A SOCIALIST TO RUSSIA

There is much to be said for the proposal of having President Wilson appoint a socialist a member of the American commission to Russia. The fact that socialist influence in American governmental affairs is negligible does not detract from it, for the real importance of the presence of a representative socialist on the commission would be the influence he might have in bringing about an immediate reduction between the socialists of Russia and the commission.

Two names, those of Congressman Meyer London and former Congressman Victor L. Berger, are suggested in the dispatches, but these should by no means exhaust the possibilities. Indeed, it may be that a more suitable delegate might be found among other leaders. For one thing, Mr. London has opposed every move of the administration so far, and might not be temperamentally suited for the task he would have to perform. However, already he has established relations with the Russian socialists and he believes and hopes that a revolution is coming in Germany. Mr. Berger is not in sympathy with the administration's policies either, but the fact that he is of German origin would have great weight should he be inclined to undertake the mission.

Morris Hillquit of New York would have made an admirable delegate, but he set takes the extreme position against the war that he has, but his present point of view puts his availability out of the question.

It occurs to us that some such man as John Spargo or Charles Edward Russell might serve the purpose better. The man who is appointed, should it be deemed advisable to appoint a socialist, should be one who recognizes that parliamentary democracy is worth fighting for against autocracy and who therefore is heartily in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war against Germany to a victorious conclusion. Mr Spargo was born in England, which might be urged as an objection, but otherwise his appointment would be ideal. He undoubtedly is personally known to leading Russian socialists, inasmuch as he was several times a delegate to the international socialist congress. He could be counted upon to carry great influence with the Russian socialists.

Our own choice, were the appointment ours to make, would be Mr. Russell, not only because of his vigorous Americanism, but because of his intimate knowledge of matters which will come up to be passed upon. There are few men in America of any party who have made such a thorough study of the general question of railway administration and legislation. The transportation question is one of the big questions which faces Russia, and Mr. Russell might prove a valuable member of the American commission in dealing with the socialists on this question.

However, there are many other leaders of the socialists in this country who, however much we may disagree with them, we must recognize as able men and admirably suited for such a mission as is proposed. Should President Wilson decide to appoint one he will have no difficulty in finding the proper man.—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

A COMMUNICATION.

Matagorda, Tex., April 30.

Texans: We are making special effort to get the legislature to abrogate the present Texas fish law during the summer of 1917.

The present law prohibits seine fishing in Texas tide water during the months of June, July and August of each year.

We want your aid. You can assist materially. All of you who get a chance to do so write Governor Ferguson and ask him to recommend to the legislature now in session to make a special dispensation on the present fish law and allow seine fishing in the tide waters of Texas during the closed season of 1917, so that the people of Texas may eat fish instead of high priced meats.

The late cold spring retarded the annual return of migratory fish to Texas tide waters. With the advent of warmer and more settled weather the fish are coming in in great quantities. Should we be allowed to use seines during this closed season Texas should easily produce from 7,000,000 to 10,000,000 pounds of nice fish during June, July and August of this year. This fish tonnage distributed over Texas during three months would materially assist in reducing the high cost of meats.

This extra production of fish is strictly in line with President Wilson's policy to increase the food supply.

We do not believe the abrogation of this fish law during the summer of 1917 would in any way curtail the supply of fish in Texas tide waters. The salt water fish are migratory, coming and going with the tide, season and weather.

Help us to feed Texas with Texas fish during the stringent times. Write Governor Ferguson to Do It Now—to recommend to the legislature now in session to pass a bill allowing seine fishing in Texas tide waters during the summer of 1917. Get all personal letters possible to him during the next 15 days. Ask your papers to assist us in feeding Texas. Yours very truly,

W. G. Thornhill's Fish & Oyster Market.

MORE MEN THAN WOMEN HAVE APPENDICITIS

Surgeons state men are slightly more subject to appendicitis than women. Corpus Christi people should know that a few doses of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-la often relieve or prevent appendicitis. This mixture removes such surprising food matter that ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE, constipation, sour stomach or gas. The INSTANT easy action of Adler-i-la is surprising. J. S. Capt. Herbert French who spent last summer at the military college at San Antonio is drilling a company of boys on Monday and Wednesday nights at eight o'clock and Friday afternoons in front of Mr. Glover's home on North Broadway. All boys who would be interested in the drill are requested to report on drill nights. There are already fifty boys in the company and it is the hope of the Captain to increase to one hundred and fifty.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union has secured the famous film "The Man Who Forgot" a powerful appeal for prohibition, and will present it on Friday and Saturday at the Lyric Theatre. The play is taken from the story by James Hay and the cast includes Robert Warwick, Doris Kenyon and Gerda Holmes. "The Man" by calling against the overcoming influence of opium and drink is saved by a mission in America, where unable to recall his name or past, he is registered as John Smith. Five years later he is the leader in a National Prohibition Movement. He meets and falls in love with Edith Mellon, daughter of Senator Mellon, who is under the control of the whiskey trust. After a series of dramatic incidents, during which he has been incarcerated by doubts of his past, he wins out in his arguments against whiskey and in the conclusion his past is revealed to him on the eve of the girl he loves. The character of this picture is a strong drama, being the story of the regeneration of a man under the influence of opium and liquor.

