WEDDINGS.

Brennan-Maloney Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Gertrude Maloney and Mr. John Andrew Brennan took place Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock at St. Patrick's Cathedral. The church was simply decorated, palms and ferns forming a pretty background for the wedding party.

The bride entered with her father and was presented by Miss Myra Dupnont, her maid of honor.

The groom was attended by Mr. Felix Ryan as best man.

The wedding mass was read by Father Mark, after which Mrs. Fred Sorrell sang "Ave Maria." The wedding march was played by Mr. Francis Blumenn.

The bride's gown was of white peau-de-soie with Chantilly lace and point-trimmings. She wore a tulle veil and carried an exquisite shower bouquet of bride's roses and ferns. The maid-of-honor was becomingly gowned in a dress of white net over pink taffeta, worn with a hat of pink lace. She carried an arm bouquet of pink Killarney roses and ferns. After the ceremony the members of the bridal party and a few intimate friends were guests at a breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Maloney.

The living and dining rooms of the Maloney home were beautifully decorated for the occasion, a pink and white color scheme being carried out. A lovely center piece of white roses and ferns adorned the table, where a six-course breakfast was served. Those present besides the bride and groom were: Father Mark, Mr. and Mrs. M. Maloney, Mrs. Fred Sorrell, Misses Myra Dupnont, Ella Burns, Mabel Smith and Nell Cruig; Messrs Felix Ryan and Adrian Anderson.

The bride's traveling costume was a gray suit in natural color, worn with an attractive Panama sailor hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Brennan motored to Robstown, where they took a morning train for the West. Their trip will include a visit to the principal cities of Colorado, Utah and California, a trip through Yellowstone Park, and an extended visit with relatives in the East.

Mr. and Mrs. Brennan will be at home after November First, in Springfield, Missouri.

Frye-Stedman.

The home of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. E. Stedman, was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday evening when the marriage of Miss Lennie Stedman and Mr. Louis Augustus Frye occurred.

The wedding was very simple and was witnessed only by relatives and a few intimate friends. The house was decorated throughout, the living and dining rooms being a mass of palms and ferns, relieved by the white of carnations and shasta daisies. The wedding lines were read by Rev. L. L. Gladney of the Christian Church. The bride's gown was of white embroidered chiffon over taffeta, and she carried an exquisite arm bouquet of tube roses and ferns, with a shower of valley lilies. After the ceremony an informal reception was held, tea and cakes were served. The bride's traveling suit was of gray taffeta, with accessories to match. Mr. and Mrs. Frye left on an evening train for a week's visit in Houston and Galveston.

DANCES.

Nueces Dinner Dance.

The Nueces Hotel was unusually attractive on Wednesday evening when the regular weekly dinner dance took place. A large and especially gay crowd of dancers enjoyed the program given by the Nueces entertainers. Miss Pettus introduced a new dance, "Morning," danced in graceful Grecian costume. Her second number, "Copelia," was well received. For this dance Miss Pettus wore an airy ballet costume. Miss Warner sang a number of song hits and was enthusiastically applauded. She responded with several encores. Miss Richards and Mr. Wheeler [illegible] "The Tipperary Fox Trot," being the latest New York hit, and a Russian society dance, called La Russe. Both are well suited to the dancing of the popular Nueces entertainers, and Miss Richards wore a charming lace dancing frock. A pleasant feature of the evening's entertainment was the dancing of little Miss Florence Levi of Dallas, who is a guest in the hotel. Her interpretation of The Blue Danube Waltz and the Glowworm were both graceful and artistic. Her Grecian robe and wreath of white flowers added much to the beauty and simplicity of her movements. Dancing was enjoyed in the banquet hall between the courses of the dinner, and afterward, in the Sun Parlor. There were a number of large dinner parties. Among them was that of Mr. Robert Norton who entertained in honor of Miss Dora Bowman. Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Wells had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dillingham, Misses Loretta Watson, Laura Winstead, Florence Agee, and Mary Wester. Messrs. Edgar Wells, Ben Lombard, Rhis Blaize and Walsh.

Will, Mr. and Mrs. B. Guggenheim were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Levi of Dallas, Mrs. Walter Asher of Houston, Misses Belle Ruiff and Minnie Levy of Victoria and Florence Levi.
