Personal.
We desire to call special attention to the advertisement, elsewhere published, of James L. Barbour. Mr. John V. Camaller is his agent and the House is one of the largest and most reliable Grocery establishments in Washington. Merchants are invited to give Mr. Camaller an order and compare his prices and the quality of his goods with any they have ever bought.

Land Sales.
Tuesday last, J. Frank Smith, late Sheriff, sold P. Hope, containing 67 acres, for $50. The following named tracts were sold at the same time. P. East Manor, 75 acres, $400; purchaser, John T. Powell. Weems, 24 acres $140; purchaser, E. J. Turner; Cole's Adventure, 184 acres, $2505; purchaser, Dr. W. S. Blackinton. The last named tract is the home farm of Duncan M. Turner.

Burned to Death.
Wednesday last, about 12 o'clock, m., a fence on the farm occupied by Mr. P. R. Graves, in the 7th district, caught fire and ignited the adjoining woods. In attempting to arrest the spread of the flames, Mary Murry, colored, caught fire and was severely burned that after lingering until about 5 o'clock, the following day, (Thursday) she died. About 2000 rails and 3 or 4 acres of woods were burned. The conflagration started from a wood-cutter's fire.

A New Departure at Rock Point.
We are informed that the Proprietors of Rock Point, Charles county, contemplate introducing into their establishment, during the coming Summer, the canning of Tomatoes and small fruits. Farmers who desire to engage in cultivating the articles this firm will need are invited to call. Here is a show to cultivate one acre less of tobacco than usual, and see if an acre in tomatoes, etc., will not bring in as much or more money than could have been realized from the "weed."

The Verdict Unanimous.
W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, Druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at Wm. J. Edelen, & Co.—

Court Proceedings.
Monday, March 21st, 1887. The session of the March Term of the Circuit Court for this county began to-day, His Honor, Judge J. P. Crane, on the bench. The Court appointed Peter R. Graves, clerk pro tem, vice Z. Taylor Tippett, deceased. Wm. F. Greenwell, Esq., was selected as foreman of the grand jury, and the Clerk then proceeded to draw the respective juries. The grand jury having been sworn, His Honor, Judge Crane, delivered to them a clear, forcible and comprehensive charge, defining their duties and obligations and describing the several offences which they would be likely to have to investigate. His Honor also deprecated the custom, which has obtained here from time immemorial, of imposing fines upon those members of the jury called in the vernacular of the grand jury "colts," otherwise new members, or those who have never served on the jury before, which fund has heretofore been used by the jury for refreshing the inner man, and suggested to them that the custom be discontinued. The call of the appearance docket was then proceeded with to its conclusion. The trial docket was next called and judgments entered in uncontented cases. At 12 o'clock, M., the recess of the Court was called and the cases thereon disposed of. The appeal docket was next called for the purpose of making preliminary motions, etc. There being no business for the Court a recess was taken until 3 o'clock, P. M., when the Court adjourned for the day.

Tuesday, March 22nd. The sessions of the Court were resumed at 10 o'clock this morning, with their Honors, Judges John R. Brooke and J. P. Crane, on the bench. This being the day for the preliminary call of the appeal docket, that docket was called, and the cases disposed of or assigned for trial. A call of the trial docket was then made and judgments entered in uncontented cases and cases assigned for trial. There being no business for the Court, a recess was taken at 1 o'clock, P. M., until 3 o'clock, at which hour the Court adjourned for the day.

Excitement in Texas.
Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or rise his head; everybody said he was dying of Consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-three pounds. Trial bottles of this Great Discovery for Consumption sent at Wm. J. Edelen, & Co. Large bottles $1—

Owing to the inclement weather the "crowd" in attendance upon Court last Tuesday was not large.

The heavy winds of the past ten days have prevented longers from working and oysters have "gone up."

Robt. Chase, a prominent and worthy colored citizen of the 8th district, died Monday last, aged about 40 years.

Mr. W. F. Greenwell, of this village, has been chosen Foreman of the Grand Jury. A better selection could not have been made.

Up to the time of our going to press the vacant clerkship had not been filled and the numerous applicants were still on the "anxious bench."

Eneline Counts, an aged colored woman residing near this village, died last Sunday. She was a good woman and one of the best servants in the county.

The "Dredge Ajax" has finished work on our harbor and is expected to leave soon. Messrs. B. M. Abell, O. Clyde Bailey and John Foxwell of this village, are, we hear to go with her. While regretting their departure, we wish them success.

