Culpepper Again.

Orakza Beside the Editor See How it is. A Caustic and Deserving Answer.

My Dear Bro. Culpepper:

The spelling of your name contains too many "P's": Particulars, Principles, Partisan.

First, in particular. You have made some of the worst mistakes of your life.

Second, in principle. You have made an error that is unseemingly, un-christian, unmanly and ungodly. You have somewhat reversed the teachings of Jesus Christ. The good book says "go preach the gospel to all people," and it does not say one time, "go villify your hearers because they do not give you more money." You came to Chickasha of your own free will and accord. It was only a bending transaction from high heaven and not of the people of Chickasha.

Now, my good brother, will you be more liberal in your views. God did not send you here to preach to the people of Chickasha for the money they gave you. While you was sent as an instrument in winning souls to Christ, you should be content with the fruits of your labors.

Third, in partisanship. Brother, you say the "Baptist has had a fight and a foot race." Now brother, come down. Get yourself right. Every tub stands on its own bottom but we have come to the conclusion that the bottom has fallen out of your tub. And such a catastrophe on the earth's surface has caused such a shock to the evangelical world that the people of Chickasha is in mourning.

You say the Presbyterian pastor "has gone into law and that rumor says it has not increased his spirituality." Well, that is none of your business.

You say the "Campbellites" have four or five preachers, each taking his turn on sundays "while bickering through the week." Brother, what do you call 'bickering'? If we understand right, that is a terrible charge against our brother "Campbellites", and think that we can say of a truth that the charge you make is false in the extreme. And, my good brother, you compare them to the colored people of the south. That is quite a compliment. If you would preach the bible as plainly as some of our best colored preachers you would not have the enmity, prejudice and hatred to other denominations that you have. Bro., get the mote out of your own eye and the other churches will do the best they can if the charges you have against them could be verified. But, say verily, they have a legal business; each regularly engaged—one that is authorized by all the world—one that's approved by all good men. You say "the laymen learn a few scriptures and arrange a few chestnut platitudes." Brother, the devil does not have to use his own lash, but stands almost in deep solemnity and by the motion of the hand says, "go it, Culpepper. That is right. You are one of those moon eyed fellows I have been on track of a long while."

Brother, dont you think you have made one other mistake? You say "it is the best place on earth for a man or woman who has a religious character and can keep it." Why, brother, don't you think that would be torture to a good woman? You should not give such advice. Religion and money do not go hand in hand. While it takes money to run you and your tent it does not take money to run religion.

You say the bishops of our church have been shipping the big headed stock out here. That is another mistake. You mean to say the big hearted, but the devil having control you use the word big headed. Brother, the men you have reference to were men of sound mind. They come here to teach men the way to Christ, they come to lift up the fallen, to rescue the perishing. They were not men who had to be hauled in palace cars, and be boarded in first class hotels. They were not so stiffe-jointed that they had to sit in a rocking chair to do their preaching. They were men who could walk as well as ride over these long rolling prairie hills, and that too in rain and sunshine and in the dark hours of night. They had no big tent, no big singers, no big salary. If they had not been sound in mind, sound in body, and sound in the holy spirit, they could never have gone back to Georgia to impart the news to J B Culpepper that there was such a place as the Indian Territory and Chickasha.

Now, brother, do you believe that there ever was a man in these United States that had the sweeney? Can you believe that God ever made such a looking creature as a two legged nick-tail human being? Will you kindly get your mouth in shape and describe such a living monstrosity?

Now, my good brother, do you not feel somewhat belittled in coming away out here to this Indian territory to preach to this people who are indulging in polygamy? We think that you are on the farthermost end of the decalogue. We feel that you should halt and about face, and take on a different view. We know that you can't produce a single instance where polygamy is practiced in this territory. You say "polygamy was never practiced more certainly in Utah than here." You say we had presiding elders who had laid away wives, and you further say preachers sometimes had two wives in good standing. We would certainly be glad to know what you call "good standing" for this people? You claim that the country is fast filling up with the best blood from the states. Do you think that the good people would risk their citizenship with a class of whoremongers, adulterers, law breakers and every vice and crime that is practised under the broad canopy of heaven? You are not authorized by the god of nature to come here and talk up a big compensation and then go away and publish to the outside world that we are a set of law breakers.

Now, brother! draw in your cable tow just one length and it will do you good in the after years.
