Union Female College.

The next session of this Institution will commence on Monday, the 10th inst. It has been established, at a considerable expense, to afford the best advantages and facilities for a thorough education. The College buildings are commodious and well ventilated. The Teachers assure those having daughters to educate, that every attention will be bestowed to render young ladies cheerful and comfortable.

For further information, apply to Rev. R. Thomas, President of the Faculty, Oxford, Mississippi. [sept5-14-tf.]

Coal!! Coal!! Coal!!!

Those of our citizens who intend burning coal this winter, would do well to purchase of Messrs. Dann & Merrill, Holly Springs. Messrs. D. & M. are engaged in furnishing the first quality of Pittsburh coal to the good people of our neighboring town, and they will supply the people of Oxford at the very lowest prices.

Address, Messrs. Dann & Merrill, Holly Springs. [sep5-14-3]

Eighteen, all Gold.

Only eighteen co-operationists have been elected to the Mississippi Convention, of its ninety-eight members. Mississippi has spoken loudly.

New Postmaster.

J. L. Kindel has been appointed Post Master at Oxford, vice D. L. S. Mosely, resigned.

Garden Seeds.

If any of the good people of the county want an early supply of vegetables, let them call on Dr. Chilton, and buy Landreth's Fresh Garden Seed, of the crop of 1860.

Saddles and Harness Making.

We would ask the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Mr. Teas. He has been long and favorably known to our community. Give him a trial.

Married.

On the 20th ult., in this county, by the Rev. J. F. Moore, Mr. Sidney W. Brogan, of Marshall county, to Miss Susan E. Waller, daughter of R. L. Waller, Esq.

On Thursday evening last, at the residence of James C. Atwoodring, Esq., by the Rev. M. L. Veller, Col. N. C. Faulton, and Miss M. J. Dickens.

I saw two clouds at morning,
Tinged by the rising sun
And in the dawn they floated on,
And mingled into one;
I thought that morning cloud was blest,
It moved so sweetly to the West.

Success to Them.

Our young friends, Wyatt and Duncan, are about opening a confectionery establishment in our town. We wish them all manner of success, and trust that our citizens will give them a liberal share of their patronage, as they are worthy and clever young men, and have been among us from boyhood up.

A Merry Christmas.

The good people of Oxford have been making merry as can be all this week. Pleasant parties have been given, we believe, every night, and the lovely ladies of our town have made happy the hearts of their chivalrous beaux with gay laughter, and bright smiles. Long may the Christmas of 1860 be remembered by our readers for the store of pleasing memories it has bequeathed to them all. "Ring out the old, ring in the new."

Mississippi Foundery at New Orleans.

We would invite the attention of our readers to the advertisement, in another column, of Mr. Samuel H. Gihaan, of the Mississippi Foundery Agency, located at New Orleans. This establishment has an excellent reputation, and is spoken of by our cotemporaries in the very highest term. If you want any thing in that line, send South for it, by all means.

Military Meeting.

We are requested to state that there will be a meeting of the citizens of our county, to take into consideration the best manner of arming and equipping the military of the county. In view of the prospect of war by the Government upon the seceding States, this move, on the part of our citizens, is a very important and wise one, and we hope to see a full attendance of the people on the occasion. "Let us keep our powder dry," and have a sufficient supply on hand.

The Wealth of Lafayette County.

The statistics of the population and wealth of our county, published in another column, present a healthy and gratifying exhibit of our prosperous condition. The various libraries of the county contain, in the aggregate, 4,000 volumes for each white inhabitant. The churches average one to every four hundred and fifty inhabitants, white and black. Eighteen thousand six hundred and seventy-three bales of cotton, at fifty dollars per bale, bring to our farmers nine hundred thousand dollars, which is about three hundred dollars for every hand engaged in its production. The net income of our county is about, on an average, annually. There are, in the county, eleven hundred and eighty-five men, subject to military duty. If the secession of the Southern States bring on a collision with the Federal Government, Lafayette county would send to the seat of war a regiment of good men and true, who, inspired with all a patriot's enthusiasm and a patriot's might, when his country's soil is polluted with hostile foes, would rush to battle like an avenging host, to

"Strike—till the last armed foe expires,
Strike—for their altars and their fires,
Strike—for the green graves of their sires,
God and their native land."

Hon. Jacob Thompson.

This distinguished gentleman was recently appointed, by Gov. Pettus, Commissioner to North Carolina. After making every preparation to start on his mission, he was kept at Washington by the discovery, through the voluntary confession of Bailey, the delinquent clerk, that there had been abstracted from the Indian Trust Funds, under the control of his department, bonds, amounting, in the aggregate, to $87,000. Bailey and his confederates were immediately arrested, and Secretary Thompson went to work gently to unravel the villainy and recover the stolen funds. But for this unfortunate circumstances, Mr. Thompson would, before this, have resigned his seat in Mr. Buchanan's cabinet.

