Tribe Is Winner in Two Tilts

Looks Like Tribe Will Make Powerful Comeback From Road Trip

BY ALEX C. ROSE

Seattle took both games of yesterday's double-header with the Oakland Acorns, and incidentally climbed back into the first division again. Yesterday's scores were 4-3 and 5-3.

The Indians connected with Lefty Alten's slants for a couple of tallies in the third inning of the opener, when Tobin and Lane doubled and Patterson singled. With Hunky Schorr setting the opposition down in one-two-three order, this two-run lead looked as big as a house, but the Seattle twirler allowed the score to be tied up in the seventh by some weird pitching.

Poor base-running and snappy fielding got the local slabster out of a peck of trouble in the fifth frame, in which a triple, a double and a single failed to register even a run, but he was not so fortunate in the seventh. With the bases loaded, Hunky uncorked a couple of wild pitches, and the score was knotted.

The visitors forged ahead in the next session on Koehler's single, followed by White's triple, but a ninth-inning rally by the Indians pulled the game out of the fire, when Tex Wisterzil, batting for See, sent the tying and winning runs over by doubling to center.

The second game was a pitchers' battle between Gardner and Kraemer for five innings. A double by Lane and Eldred's single gave the Indians a marker on the start, but Cooper tied the count in the fourth, when he drove home one to the flagpole.

The tribe got to Kraemer for three tallies in the sixth round, Murphy leading the parade by lifting the plate high and far over the garden wall.

Miscues by Knight and Miller, one of Kenworthy's celebrated two-ply scorchers down the third-base line and a single by See accounted for the other two markers.

The pesky Acorns threatened an uprising in the closing stages, but the classy work of Gardner, Adams and Kenworthy stopped it.

Young Shortstop Shows Promise in Star Ball League

MATT CURTISS

Altho his work in the field was costly in the first game of the series, Matt Curtiss, the Three Brothers' shortstop, looks like a mighty promising young ball player. He is a hustler and takes a wicked cut at the ball.

Crystal Swimming Club Star Wins Honors in National Junior Mile in East

INDIANAPOLIS, July 29.—Mitrie Konowaloff, swimming under the colors of the Crystal Swimming club, of Seattle, won the national junior mile race staged at the Broad Ripple Pool here yesterday afternoon with the time of 26 minutes 36 and 3-5 seconds.

Mrs. Vonnie Malcolmson, of the Olympic games, representing the Detroit Athletic club, won the national junior diving title for women.

Ferdinand Erlich, of the Detroit Athletic club, finished second in the national mile race, with Robert Kniptash, of Indianapolis, finishing third.

AMATEUR SHOW ON TONIGHT

Clay Hite will stage another amateur show tonight at the Pavilion.

Eight or nine bouts have been lined up by Clay Hite, and fans are promised an entertaining evening.

No feature bout has been billed, according to Hite, but several well-known youngsters will scrap.

The ladies and the kids will be the guests of the Seattle club at the Rainier grounds today.

Unexpected Plays in National Sport Make It the Popular Pastime It Is

BY DEAN SNYDER

Once in a while baseball managers and players unexpectedly pull some real baseball.

Ernie Johnson, Salt Lake recruit shortstop of the Chi-Sox, came to bat with two out and none on. The opposing infield played back. He bunted. Result was he beat the ball to first. It turned the tide of the game. The Sox came from behind and won out.

And John McGraw sat in the dugout the other day, wrinkled his eyebrows, stretched his imagination back to the old days and fished up the old "sucker act," better known as the squeeze play.

He worked it three times on the unsuspecting league-leading Pirates.

Pulling the unexpected is the soul of a good ball game. Just such tricks as this have earned Ty Cobb the name of being the greatest player of the game.

FEMININE STRIDES

Women of the yesterday would be shocked to see the strides their sex take now in the game of tennis.

The sport then was a lady's game in the sense that it was a mild form of exercise.

Stars of today have speeded up the game until it is the most athletic of any ism of sport.

No camera man of today gets an action picture of the wonderful girl of France, Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, that doesn't find her from one to three feet off the ground. She literally flies. She has been called a "Tornado on tip-toe."

The same is true of other women net stars. Perhaps they don't leap so high in the air as the French Joan of Arc, but their strides are measured in yards—not feet.

Times have changed—so have sports improved and its players.

MONEY GETTERS

There are still a few good money-making propositions lying around waiting to be hatched besides pulling off a million-dollar fight.

Babe Ruth is collaborating with a live wire promoter in planning an exhibition tour next fall to the Pacific coast, the Philippines and Japan.

That's a fertile idea. There's thousands of dollars in it.

Should the Goliath of swat hit over 54 home runs, possibly make his goal of 75, he'd be the biggest drawing card in the world.

There is a possibility of the Yank management objecting to this new "gold mine" venture of its Bambino.

The Yanks and Uncle Wilbert Robinson's Dodgers are thinking of touring the Coast next spring as part of their training work.

