JOHN H. MUDGE, Agent.

The worst places on Main street, caused by the flood, are being gradually repaired.

About twenty-five couples "tripped the light fantastic" at the club dance last Friday night.

The latest fall and winter fashion plates in clothing have been received by William Walker, the tailor. *41tf

G. W. M. Carvil's baby fell from its buggy yesterday, breaking its collar bone.

Sunny Summer is at present engaged in a desperate flirtation with Jack Frost, especially after Sol retires in the evening.

A quantity of valuable news matter is unavoidably crowded out this week on account of the commissioners proceedings.

Mr. John Norman, who has charge of William Walker's tailoring establishment during that gentleman's absence, is one of the best tailors in the southwest. *41tf

Billy Hauser is opening up a club room and cigar stand in the corner room of the Rosenberg building formerly occupied by Ike Holzman.

Socorro's "Ghastly Find" which went the rounds of the press, a few weeks ago is characterized by the Chieftain of last week as a "great fake."

Wm Hutchinson of Central has been stepping like a blind horse ever since the 5th inst., all because his wife presented him with a beautiful little girl on that date.

By a perusal of the Silver City correspondence of the Deming Headlight, of last Saturday, one naturally conceives the idea that the "newsy" contributor is an ardent reader of the SOUTHWEST SENTINEL.

Hay will be cheaper in Grant County this winter than it has been for a long time. We have looked to Colorado and Kansas for this commodity for several years but we are now in position to return the compliment.

O. C. Hinman has shipped Charlie Bottom's meat market outfit to him at Perry, in the Cherokee strip. Mr. Bottom writes that everything is on the boom and that business prospects are good. He will engage in the meat business

Arrangements have been made by which at the next session of the County commissioners all those who have paid illegal taxes to Sheriff Laird, during his administration, may recover the same upon application.

The sensational killing reported to have taken place in the Animas valley last week by Indians proves to be a canard; at least no substantial evidence to the effect of any outrage in that vicinity has reached the authorities at this place.

Old Mr. Potter, one of the most famous bear hunters in this section of the country, was in from his ranch on the upper Mimbres, last Friday, with the carcass of a deer, five wild turkies and two silver-tip bear skins. Mr Potter expects soon to be able to supply this market with wild game which is very plentiful this season.

A. H. Morehead and Harvey Smith have returned from the new gold fields of Taos county content to take their chances in the banner mining camp of the southwest. They report that there was no foundation for the boom started in that section and that times are incomparably harder there than in this County.

William Walker has received his fall stock of goods and will make you a suit of clothes cheaper and better than you can get them from eastern tailors. *41tf

Bell, Wade and Cleveland, who have been hunting in the Burros for several days, returned last week. They made a fine record on small game.

Our public schools have so increased in membership as to render more room necessary, and accordingly the Presbyterian church building has been leased by the board of education to meet the requirements.

Mr. A. F. Nichol, of Silver City, has been appointed inspector for this district by the Territorial Cattle Sanitary Board. His jurisdiction extends over Silver City, Fort Bayard, Central, Pinos Altos, Cooney and Georgetown.

The Timmer House has again been closed, which is a matter of regret as well as an indication of bad judgment on the part of the owner. The house has been doing a fairly good business since it opened in July, but because, like all other business enterprises, it has not proved a bonanza, its owner, who resides in New York, has thought best to close it.

The tramp problem is becoming a seriously complicated one in El Paso. Gov. Hogg, of Texas, has taken such firm grounds against the punishment of this nomadic element of humanity that all municipalities in that state are placed at a serious disadvantage in the matter of controlling them. When the country is so flooded with honest people in search of work it takes very fine discriminative powers to distinguish the "professional" from the honest tramp.

CHAPTER II.

Another Murder—William Grudgens the Victim—Tom Woods Confesses the Crime.

On last Tuesday afternoon about 4 o'clock, Jas. B. Huffman rode into town with the information that William Grudgens, an extensive cattle owner on the Gila, just across the Socorro county line, had been shot and instantly killed.

Huffman was present at the time the fatal shot was fired and was so sure that he could identify the murderer that he asked for a warrant for Thomas Wood with power to arrest. The proper papers were issued by Justice Given and Deputy Sheriff Baca. Huffman left for the scene of the murder on Wednesday. On Thursday Woods confessed the crime and voluntarily surrendered to the authorities of Cooney. He attempts to justify his act with the statement that Grudgens was the murderer of his son. He disclaims the idea that he attempted concealment but boldly confesses that he coolly killed Grudgens. The readers of this paper will remember that in the early part of October, one year ago, two boys were found murdered in camp, on the trail above the Gila Hot Springs. Charles Woods, the fifteen year old son of Thomas Woods, and a Mexican boy who had for some time been living at Wood's ranch on the Upper Gila, were the victims. The boys had been to Silver City for supplies and in returning had been waylaid in such a manner as to justify the belief by some that their deaths were chargeable to the treachery of Indians. But Woods never entertained this idea and industriously set about finding the guilty party. He suspicioned Grudgens and carefully worked the matter up until he was satisfied that he could positively establish Grudgens' guilt but as there were so many technicalities in the law and the chances for him to have escaped punishment so numerous, he concluded not to trust to a legal adjudication of the matter.

