What a distressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! A CIRCULAR

Document Sent to the Press by Secretary Chilton.

The following circular from immigration bureau, current expiring land:

AUSTIN, TEX., March 26, 1888.

To the Editor of the Statesman:

DEAR SIR:—The central immigration committee in the city composed of alike and representatives from every portion of the state, were impelled with one accord to issue a circular which was sent the morning issue of Texas news papers which appear in the indefinite indirect, which whatever shape, or whatever form, or whatever position is permanent, to some extent has demonstrated and assist in correcting her wonderful resources and thereby show the prosperity of such a life worth progress.

The press of Texas seems to be alive to the importance of presenting facts concerning our state to the rest of the world. Therefore it seems to suggest that each paper be improved upon, and the value of such work.

If every issue of every issue of the papers in this state with immigration in showing facts would be sent to provide outside the state, with the name of the to our state, upon the paper. I would suggest, if such a publication, or effect upon immigration, that would be expedient, may suggest. Although it would cost such publication would be the question of wrapping the paper and putting a 1 cent postage stamp on it for mailing. In order to do as much as possible towards encouraging such action, the committee submits the of the foregoing hereby request that you publish in every issue of your paper a copy of the circular. One method of presenting this for insertion would, we suggest, be by inserting it large, bourgeois type, something like that below, in every issue of your paper, in one or more prominent place, the following:

The state immigration committee request that every subscriber in the state, and any other Texan receiving this paper, write upon it the name and postoffice address of the sender, and mail it to some person outside the state.

These paragraphs not to be left standing and time be inserted without interruption. In some instances similar paragraphs might be inserted across the head of the paper, in very much larger type, or, if convenient, this circular might be left as standing matter, and serve a good purpose as general information for immigration purposes.

There are people continually visiting this office from other states, and if you desire to send a copy of your paper it will be placed where it will be seen by the eye here who seeks information, and especially your locality.

We endeavor to answer in person those all trouble of correspondence, and upon all well-wishers for Texas, the fact that right now seems to be the proper time when the sending out of information concerning our state is likely to be productive of the very largest possible amount of good, and must fill it with measure and importance.

The railroads have been energetically and rapidly at work west of us. Our entire Texas system, and all their connections are at work in and out of the state. The Central Traffic association, which comprises all trunk lines of Buffalo, Pittsburg and Wheeling, represents thirty-seven railway lines actively at work for Texas immigration, and we have been notified that two excursions per month will be run and tickets sold to all points in Texas at one limited fare for the round trip. Tickets good for sixty days with stop over privilege at all intermediate points in Texas.

Such unparalleled advantages as these—reached in so short a time—speak in tones of thunder of the importance of the Texas immigration bureau, and, in a measure, indicates what its future will be.

Now, the citizens of Texas should be prepared to welcome all visitors with only such honest, practical and fair representations as will induce satisfactory investments. By this means many actual purchases will be made and manufacturing establishments springing up all over the state.

Scores of visitors throng this office daily, and not only should every newspaper in the state be on file here, but practically should every county have some portion of its printed matter and all possible specimens of its productions, both vegetable and mineral, on exhibition. Especially should Texas be well represented at state headquarters before the Capitol Dedication and Grand International Drill, because countless thousands will visit immigration headquarters to see and learn of Texas, and it would be well for every county in the state to be on file. It is earnestly desired that these headquarters should be an honor to the great state represented, and it would be well if, through the assistance of all citizens of Texas, and particularly of the ladies, who are ever forward in every good work, that every specimen of Texas civilization and progress, her attainments and advantages, together with all curiosities and specimens, could be placed on exhibition. All would be shown to the advantage of section contributing, and held subject to order of sender.

A combined effort of officials and citizens is now being made to collect and place at state immigration headquarters the state exhibit made at New Orleans exposition. "Texas in miniature" could then be seen by every visitor. The entire state exhibit, including everything contributed by counties and individuals housed at these headquarters, would be transported by our friends—the railroads—free to exhibition or fair where it was desirable to show up Texas, special arrangements being generously offered for that purpose.

To the end that best results may obtain to the state we all love, and crown the efforts of the executive committee of state immigration, let every individual citizen, every county, every district, every newspaper and every interest in the state, do their best to disseminate trustworthy facts, and be unceasingly interested in this great movement, that we may secure beneficial results therefrom. The press by persistent use of its influence, can materially accomplish more good than any other known agency, and every portion of Texas to-day depends on the expressions and wise actions of this greatest lever of human progress and promoter of advanced civilization.

Respectfully,

T. B. CHILTON, Secretary.
