JENKIN'S ANNIHILATOR.

The Great Southern Remedy for

RHEUMATISM, GOUT & NEURALGIA

These terrible enemies of human happiness, Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, heretofore seemingly insurmountable, have indeed found their master in Jenkins' Annihilator. We have the testimony of men of the highest standing in Louisiana and other States, that after suffering indescribable pains for years, from which they sought relief in vain by resorting the Best and Warm springs of Arkansas and Virginia, and by being drawn of months more or less highly praised wines, at first large bills almost died out, they have found relief from pain to the use of the Annihilator, and by continuing it for a short time have been perfectly cured. The Annihilator was compounded purely vegetable, agreeable to the taste, and may be taken without fear of any injurious results by the delicate as well as the robust in constitution.

☞ Price $1.50 per bottle. For sale by all Druggists. Ask your Druggist for circular containing certificates, or send to

A positive cure for Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, and all diseases arising from Impure Blood.

The first bottle has never failed to relieve from pain in the most aggravated case. Should the patient fail to be relieved from the use of one of the bottles, he may feel assured he is not suffering from any of the above diseases, and it will be of no use to continue. Upon its own merit, without advertising, it has established for itself a great reputation throughout the South, and is used in the practice of a large number of our leading physicians. For sale in Handsboro, Miss., by E. H. MURPHEY.

Why is a bulky horse like the capital of Turkey? Because he is constant in a no poll.—London Times.

There are but two spare rooms in the white house, and young lady visitors are compelled to sleep three in a bed.—Washington Capital.

Lord Derby's sudden accession of speech is only explainable on one theory. He must have received encouraging advices from the Canadian militia.—Montreal Herald.

The English language is inadequate to express the forlorn feelings of the boy who thinks he has stolen a dime novel and finds it to be a cook-book.—Sunday School Times.

Private to Mr. Hewitt—Henry Watterson is a very poor shot, Abram. Bob now signified, and wants he far more likely to hit himself than you. Now why postpone this matter?—Courier-Journal.

A new anti-tobacco society has for its motto, "Dare to be decent." This means, we suppose, that they dare chew only one paper of tobacco and smoke only ten cigars a day.—Nashville American.

The New York Commercial Advertiser says "Bob Ingersoll has gone to Memphis to tell the people about hell." This is not true. Col. Ingersoll doesn't carry his coal to Newcastle.—Memphis Avalanche.

Theodore Tilton says "forty years from now people will wonder that there ever should have been a discussion on the existence of hell." Yes, the people who are now forty years old will wonder, undoubtedly.—N. Y. Observer.

What a difference it makes in the appearance of things when you come to survey them from a scientific standpoint. Mr. Tendall says when a man commits murder it is because he doesn't phosphorous enough in his brain. If that's the case, every man who has bloodthirsty feelings should carry matches in his ears.—Scientific American.

On Thursday evening last, as some of the colored citizens of Warren were in the enjoyment of a social dance at Bishop's hall, a delegation of ministers (colored) appeared upon the floor, offered prayer, and silently departed. Somebody cried "Go with the dance," and the fiddler struck up anew.—Warrensburg (Ohio) Journal.

Take a buggy wheel, let it rest on the ground, and put a stick or rod of iron upright in the ground, against the hub, so that the motion of all parts of the wheel can be observed after it has been started. Now turn the wheel forward and see if the upper part does not move over a longer space in a quarter or half turn than the lower part does.—Scientific American.

By making the 22d of February a legal holiday hundreds of young men now cherish the memory of George Washington by sitting in the rear of the beer saloons playing seven up for the drinks, who would otherwise be engaged in their usual daily toil that would kneel all thoughts of the father of his country out of their heads.—Herald and Presbyter.

When other boys were taking the girls home from singing school young Washington was deeply absorbed in the mysteries of civil engineering. Sometimes we never thought George was wise in this. One can learn civil engineering when he gets bald-headed, and the skirts and the girls give our complete relalgence only in the last fleeting days of our youth.—Cincinnati Herald.

An old darkey who was asked if in his experience prayer was ever answered, replied: "Well, sah, some prayers is an' some isn't—jes' as what you axes for. Jes' after the war, when it was mighty hard scrabble fo' de colled breddern, I 'member dat I 'member I pray de Lord to sen' one of Marse Peyton's fat turkeys fo' de ole man, dere was no notice took of de petition; but when I pray dat he would sen' de ole man fo' de turkey, de matter was 'tended to heb' sun-up nex' morrin', dead certin!"—Buffalo Express.

