The statement made in several papers to the effect that the two men killed at Green Springs last week were quarreling at the time of the calamity is incorrect, as Mr. Welty stated before his death that they were discussing the manner in which they should repair a certain car. Pearl G. Welty, son of the deceased, has brought Mrs. Welty, his mother, here to reside. Young Welty works in the "knotter" room in the East street shops.

Cord-Frankenberg.

Miss Laura Cord, a young lady prominent in musical and social circles, was married this afternoon to Mr. George Frankenberg, the talented tenor of the Second Presbyterian church, at the residence of the bride's parents, on the North side. The wedding ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock by Rev. Dr. Webb, in the presence of a large number of invited guests. The bride was costumed in a handsome traveling dress of brown material, and looked even fairer than usual. After the ceremony and congratulations were over, the guests were served to a hand-some wedding feast, prepared by Mrs. Emily Thomas.

To thoroughly cure scrofula, it is necessary to strike directly at the root of the evil. This is exactly what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, by acting upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing it of all impurities, and leaving not even a taint of scrofula in the vital fluid.

A NEAT CAPTURE.

Lou Taylor, the Principal in the Yellow Springs Burglary, Jailed, and a Large Amount of Goods Recovered.

A very smooth piece of detective work on the part of Officer Norton brought about the capture last night of Lou Taylor, undoubtedly the principal in the burglarious job at Cox & Co.'s store, at Yellow Springs two weeks ago. Taylor is the colored express driver who "squealed" on Emory and Bird, the two others in the job, who were captured Tuesday night and taken to Xenia yesterday. He would not confess this information until a contract was signed by Mr. Cox, by the terms of which Taylor was to produce the burglars and the stolen goods, and was to receive $100 for his services at 10 o'clock this morning. After this sending his "pals" to the penitentiary and receiving their blood money, it was doubtless his intention to skip the town.

Yesterday afternoon while Officer Norton was supposing a couple of witnesses, he got a clew from a man to whom Taylor had attempted to sell some goods that he thought had been stolen. The officer worked up the clew, and at ten o'clock last night a search warrant was gotten out, provided with which officers McKay, Norton, and Mast went to Taylor's house on the alley between Main and Columbus and Sycamore and Murray streets. Taylor was aroused by a rap on the door and after some parleying the officers were admitted. Taylor was naturally a good deal surprised when told that they had come after the goods stolen at Yellow Springs and known to be stored in his house. He at first denied it and said he had nothing more than a pocket-knife, which was produced. He was taken into custody and the officers went on through the house, recovering an immense amount of miscellaneous property, boots and shoes, knives, underclothing, shirts and all sorts of merchandise that is generally kept in the stock of a country store. Taylor was jailed on a charge of burglary, but was not sent to Xenia today as the police are working up another case in which he was interested. An overcoat stolen from another party was found in his possession. Taylor and a partner of his had a room rented at 141 East Main street, which they used for storing goods, and seem to have made a systematic business of burglary. In the Yellow Springs affair he hired the team at Myers' stable and returned it after storing the goods in the room. Later he became frightened about them and removed them to his own house.

The Messiah Rehearsal Tonight.

The second of the extra rehearsals of the Messiah will be held tonight, and will probably be the last of the specials. Prof. Blumenschein having declared himself satisfied with the work thus far attained. The interest and enthusiasm which the Messiah always awakens, has reasserted itself with new vigor this year, the choruses being given with a spirit never before manifested. A number of new features are being introduced that bring out wonderful choral effects, especially in the chorus "For unto us a child is born," which will be sung partly by quartette, the chorus taking up the theme, "Wonderful," "Counsellor," producing an almost electrifying effect.

Arrested for Bastardy.

Yesterday afternoon Gertie McClude filed an affidavit before Squire Stout for bastardy against Harry Eidenour, the head usher at the Grand Opera House. A warrant was issued and Constable Jewett arrested the young man last evening. He was released on bond, and the case has not yet been set for hearing, as the interested parties expect to compromise the suit. They endeavored to keep it quiet, but it leaked out through the indignation of some of Eidenour's friends that such a girl should attempt to fasten this charge against any particular man. If the case comes up for trial the defense will be made on the ground of a multiplicity of lovers.

Burglary.

