Acording to Gen. White's version of the disaster to the British army at Ladysmith, the trouble was all due to the army mules, which stampeded with the munitions of war.

These mules were born and bred in old Kentucky, and their action is to be greatly deplored, in view of the fraternal relations existing between the United States and Great Britain. The episode goes to show, however, that mules will be mules, and that they will kick at the most solemn covenants and understandings of the English races.

The Boers are fighting bravely and nursing wounded Britons humanely. Their kindness to prisoners is also marked. A few days ago they gave a "smoker" in honor of their imprisoned enemies and sang "God Save the Queen" with fervor. In all save the savagery of the battlefield, the war in Africa is remarkable for the absence of all brutality. The Boer have been slightingly spoken of as only half civilized, but they are giving lessons in humanity to all mankind.

The clerk of the weather should brush these fogs away. If he does not, it will become necessary for the reception committee going out to meet the volunteers, to provide themselves with horns, and blow half-minute blasts in order to locate the expected guests upon the incoming steamship Queen.

Glass Works at Smith's Cove to Be Put in Operation

The Northwestern Glass works, which has bought the plant of the defunct Puget Sound Glass works at Smith's cove, has a force of 14 men at work at the plant making extensive additions and alterations. Three carloads of new machinery arrived on the track opposite the works this morning.

When the works are completed, which will be about December 1, nearly 70 men will be employed. The annual output of the plant will amount to $300,000. A tank furnace with a capacity of from 10 to 12 tons is now being erected.

The products of the factory will include every description of wide mouth glass ware. The principal article of manufacture will be a new patent fruit jar, which is the most simple and novel of any made. The old aluminum cap is done away with, and the glass top can be removed with ease.

Raw material will be used in manufacturing the goods. The silica, soda and lime, which will be used, are all to be found in this state. Part of the material will come from Eastern Washington, though the greater part is found in this part of the state.

FORAKER IN FIELDS ANEW

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 1.—The developments of the past few days indicate beyond a doubt that Senator Foraker has broken with his old-time friends, Charles L. Kurtz, Gov. Bushnell and others. He is now in the camp of the national administration and he will be supported by the president's friends for re-election.

The political wheel of fortune has simply taken another turn. Three months ago Foraker was regarded with suspicion by the Hanna people. And they had good ground for that suspicion, as the senator was then, in a more or less prominent way, associating himself with the old crowd. Yet he was not the active leader of old. While it is true he spent most of his time when in Columbus with Kurtz and Bushnell, he seemed to be following reluctantly rather than leading as he did in the days of old. That reluctance is the cause of the break. He refused to follow Kurtz into the camp of the Democrats and the break came when he came out openly for Judge Nash.

RESULTS OF PAROLE LAW

OLYMPIA, Nov. 1.—There have been seven prisoners released from the Walla Walla penitentiary on parole since the parole law went into effect last June. These paroled men are all doing well and faithfully complying with the provisions of their freedom, no beneficiary of the new law having violated his parole, or proved himself unworthy in any particular. Recommendations by Warden Catron for parolement must be sent to the governor by the 15th of each month. There was but one such recommendation made in October. This Gov. Rogers has under consideration.

Woman in Black

Every woman must have a jacket and skirt of some sort, and she wants it in black in finding either cheviot, Venetian of zibilene first choice, according to her taste and the sort of wear she expects to give it. Herring bone cheviot is a novelty weave, and camel's-hair is always elegant. These cost from a dollar up, and it is whispered some tailors put on their goods ($6.50 Venetian, for example), is intended to make their whole charge seem wonderfully cheap.

Cashmeres, meltons and Henriettas are standard. They come heavy enough for tailoring, but are not as much used for house wear. There's from $1 to $3 to pay for these soft, graceful fabrics.

Then there's a nondescript class that goes for the making of no particular sort of dress. These are novelties of all kinds. They boast figures and variations in twill and the like without end.

Novelties of a still high class became interesting and one in a serpentine effect has very fetching little velvet bow knots strewn over its surface. Another shows squarings off of tamise (you simply must not call it boucle) with a crepon stripe.

