At a recent miners' meeting at Mount Corey District a rule was adopted prohibiting the recording of conflicting claims to the same ground. This is a good regulation and should be in the by-laws of all mining districts, as much troublesome and expensive litigation would be thus prevented.

The residence of the editor of the Harney Items at Burns, Grant county, Oregon, was burglarized last week, and a Mexican dollar and a five-cent piece stolen. The question now agitating the quiet town of Burns is: Why did the editor keep so much money in the house?
