashford, recently died.

EDUCATIONAL.

PASS CHRISTIAN COLLEGE, PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss. Incorporated October, 1866, by an act of the Legislature of the State of Mississippi. Directed by the Christian Brothers.
Having long felt the many inconveniences attending a boarding school in the city, the Christian Brothers have been anxiously in their efforts to procure an eligible site for one in the country, and they have now the satisfaction of informing their patrons and the public that such a place has been selected, combining many advantages which could scarcely be found all together in any other. The building at Pass Christian, hitherto known as the "Pass Christian Hotel," has been purchased with this view, and is fitted up in a style which cannot fail to render it a favorite resort to students and their parents, as once it was to the summer excursionist.
The spacious buildings of the hotel, now adapted to educational purposes, the ample and well-shaded play grounds and surrounding groves, the sanitary influence of the wide-spread pine forests in the rear, with the opportunities for sea bathing afforded in the Gulf immediately in front, and the delightful sea breezes, all concur in making Pass Christian College whatever the directors could claim for it, or any of their patrons desire.
That nothing might be wanting to the institution, a complete gymnasium has been constructed, an extensive library of select works established, and a charter obtained from the State Legislature, by which it is empowered to grant diplomas, confer degrees, and bestow all literary honors.
The class rooms, study halls, dormitory, and refectory are on a scale equal to any in the country.
With greater facilities than those which have already won for the Christian Brothers the confidence of the public, they will now be better able to promote the physical, moral, and intellectual development of the students committed to their care. The system of government is mild and parental, yet firm in enforcing the observance of established discipline. No student will be retained whose manners and morals are not satisfactory; students of all denominations are admitted, and their religious opinions are unrestricted.
The academic year commences on the first Monday in September, and ends at the beginning of July.
N. B.—Classes will be kept open during vacation for those who may desire to avail themselves of the opportunity.