And when we get to Crepons we've gotten to the heart of the subject as far as dress wear is concerned. Stripes predominate in the latest effects, and the width is from 42 to 46 inches. There's everything from the plainest blister crepon to wondrous weaves, which look like gorgeous Eastern embroideries on softest puffed satin dyed black. One does not find $6 an excessive price.

For evening wear crepes and grenadines are the top of the black goods vogue. The crepe de Chine (from $1 to $5 per yard, the latter double width) is always elegant, and may even be worn in the daytime, which cannot be said of the gauzy grenadines that go to make up such fine evening wear. A beautiful thing with satiny stripes may be had for $1.25, and a woman who really and truly enjoys dining will require at least eight yards. Another item in their favor is their adaptability as summer attire.

FASTEST TORPEDO BOAT AFLOAT

BATH, Me., Oct. 24.—By obtaining a speed of 31 knots an hour during several hours' trip at sea today the new torpedo boat Dahigren exceeded her contract requirements and proved herself a very able boat. At the same time she made better time over a mile course than has ever been reached by a torpedo boat of her size in the world. Today's trial was made under very favorable conditions.

SENT TO JAIL FOR KISSING

A Yale Scholar and a New Haven Girl Sentenced.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 1.—Not in several decades has a Yale undergraduate been senteced to jail till this morning, when Judge Edwin C. Dow, of the city court, ordered S. O. Lawrence and Miss May Carroll to spend half a month each behind the bars for kissing.

It is safe to assume that had not Judge Dow had the example of predecessors who occupied his position during the days of the old Connecticut blue laws, his judicial decision would never have been handed down.

The story of the adventure of Mr. Lawrence and Miss Carroll makes the decision quite remarkable. They had dined at a prominent cafe, and were passing out, when Lawrence, in adjusting a wrap Miss Carroll wore, kissed her. Officer Harry A. Winchell saw the demonstration and arrested them. Lawrence promptly secured cash sufficient for bailing out himself and Miss Carroll. This relieved them of the stigma of spending the night in the police station. This morning, when their cases was called, Judge Dow imposed the jail sentence. Lawrence again secured bail for both, and they have disappeared, after giving notice of an appeal to the court of common pleas.

Retail Coal Dealers Meet

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 1.—The Retail Coal Dealers' Association of Wisconsin and Northern Illinois was in session here this afternoon, with about 50 delegates present. Steps were considered to prevent the whole sale dealers selling direct to the consumers. The officers of the association state that no attempt was made to regulate prices.

CLUB WOMEN TO SAIL A SHIP

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Club women of the General federation may go to the Paris exposition in a vessel all their own. A whisper about this touched Chicago yesterday, coming from New York, and carrying the approval of Eastern women. The boat, which is spoken of as "she" will sail for Southampton in July just after the biennial closes in Milwaukee.

THE SIGLIN ARRIVES.

Capt. N. L. Johnson, of the schooner Gen. Siglin, brought in his vessel to Schwabacher's dock last night, having occupied the entire day in the calm and fog, coming from Port Townsend, and 16 days from Cook inlet. The Siglin had on board from $25,000 to $30,000 in gold dust, belonging to her 76 passengers, who report the mining season at the Inlet about closed, and the miners mostly gone out for the winter.

New Cars and Rails for the Entire Union Trunk System

Probably about one-third of the people in Seattle will rejoice to know that the work of change on the Union Trunk line is to begin at once.

All the electric roads on the system are to be standardized in gauge. They are to have new cars. The service on the Lake Washington and Rainier Heights branch will be 10 minutes instead of 15 minutes as now. Other things are to be done which will make the suburbanite feel that life is not all an empty sorrow.

The ties for the new gauged system wil be made by the Taylor Mill company. The rails are ordered, and active work will begin within two weeks. Track-laying will not delay travel. Where double tracks run, one will be used, while the new one is built. All single tracks run on one side of the street. The new rails will be laid on the other.

The cars, which have been ordered for all the electric lines, are similar to those in use on the Traction company's system. They will have two 53 horse-power motors. This will make the long hills between Seattle and the lake much less formidable.

Several of Uncle Sam's Battleships to Be Retired for Awhile

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Secretary Long has determined to meet the demand for officers and men in the Philippines by placing several of the battleships of the home stations out of commission. The Indiana, now at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and the Texas, at Norfolk, will be the first to be laid up, and it is possible that others will follow.

