IS CHARMING

MME. SARAH BERNHARDT.

(Seattle Star's Exclusive Service.)

The years rest lightly upon Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, who at 62 has lost none of her old-time enthusiasm and retains to a remarkable degree her ability to assume juvenile roles. The divine Sarah declares she will continue to appear before the footlights until life's curtain is finally rung down.

At present she is appearing in Paris in the principal boy part of Prince Charming in "The Sleeping Beauty," and her reception is all that even her exacting temperament could demand.

WOMAN IN POLITICS

(By United Press.)

OLYMPIA, Jan. 30.—The attorney general rules that the new direct primary law does not prohibit a woman becoming a candidate for school director or county superintendent of schools, despite the provision in section 4 of the act requiring that every declaration of candidacy shall recite that the candidate is a qualified voter. The attorney general holds that the new law was not intended to prevent women holding these positions as they may under old laws, and that the declaration as it appears in the statute is only a form and must yield to other laws not affected by the primary statute.

TO HOLD A RATIFICATION MEETING

The Swedish Republican club will hold a ratification meeting at the Dreamland rink this evening for the purpose of hearing the candidates which were recently indorsed by that organization. This is the first occasion on which a full set of candidates, one for each general city office, and no others, has been assembled to address an audience from the same platform.

The candidates indorsed by the club are W. P. Trimble for mayor, Scott Calhoun for corporation counsel, Harry Carroll for comptroller, E. L. Reber for city treasurer and William Murphy and Gustav Walgreen for councilman-at-large.

One of the effects of the direct primary law has been to prevent any open combination between candidates for different offices, though such combinations have been and are being made in secret in a few instances.

CONIBEAR IS TO TRAIN COMISKEY'S WHITE SOX

Coach H. B. Conibear of the University of Washington track teams and crews, will give up his work at the university and report in Los Angeles in March to train Comiskey's White Sox, the speedy Chicago baseball team in the American league which won the world's championship two years ago.

Conibear has been offered nearly double his present salary and many other advantages to train the White Sox, and unless he changes his mind, he will hand his resignation to the student board of control and Washington will be left without a coach or trainer for her crew and track teams.

"Connie," as he is generally called, trained the White Sox two years ago when they won the American League pennant and the world's championship, and Comiskey has been trying to get him back ever since.

If Conibear gets the assurance of the board of control that he will be given a permanent position at the university and allowed to conduct athletics to suit himself, he may remain here, but at present athletic affairs at the university are in such an embryotic condition that Conibear does not feel justified in turning down Comiskey's offer.

MILLER CAMPAIGN CLOSES WITH BIG MEETING TOMORROW NIGHT

Except for his big meeting in the Seattle theatre tomorrow night John F. Miller has closed his primary campaign.

Last night he delivered his 29th speech since the campaign opened and he will make it an even 30 tomorrow.

There is every indication that there will be a very large turnout tomorrow night to hear Mr. Miller. Besides Mr. Miller there will be speeches made by two well-known orators in the Republican party, E. C. Hughes and H. T. Granger. F. W. Baker, president of the Seattle Hardware company, will be chairman, and 100 representative business and professional men will be on the stage as vice presidents.

The doors of the theatre will be opened at 7:30 and the meeting will be called to order at 8:15. Wagner's band will provide music and the theatre orchestra will also be present to help things out.

RUSSELL AND REBER ARE GIVEN GOOD RECEPTION AT GEORGETOWN

George F. Russell, candidate for the republican nomination for mayor, and E. L. Reber and Colonel Crosser, opposing candidates for the republican nomination for city treasurer, were the speakers at a meeting of Youngstown voters last night. About 100 voters attended the meeting and the candidates were present by invitation. Several of the aspirants for councilman-at-large were also present.

Russell and Reber were received with great enthusiasm and the meeting practically resolved itself into an endorsement of their candidacy.

Mr. Russell was the last speaker of the evening. He was introduced by Chairman Frank H. Paul as the "Made in Seattle" candidate for mayor.

Mr. Russell said:

"I wish to thank you, gentlemen, for the kind invitation extended to me to attend this meeting tonight. Mr. Paul has referred to me very kindly as the 'Made in Seattle' candidate. My father and mother were married at West Seattle, at that time Freeport, in 1866 and I was born in Seattle nearly 35 years ago. With the exception of a few years which I spent in Alaska, Seattle has always been my home.

"I did not come here tonight for the purpose of making a speech. You have listened to a number of speakers and the hour is growing late. I simply wish to say that, if elected mayor, I will devote my best energies to giving Seattle a clean, vigorous business administration of all its affairs. I have made no promises and I will make no promises, except to fulfill the duties of the office of mayor to the best of my ability for the benefit of the entire city."

In concluding the meeting Mr. Paul said:

"Mr. Russell issued a clean-cut statement of his policy through the press, which I hope you have all read. He is standing on that statement as his platform. You have heard some of the other candidates and you have heard some of the things they have said about each other. Mr. Russell is not engaged in mud slinging. He is making a clean campaign."

