SAVED TWO LIVES IN EARLY MORNING FIRE

The heroism of Russell Clark, a roomer, who roused the sleeping inmates, saved the lives of two persons in the two-story apartment house of Mrs. Addie West, 11th av. and Madison st., which was nearly destroyed by fire early yesterday morning.

Fire of mysterious origin, probably from a defective light wiring, started under the stairway leading to the second floor. Clark, sleeping in the room directly over the stairway, was awakened by smoke, which was almost stifling him.

He hurriedly awakened T. W. Wilson and Charles McFarland, who occupied rooms across the hall, but had much difficulty in getting McFarland to realize that his life was in danger.

By this time he was unable to descend by the stairs, and, opening the street window, crawled to the porch and descended. Later he returned to get his clothing, and his hand was badly cut by broken glass.

The flames swept rapidly through the sitting room and kitchen and into the pantry. Mrs. West, the landlady, was forced to jump out of a window to escape being burned to death, and her ankle was sprained when she struck the ground.

The fire department, summoned by Clark by means of a neighbor's telephone, extinguished the blaze with a chemical line.

The damage to household goods is $500, covered by insurance of $1,000. The house is owned by Miss D. Ramsey, and a damage of probably $500 is protected by insurance of $1,500.

NEW YORKER GETS COLD FEET WARMED

Eugene Hortsman, a New Yorker just from the east, was badly blistered about the feet as the result of his attempt to warm his feet with an electric light, which he had taken to bed with him in his room at 2102 E. Madison st. Saturday night.

He wrapped the light globe in the bed clothing with his feet against it and went to sleep. He was awakened by the pain of the blisters on his feet and the strong odor of smoke. The damage was slight.

MRS. TITUS COMPLAINS AGAINST CONSTABLE

Mrs. Hattie Titus, wife of Dr. Herman Titus, the well-known socialistic ortor, today swore to a complaint in the prosecuting attorney's office charging C. A. Holtz, a constable of Georgetown, with assault and battery.

It is alleged that the constable, in serving legal papers, seized Mrs. Titus and severely wrenched her arm.

The charge is the outcome of a charge of assault brought by Holtz against Dr. Titus, in which the socialist was found guilty and fined $5 before Justice of the Peace George last week.

PLAN TO KEEP POOR CHILDREN IN SCHOOL

A plan which has been developed and put into practical use in New York city, of providing scholarships for pupils who would otherwise be compelled to work to help support the family, has been suggested for Seattle.

Rev. L. J. Covington, who has been investigating the subject of child labor in this city, for a report to the national committee, declares that this plan, which contemplates the donation of a weekly sum ranging from $1 to $3 during the regular school months in the year, overcomes the necessity of cutting off revenue required for the family needs and which is earned by the children.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—A telgram from the bedside of Senator Tillman, at Columbia, S. C., announced today that the famous statesman may not be able to participate in the remaining proceedings of this session of congress.

CONGRESSMAN HAS RESIGNED

(By United Press.)

ROCKLAND, Me., March 23.—Gov. Cobb has received a letter from Congressman Charles E. Littlefield tendering his resignation as representative from the Second district of Maine. The resignation is prompted by Mr. Littlefield's desire to take up his law practice, which has been seriously interfered with by congressional duties.

VOTE FOR BOND ISSUE TO IMPROVE SCHOOLS

The schools at South Alki, Youngstown, Riverton and West Seattle will be improved and enlarged before being merged with the city school district on June 30.

By a vote of 192 to 2 the voters of the district, which is known as school district No. 73, on Saturday decided to issue bonds in the amount of $55,000 for the cost of the improvements.

Architect James Stephen has the plans for the improvements already drawn. An additional building will be erected immediately adjoining the present West Seattle school.

SCRATCH THE RED MAN AND OWEN WILL WHOOP.

SENATOR ROBT. L. OWEN.

(Seattle Star Exclusive Service.)

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Although Senator Robt. L. Owen of Oklahoma is one-eighth Cherokee Indian, he is mild mannered, suave and genial. You would never suspect his Indian blood.

The only time he ever lets out a well developed, straight-from-the-shoulder war whoop is when he thinks the senate is jeopardizing the rights of the red man. He can make a corking speech when aroused.

Owen is worthy nearly a million. He made the bulk of his fortune fighting with Uncle Sam in behalf of his brethren, seven-eighths removed. He was chief counsel for the Cherokee nation in its suit against Uncle Sam upon a claim involving approximately $8,000,000. He won the suit.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Burglar and the Lady."

Success in the prize ring does not preclude success in the more delicate and no less deft art of acting, as is being demonstrated by James J. Corbett, who takes the leading part in "The Burglar and the Lady," which opened last night at the Moore theatre for a three nights' run.

Corbett's success on the stage does not depend upon his past reputation. There was no suggestion of the prize fighter in his rendition of the part of Ned Danvers, the burglar, and he displays enough ability to make him welcomed by his audiences.