Biography of Quitman.

Claiborne's Biography of Quitman, the hero and statesman, and Mississippi's honored and idolized favorite, has received hearty encomiums in all parts of the Union. It is a work which should form a library of every Mississippian, and be, not only an ornament, but closely and affectionately studied. John Anthony Quitman is a name whose utterance thrills electrically the heart-strings of every lover of noble manhood, and unbending integrity. [illegible] that great and good man will occupy a [illegible] in the new and more [illegible] which [illegible] Southern [illegible] biography; and we pity you, if you can [illegible] without kindling enthusiasm [illegible] emotions of [illegible] aspiration [illegible].

[illegible] though, the weather, which has [illegible] been uncomfortably cool; [illegible] and [illegible] gathered [illegible] the cast with [illegible] of those clothes-[illegible], chill-bringing [illegible] attempting, dusty [illegible], which [illegible] like a mildew, creeping into the heart of [illegible] coziness, and [illegible] all the world smell earthy, and look as if, [illegible] in [illegible] clothes, it were just ready to be deposited in a new made grave. Nobody can blame the [illegible] for thinking of the heart to [illegible], when [illegible] "[illegible]-ness, and [illegible] weeping, hysterical, sobbing, despairing mood, [illegible] mortal, whose lot has fallen upon life, love and [illegible] has been rudely broken, by the [illegible] of Death, laid mercilessly upon the loved one whose affection was the sole sunshine of his being. But even amid the deepest darkness, even in the chills of despair, the soul stretches forth its tendrils towards the sunshine; and so we hope soon to see the clouds clear away, and a smiling sky beam brightly down upon us once more.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Amalgamation of Languages.—There is a growing tendency [illegible] to appropriate the most expressive words of other languages, and after a while to incorporate them in our own; thus the word Cephalic, which is from the Greek, signifying "for the head," is now being popularized in connection with Mr. Spalding's great Headache remedy, but it will soon be used in a more general way, and the word Cephalic will become as common as Electrotype, and many others, whose distinction as foreign words has been worn away by common usage, until they seem "native and to the manor born."

'Ardly 'realized.

Hi 'ad 'a 'orrible 'eadache this hafternoon, hand hi stepped into the hapothecaries hand [illegible] the man, "Can you hease me of an 'eadache [illegible] hes it hache 'ad," says 'e. "Hexceedingly," says hi, hand upon that 'e gave me a Cephalic Pill, hand 'ow me 'onor it cured me so quick that I 'ardly realized I 'ad 'ad an 'eadache.

☞ Headache is a fo[illegible] makes known any deviation [illegible] real state of the brain, an[illegible] be looked on as a safeguard [illegible] of disease which might [illegible] till too late to be remedied [illegible] never be neglected. [illegible] under two [illegible] Symptomatic [illegible] is the precursor of [illegible] which are Apoplexy, [illegible] [illegible] ris, as well as remo[illegible] of the heart are very [illegible] aches; [illegible] which frequently [illegible] Headache [illegible] distinguished by [illegible] coming on [illegible] side of [illegible] sound health, and p[illegible] at one [illegible] physical energies; [illegible] on slowly, heralded by depression of [illegible] of temper. In most instances the p[illegible] front of the head, over one or both [illegible] sometimes provoking vomiting; and r[illegible] also so named Neuralgia.

For the treatment of either [illegible] Cephalic Pills have been found [illegible] dy, reflecting the most [illegible] and by its subtle power eradicating [illegible] which Headache is the unerring index.

Bridget.—Misses wants you to [illegible] box of Cephalic Glue, no, a bottle of Prepared Pills,—but I'm thinking that's not just it, mayhap perhaps he'll be ather knowing what it is. Yes, he's nigh dead gone with the Sick Headache, and wants some more of that same as relaved her before.

[illegible]—You must mean Spalding's Cephalic Pills.

[illegible]—Och! sure now an [illegible] is, and he's [illegible] another and giv me [illegible] don't be [illegible] about it either.

Constipation or Costiveness.

[illegible] one of the many [illegible] prevalent, so much so [illegible] as Costiveness. [illegible]—You can [illegible] druggists. Call for Cephalic Pills, [illegible] new bill, and I recommend them [illegible] to me.

[illegible]—I shall [illegible] a box directly, and shall tell all my suffering friends, for they are a real blessing.