RUSSELL RALLY AT EAGAN'S HALL

The first Russell meeting of the primary campaign will be held tonight in Egan's hall in the Arcade building. Up to this time the supporters of the candidacy of George F. Russell, for the republican mayoralty nomination, have been conducting the campaign in his behalf along other lines. All of the work has been in the organization of ward and precincts, and through this organization a personal campaign has been conducted.

Josiah Collins, head of the Russell campaign committee, will preside at the meeting tonight. The other speakers will be Mr. Russell, Harold Preston and Everett C. Ellis. A male quartet will furnish music.

As this will be the one big Russell rally, the supporters of Mr. Russell are planning to make it the biggest demonstration thus far during the primary campaign.

STREETS RUNNING WITH BLOOD

(By United Press.)

LISBON, Portugal, Jan. 29.—The streets are today running with blood. Never before since the agitation of the revolutionists began were so many bloody riots in progress as this morning. Yesterday conflicts resulted, but extra police and soldiers prevented any serious demonstration. Suddenly this morning revolutionists and sympathizers seemed to spring up from everywhere. Police and soldiers were hurried out, and frightful conflicts took place. Scores are reported dead and hundreds are being hustled from the streets seriously wounded. Volley after volley is being fired by the officers, and as fast as the front ranks of the conspirators are mowed down hundreds spring into the places of those killed. The city is now in a state of extreme nervousness, and unless drastic measures are taken today the revolutionists will secure the upper hand.

FLEE FROM THE FLAMES IN NIGHT CLOTHES

Fire destroyed the residences of Dr. H. Van Winter and Dr. W. A. Potter on Sunset av. near Grant st., West Seattle, early this morning.

The doctors and their families were driven from their houses in their night clothes by the flames, and were cared for by neighbors. Both houses and contents were completely destroyed, the losses being about half covered by insurance.

The fire started about 2 o'clock in the morning from the chimney in Dr. Van Winter's residence. Smoke awakened the sleeping occupants, who made their escape.

Dr. George W. Bragdon, who lives across the street, was awakened and rushed to the Van Winter residence with a fire extinguisher, but the fire had gotten too great headway for hand-fighting. It soon enveloped the house and spread to that of Dr. W. A. Potter next door.

After everyone had been gotten safely out of the houses, an effort was made to save the furniture, part of which was piled in the street. Later, the furniture caught fire and was destroyed.

Efforts of the local firefighters were of no avail, and the fire burned itself out. Dr. Bragdon saved his residence across the street by keeping the roof drenched with water.

The fireboat Snoqualmie, with an automobile filled with firemen and two chemical engines, started across the bay, only to find the fire over the hill and beyond their reach.

The loss on the Van Winter residence was $3,500, and the Potter loss $2,500, exclusive of contents.

He excused himself and returned to the room he occupied the night previous in the White Pass hotel, when suddenly a shot was heard. Friends rushed to the room, but Barton was past human aid, dying almost instantly. The body will be shipped to Vancouver, B. C., for burial.

SPLENDID RETURNS FROM POWDER STOCK

Ever hear about the profits in the powder business? All sorts of stories have been told about it, but—this is probably the first time you have had an opportunity to hear the REAL facts.

To begin, you know there has never been anything but dangerous dynamite. The very word dynamite has always been synonymous with danger. Any miner or stump blower, or railroad constructor will tell you that he doesn't like to us it, but HE KNOWS OF NOTHING TO TAKE ITS PLACE.

About a year ago we became interested in a new explosive that promised to rival dynamite. At that time the remarkable qualities attributed to it made us somewhat skeptical, as, if the claims for it were true, it would revolutionize the explosive business, and be a remarkable money maker. Since that time, we have given it severe practical trials under the most trying conditions, and it has made good in every particular, and we are now prepared to begin manufacturing on a large scale.

A stick of this explosive looks exactly like a stick of dynamite, but is perfectly safe (it may be hammered with perfect safety). It need never be thawed. It is smokeless. It will not deteriorate, and it does the work at all times as well as dynamite.

Five thousand tons of explosives for blasting are used within reach of a factory here. The profits in this business are large. As an illustration: The average selling price of dynamite (we compete with their prices) is $300 a ton. The average cost of our products is $150 a ton. The profits from a five-ton-a-day plant is $750 a day, or $234,750.00 or over 100 per cent on the total stock issued.

The cost of the first plant we propose to build near Seattle will be $40,000, and we are offering a limited number of shares in our company for sale to raise part of this. Remember, this is the original parent company. We own all the patents and everything pertaining to these wonderful explosives. We feel satisfied that this stock will be worth many times the price we are now asking for it in a very short time; and if you wish to secure any of it do it now, as from present indications, this issue will be gone very soon.

We would be pleased to have you call and investigate, or phone us and we will call upon you.