The play itself is a melodrama and not of the class usually presented at the Moore, but pleasing in the variety furnished. The cast is well selected for the play.

"The Black Crook."

A well-trained and well-meaning ballet is endeavoring to uphold the reputation of the Black Crook which opened last night at the Grand Opera house.

The Black Crook has not been seen in Seattle for 14 years, and it is presented now in entirely new dress. The ballet is up-to-date and conventional, but the distinctive character is upheld to a large extent by startling light effects.

The music of the production is largely interpolated, but is well selected, and was much applauded last night, as were the principals who are vaudeville artists. Two capacity audiences greeted the show yesterday.

"Sis in New York."

"Sis in New York" pleased two large audiences in the Seattle theatre yesterday at the opening performances. Edna Haly, as "Sis," seemed to be successful in getting laughs from the audience, and a number of specialties covered up the deficiencies in the plot of the play. Measuring from the applause of the audience, the attraction this week meets all requirements.

"The Spoilers."

"The Spoilers" started the second week of a successful run at the Lois last night. The second week's performances are given in response to the demand of the clientele of the theatre.

Lyric Burlesque.

"Charley's Farewell Dinner," the attraction at the Lyric, offers all the usual entertainment which holds the Lyric following. The Lovelle sisters, in character sketches and dances, are new attractions on the bill.

Thursday's Symphony Concert.

Reserved seats are now selling at the Moore theatre for the Symphony concert to be given there next Thursday evening by the Seattle Symphony Orchestra of 52 men. Elizabeth Patterson Sawyers is to be the piano soloist. Prices of admission to the upper floors of the house will be of the same popular variety as those of the last concert. There w... be no repetition of Thursday's program.

Coliseum's New Acts.

Eight new acts are having their first rendition at the Coliseum theatre this afternoon. They include a comedy-drama, a farce-comedy, acrobatic comedians, a pair of vocalists, a comedy playlet and a xylophonist, besides the motion pictures.

MacDowell at Pantages.

At Pantages tonight the public will witness the first appearance of the famous tragedian, Melbourne MacDowell, supported by Virginia Drew Trescott, in vaudeville. The playlet is "The Oath," taken from "The Serf and the Lady," in which the two great stars have brilliant opportunity to display the pre-eminent talent for which they are noted.

In addition, the management offers Matthews & Harris in a farcical creation entitled "The Second Adam;" Baker & Carlisle, the colored aristocrats, and others.

Perkins at the Star.

Walter E. Perkins & Co. are opening at the Star theatre this afternoon, assisted by Young Buffalo, O'Neill's College Boys, Jenkins & Stockman, Katherine Nugent, Roy McBrain and the motion pictures.

What the Orpheum Has.

Seven new acts, headed by Abbott & Clayne in a musical sketch, are being presented at the Orpheum theatre this afternoon. The olio includes A. DeDomenicis, Diablo, Romah Muller, Cantor & Curtis, George Keane and the biograph.

Moving Pictures.

A new selection of moving pictures is meeting with favor at the Five-Cent Star theatre.

Circuit Theater.

The Circuit, the new ten-cent show house on Second and Madison, will be opened to the public about the middle of this week.

POLICE ASKED TO TRACE OLD MAN

Mrs. A. W. Sherman, of 819 E. 68th st., Green Lake, in a report to the police this morning said that Mr. William Geary, of Coupville, her uncle, left the Arlington hotel on January 31 for Philadelphia, but that he never reached there. Further, she says the man has not been seen since.

Capt. Geary was 71 years old, 5 feet 9 inches in height, and wore a gray mustache and glasses. When last seen he was attired in a black suit, soft black hat and dark overcoat.

Mrs. Sherman said Mr. Geary is troubled with heart disease.

Fire Saturday night destroyed the home of L. E. Stanton, at Green Lake, while the family was absent. There was no water within five blocks, and when the department arrived the structure, valued at $4,000, was a mass of ruins. There was $3,000 insurance on the property.

ALASKA STEAMER IS A TOTAL LOSS

(By United Press.)

VALDEZ, Alaska, via Dawson, March 23.—The steamship Saratoga, which struck on a reef on Busby island late Friday afternoon, has been abandoned by Capt. Shaage and he and the crew have arrived here and will go south on the Yucatan. Two watchmen are still standing by, but with water in both her holds the Saratoga has resisted all efforts of the steamer Elsie to float her and she is practically a total wreck. The coal and ore cargo aboard were thrown overboard but this failed to lighten the steamer and she refused to budge from the pinnacle of rocks upon which she rests.

A southwest wind is blowing and it is thought the sea will batter the well-known craft to pieces.

The officials of the Alaska Steamship Co. have received dispatches from Capt. Shaage to the effect that he considers the Saratoga a total loss. Immediate steps will be taken by the company to charter a steamer to take the place of the ill-fated craft. The marine surveyors will make an independent examination of the Saratoga.