Our thanks are tendered Messrs. Richard T. Copey and William H. Ford for their kindness in getting us the news of the decision of the Court of Appeals in time for our last issue. The full text of the Biscoe decision is published on our fourth page.

Tuesday last, at Forest Hall in the 8th district, the residence of the late James C. Millura, a barn, probably the largest in the county, fell, the noise being distinctly heard a distance of a mile and a half, many thinking it an earthquake. The building worked nearly 40 hogheads of tobacco.

Among the Baltimoreans in attendance upon Court are, Messrs. Crispin, of Crispin & Dawkins, Carpenter, of Dudley & Carpenter, W. J. Edelen, of Edelen Bros; Briscoe, of the Farmers and Planters Agency; J. M. Lloyd, of G. Ober Sons Co; Joseph A. Moore, with Johnson Sutton & Co. and F. M. Neal.

Samost Advice.
You can't turn a corner in the business part of this city without running against some young man from some one of the counties of Maryland or Virginia, who is looking for something to do.

Why are they here?
I don't know.

Unless they have conceived the idea that there is a whole city full of vacancies. If this is their supposition they are mistaken. They may have another idea, that there is room for genius at the top of the ladder in any professional or mercantile pursuit. This is a commendable aspiration but it is old. Yes, it is as wormy as a year before last's chestnut. For the ladder is full from the lowermost to the topmost round. The professions, whether legal, medical, dentical, mechanical or otherwise, are as overcrowded as an aquarium of water-snakes, carp, frogs and conger eels. I have been here 21 years. I get letters nearly every week from friends asking me to try and get them situations. Why they think I can do it, I don't know. But I will give them this advice:

Young man if you have a home in the country stay there. You probably have an old father and mother who have a comfortable home.

Stay with them.

You may know young man more about handling a plow than measuring lanes and running a newspaper. You may know how to cultivate tobacco and garner wheat. But that won't do you any good here. Then there are temptations in a great city that might lead you to forget the prayers you learned at your mother's knee.

Therefore, I say stay at home. The cities are full of men who live, God only knows how. Some, in the language of Artemus Ward, "don't live at all, they only stay here." Young man, don't come, stay where you are. Stay! Handle the plow; cultivate the home farm; marry some good country girl who will take care of your house while you are at work, and in after years you will thank your God that you stuck by the old homestead.

This is not an overdrawn or fancy picture. Read the papers and you will see how many young men who left the country homes of their fathers, to battle with the temptations of a city life, are now within the prison walls or living the lives of fugitives in Canada and Mexico.

Young man, stay at home! Stay with your mother, or if she is dead and buried, stay where you can look at her grave. That will comfort and guide you. But as you hope to meet your sainted mother in heaven, stay by her as long as she lives and after her death live near her tomb. Don't get the mistaken idea that you know more than your parents did. If you do you are a fool. Civilization is now away behind that of the days when the Egyptian Pyramids were built. Keep yourself within bounds. Don't crowd. You may think me a fool, and probably I am, but if you follow my foolish advice, you will in after years say that I am glad that I did so.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]
As the dark shades of night drew near on the 17th, beautiful flakes of snow commenced to descend and ere the minute had completed a revolution the ground was covered at least an inch deep. W. Scott Hammett's dwelling at Ryefields was totally destroyed by fire a few mornings ago. The fire originated from sparks falling upon the roof. Few articles were saved.

Several farmers have started plows despite the moisture of the soil.

Much sickness in the way of colds and rheumatism; and our esteemed neighbor, J. Forrest Freeman, is in an almost helpless condition on account of the latter.

S. J. Raleigh is having his mill thoroughly repaired, and before many days the familiar sound of the engine will be heard in our village.

Our roads are improving and shipper's of oysters do not find it so difficult to employ conveyances as formerly.

Foxes and hawks are very annoying just now. We fear that the former will become more so as our foxhunters will not go below the Pine for reasons previously stated.

Cholera has made its appearance again among the hogs. New remedies are used, but they seem inefficacious.

