CURRENT POLITICAL SPECULATIONS.

It is now bruited, that Cresswell and Holton have come together, and that all is now harmonious in the republican party, the former in the new management to be sent to the United States Senate, and the latter to have the unanimous voice of the party for Governor.

The democratic outlook is equally flattering. Neither Hamilton, Gorman nor Whyte are to contest for the control of the Democratic State Convention, but it is understood that a State Ticket is to be formed in which these leaders are to be represented.

These are the new combinations reported, and it remains to be seen what we are all going to do about it.

BUTLER TO THE COLORED PEOPLE.

The Vicksburg (Miss.) Herald publishes the following letter from Gov. B. F. Butler, of Massachusetts, to a colored politician in that State, and says it contains "sound advice," and is from "one of the brainiest men in America." Whatever the Governor's other short-comings, it may not be denied that he has ever been found on the side of the laboring man and has ever shown himself a firm friend and staunch upholder of the rights of the colored race. He advises them, it will be seen, to look out for themselves and to subordinate politics in the future to the bettering of their condition. At the best, there are only a few of the race that can hold office, the great majority having to hoe their own rows. It is this latter class that we understand Gov. Butler to address and advise.

BOSTON, Mass., April 24, 1883.

H. C. Carter, Vicksburg, Miss.:

DEAR SIR—You are mistaken in supposing that I have any special knowledge of the condition of political affairs in Mississippi, as I only see them at a distance strained through the medium of the different political papers; therefore I cannot speak with particularity about Mississippi.

You ask me what line of conduct I would advise the colored men of the South to pursue in political affairs. To that I answer frankly, look out for yourselves. That is to say, vote for the best men, whose life and conduct you know well, and who have shown thereby their desire that equal justice and equal rights shall come to all men under the law. No matter what promises are made by political orators, or what inducements are held out to obtain your votes, look to what men have done and been, and not to what they say they will do or will be. If a candidate for office whom you can trust is in favor of the education of your children, the equal taxation of your property, and the protection of your persons by law, vote for him, whatever he may be called politically. It is a mistake for the colored voters to vote for one party solidly, even in localities where they have the numerical majority; but it is equally their duty to vote for men who will best represent the interests of all. You live in a community composed of both white and colored men, and you want to have a peaceful, quiet life in that community. There are good men in both parties, and you will obtain the respect of every good man if you will pursue the course I have indicated. By so doing, you will lull the passions and the hard feelings engendered by the war, and the disappointments and regrets, if any, produced by the emancipation of the colored man will die out. It is of more consequence to the colored man that he shall have peace and prosperity in the community where he lives than who is president or who is senator or representative to Congress. In a word, vote for all good, honest and true men who are now your friends, and vote against all men who, by their conduct, have not shown themselves your friends, however loud or persistent their promises may be. Remember that the Holy Scriptures say "By their fruits ye shall know them." I am, very truly yours,

BENJAMIN F. BUTLER.

The St. Mary's BEACON has been writing some very instructive articles lately on tariff reform, which we hope may be kept up, till the people not only of that county but elsewhere realize the unequal and inequitable burdens which the system of protection has put on the people of this country. As a corollary of the proposition well advanced and maintained by the BEACON, we were not exactly prepared for the recommendation made in the last issue for some Republican to seek a nomination from his party and election on the BEACON's platform. It would not be safe to trust such Democratic treasures to the handling of Republicans.—Anne Arundel Advertiser.

Col. A. K. McClure, of the Philadelphia Times, in his memorial address at the decoration ceremonies at Bradford, Pa., departed from the regulation orations on such occasions by closing with an earnest appeal to the Grand Army of the Republic to obtain the now prepared official list of pensioners, and fearlessly expose every man who has stolen the soldier's fame to defraud the government as a pensioner. This excellent suggestion was heartily approved by the veterans who heard the address.

REMARKABLE SCENE IN COURT.

