BRYAN, TEXAS, JULY [illegible], 1909.

The [illegible] constitutional amendments [illegible] county fry[illegible] but when the people [illegible] are there with the goods.

Johnson has [illegible] but say to the public that [illegible] the newspapers. Well, let's be thankful for what we have got. What [illegible] more we poor devils to be nice.

—:-:—

There is no use talking about permanent peace among the nations till the Japs are satisfied. As long as the Japs are pauperized they will dig in the ditch.

—:-:—

If the business men of Bryan were well organized and would work together as effectively as the farmers of Brazos county the hum of business would soon become a roar.

—:-:—

Too much is made of the damage done by the storm and not enough of the good done by the rain that accompanied it. Brazos county got a small share of rain with no storm damage.

—:-:—

If you love your children or your neighbor's children, if you love your home and your country, if you find pleasure in working for the uplift of humanity, go to the polls next Saturday and vote for all three of the constitutional amendments.

—:-:—

Recently a good many people have been killed or injured in accidents on Sunday. There have been instances of people getting killed in church but these are not common. While it is not reasonable to believe that the Almighty is in the business of killing people for cooking a little fun on a day set apart by law for rest, there seems to be less risk in attending church than in going on excursions.

There are some people who can't understand how a man can be a Christian and not be a Baptist, a Methodist or a Presbyterian, etc., as the case may be. Just so there are some who can't understand how a man can be a local optionist and oppose statewide prohibition or an anti-prohibitionist and favor submission. There is as much variety in opinions as there is in stature and features. Let us be faithful to our convictions and charitable to those who disagree with us.

A GOOD STORY.

Jim Smith, in his speech Saturday night, was applauded when he related the story of how a girl on a leap year proposed to her very backward fellow. Said she to him, "John this being leap year, I am going to propose———." Oh, interrupted the frightened John, "I am not prepared to marry." "I don't want to marry you," responded the now determined girl, "I want to propose that you get out of the way and give some other man a chance." And so," proceeded Mr. Smith, "I urge you if you want do anything yourself for the progress of your town, get out of the way and let the balance of us do something. Don't stand in the way and put obstacles in the way of development.—Orange Leader.

The same arguments made in favor of compulsory attendance of public schools may be applied with equal propriety to enforced attendance of Sunday schools and church services. There are more parents who neglect the moral education of their children than there are who default in providing for their intellectual training. Morals are certainly not less important than book learning, and if it is the duty of the state to take the responsibility off the parents in the one case it cannot logically fail to do so in the other.

Reports from the arid West declare that this is the dry farmers year. Every development since dry farming was systematically undertaken has gone to prove that properly conserved rainfall will make a sure crop in the dryest seasons. A modification of the dry farming methods properly applied would probably double the yield of some crops in Brazos county.

—:-:—

It has just been discovered that when President Reyes of Colombia stole away on a fruit ship $20,000,000 of the money in the national treasury disappeared with him and the Colombians are fighting mad. Yet the American people permit the tariff protected trusts to rob them of more than that every week.

—:-:—

The queen of Spain, like her illustrious grandmother, Victoria of England, glories in being a mother. No reverse of fortune could make such a woman unhappy.

—:-:—

The race of heroes is not extinct; a Mississippi physician chose a jail sentence rather than violate a confidence. Such a man's word is better than any man's bond.

—:-:—

He who believes that the American people will forever submit to the tyranny of capitalism has studied history either not stall or to little purpose.

—:-:—

Nature is giving the farmers line upon line and precept upon precept to enforce the lesson: Put not your trust in cotton.

—:-:—

If Alfonso XIII of Spain is worth anything now is the time to show it. A great crisis develops great characters.

—:-:—

Jefferson county boasts that it has the best roads of all counties in Texas. It is a proud boast.

—:-:—

The question of the hour: Will the president sign the crazy quilt tariff bill?

The amendment to the constitution [illegible] on the ballot [illegible] Tuesday, August 3rd, have recently been [illegible] through the courtesy of the State Sen. W. C. Davis. I do this to put a few words in regard to the very important amendment of the constitution [illegible] the following [illegible] of the people.

[illegible] be remembered that a State [illegible] is the primary fund. In the [illegible] school lands, which [illegible] to the permanent school fund, which was set aside years ago, by our forefathers for the education of Texas sons and daughters. It would mean a decrease in the available school fund. It would mean also, that if the schools are to be maintained at their present status the people throughout the State would necessarily have to pay a higher rate of school tax. With these conditions before us there can be no good reason for voting against the amendment adding Sec. 3a to Art. VII of the constitution.

The other amendment authorizes the formation of county line school districts, which are necessary in many localities on account of bad roads or other local conditions. No valid reason can be given for withholding from the people of such localities the privilege of organizing schools to their best advantage.

Respectfully,
T. W. Parker

DANDRUFF.

Parisian Sage Will do it in Two Weeks or Money Back.

Do you know that the time to take care of the hair is when you have hair to take care of.

Baldness is caused by dandruff germs, little hard working, persistant devils that night and day do nothing but dig into the roots of the hair and sap its vitality.

If you have dandruff, get rid of it before it is too late; before the vitality of the hair root is impared and baldness appears.

Parisian sage is guaranteed by E. J. Jenkins to kill all dandruff germs and rid anyone of dandruff in two weeks or money back.

This quick acting hair invigorator is now made and sold in America and at the low price of 50 cents a bottle is within the reach of all who are afflicted with disgusting and repulsive dandruff.

When you buy a bottle of Parisian Sage you get for your money the most of the best hair tonic in the world.

Parisian Sage grows hair, stops falling and splitting hair and itching scalp.

Society women of refinement prefer Parisian Sage as a dressing because it makes the hair beautiful, soft and brilliant in a few days. It is daintily perfumed, is free from stickiness and grease and will not color the hair.

Quicksilver.

The ore from which quicksilver is obtained is a brilliant red rock known as cinnabar. When of high purity it is actually vermilion in color. Cinnabar is the original source of the pigment known commercially as vermilion. It is a compound of sulphur and quicksilver, and in order to separate the latter from the sulphur the rock is roasted. Passing off in the form of a gas, the mercury is afterward condensed and flows out in a fine stream like a continuous pencil of molten silver. Like gold and silver, mercury is occasionally found in a native or pure state. Sometimes the miner's pick penetrates a cavity that contains a cupful or more of the elusive and beautiful fluid. Miners suffer much from the poisonous effects of the quicksilver fumes. Extreme cleanliness is the best safeguard for workers in this dangerous occupation. Use is also made of a sort of lemonade which serves to a certain extent as an antidote, a strong acid taking the place of lemon juice in the composition of the drink.

Venetian Coffee Houses.

The first cup of coffee was drunk in Europe at Venice toward the end of the sixteenth century. The Venetian chronicler Morosini in his records of the events in the year 1585 mentions the beverage called "cavee" drunk by the Turks and noted for its anti-soporific qualities. In the year 1591 a Venetian doctor introduced the berries from Egypt, taught his countrymen how to crush them and brew the beverage, and the use of coffee soon became general—so much so, in fact, that Venice was full of coffee houses where the people idled away their days drinking the aromatic beverage. A peculiarity of the Venetian coffee houses was that their patrons did not pay for each cup of coffee they drank, but settled their bills for all the coffee consumed at the end of each year. The regular price of a cup of coffee was 5 soldi, about 2½ cents, and in some of the old cafes of Venice today the same price is still charged.—New York Sun.
