COURTS OPEN TO NEWS MEN

Right to Publish Proceedings Upheld

CHICAGO, March 6.—The right of newspapers to publish court proceedings was upheld here in a decision by Judge O. M. Torrison in a state court.

Instructing a jury in a libel suit, Torrison held a newspaper has the right to publish what transpires in a judicial proceeding even tho the publication may injure a citizen, because it is in the interest of the public that the courts should be open.

It is not necessary to publish the matter verbatim, he said. The only barrier is that the accounts of proceedings must not be actuated by malice.

The case dealt with the claims of H. J. Earnest that publication of the charges in a warrant directed against him had damaged him seriously.

JEWEL THIEVES ARE SENTENCED

Army Service Wins the Leniency of Judge

Sentence of three to 15 years in Monroe reformatory was given Merritt Higbee and Charles Peter Brown by Judge Gilliam Saturday, when they pleaded guilty to the Cohen diamond robbery of February 12.

Service in the army during the war was cited by Judge Gilliam as a reason why he did not impose a heavier sentence. He also alluded to the youth of the confessed robbers.

The famous Tabor diamond and other valuable stones were stolen from Miss Ruth Cohen as she alighted from her auto, at her home, 716 33d ave., near midnight, February 12, by Brown and Higbee. The Tabor diamond was dropped in the mud by Brown in haste and nervousness to escape.

The youths confessed to other robberies in Seattle, including that of the Beach pharmacy, in Ballard.

SAFETY BILL IS URGED BY JURY

An ordinance making it a misdemeanor to start an elevator before the doors are fully closed, was favored by a coroner's jury, which returned a verdict Saturday in the death of Rosalie Hunnicott, 23, of Monroe who fell four stories to her death down the Cobb building elevator shaft one week ago.

The death was declared by the jury to be the result of an unavoidable accident. Mrs. Hunnicott was on her way to a doctor's office. Her husband got off the elevator at the fourth floor. As the elevator started, she rushed to also get off. She fell thru the door to the edge of the floor below and then toppled over into the shaft. Miss Gertrude Hoyt, 707 Marion st., was operating the elevator.

'Ouijamania' Claims Two More Victims

MARTINEZ, March 6.—"Ouijamania" claimed another victim here when C. F. Forre, impelled, he said, by suggestion from a ouija board, hurled a brick thru the postoffice window.

Carlo Soldavini, one of the seven whose sanity was tested, triumphantly burned the ouija board which had caused the insanity of four women of this family. Soldavini and two men were declared sane.

* * *

OAKLAND, Cal., March 6.—Impelled by the demands of a ouija board, Policeman Elmer H. Dean ran into the street and started to disrobe.

Dean said the ouija board had told him that a man was his enemy and would try to kill him. Then the ouija board suddenly changed its suggestion to one of clothing, and Dean acted accordingly. His sanity will be tested today.

Status of the New York Stock Exchange

NEW YORK, March 6.—Because of traffic congestion due to the snowstorm and non-arrival of brokers, the consolidated stock exchange opened at 10:30. Delayed prices were irregular.

United States Steel opened at 97¼, unchanged; United States Rubber at 102, off ½; Studebaker at 86¾, off ½; Republic at 88¾, off ⅝; Southern Pacific at 96, up ¼; Union Pacific at 115½, unchanged.

During the last hour a firm tone developed and continued thru final dealings, with motors leading. The advance in stocks of this class discouraged traders who have taken temporarily a bearish attitude toward oil shares. Tobacco Products at its best was up more than 2 points from the low of the week and United Retail Stores held above 90.

Closing prices: Steel, 97½, up ¼; Baldwin, 111¼, off ¼; Studebaker, 87⅝, up ¼; Kelly Springfield, 120, up 2; Pan-American, 57, off 1; American Woolen, 118¾, up ¼; Stutz, 123½, up 1½; Sinclair, 40⅞, off ¼.

The market closed firm.

Weekly Review of Trade Conditions

FINANCE

Approaching financial crisis has not been checked by any of the efforts of federal reserve board. Reserve ratio fell to 42.7 last week, owing to loss of reserves and expansion of credits—lowest point on record.

Considerable elasticity still left in federal reserve system. Last week federal reserve had $219,000,000 excess reserve, which could have been made basis for loans by member banks of from $2,200,000,000 to $5,475,000,000, depending on amount of notes issued. This enormous credit margin seems safe, but it must be remembered that every dollar lost from reserves means loss of $10 to $25 in lending power. Excess reserves of $200,000,000 can easily be wiped out in a week.

Study of previous crises shows that March and April, October and November are months of greatest stress, in which panics are most likely to occur. If government and bankers can hold things together this spring until after May 15, no crisis is likely before October.