ELKS INITIATED 16 MEMBERS LAST NIGHT

Parade During the Early Part of the Evening Was Followed By Lodge Initiation Last Night

Sixteen well known men of Corpus Christi, Robstown, Sinton and Aransas Pass Wednesday partook of Elk's milk and are now full fledged Elks as the result of an initiation that started with a parade early Wednesday afternoon and concluded several hours later.

The parade proved of interest to the general public, the novices in grotesque garb being required to march through out the business section while the members marched along trading goats, donkeys and with prod-sticks to remind the candidates of what was to follow later. The parade was headed by the Marine Band.

Candidates who were initiated were: Norman Henry, J. W. Burse, William Priestly, Rufus Oliver and Chas. Mee of Corpus Christi, George Peters, T. A. Stafford, Lon Messer and Chas. C. Brundle of Robstown, W. R. Hopkins, Jimmy Holmes, J. M. Jameson, C. H. Porter and R. W. Saunders of Aransas Pass; A. C. Potter and P. R. Butler of Sinton.

Corpus Christi Lodge 1550 Elks has been enjoying a healthy growth during the past two years and now has nearly 300 members.

REBECCA AT SUNNYBROOK FARM

This wonderfully charming story will be presented by Miss M. C. Hutchinson at the High School Auditorium tonight. In this scene Miss Hutchinson brings the scenes and the people of the old state of Maine in a delightful way before her audience. Artful simplicity characterizes her work and the engaging manner and fine personality of the reader will impress all present.

Dr. Curry, founder of the School of Oratory in Boston, says that Miss Hutchinson as an interpreter of literature is among the best in the United States. In this recitation she so wonderfully portrays the characters that one forgets the reader and thinks only of the character portrayed.

In all the schools and colleges where Miss Hutchinson has been she has gripped the attention of the students and teachers from the beginning and held it to the end, and all have felt that her reading and interpretations have been a distinct uplift to the whole community.

I am Sincere! Stop Calomel! I Guarantee Dodson's Liver Tone

Listen to me! Calomel sickens and you may lose a day's work. If bilious, constipated or headachy read my guarantee.

Liven up your sluggish liver! Feel fine and cheerful, make your work a pleasure, be vigorous and full of ambition. But take no nasty, dangerous calomel because it makes you sick and you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel salivates into your bones like dynamite breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

Listen to me! If you want to wake up the sluggish liver and relieve constipation you ever experienced, just take a spoonful of purely vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine; your liver will be working, your bowels and digestive apparatus will be sweet and bowels regular.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and can not salivate. Give it to your children. Hundreds of people are using Dodson's Liver Tone instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of calomel is quickly stopped wherever people realize what Dodson's Liver Tone is.

Red Cross Tea

The annual tea of the Red Cross was the afternoon for W. W. Jones, president of the Red Cross Society.

The dining room was decorated in Red Cross and Alice Bishop presided at the coffee.

Hours were spent in social intercourse, the occasion being one of the most American tea parties in the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

Mrs. Jones was assisted in receiving by Mesdames J. H. Dunn, Charles Fenn, A. C. Jones and Miss Alice Jones.

During the afternoon a delightful musical program was given with music by Mrs. Mann, Miss Moore, Miss Sweeney, Messrs. Dickerson, Hawley, Dunn and Mesdames J. W. Holmes and John Shaw and instrumental selections by Mrs. Harmony Caldwell, Mrs. H. H. Fennel and Miss Mary Dunn.

The dining room was attractively arranged in the national decorations.

The home table was served with a venetian lace cloth with a bouquet of pink roses and a large red cross formed by carnations.

A long line of Boston ferns, tied with red ribbon and star effects, set off upon the Red Cross banquet.

Seated at the table were Mrs. Harry Harney and Mrs. W. H. Greene, who served tea; Misses Ida Johnson and Alice W. E. Jones and Mrs. Edward Colgate serving.

Those who assisted in serving were: Mrs. J. W. Holmes, Misses Frances Hodges, Nell Craig, Eleanor White, Jessie Hodges, Temple Grant and Alice Bishop, assisted by Red Cross ladies.

Over two hundred guests called during the afternoon. During the last hour, a number of gentlemen called and a good sum was realized for the Red Cross Society.
