Local Dettings.

A Serious Loss.
Mr. Hayden M. H. Yates, one of the best farmers and most worthy citizens of this district, "turned out" sixteen fine hogs, Sunday morning last but four of them were alive. Cholera was the cause of their death.

Board of Health.
The County Commissioners of St. Mary's county, acting as a Board of Health, met on Tuesday last, present Parsons, Dent, Buckler and Carroll, John T. Spalding, M. D., Secretary. John H. Parsons was elected President. The Board then adjourned, subject to the call of the President.

Personal.
Whit Hammett, D. D. S., has been complimented by the National University, of Washington, by an appointment in its Faculty. He is one of the three Demonstrators. This is a high compliment and Dr. Hammett and his friends have just reason to be proud of it.

Commissioners' Court.
The County Commissioners met on Tuesday last, present Parsons, Dent, Buckler and Carroll. Jacob Lancaster was allowed increase of pension of $10 out of surplus. Ordered that hereafter in case of any supervisor exceeding his appropriation, that the certificates issued by him to laborers shall be first paid. The Board then adjourned to the 2nd Tuesday of August, proximo.

The Encampment.
A recent issue of the Gazette , of Atlantic city, devotes a column of personal to the 5th Maryland Regiment lately encamped at that place. From them, we clip the following:

"W. H. Ford, Company K, was complimented by the inspecting officer yesterday for having the cleanest gun in ranks."
"W. J. Biggs is the ladies' man of the regiment. Keep them clean Ford, neatness will show."

We will wager that Mr. Ford appropriated Willie Conant's rifle.

Orphan's Court.
Tuesday, July 27, 1886. Court met, all the Judges present. The last will and testament of John B. Abell was admitted to probate. Jas. F. Abell and Geo. C. Abell were appointed executors and bond fixed at $40,000. Account of sale of L. J. Wise, administrator of J. Hazell, filed. The Hon. B. G. Harris appeared, announced the death of John B. B. G. Harris, R. C. Combs, J. F. Morgan, D. C. Hammett and W. I. Dawkins. Bond of James F. Abell and George C. Abell, executors of John B. Abell, filed and approved and letters granted. B. R. Mechanicsville Items.
Crops generally looking well, both corn and tobacco, except corn upon light soil and low-land. These have been over rained. Wheat crops have made a fair yield where threshed. Some have obtained more than expected. Railroad news at a stand-still. Work is still progressing on the old portion. The large number of doubters concerning its ultimate completion, have greatly increased of late, owing to the many unfulfilled promises.

The M. E. Sunday school picnic in the Grove near Laurel Grove was a decided success. The crowd was not as large as on some previous occasions, yet there was enough for all to fully enjoy themselves. Ice cream, lemonade and candies and cakes were abundant, and the many children and young people present were consequently joyous.

The camp-meeting near Oakville has commenced. Several of the village were present Sunday and reported an accident by which a buggy was broken, on their return in the evening. As yet no injury to persons reported.

Compton Items.
Not having seen any communication from Compton lately, you will please allow us a small space in your valuable paper to note the few items of interest happening in our quiet Neck.

The wheat threshing and shipping has been completed and neither yield nor price seems to be satisfactory. 84 cts. per bushel was the price for the crops on Newtown.

This neighborhood was treated to a grand excursion on the 4th, by Capt. J. W. Crosswell, or the schooner Kent Island, and it proved to be a very enjoyable affair owing to the pleasant breeze and the exertions of the gallant Captain to make it so. Well, the centre of attraction this Summer seems to be Blackstone's Island, and the boat race there on the 24th was quite exciting. Housman & Beitzel raked in the change, beating the Ella May and others pretty hands. All that wish to regain their laurels can do so on the 14th, prox., as we are informed that on that date there will be a race open to one and all. The course will be from Newtown Creek to Hawkins' Bay and return, with oysters, fish and pine top thrown in.

Flash.

Dinner and Entertainment at St. Inigo's, early in August. A silver watch will be raffled on the occasion at 10 cents a chance.

Mission at St. John's.