Little danger of money panic like 1907 and 1893, unless people get crazy and demand coin. Federal reserve system can issue notes sufficient to meet all demands. No temporary devices like clearing house certificates will be needed. Crisis probably will take form of credit and security market panics. Ordinary folks probably won't know anything has happened until industries begin to slow down.

Recent big shipments of gold have gone chiefly to Argentine. We owe Argentine trade balance, but not sufficient to explain extraordinary gold movement. We have even bigger adverse trade balance with Brazil, and yet no gold is shipped to Brazil. Financier tells me action of British agents largely explains gold shipments and erratic movements of British exchange. He says American bankers overloaded with British exchange, expecting expanded British exports. British agents in United States buy British exchange at low point, demand gold on temporary rise, and ship to Argentine to pay for heavy British imports of Argentine wheat and meat. British purchases drive exchange rate up temporarily, but they soon decline, as there is relatively little ordinary commercial demand.

TRADE

Short time ago big shipment of Danish butter broke New York butter market. Foreign co-operative agent tells me interesting story about this. He says in January American packers had enormous stocks of butter in storage. In order to get rid of it without breaking the American market, they sent a ship load to Denmark and dumped it there. This broke Danish butter market. Big Danish co-operative investigated and found American butter was sold by packers in Denmark far below American market, without any allowance for ocean freight. Danes decided on revenge, loaded a ship with Danish butter, and, without warning, dumped it on New York market, to consternation of American packers.

INDUSTRY

Nonpartisan league claims success in state operation of mines during coal strike. Net profit of $5,318 on 374,543 worth of coal. Will probably result in North Dakota operating mines on school land.

Total shipbuilding of world during 1919, just reported by Lloyd's, 7,144,549 gross tons, more than double output of any year before war. Unless shipping combines prevent, ocean freights must soon fall.

Insurance written in United States in 1919 totals $10,500,000,000, equal to one-fourth total outstanding and double previous year.

CROPS

United States department of agriculture is now issuing warnings and appeals to farmers not to reduce acreage for spring planting. This is in striking contrast to advice issued by department in September, 1919, to reduce acreage for fall planting 20 per cent. Farmers went department one better on September advice and reduced acreage 25 per cent. Maybe change in secretaries has changed policy.

LABOR

Award of coal commission expected soon. Inside information indicates considerable wage increase. Strong probability increase will be about 31 per cent, amount recommended by Secretary Wilson. Peale and White, representing operators and miners, have it in for Garfield, and would like to vindicate Wilson. Probably no change in hours, or, at most, nominal change to some such basis as 42-hour week. BASIL M. MANLY.

Imposing List of Answers To February Guide Contest

February's Star Business Guide contest saw a most imposing list of seekers after prizes, and so many were the contestants, and so varied, novel and artistic the answers submitted, that the work of the judges was made doubly hard.

In selecting the answer submitted by Miss Marion Bennett, of 1408 E. 42d st., the award committee feel that they have taken into consideration all the points that enter into a decision. The answer submitted by Mr. Earl Heroux, of 1520 First ave., was one of the most original and novel mechanical effects yet submitted by any contestant, and is well worthy of second prize.

The list of winners follows:

First Prize, $15.00—Miss Marion Bennett, 1408 E. 42d st.

Second Prize, $10.00—Earl Heroux, 1520 First ave.

Third Prize, $5.00—Miss Maude Harrison, 4022 41st ave. S.

Fourth Prize, $5.00—C. R. Mich, Hazelton Court apartments.

Fifth Prize, $3.00—Bernice Butler, 1130 19th ave. N.

Sixth Prize, $2.00 — Lewis Cass Woodman, 1242 17th ave. N.

Seventh Prize, $1.00—George Henry Mihalcik, Renton, Wash.

Eighth Prize, $1.00—Emmett C. Barley, 1905 Ninth ave.

Ninth Prize, $1.00—Phoebe E. Dose, 2818 33d ave. S.

Tenth Prize, $1.00—Blanche E. Sargent, 4002 Brooklyn ave.

Eleventh Prize, $1.00—B. H. Ormson, 7012 14th ave. N. W.

Twelfth Prize, $1.00—Mary Bray, 508 16th ave. N.

Thirteenth Prize, $1.00—Stella Parrish, 5129 24th ave. N. E.

Fourteenth Prize, $1.00—J. A. Folk, 1113 Ravenna blvd.

Fifteenth Prize, $1.00—Helen Delbar, 1518 Bigelow st.

Sixteenth Prize, $1.00—Ruth Sutherland, 4032 44th ave. S. W.