Twenty Millions of Dollars Saved.—Mr. Spalding has sold two millions of bottles of his celebrated Prepared Glue and it is evident that each bottle saves at least ten dollars worth of broken furniture, thus making an aggregate of twenty millions of dollars reclaimed from total loss by this valuable invention. Having made his Glue a household word, he now proposes to do the world a greater service by curing all the aching heads with Cephalic Pills, and if they are as good as his glue they will soon vanish away like snow in a [illegible]

By the use of these Pills the periodic attacks of Nervous or Sick Headache may be prevented if taken at the commencement of each attack, and relief from pain and sickness may be obtained.

They seldom fail in removing the Headache to which females are subject.

They act gently upon the bowels, [illegible] tiveness.

For Literary Men, Students, Delicate persons, and persons of sedentary habits, they are invaluable, imparting the opposite qualities to those which induce Costiveness, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the digestive organs.

The CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long investigation and carefully conducted experiments, having been [illegible] years, during which time they have [illegible] a vast amount of pain and suffering [illegible] whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the stomach.

They are [illegible] vegetable in their composition, and may be taken at all times with perfect safety without making any change of diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer to children.

Ornamental Department:—Mr. Frank A. Tepe, Mrs. Fannie E. Tepe, and Miss Lizzie Murdoch.

The above corps of teachers has been selected by the President with the greatest care, exclusively from the South, and he is satisfied they are fully competent to give instruction in all branches usually taught in the best Female Colleges.

The entire building has been repainted and thoroughly renovated. The school has the most approved style of furniture, and a new and extensive apparatus. The chambers are large, well ventilated and furnished with everything conducive to health and comfort.

Holly Springs, celebrated for its health and beauty, is situated on the great highway from New Orleans to New York, twenty-five miles South of the junction of the Memphis and Charleston and Mississippi Central Railroads, and is easy of access to most of the Southern and Western States.

The former patrons of Franklin College and all who are in search of a school for their daughters or wards, are respectfully requested to call and examine before sending elsewhere.

For particulars apply for a Catalogue to the President.

The thirteenth annual session of this institution will open on the 17th day of September, 1860, under the direction of the able and experienced Faculty named above.

The University offers advantages to young men seeking thorough education, unsurpassed anywhere in the United States, and unequalled in the South.

Its apparatus and arrangements for the illustration of Physical Science, and Chemistry, are entirely unrivalled. In mineralogy it possesses a cabinet of select specimens, choice and valuable.

The President and Professors need no commendation from the Board of Trustees, most of them being well and favorably known to the public, as experienced and able instructors.

The location of the University is in the highest degree healthful—no epidemic sickness having ever occurred there or in Oxford.

The government of the University is mild but efficient. Every effort is made to cultivate a manly tone of feeling among the students and an elevated standard of morals. The village, surrounded by a population [illegible] regard for religion and morality is [illegible] which is not surpassed anywhere.

[illegible] easily accessible, being on the line of the Mississippi Central Railroad, which is now nearly completed.

The [illegible] accommodations are ample for the comfort of at least [illegible] hundred students.

A spacious Gymnasium, with all the most approved apparatus for encouraging bodily exercise and promoting physical development, will be ready for use in the fall.

Terms—Tuition $40 per annum.

Fuel and attendance $25. To those who lodge out of the college building, $10.

Tuition in the Preparatory Department $30.

PROSPECTUS OF THE Oxford Intelligencer.

It is proposed to establish, at Oxford, Mississippi, a weekly journal, under the foregoing title, and to issue the first number on or about the 1st day of June, [illegible]

[illegible] not be the organ of any [illegible] of individuals; [illegible] and more [illegible] ple is identified.

The fundamental doctrines [illegible] school of Democracy will constitute the [illegible] which [illegible] course of the paper will be controlled [illegible] and the cause of the South, with energy and zeal, it will do so calmly, and only by reason and argument—remembering that there is a zeal which "is not according to knowledge," and whose only weapons are empty declamation and appeals to popular ignorance, passion, and prejudice. It will earnestly support the principles and organization of the Democratic party; but, at the same time, it will be courteous to those of our fellow-citizens who are politically opposed to it; nor will it descend, in any case, to personal abuse and vilification.

The Editor first saw the light in Tennessee, but was brought to Mississippi while he was yet an unconscious infant. Here he was nurtured and educated. He is a graduate of the University of Mississippi. He is bound to Mississippi by every tie of association and affection, and it will be his constant duty to show that he is not unmindful of those obligations which he owes to her.

Nothing will appear in the columns of the Intelligencer which the Editor does not believe to be true; for it is his purpose to establish for the paper a reputation, both at home and abroad, which shall cause its every statement of fact to be implicitly relied on.

The Editor will studiously avoid all controversies, as far as the same may be avoided with propriety by one whose duty it will be to call things by their right names, when he speaks of them at all.

Terms, $2 per annum in advance, or $2 50 at the end of the year.

HOWARD FALCONER, Editor and Proprietor.

Oxford, Miss., May 5th, 1860.