[Reported for the Beacon.]
The Mission conducted in St. John's church by the Rev. Ronald B. MacDonald closed on Sunday, 25th instant, with the impressive ceremony of "Pagan Benediction and renewal of baptismal vows." As the immense crowd present raised their right hands and made aloud their declaration of faith and promise of perseverance, many were moved to tears. There were 297 outside and about 500 inside the church. For three days the church could not contain the throng that hung with rapt attention on the burning eloquence of the preacher. 384 confessions were heard and the congregation generally took advantage of the spiritual privileges offered them.

Early Missionaries of Maryland.
The London Month says that "it may not be out of place to note the fact that many of the early missionaries of Maryland were of gentle blood. Many of them were born in lordly homes, amid the rich and beautiful fields of old England. It is a historical truth that some of them were the lineal descendants of those brave knights who accompanied Richard the Lion-Hearted into Palestine, and fought under the red-cross banner on the plains of Ascalon. Some of them could trace their noble pedigree back to the time when William, the Conqueror, landed on the shores of Britain. Not a few of them were allied by blood to one or other of the royal families of the British Empire. But better still, some of their number could count among their kinsmen heroes who died as martyrs for the faith of Christ. When we call to mind how many of Maryland's missionaries were in youth nursed in the lap of luxury, how they were loved and honored by vast numbers of servants and dependants, how their every wish was gratified by indulgent parents, we can more fully realize their sacrifice in coming on the mission—we can better appreciate the zeal which enabled them to endure the hardships and trials of their daily toils and duties. Among the missionaries of Maryland, we find a Copley, three Poultons, a Mosely, a Knight, a Fitzwilliams, of Lincoln, an Atwood, of Beverley, a Forster, of Suffolk, a Thorold, a Whitgrave, a Molyneux, and several members of the Brooke family. A desire to recall bright examples has forced us into this digression."

St. Inigo's Items.
[From our Regular Correspondent.]
An additional force of seventy men arrived at the Fish Commission recently. Eggs have advanced in price in consequence. It takes twelve dozen to give them a breakfast. Despite the grass and weeds corn has a beautifully green appearance and is growing rapidly. Tobacco, with the exception of some places, seems to be thriving. Farmers are shipping wheat principally by sail boats. The freight is cheaper and the hauling is more convenient. The low price of this valuable cereal causes much depression of spirits among the thinking portion of the community. We should not despair—Jehovah-jireh!

Mrs. J. Q. A. Robson and daughter, Miss Emma, of Baltimore, and Miss Kate Sutton, of Raleigh, N. C., are visiting friends in the Tyne Neck section.

Mr. W. H. Raley, of St. Inigo's Neck, is quite sick, and Edward Meyer, Esq., is slowly recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia. It was this gentleman, who, during the epidemic in 1882, when the diphtheria caused the death of many children hereabout, left his home to console and assist distressed parents and friends.

There is less peddling this season than has been for many previous ones. We presume it does not justify those who prefer to follow said business to procure licenses under the present law.

The chirp of young martins is heard in our village. Soon they will take their flight to the balmy "Sunny South."

The vacant scholarship at the St. Mary's Female Seminary has not yet been filled. The postponement was due, we learn, to the absence of one of the Commissioners. There are said to be 37 applicants for the place.

In our last issue we made a brief notice of the Newtown strike. Since then, we have been informed that two farmers were successfully worked by the same game that failed on the Manor. On the above mentioned estate, the strikers, we are told, watched the farmers prepare to do the work themselves without signs of yielding, but when "Jake," the five year old son of Mr. Jarboe, "shed" his coat preparatory to "wading in" they collapsed and went to work for 75 cents.

I have just time before your paper goes to press to refer to an article in the last Sunday American under the head "He is not a kicker," which says, "Time there will be no opposition to Mr. Compton's renomination. The fight will be made later."

"The election is a matter of great uncertainty. There are active elements of opposition in Mr. Compton's own party. George Wells, with a powerful faction in Anne Arundel, and Benjamin G. Harris in St. Mary's." In answer to this, so far as it refers to me, I have to say that if Mr. Compton is renominated by the democratic party of this Congressional district, and I shall be able to attend at the polls, I shall certainly consider it my duty as a democrat to give him my vote. I would say more to this but forbids.

