DIED.

[illegible] Monday Morning, [illegible] per Rheumatism, [illegible] Esq., aged about [illegible] years; a member of the Methodist [illegible] for a long time a believer in the [illegible] Christian religion. His death [illegible] to his surviving [illegible] friends, and the community [illegible] suddenly but "the Lord giveth and [illegible] away, blessed be the name [illegible]"

[illegible] shadow of life we are in death."—[illegible] must this truth be forced upon [illegible] of those who were bound to the [illegible] by endearing ties, which death, [illegible] ful majesty has severed. But [illegible] days before his death, Mr. K. [illegible] good health; but, what he is now [illegible] "bourne from whence no travel[illegible]"

[illegible] is not the only abiding place [illegible] there is a brighter and more glorio[illegible] where affliction ceases and the [illegible] at rest—where the stars shine in [illegible] brightness, and the heavens are [illegible] with a never-ceasing rainbow, [illegible] hover round the throne of [illegible] ging loud Hosannas to the Lord of [illegible] What a consolation does the widow[illegible] and orphan children derive from the [illegible] meeting with him,

"Where sickness never comes;
Where grief no more complains;
Health and peace immortal blooms,
And purest pleasure reigns."

[illegible] a loving husband, a kind father, [illegible] friend. He needs no eulogist to [illegible] his many virtues, as they are [illegible] written upon the hearts of all who [illegible]

"Peace to his manes."