If Babe and his retinue of stars swept the Western territory this fall it would "crab" the act for the spring training tour.

REAL BIG STICK

Jess Willard was a giant champion. He stood six feet seven inches. But a dive into the records shows he wasn't the real big stick of the ring.

Way back in the olden days there was a chap by the name of Freeman who could have even looked down on big Jess.

This fellow stood six feet 10½ inches.

History fails to relate whether he was ever hit on the chin or not. But it's doubtful if he was.

But think of the target his body would have been for such a fighter as the present king of sock—William Harrison Dempsey.

NOT SO GOOD

Pitcher Scott Perry, who jumped the Cellar A's for the semi-pros, is not starving to death.

Perry is playing with the Hornell team. His stipend is $200 per game.

That sounds like big money. It is.

But for a' that it isn't as good a job as he left.

He is buried away from the spotlight that always plays upon the big-time boys.

His job is an uncertainty. He can figure but a week, a month or a year ahead.

Some day Perry is going to regret his step backwards, for that is what his actions amount to.

Better be a little duck in a big puddle than a big duck in a shallow one—that's the grim dope of baseball as we have found it.

SAYS IT'S O. K. TO SHOW FILMS

NEW YORK, July 29.—There is nothing in the law to prevent the exhibition of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight pictures here, Assistant District Attorney Benton said yesterday in an unofficial opinion.

The subject was brought up by numerous complaints filed with the district attorney's office against the exhibition of the films in New York.

The question was referred to Special Assistant Johnson for investigation and a later opinion.

Can Play in a Pinch

CHICAGO, July 28.—Louis C. Barbour of the White Sox is the only club secretary in the majors who is also a player.

Years ago he was an infielder for the White Sox. Since then he entered private business until he was summoned by Sox officials to serve as traveling secretary. He can still play a good game and practices daily.

He "goes to bat" for the players on every occasion, for he's been thru the mill. He has a lot of sympathy for the man who has to live on Pullmans and in hotels.

Local Net Stars Are Best Bet

Seattle Tennis Players Do Good in Victoria; Other Gossip From B. C. Town

BY LEO H. LASSEN

VICTORIA, July 29.—The grass courts of the Victoria, B. C., Tennis club undoubtedly affect the play of Seattle net players, who are used to playing on the hard surfaced courts. Of the 12 courts at the local club only about four of them are in good condition for play and the bounces in poorer grade of grass courts are a great handicap to players not used to them.

The Seattle players have done remarkably well, however, judging from their showings, Marshall Allen winning the international singles and paired with Bill Taylor, winning the international doubles, while Alec Ross walked off with the junior sectional doubles.

The players here prefer the grass courts to the hard surfaced courts, providing they are in good shape because they do not strain the eyes and feet of the players like asphalt courts do.

SWIM MEET IN AUGUST

The annual P. N. A. outdoor swimming championships will be staged at Gorge park here about the middle of August. The definite date for the meet has not been set by the Victoria Island Athletic association as yet. This program of swim events was due to be held here July 7, but was postponed at that time. The Crystal club of Seattle has won the outdoor meet here for the past two years and will be the favorites to cop again this summer.

BIG LIST FOR STATE MEET

Baseball of the P. I. league variety, which is being discussed up here, is getting by fairly well. Victoria sport fans don't fall for league baseball as strongly as they do for amateur sports.

P. I. BALL IS POPULAR

Because the Washington state meet is the last tennis session of importance in the northwest this season, chances for a big field of out-of-town entries are small because most of the players that have been making the rounds of the northwest meets have to be on their way home or are just about filled up on tennis.

Phil Bettens and Herbert Suhr, two crack Californians, who have been playing in most of the Northwest meets this year, leave for their homes after the Tacoma Northwest play next week. Carl Gardner, another California crack, will play in Tacoma and then leaves for his home.

Of the out-of-town people who are expected to compete in Seattle, Irving Weinstein, the San Francisco boy, who played Howard Kinsey in the finals of the Washington meet last year, and William Ingraham, the crack Eastern junior, are the leading lights. Both play a mighty good brand of tennis.

Mrs. Sam Robinson, better known to Seattle fans as Gertrude Schreiner, is playing in the Victoria meet and will be in Seattle for the Washington state. She will be one of the strongest entries in the women's events.

Wallace Scott, the star Tacoma player, St. G. L. Verley, the Vancouver luminary, and Fenimore Cady, the Spokane crack, are three other out-of-town stars expected to play here.

Marshall Allen, Bill Taylor and Wilton Smith are the strongest Seattle hopes.

Marshall Allen, who has been right up in the running for nearly every Northwest tourney of note for the past several seasons, is playing the best tennis of his career right now. He played swell tennis in Vancouver, B. C., last week in Mainland championship, winning the high honors and his victories in the international singles and doubles here this week stamp him as the strongest player of the season in Northwest tennis circles.

