Helpful Example.

The poet, Heine, is said to have had a pretty habit of standing before a mirror and curving his mouth. This pastime is heartily recommended to poets of the present day. Having ample time to devote to it, they could do the job much better than the busy man who must perform give attention to his daily grind, no matter how cordially pleasure beckons.—Kansas City Star.

Rather Hard on Father.

Among the Waiwai tribe of the Amazon basin, as among several others, the curious custom of the couvade prevails; that is, when a child is born, the father takes to his hammock and remains there for a month. During this time he refrains from all strong food and the women wait upon him as an herald. Meanwhile the mother of the child goes about her work.—"Nature Life in the Amazon Wilderness," in Travel.

If your child starts in its sleep, grinds its teeth while sleeping, picks at the nose, has a bad breath, fickle appetite, pale complexion, and dark rings under the eyes, it has worms; and as long as they remain in the intestines, that child will be sickly. White's Vermifuge clears out the worms, strengthens the stomach and bowels and puts the little one on the road to health and cheerfulness. Price 25c per bottle. Sold by Owl Drug store.—Adv. d&w
