A WOMAN'S MISTAKE.

[From the New York Sun.]

On Thursday afternoon a tall woman in black silk, with a morroco belt round her waist and a faded cashmere shawl thrown over her shoulder, entered the Jefferson Market Police Court and asked Justice Wandell for a warrant against her husband, who, she said, had abondoned her. Her story was, in brief, that she had married John Almesley in Charlestown in 1865, and they had lived together till about two years ago. Then he left her, and she had not seen him from that time to this. Recently, however, she had ascertained that he was living in the city. Justice Wandell told her to make a formal demand upon her husband for support; if he refused the law would deal with him.

A little later in the afternoon, a Swede named August Jansen, porter of a silk house at 477 Broome street, was confronted in Broadway, near Grand street, by Mrs. Almesley, who straightway addressed him as her husband. In vain Jansen, who has a wife and family living in the upper story of his employers' premises, protested. Mrs. Almesley examined his teeth, and declared that he had dyed his red hair brown. She followed him to his employers' store on Broome street, and demanded that he should forthwith pay her $20,000. It required the terrors of a policeman to induce her to go away

Yesterday morning she returned and again claimed Jansen as her liege lord. This time she was arrested and taken to the Court which she had visited as complainant the day before. When Mrs. Almesley and the diminutive Mr. Jansen presented themselves before Justice Wandell, ill-bred spectators laughed. Mrs. Almesley, in a business-like way, retold her story and assured the Justice that Jansen was the recreant husband.

"Look where he lost his teeth a-bitin cartridges in the war, Judge," she said. "He's dyed his hair, because he was red." Mr. Jansen giggled.

His mirth changed to perplexity when Mrs. Margaret Scott came forword, carrying her baby in her arms, and testified that he was her Scotch friend Almesley. He had dyed his red hair, to be sure, and spoke differently: but that very morning she had heard him say two words of Gaelic.

Speaking with a strong accent Jansen gave his name. He was a Swede, he said, and he had never laid eyes on Mrs. Almesley before she stopped him on the street on Thursday.

"Oh, John," exclaimed Mrs. Almesley reproachfully, "how can you say so, when I can get a dozen witnesses to swear that you are my husband?"

"where are your dozen witnesses?" asked the Justice.

"Mrs. Jenkins, right around here on Eleventh street is one. I'll go and get her."

She returned with a little girl, who said that she was Mrs. Jenkins's niece, and knew Almesley.

"Point him out," said the Justice.

The girl looked around the room for a moment, and then pointed her finger at Jansen, who had seated himself among the audience. When they were confronted, and Jansen had spoken to her, she still insisted that he was the man, although the color of his hair was different.

A man with a gray moustache and imperial testified that he was head clerk of the importing house at No. 477 Broome street. Jansen had been in their employ seven years, and had lived on the premises with his wife and family for that length of time.

The Justice told Mrs. Almesley that she must be mistaken. She had been deceived by a chance resemblance.

"Lord have mercy on a poor woman," said Mrs. Almesley, the tears rolling down her cheeks. "Oh, Judge, have mercy on me, and give me my husband."

"Get your husband arrested and I'll give him to you," said the Justice.

"Who else can I arrest but you, John Almesley?"

Crying out, "May the Lord have mercy, Oh what have I done to be thus used?" Mrs. Almesley hurried from the room.

An exchange says a man fell from a church steeple in Soudan, France, a distance of nearly a hundred feet, and although he escaped injury, he was "much scared."

PROTECT YOUR BUILDINGS

Which may be done with one-fourth the usual expense, by using our

PATENT SLATE PAINT,

MIXED READY FOR USE.

Fire-proof, Water-proof, Durable, Economical and Ornamental.

A roof may be covered with a very cheap shingle, and by application of this slate be made to last from 20 to 25 years. Old roofs can be patched and coated, looking much better, and lasting longer than the new shingles without the slate, for

One-third the Cost of Reshingling.

The expense of slating new shingles is only about the cost of simply laying them. The paint is FIRE-PROOF against sparks or flying embers, as may easily be tested by any one.

IT STOPS EVERY LEAK,

And for tin or iron has no equal, as it expands by heat, contracts by cold, and NEVER CRACKS nor scales. Roofs covered with Tar Sheating Felt can be made water-tight at a small expense, and preserved for many years.

This Slate Paint is EXTREMELY CHEAP.

Two gallons will cover a hundred square feet of shingle roof, while on tin, iron, felt, matched boards, or any smooth surface, from two quarts to one gallon are required to 100 square feet of surface, and although the Paint has a heavy body it is easily applied with a brush.

No Tar is use in this Composition,

Therefore it neither cracks in Winter, nor runs in Summer.

On decayed shingles it fills up the holes and pores, and gives a new substantial roof that will last for years. CURLED or WARPED shingles it brings to their places, and keeps them there. It fills up all holes in Felt roofs, stops the leaks—and although a slow dryer, rain does not affect it a few hours after applying. As nearly all paints that are black contain TAR, be sure you obtain our GENUINE article, which (for shingle roofs) is

CHOCOLATE COLOR,

When first applied, changing in about a month to a uniform slate color, and is to all intents and purposes SLATE. On

TIN ROOFS

Our red color is usually preferred, as one coat is equal to five of any ordinary paint. For

BRICK WALLS

Our BRIGHT RED is the only reliable Slate Paint ever introduced that will effectually prevent dampness from penetrating and discoloring the plaster.

These paints are also largely used on outhouses and fences, or as a priming coat on fine buildings.

Our only colors are CHOCOLATE, RED, BRIGHT RED, and ORANGE.