However true may be the statements made by Woods in connection with the murder of his son, the atrocity of his own crime is in no manner diminished, and he stands before the law a cold blooded murderer of the deepest dye. Too many cases of this character have gone unpunished in this section for the safety of our citizens and the good name of our Territory. Advanced civilization frowns down such deeds and as long as the perpetrators of such bloody acts go unpunished, just so long will the Territory of New Mexico remain a blot on the union. If old feuds are to be justified in blood-letting, and the regime of "an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth" is to hold sway we have no right to the favor of just laws.

The Irrigation Convention.

The arrangements for the coming irrigation convention are being rapidly gotten into shape

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held last week the following speakers were invited to address the convention on the subjects mentioned:—

Govenor Thornton—The Possibilities of New Mexico Under Irrigation.

Governor L. C. Hughes, of Arizona—The Necessity for Action.

Hon. A. C. Shelton, Phœnix, Arizona—Practial Irrigation and Feasible Method thereof.

Governor E. G. Ross—Adaptability of the Semi-Arid Region to Irrigation Enterprises.

Governor Hogg, of Texas—Necessity for Organization and Wide Concert of Action in the Promotion

Judge Albert B. Fall, of Las Cruces—Our Rights and the Remedies for the Evils of Diversion.

The City of El Paso will be requested to select a speaker and assign him a subject and a similar request will be extended to the City of Juarez, in Mexico. The Committee is in correspondence with Ex-Governor L. Bradford Prince now absent from the Territory. and is also seeking to make arrangements with Hon. J. Sloat Fassett and Hon J. W. McCaslin, of Chicago, with a veiw to addresses appropriate to the occasion.

A circular specially requesting the aid and co-operation of prominent citizens throughout the southwest has been prepared and ordered printed and will be sent out sometime during the coming week.—Deming Headlight.

The famous law suit involving the title and ownership to the group of mines located on the Queen lode in the Cooney mining district, was decided by Judge A. A. Freeman in the Socorro county district court last Thursday. This case was begun in 1891 upon complaint of F. X. Eberle, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Langford Johnson of Mogollon, who filed a bill against Carmichael et al to quiet title claiming to own ground covered by the Consolidated Gun Boat and Contention mines under old locations known as the Lexington and Andrew Jackson locations. The decision of the court was that the complainants could not be sustained in a court of equity, and dismissed the case and held that a court of law only had jurisdiction. It was claimed by complainants, who owned the Clifton mine adjoining, that work done on the Clifton would hold for the annual assessment work done on the Clifton, Lexington and Andrew Jackson locations. The court held on this point that complainants were not tenants in common and that work done on the Clifton mine could not be applied on the two latter claims; that complainants had abandoned the Lexington and Andrew Jackson claims and that the ground was open for location. Messrs. Catron & Sniffin appeared for complainants, while the defense was represented by Hamilton, Conway and Pickett. Perhaps no mining case in the Territory was ever more ably contested than this one. These are regarded as among the richest gold and silver properties in this section and its favorable adjudication means a great victory for several of our citizens.

Mining and Milling.

Silver, ... 73½

J. C. Berry, owner of the McGregor mines, started his mill last Monday on about 800 tons of low grade ore taken out during the summer. The mill has been closed down for some time on account of the low price of silver and scarcity of water. The recent rains have furnished the water supply, and the outlook for silver is better than it was at the time the mill was closed.

Perhaps the most substantial evidence that the mining camps contiguous to Silver City are in a healthy condition, may be drawn from the fact that during the month of Sept., 1892, silver bullion to the market value of $11,400 was shipped via of Wells, Fargo Express company from this point, while for the corresponding month, 1893, the valuation of the shipments amounted to $22,222.18, nearly double the value of 1892. In gold bullion the shipments amounted in September 1892, to $2,715; the same month this year shows shipments to the value of $4,783. The conclusion naturally is than that if times were moderately good in mining circles one year ago, that now, with our product nearly doubled in value, we must be enjoying a very substantial boom.

The first silver brick produced by the Deep Down mine of Mogollon, was shipped from here during the first week of this month. It was a beautiful specimen and weighed 92 pounds.

Bell & Stephens of Pinos Altos, shipped 265 ounces of fine gold bullion to the World's fair last Saturday. It will be placed in the New Mexico exhibit until the close of the exposition when it will be marketed.

The miners employed in the Aztec tunnel have refused to do any more work until they receive the wages due them. The company is in arrears for two months pay.

The Colchis mill and millsite were sold at Master's sale last Wednesday for $471.55 to satisfy a mechanic's lein held by Jacob Kephart.

The most genial and at the same time the most newsless persons encountered this week were found among the medical fraternity. A group of these Esculapian knights were basking in the sun on Porterfield's corner last Saturday quietly discussing microbes, bacteria, boils, bunions, and all the numerous aches, ills and financial infirmities to which human flesh is heir, when of one accord they concluded to "scratch a rabbit's foot" for a certain professional plum which hung in view but could not be reached without the dangerous exercise of the mysterious "black art." It was agreed that for nine consecutive nights, each should spit over his left shoulder, cross his heart and say "eny, meny, miny, mo," and go to bed backwards for luck.

When my wife commenced giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy the discharges were bloody and unnatural.