Capt. Sigsbee, of the Texas, will be ordered to board duty at the Navy Department. Capt. Dickens, of the Indiana, probably will get some other sea command.

Many of the officers and men of these two ships will be ordered immediately to the Philippines. Those whose terms of sea duty have nearly expired will be transferred to other ships on the home station in place of those who have nearly a full term of sea service before them.

No further action is to be taken by the Navy Department in the case of Commander E. D. Taussig, detached by Rear Admiral Watson, commander in chief of the Asiatic station, and ordered home, owing to a misunderstanding as to the way in which certain orders of the admiral were to be carried out.

CHURCH BUYS A SALOON

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Grace church has bought the saloon of J. Bock, at No. 8 Fourth avenue. Speaking of the purchase today, Dr. Huntington, rector of the church, said: "We bought the grounds because we need to extend our chapel. Mr. Bock still holds a lease for two years, and I do not know that we shall consider it necessary to buy him out.

"The proximity of a saloon does not affect us. Beer houses are necessary for the life of a great city. My views on this subject have long been well known.

"To clear away a place needed by others, simply because we, as church men do not like it, would seem to justify the false charge that the church is bigoted and intolerant."

New League to Meet.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 1.—George D. Shaeffer, at the head of the baseball club that will represent St. Louis in the new American association, said today that the postponed meeting will be held in New York on Saturday, Nov. 4, instead of tomorrow, as previously announced.

FOR STEALING A PARSONAGE

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 1.—The Rev. Mr. Nowell, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal churches at St. Lawrence and Miller, S.D., attempted last Friday to move the parsonage from St. Lawrence to Miller, and was arrested on complaint of some people of St. Lawrence. Today a few Methodist women of Miller, accompanied by the sheriff and a gang of workmen, went to St. Lawrence to get the parsonage building and take it to Miller. Senator King, Dr. Taylor and Mr. Loomis, of St. Lawrence, interfered and were arrested by Miller people, on the charge of intimidating laborers. The women are supposed now to be on their way to Miller with the parsonage. The pastor is still under arrest.

RESULTS OF CRIME.

The receipts in the police court footed up last night to $2,856.10. This is the largest amount turned over by the court to the city treasurer during the time Judge Cann has occupied the bench.

WAS OUT FOR THE STUFF

PENDLETON, Or., Nov. 1.—One man held up four men and two women at 7 o'clock last evening, inside the town. He had three teams standing at once, while the drivers all had hands up. After standing up the last couple, he disappeared.

Welsh Colliers Strike.

CARDIFF, Wales, Nov. 1.—Twenty-five thousand Welsh colliers have struck. This may interfere with the government sending coal for the army transports.

AMUSEMENTS.

"A Milk White Flag" opens at the Seattle theater tonight. The sale of seats is already sufficient to insure a crowded house. Hoyt's plays have always been exceptionally attractive to Seattle theatergoers, and "A Milk White Flag" has been proven to be one of the best. The cast is a large one, and comprises a fine array of talent. Like all Hoyt's plays, it is of the musical farce order, but is of more interest than other farces owing to the poignant satire that Hoyt alone can handle in this class of play. The musical features were written especially for this play. A number of new and special features have been introduced since this play was last seen here.

* * *

"The Brand of Cain" was presented last evening at the Third Avenue theater in a highly satisfactory manner. The Sam T. Shaw company has grown in popularity with its long stay here, and was greeted by a large and appreciative audience last evening. "The Brand of Cain" is of the melodramatic kind, and abounds in strong and thrilling situations, without being too "gunny." The situations are cleverly acted, and the climaxes are worked up to a high pitch.

Throughout the four acts of the drama there is not a dull moment. Sam T. Shaw, Albert J. Watson, Stanley Rose and M. J. Hooley, were all above the average in their parts, though in some of his comedy situations the latter was inclined to overdo the matter and go into too much "horse play." Miss Louise Carter, as Phyllis, was tender and sympathetic. Nellie Maine Shaw, as Nora Logan, probably created the best impression of all, and enacted the bellicose serving maid in a manner which provoked great amusement.

"A Brand of Cain" will be the bill again this evening.

