WE WANT BOYS

We can use boys with energy and determination to "Get There." Boys who want money and who want to earn it themselves.

Boys who sell papers on the street have a steady income. They do not make a fortune, but they make a little money every day. They do not have to run to papa every time they want a quarter.

These boys learn how to take care of themselves and to succeed in spite of obstacles. They learn the value of a smiling face and a cheery word, for these things mean success.

Boys who sell The Caller do not need capital to start them. They get start on some papers which they are to sell. They keep half the money they make and return the unsold papers.

Every boy who sells as many as ten papers a day receives a ticket to a picture show.

Come to The Caller Office, Room 301 Chaparral Street, and find out about it. (364)