The "Magnolia" will meet the "Ella May" next Saturday.

Messrs. Editors—Some several issues back, we noticed an article in the columns of the Enterprise closely resembling the style of a boasting prattler. From the heap of useless jargon, we gleaned enough to learn that we were invited to extend a challenge for a race to the very beautiful little clipper of Blackstone's Island, the "Ella May." In accordance with the desire of our friend, D. C. F., we proceeded after the natural method to extend our challenge which appeared in the columns of the Beacon, July 15th. As a matter of course, we looked for an immediate acceptance in the next Enterprise—but, not a word! We then hoped to hear something from D. C. F. through private letters—but, not a word! But, what consolation we have to all who know anything about sailing and accepting challenges when they read that D. C. F. offers a challenge in reply to a challenge. Had you challenged us in the beginning we would have accepted. You did not intend us to challenge you. We did only make a straight way crooked and challenge you. We accept. Time and distance also rules and regulations to be our choice. We have decided that next Saturday, July 31st, will be the date for the race. Start from Leonardtown Wharf, at 10 o'clock, a. m., thence down Breton's Bay into the Potomac as far as Heron Island; thence back to Leonardtown. Each boat shall have two judges to accompany it during the entire race, and in case of foul play, the race shall be decided lost that boat guilty of the breach of sailing rules as laid down by the two Captains. The amount to be contested for can be determined upon by the owners at their pleasure, and you may rest assured D. C. F. we will not break you, for what we desire is a fair test of the speed of our boats and not to turn an honorable pleasure into a species of gambling.

In conclusion, I will say for the benefit of the sailing public, that they need expect nothing from our old "canal-boat" when pitted against such a fair rival as the sailor from the Island, whose proportions lack nothing, we are compelled to believe, that would render her speed as fleet as a bird, whose every curve from "stem to stern" is so fashioned as to render obstruction by the water impossible, and whose sails as if set under an inspiration of God's adjustment catch every breeze that blows. We could not be expected to win against such a rival, because we are not built that way. How nearly she must resemble the fair sea-gull that as easily skims a stormy sea as a calm sea on its white wing! How pure and fair she will appear, like the waning moon, as she leaves her rival in the dim distance. But, oh, how much purer and fairer is she in name, the "Dear little Ella May!" F. & R. P. S. Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

To find more enterprising fields and settled in McKeesport, where he has ever since resided. To your home, Mr. Bailey needs no introduction, or any mention beyond the mere mention of his name. Born and reared to manhood's estate in St. Mary's, and taking at times an active part in the public and political affairs of the county, he was well known to the prominent men and families up until the time of his emigration.

Most of these, particularly in St. Inigo's, will remember the fair and estimable young lady, Miss Jennie Barnes, who many years ago came from Baltimore to visit her aunt, Mrs. Beville, and who later became the honored wife of Mr. Bailey. For nearly three years after their union they resided in St. Inigo's, where they were well and most favorably known to a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

This is the lady whose sad demise it is now my painful duty to chronicle. When Mr. Bailey and his wife removed from St. Mary's, seven years ago, they were the parents of two children, but during the years that have followed that number has been increased to five. But little over a year since they were called upon to mourn the loss of a dear little daughter, little Grace, aged only four years, whose death was reported in the Beacon at the time.

About ten months ago Mrs. Bailey, never of a robust physique, began to feel, from the lingering effects of a cold which she had taken. Everything possible was done for her, but some weeks ago it became quite evident that she was a victim of the full destroyer, consumption, and, in spite of the most constant and intelligent medical aid and of the most devoted and tender ministrations by faithful and loving hands, she steadily declined until Thursday last, when she succumbed to the dread destroyer, as above noted, and on Saturday morning was carried from St. Peter's church and laid tenderly to rest in the quiet shades of St. Joseph's cemetery. Beside her husband, she leaves four young children, the youngest of whom is a babe only 8 months old.