"Hotel Topsy Turvy," the strongest aggregation of farce comedy actors in the country, will appear at the Seattle theater only one night, Friday. The play is of French origin, having had a successful run of two years in Paris, and is now enjoying a long and successful run in London. The story is by Maurice Ordoneau, Arthur Sturgess and Edgar Smith. The music was composed by Victor Roger and Lionel Monckton. The costumes were designed from the original French, and are very handsome. There is a chorus of 40 voices, and also the inimitable Eddie Foy.

"In Old Kentucky," with new scenery and the original company, will appear at the Seattle theater Saturday and Sunday evenings. There seems to be no signs of the closing of the successful career of this successful play. There is a human interest in it which may be in a measure responsible for its hold upon the public, and it has always been given by a capable company. The exciting horse-race has long been acknowledged the most realistic episode of this description ever conceived. The frolicsome pickaninnies have frequently been tried in other productions, but never found suitable to the atmosphere of any but "In Old Kentucky."

The Olympic theater is gaining steadily in attendance. The program deserves even better patronage than the present. Miss Steiner, who made her debut Monday evening, is a guitar solist of much merit. Her classical selections show an excellent touch, and profound feeling. It is, however, her simpler pieces that catch the audience.

Allan White is winning deserved popularity. Billy Reynolds never fails to make a hit. Miss Pearl Lloyd, who is on her third week, is as popular as ever. Arneildo, the acrobat, performs some feats that are above the average. The management has demonstrated the practicability of clean vaudeville in Seattle.

QUAY'S HAND IN EVIDENCE

Undoubtedly Used Against Colonel Hawkins.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1.—All information as to the reason for not making Col. Hawkins a brigadier general is refused by the officials at the White house and at the war department. For some reason there is more secrecy about it than in similar cases.

It was stated, however, at the time that Gov. Stone and his delegation asked for it that the president said he could only make the promotion on the recommendation of Gen. Otis, and that he would submit the question to Gen. Otis, and he did so, and that Gen. Otis refused to recommend a promotion.

It was stated that Gen. Otis disliked Hawkins because the latter landed his regiments on boats hired by himself instead of waiting for the arrangements which Gen. Otis had made for him. It was also said that Gen. Otis thought the Tenth Pennsylvania had not specially distinguished itself as a regiment, and that there was conspicuous cowardice in the regiment, although Barnett's name was not mentioned.

MARKET QUOTATIONS

Wednesday Morning. — Still the changes in the markets are unusually few. Business is not at its best.

Fish are still in the water, which is a great inconvenience to local fish men, who have a big demand, but no supply that could be considered wholesale. This is true not only of salmon and halibut, but of small fish as well. Most of the fish that is being eaten here now has been on the ice for some time, excepting a few stray ones that come from the lone fisherman.

There are a few bananas on the market, but not of the finest quality. Grapes are on the market this morning in considerable quantities at yesterday's prices. If they are not in good demand, the price may be different tomorrow. Apples are also coming in more freely, and are selling well.

The grain and hay market is still inactive.

Poultry prices are being maintained under difficulties. The overstock is increasing daily, and the cold storage houses are in good demand.

Other markets are normal.

The following prices are being offered to the producer by the local dealers for delivery in round lots on the dock or in the car at Seattle:

PARADE OF AUTOMOBILES

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The first club parade of automobiles in Manhattan will take place Nov. 4 at 2 p. m. There will be seventy-five motor vehicles in the parade—steam, electric, gasoline and petroleum.

The run, under the auspices of the Automobile Club of America, just organized, with Gen. A. D. Andrews as president and Capt. Homer D. Wedge as secretary, will be not exceeding twenty miles, and over streets where the general public can view the parade.

President Andrews, in his electric victoria, will head the line, and Captain Hedges will bring up the rear with his gasoline flyer.

TOO MUCH TALK AMONG CUBANS

HAVANA, Nov. 1.—The Paladin says that before finding themselves unfit for self government the Cubans had better trust to the good faith of the Americans, abandon politics and devote thir time to domestic economy.

Continuing, the paper asks: "What sort of independence can a country enjoy in which men behave like chained cats and dogs, losing their time in talking about revenge and futile propagandas?"