Last night the burglarious brotherhood made a raid on the residence of Professor Moskowitz, No. 244 Gallagher street, and quietly helped themselves to what they wanted. They made their entrance by prying open a kitchen window, and carried off the professor's overcoat and hat. In the overcoat was a pocket-book containing a $10 and a $5 bill. The thieves also carried $4 in silver lying on the table. No clew has as yet been discovered to the guilty parties.

Eclectic Physicians.

The C. O. E. M. A. is in session at the Lagonda House this afternoon, with the following members among those present from abroad: Dr. W. H. Wagstaff, of North Lewisburg; Dr. J. T. Colliver, of West Jefferson; Dr. W. D. Kepler, of London; the Drs. Wilderson, of Plattsburg, and Dr. Butcher, of Urbana. There are some interesting clinical cases under discussion and the hospital question will be touched upon before the session is finished.

WHERE TO LOOK FOR BARGAINS.

Some Suggestions to Those Buying Holiday Goods.

Those who are looking about for holiday goods, cannot but find themselves well repaid in a visit to the great emporium of John McLaren & Bro., South Limestone street. A reporter of the GLOBE-REPUBLIC who chanced in there this morning, found the double store crowded with customers, and all the clerks actively engaged in waiting upon them. After one has made a trip through the store, the crowd is easily accounted for, for the people soon learn where bargains are to be found. The McLaren & Bros. stock at present is especially attractive, as it is full to overflowing, with not only all the staple articles in their line, but a thousand and one holiday specialties, which were bought close for cash, and are being sold at very low and tempting prices. An enumeration is of course out of the question, but a few of the most striking bargains include beautiful muffs in beaver, silver fare, silver fox and otter; silk handkerchiefs, gents' mufflers, and a full line of elegant neckwear for gentlemen. An especially good bargain just at this time is found in the Dent's London imperials, gloves for gentlemen, the standard price of which the world over is $2. McLaren & Bro. are making a drive on them at one dollar each. In jewelry the firm have an immense line, cheapness itself illustrated. Their beautiful neck and lace pins are ten cents each, really worth a dollar, and look as good as the genuine article. In perfumes their stock is very large and cheap.

Opposite the perfumery department, on the book and novelty counters, piled full of the most inviting bargains, as for instance, a fine stereoscope and a dozen imported views for 50c; a chatter-box for 50c; exquisite photograph albums, large and well made, for $1.25. Christmas cards, such as have always heretofore been sold at 50c. to 50c. each, now sacrificed at 5c., 10c., and 15c.; elegantly bound novels and complete volumes of the poet at from 25c. to 60c. each.

John McLaren & Bro. have a broad reputation for selling honest goods in an honest way. They are an enterprising firm, and the great patronage they enjoy is well earned and deserved.

A Few Suggestions to Those Who Have Purchases to Make for the Holidays.

From year to year the holiday season, measured by the calendar, extends its limits. Nowadays, several weeks before Christmas, the stores in the city put on their gayest appearance and display most tempting goods suitable for presents.

One walking through the filled streets this season of the year, during business hours, will find at every step something new to interest them or excite their admiration.

Those who are at a loss to determine where and what to buy will find it to their advantage to call on Leo Braun, the jeweler, at No. 11 East Main street and examine his grand display of French and American clocks, diamond earrings, pens, studs, rings, pins in all kinds of settings. GOLDEN FLEECE ROLLER PATENT
WARDER & BARNETT
NEW PROCESS
SPRINGFIELD O.

"Bread is the Staff of Life."
"It is the Cheapest to Buy the Best."
"GOLDEN FLEECE is the Best."

SIX EXCELLENT REASONS:

1st. The purchaser of GOLDEN FLEECE is obtaining the highest and best Roller Flour on the market.

2d. It is absolutely pure and made from carefully selected winter and spring wheats.

3d. During September the firm secured thirty-one thousand bushels of the choicest spring wheat in Minnesota in order to maintain the superior excellence of their established brands of flour.

4th. Flour for family use must retain its moisture to avoid frequent bakings. This we accomplish by our peculiar mode of manufacture.

5th. The bakers find it to their profit to use GOLDEN FLEECE by the larger quantity, and better quality of bread they can make from our flour.

6th. One barrel of GOLDEN FLEECE will make from thirty to forty loaves of bread more than cheaper flour; therefore a loaf of bread made from it is better and costs less than one from lower grade.

All dealers retail at one fixed price.

One trial will convince any family of the superiority of this flour over any other on the market.

Ask your grocer for GOLDEN FLEECE and take no other brand.