A Herald man had rheumatism and in just one-half an hour he learned that the following will cure it: Iodide of potassium, quinine, glauber salts, onions, raw lemons, baked lemons, raw silk, oiled silk, gin and tansey. Turkey baths, a potato carried in the pocket, a horse chestnut carried in the pocket, an eelskin tied round the leg, suit of red flannel, chloroform liniment, hot water, cold water, hot lemonade, a trip South, a dry atmosphere, equable temperature, sulphur baths, mustard and hot water, camphor liniment, electricity.—Boston Herald.

A wedding was unavoidably postponed recently, because the bridegroom, on his way to "the residence of the bride's parents," in his happy, heedless mood, thoughtlessly and ignorantly set his foot upon a cat. One of those kinds of cats that make their homes in the sand banks, and when trod upon turn, and outrank the offense of Hamlet's uncle, which "smelled to heaven." The wretched bridegroom walked away out into the loneliest part of the country he could find to change his clothes, but even that precaution did not prevent the associated Press from telegraphing, all over the country, "the destruction by fire of a Limberger cheese factory in Montgomery county."—Worcester Press.

FASHION NOTES

Drab, tea and silver gray are fashionable colors.

Gold and silver tinsel is not worn in the day time.

Tinsel will be a feature this summer in evening toilets.

Mantelets are cut short and square in the back, but have long trouts.

Olive green, beige, chamois and blue gray are among the fashionable colors.

Victoria lawn suits will be trimmed with scarlet or navy-blue embroidery.

Tissue de toile is a beautiful new transparent linen fabric for summer dresses.

Marabout cloth, with light feathery tufts of silk, is one of the new dress materials.

Colored embroidery in lovely necktie effects is used on elaborate white dresses.

The Valens tuxe, stiffened with invisible wire, is revived for full evening dress.

Linen in beige shades, corn, brown and gray will be used for midsummer toilets.

Bonnets of gold or silver braid are shown at some of the wholesale millinery houses.

Beads have appeared on linen articles of apparel.

The novelties in spring fabrics are largely in suitings.

Gray will be one of the favorite suits the coming season.

The "Tancheette" and "Clarielle" are new chip bonnets.

Violets and pansies are leaders bonquet flowers.

Bonnets are trimmed with shaded moire and satin lined ribbons.

Cameos were never so much sought for as now, and never so cheap.

Balayeuse plaitings, trimmed and untrimmed, are sold by the yard.

Poppies and honey suckle buds are favorite artificials this season.

The fashion moonshine is still to represent the moon in the moon.

Brocaded linen silk will be used in combination with plain linen silk.

Roman pearl beads are used in quantities for trimming spring bonnets.

Black lace barbes are becoming popular, and are worn two around the throat.

Semi-transluscent corsets are worn, after having been out of fashion for nearly two years.

Ivory and pearl gray are the two shades for dress goods, ribbons and hats for the coming season.

The Byron collarettes and cuffs for ladies are the latest. These are gypsy embroidery are the prettiest.

The newest fans are fine white satin, with the monogram of the owner painted in delicate flowers.

Chemise petticoats, combining both garments in one, are among the new things in ladies underwear.

Numbers nine and twelve are the sizes will be the widths most used this summer for trimming hats and bonnets.

Pure white damask is preferred for table linen, as it shows to advantage the colored china now so much used.

Summer dresses are to be trimmed with embroidered flounces in the Russian colors, red, blue, blue and yellow.

New ties are of plain silk, the ends finished in embroidery and fringe to represent the tip of a peacock feather.

Colored grenadines are announced to be very fashionable for the coming summer. They come in all the choice colors.

Linen dresses will be made with polonaises, and with belted blouse waists, trimmed with linen fringe, lace and embroidery.

Unique scarf pins in Japanese designs are shown; one composed of two small canes with fan of cloisonne enamel attached.

Foulards are shown with polka spots, diamonds, Greek squares, and other small figures.

White pique waistcoats fastened with red or blue ball buttons will be worn by young ladies.

Gold braids are introduced at interviews in some of the new straw and chip hats and bonnets.

Chinese fringes tied in the hem or edge of the garment are seen on some of the new spring wraps.

There is a war between high and low coiffures, but both fashions require much additional hair.

Straw bonnets in shades to match toilets are in vogue among exclusive classes of French women.

Scotch homespun, twilled, brown, gray, mixed, or in stripes or plaids, is just now in demand for ladies' ulsters.

The Shakespeare dinner cards have a different flower, with an appropriate quotation from Shakespeare, on each card.

Low-necked, sleeveless, princess dresses, with long trains and very square-cut pompadour corsages are much worn this ball season.

Satin will be much used for trimming spring and summer dresses. Some of the new grenadines are trimmed entirely with black satin.

"How can I leave thee?" he was singing in a very tender tone. He wasn't very popular with her parents, and it was verging on 12 o'clock, and the old man came in and showed him how he could leave her.—Detroit Free Press.