Many sympathizing friends and neighbors here, who have done all they could to lighten the stroke, feel the deepest sympathy and condolence for the bereaved husband and motherless little ones and I am sure that the hundreds of old friends and neighbors in St. Mary's county will join their sympathizing expressions to them for the stricken family when they read these lines in the dear old Beacon. Mrs. Combs, of Alexandria, is now with her brother and caring for his home and children until he effects his future arrangements.

AS OLD FRIENDS.
5TH DISTRICT, July 24, 1886.
Messrs. Editors—Time being plentiful and nothing of any consequence to occupy one's business, a thought occurred to me that I might pass away a few leisure moments by indicating a few lines to your interesting paper. But as my composing powers are not altogether in very good working order at present, I am afraid that the waste basket will be a more worthy recipient of my communication than your paper. Notwithstanding, I will endeavor to give you news enough to fit it for publication. Copious rains have prevailed, and owing to its great excess, crops in this section and, I believe, throughout the whole county, especially on light, soft soil and low lands, are so badly injured that the thought for a full crop is entirely abandoned; and some think that hardly a half crop will be realized. But let us trust that the Omnipotent Hand by which all things are done, may still provide for all, restore happiness, and that the lost faith in Thy works be forever renewed. The crops of young clover in this section are looking remarkably well, much of it being a knee high and in full bloom. The heavy rain falls have placed the roads in an exceedingly bad condition, some places being almost rendered impassable, and a considerable amount of work is required to place them back in a good condition. Wheat is being threshed in this part, and the yield is very little to the amount of straw. No sickness of any consequence prevails. The weather is cool; the thermometer ranging from 70° to 80°. Farmers are stunned at the present sale of tobacco and wheat.

HOLLYWOOD, July 23, 1886.
Messrs. Editors—Again after a prolonged absence I beg a small space in your weekly columns. It is useless to state the weather is fine, yet I believe there are some in our midst so entwined in love's meshes (meshes) as to forget the natural order of the days of the week.

Many of our farmers have finished threshing and the average reported is generally good.

The Jubilee Mission opened at St. John's on Thursday last and closed on Sunday. Father MacDonald, the Missioner, assisted by the Fathers Girard and Neale, officiated. The services were well attended, and the sermons delivered by Father MacDonald were so forcible and effective as to draw from the congregation many tears of guilt and remorse. However, we are glad to say he left well pleased with the fruits of his labor, having received the consoling of his missionary labor.

Your correspondent had the pleasure of seeing the President and his bride on Sunday last at Dr. Sunderland's Parish where he attends service. To say she is exquisitely beautiful would be only to give you a faint idea of her grace. His carriage driver is Lewis Hawkins, of Anne Arundel county, Md.

On the evening of the Sabbath I was invited by Mr. F. E. Murray and wife to go out riding, which of course I gladly accepted. The first place we called of note was Glenwood race track, where we took refreshments. On leaving we were better equipped for our evening's ride. The next place that engaged my attention was Rock Creek Cemetery, the entrance of which is marked by the statues of most of the Presidents. On the right entrance is a statue of Eliza Bruce, consort of the ever memorable General Bruce of the Army, having visited the Spar Springs and drunk of its waters we proceeded to the School of Retormation. After having surveyed its grounds in all its beauty, we returned to the city, only to enjoy a night's repose of refreshing sleep.

McKeesport, Pa., July 18, 1886.
Editors Beacon—It is with a feeling of the greatest pain and of saddest regret that I write you to chronicle the death of the wife of an old citizen of St. Mary's county, Mrs. Z. Taylor Bailey, which sad event occurred about seven o'clock on the morning of Thursday, July 15th. Mr. Bailey himself is a native of your good and hospitable old county, St. Inigo's district, and was also a resident there until about seven years ago, when, like many good citizens of the county before and since, he started

The Mexican Pension bill has passed both Houses and only awaits the signature of the President to become a law.

The little boy for which a $1,000 reward was offered was, much to the joy of his deceased parents, found in a pair of Latham's & Bailey's 17's at the bottom of the sugar barrel. On being asked to settle his bill, his only reply was "I wish to check on the wind shaker's cashier."

Fearing less I intrude upon your space by my nonsense, I will bid you vale until the sweet bye and bye.