[COMMUNICATED.]
Messrs. Editors.—In Mr. Harris' last card, in which he names some of the conspirators in the John Brown raid into Virginia, among them the late John A. Andrew, Governor of Massachusetts, reminds me of the action of our State Legislature in regard to the mob in Baltimore on the 19th of April, 1861, in which some of the soldiers of Massachusetts were killed and wounded, and who killed and wounded some of the citizens of that city. The Legislature of 1862 appears to have been naturally anxious to wipe out that "stain," and with that view passed the following preamble and bill:

"Whereas, the 6th regiment of Massachusetts volunteers on their way to defend the National Capital were brutally attacked by a mob in the streets of Baltimore on the 19th of April, 1861, and three were killed and eight wounded; and whereas, the State of Maryland is anxious to do something to efface that stain from her hitherto untarnished honor; therefore be enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, that the sum of $7,000 and the same is hereby appropriated and placed at the disposal of His Excellency, John A. Andrew, or any one acting as Governor of Massachusetts, who shall disburse the same in the manner and proportion he thinks best for the relief of the families of those belonging to the 6th regiment of Massachusetts volunteers who were killed or disabled by wounds received in the riot of the 19th of April in Baltimore."

While the above was under consideration, Mr. Bond, of Calvert, proposed the following: "Strike out the words the sum of $7,000, and insert, the same sum as has been or may be appropriated by the State of Massachusetts for the relief of the citizens who were killed and wounded by citizens of Massachusetts under John Brown, and also the same sum as has been or may be appropriated by the State of Pennsylvania for the relief of Kennedy and Gorsch and other citizens of Maryland killed in that State by rioters."

Our representatives being more anxious to appear "honorable" than just rejected this last proposed amendment. This, no doubt, was offered from the belief that John Brown's raid was instigated in Massachusetts, and the developments since show that that belief was well founded, as appears from Mr. Harris' letter to you. Moreover, the Massachusetts volunteers after they were relieved from all danger from the mob of Baltimore, fired their muskets into a crowd who were merely spectators of the scene, and killed and wounded several of our citizens. It appears to me that this should have been considered a fair set off to all complaints of Massachusetts, and if Maryland was willing to relieve the families of her killed and wounded she should have been willing to do the same towards those of our murdered and wounded citizens. Though Massachusetts was a den of conspirators against the constitutional rights of our people, yet she was only ahead of all other Northern States of the same stamp, and our Legislature, in my opinion, should have been slow to recognize any honorable claim Massachusetts had on Maryland for such an act of a mob when the whole North teemed with robbers of our property and murderers of its owners. The case of the murdered Gorsch and others should have brought our representatives to reflection before they paid tribute to Massachusetts. But strangely enough they thought their honor involved, which declaration was no doubt laughed at by Gov. Andrew when he got Maryland's check for the $7,000 appropriation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18, '87.

Editors BEACON.—Please inform your readers in the next issue of your very creditable paper, that the "Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption" advertised in this week's issue is not the offspring of Dr. Geo. S. King's ingenious and ingenious brain. He always signs his full business autograph in his manifests, and moreover, he does not advise any man to tamper with double-edged tools. "No enter into legal proceedings" [let the shoemaker go beyond his last] is a safe motto—of Horace, I think. The unprofessional person who undertakes to be his own doctor or plead his own case at Law rushes in "where Angels fear to tread."

Consumption is not an incurable disease. The world moves. It, the consumption, sometimes gets well of itself, without treatment, nay, even without its presence being suspected. Of this, I have just written proof in my own experience. Primarily, it is a failure of nutrition, its proximate exciting cause, as is the case of all diseases properly so called, is the parasites of consumption from consumption patients, breathed in by those who have the contagious hereditary; which means, degenerate nutritive power, bred from consumptive ancestors. This, it stands to reason,

THE WHITE.

An improved high arm Sewing Machine.

The advantage of a high arm, admitting the passage under it of bulky garments without mauling or soiling the compacting by them, is too well known to require description.

It will last a life time and its range of work exceeds that of any other machine. WARRANTED FOR FIVE YEARS.

Among the many advantages of the White machine are its needle, self-setting in every sense of the word—always right.

It has the least complicated, the most simple, durable and complete shuttle ever made, simplicity in threading being an especial feature. The shuttle tension is so arranged that you can increase it or decrease it without removing the shuttle from the machine or disarranging the work.

All wearing parts of the White are made adjustable, so that any lost motion incident to long usage can be easily taken up, thus avoiding the delay and expense in duplicating parts. The simplicity in threading the White is unequalled by any other machine, and we would particularly call attention to the fact in either the upper or lower thread, there is no hole to thread through excepting the eye of the needle.

For Family Use, Dress Making, Tailoring, the White is without a peer.