Immediately after the conclusion of Judge Magruder's argument in the case of St. Mary's vs. Geo. W. Carpenter, on yesterday, was the scene of one of the most remarkable and exciting scenes in a court room that was probably ever enacted. It seems that on Tuesday afternoon, in the trial of the case of Carpenter, Judge Magruder pronounced a question, in his re-direct examination of Miss Scott, who was on the stand, which Mr. Mitchell thought had been previously asked. Judge Magruder stated it had not been asked, whereupon Mr. Wilmer arose and affirmed with vehemence that it had been asked, to which Judge Magruder responded that it was false. The Court rapped vigorously for order, and some explanation followed between counsel, and it was thought the matter was amicably settled, nothing further being said on the subject, either during the session of court or after the adjournment, when both gentlemen remained for some time in the yard in conversation with their friends, and it was thought the matter forgotten. On the conclusion of Judge Magruder's argument yesterday, when he was weak and exhausted after a speech of one hour and a half, and just as the Court was about taking a recess, Mr. Wilmer rushed violently upon Judge Magruder, who was at the time sitting and bending over the bar table with his back to his assailant, bundling up his papers, and with the exclamation, "You accused me of lying!" he dealt him a violent blow on the back of his head which was followed in quick succession by several others. The large crowd in attendance upon the trial was just upon the point of leaving the court room, and the Judge was just coming down from the bench, and the result was a scene of indescribable tumult and excitement. Judge Magruder, who was entirely unconscious of the approach of his assailant, until he received his violent blow upon his temple, fell almost unconscious from his chair. Those standing nearest the assaulting party were apparently for the moment paralyzed by astonishment, but in a moment the assailant was seized by the strong arm of a number of gentlemen, who crowded upon him and forcibly separated him from the unresisting victim of his assault. The crowd which rushed within the bar was violently excited, and threats of violence to Mr. Wilmer were heard on all sides. The Judge of the Court, as soon as he recovered his presence of mind, rushed in among the crowd, and commanded the peace. Mr. Wilmer was then taken from the court room in the custody of the sheriff, but the excitement continued for some time afterward. The unanimous verdict of the large crowd present appeared to be that the assault and the manner in which it was made was most unjustifiable, and was no evidence of the courage of the assailant.—Port Tobacco Times.

The trial of George W. Carpenter, Jr., for assault on Miss Ellen B. Scott, which has occupied the attention of the Circuit Court for Charles County, Md., during the greater part of the present week, terminated yesterday in the disagreement of the jury. The case, in some of its features and in some of the circumstances attending the trial, was one of the most remarkable that has been presented in a Maryland court for a number of years, and fully justified the intense interest and excitement which it has created in the section to which it belongs. If the testimony of the prosecuting witness be true, the crime was one of the blackest even in the class to which it belongs, and was absolutely without a shadow of justification of excuse. If, on the other hand, the prisoner's evidence be true, his position before the public is far from being an enviable one. He may not have committed an act which the criminal law can reach, but by his own showing he has been guilty of a moral wrong of the gravest character. According to the uncontradicted evidence in the case, the unfortunate girl has always borne an unblemished reputation. Her extreme youth, her inexperience, her innocence and ignorance of evil should all have pleaded for her with one so much older, so much better versed in the affairs of the world, so much her superior in influence and station.—Daily Sun of Saturday.

The COMMON SCHOOLS.—We give an extract from the concluding portion of the address delivered by A. B. Davis, Esq., President of the Board of School Commissioners of Montgomery county, at the Teachers' Institute in Rockville, May 11, '83. Mr. Davis has particularly devoted himself to the subject of education. His views are of exceptional value; and as the practical administration of some features of our present school system has given dissatisfaction and is inviting scrutiny, we particularly call attention to what Mr. Davis has to say:

"When I tell you that the annual cost of the public schools of Maryland is $1,654,000—less about $50,000 paid to colleges and academies for high education—you may well apply the words of the earnest professor, and ask if his views are adopted what human power can say to the incoming tide: 'Hitherto shalt thou come and no further.' This annual charge upon the people of the State for public school education is now nine times the cost of the executive, judicial and legislative department of the State government combined.

I do not hesitate to say that where the public schools now cost upward of $1,600,000 per annum, with a proper understanding and application of the principle with which I set out, namely the art of knowing the limits of one's own office, they could be run with more satisfaction and efficiency at but little, if any, over one million of dollars; thus at least saving enough to pay the interest upon the public ## debt of the State, amounting to $420,000—and thereby materially lightening the burden of taxation upon the people."

EPISCOPAL CHURCH CENTENARY.—Tuesday 19th ult. was celebrated as the centenary anniversary of the organization of the Protestant Episcopal Church Diocese in Maryland. Appropriate religious services were held at St. Paul's Church in the morning, with the Right Rev. Wm. Pinkney, Bishop of Maryland, as Celebrant, and the Rev. George A. Leakin, of Trinity Church, and the Rev. J. S. B. Hodges, of St. Paul's, as Assistants. The sermon was delivered by the Right Rev. Henry O. Lay, Bishop of Eastern. His theme was "The Church of England in the Colony of Maryland." At night there was a meeting of the clergy and laity held at Lehman's Hall, where a collation was served and short addresses were made by Bishops Pinkney, of Maryland, and Lyman, of North Carolina. Brief congratulatory addresses were on the growth of the Diocese of Maryland and the development of the church in general were made by Bishops Lyman and Lee, the Hon. John H. B. Latrobe and the Rev. Charles H. Hall. Bishop Lyman spoke lovingly and admiringly of Bishop Whittingham, whom he knew well. Mr. Latrobe read from a work published in 1746 many interesting things about the Rev. Thos. Bray, the first Commissary of Maryland.

THE LATE REV. DR. GUARD.—A handsome monument of Quincy granite has been erected at the grave of Rev. Dr. Guard in Greenmount Cemetery. It is the gift of ministers of the Baltimore Conference. Appropriate religious services took place at the grave on Monday, 28th ult. The inscription on the monument is as follows:

"Freed, 1883, by the members of the Baltimore Conference. Rev. Thos. Guard. June 3, 1831; October 15, 1882. A Methodist preacher; a princely orator; a saintly man; pure, peaceable, gentle, easy to be entreated; full of mercy and good fruits."

Mahone has met the Democracy of Virginia once more, and in the expressive language of the street is now "the under dog." The State has been wrested from the Republicans, so far as the late local elections can accomplish it. His native county turned its back on him, his most trusted lieutenants were thrust aside and the colored troops, upon which he chiefly relied, have deserted him.

BULLY FOR MILK AND TOMATOES.—The New York Herald says: "General Robert C. Schenck, though a lover of good living, had the fortitude, so it is said, to adhere to a diet solely of milk and tomatoes for a year. His physicians prescribed it as the only cure for his malady—Bright's disease. Now the General is well."

Among those prominently mentioned for the nomination of the Democratic party for the Presidency in 1884 is Hon. A. S. Hewitt, of New York. Mr. Hewitt has long been eminent in the councils of the party and has ever been considered a safe and trusty leader.

It is universally conceded that the Internal Revenue Service is needlessly burdened with unemployed officials, and that the districts should be consolidated.

MARRIED.—On the 5th instant, S. W. BOND to Miss ADA C. JOY.

DIED.—On Charles county, on the 5th instant, JANE E. PAYNE, relict of the late Richard Payne, aged 67 years. May the rest in peace!

New Advertisements.—FOR SHERIFF. Messrs. Editors.—Please announce Mr. A. J. BLAIN as a candidate for sheriff at the ensuing general election and say that he will receive the support of the Republicans of the whole county as well as

NOTICE.—I will be in St. Mary's County tuning Pianos for two weeks from the 11th, instant. Orders addressed to the Bazaar office to the St. Mary's Seminary, and H. C. Adams, Mechanicsville, will be promptly attended to.