Allen has changed his game almost entirely from the smashing type that featured his tennis in previous years. Coaching by William Tilden, world's champion, has improved his game nearly 100 per cent. He is playing a more conservative game, playing well, improving his strokes with every match and using his head as well as his strength in his playing. If he keeps up his present pace he will undoubtedly be ranked No. 1 among Northwest racquet wielders this season.

INTERNATIONAL TEAMS IN TIE

TRAVERS ISLAND, N. Y., July 29.—Princeton-Cornell tied with Oxford-Cambridge in their dual track meet here yesterday afternoon, each with five points.

Juniors Showing Promise

Several Tossers Shine in Star Junior Circuit; Second Games on Sunday

Several tossers on the four teams in the final round robin being played between the Eckart Cigar Co., Highland Park, Georgetown Cubs and Three Brothers Dye Works Cubs for The Star Junior baseball trophy, show a world of promise and stand a fine chance of graduating to faster teams next year.

Bill Johnson, the Eckart pitcher, and Byron Hobbs, his catcher, are easily the best prospects on this squad. Johnson has good speed, fine control, a fair curve and a dandy change of pace. And he's a big fellow, tipping the beams around the 200-pound mark.

Hobbs is a smart catcher and is also a corking good hitter.

SHORTSTOP BEARS WATCHING

A young fellow by the name of Bird, playing shortstop for this same squad, also bears watching.

Dick Finn is the most likely-looking ball player on the Georgetown club. He is playing a smart fielding game at shortstop and he leads his team in hitting. He looks like a real ball player.

With a little more experience Charley Hardin is going to make a good pitcher, as he has a world of natural ability. He is pitching good ball for the Highland Park team.

NEEDS FIELDING PRACTICE

Young Willis, playing left field for the same club, looks well at the plate, altho his work in the field is terrible. If Willis takes pains and learns how to field he has a good chance of playing on a faster team next season. He is a natural hitter.

Walter Poynter, pitcher and outfielder; Matt Curtiss, shortstop, and Don Manning, second base, are the most likely-looking men on the Three Brothers team. They should develop into real stars.

All of these men named wouldn't place on a mythical all-star team, but they look like the most promising men in action in the opening games of the final series which started last Sunday.

GAMES SUNDAY

The second games of this series will be played Sunday at Lincoln park with the Eckart Cigar Co. meeting the Georgetown Cubs at 1 p. m. and the Three Brothers Dye Works Cubs tangling with Highland Park at 3 p. m.

The Eckarts and Highland Park are leading with one win each. Each team is playing each team once.

The series will be completed Aug. 7, with Georgetown playing the Three Brothers and Highland Park playing Eckarts.

DIAMOND CHIPS

Manager Bill Kenworthy displayed rare judgment when he injected Wisterzil into the fray in that ninth inning rally, Tex responding like a hero. The fans were yelling for Schorr's removal in the sixth, but the Duke kept him on the hill until the finish. He's a teamup who has the easiest job, the manager or the umpire.

Patterson's work in the field and at the plate was all that could be desired. He speared a liner from Koehler's bat that was labeled for two or three bases, and also connected with two singles, each of which drove in a run.

See got a couple of blows, one of them scoring a run, but the Cincinnati lad failed to show any base-stealing ability on his two attempts to pilfer the second sack. His work in the field was faultless, and the fans are pulling for him.

The pitching work of Gardner was much better than the score indicates, three of the 10 hits made off his delivery being very scratchy.

Adams looked like a 10-second man yesterday, when he beat out a couple of infield taps. He also handled Big Harry in masterly fashion, and turned back the ambitious Acorns in their base-stealing attempts.

The tribe will try to make it four straight this afternoon. Jacobs and Arlett are the probable pitchers. The game starts at 2:45.

Heilman Hits Regularly at Terrific Clip

HARRY HEILMAN

Harry Heilman, slugging outfielder of the Detroit Tygers, is going at a terrific clip. Week after week he has led American league batters. The big fellow doesn't seem to know that there is such a thing as the wood "slump" in baseball. Averages compiled up to and including July 20 give Harry a mark of .429.

Entries to Open Monday

Books for Competition in Star Swim Tourney Will Be Open for Two Weeks

Entries open Monday for the big Star city swimming meet to be staged during the middle of August.

The entry blanks will be published daily on the sport page of The Star until Saturday, Aug. 13.

Special attention is being given for the younger swimmers and divers who expect to compete. Many events in which beginners at the racing game may compete in are provided, and it is hoped that some new stars will be uncovered as a result of the coming races and dives.

Many of the youngsters are of the opinion that they will have to go up against the swim stars of the different swimming clubs and their chances for winning are slim. This will be eliminated this year because of the age division.

The entry list is being made up by "Dad" Henry, under who's direction the meet will be staged. Henry is known to nearly every swimmer in Seattle and they are all expecting a classy list when the veteran announces them.

SEALS STILL WIN TILTS

OAKLAND, July 29.—San Francisco again nosed out the Salt Lake Bees, this time by the count of 7-1. The Seals bit Kallio freely until he was taken out in the sixth. Scott, of Frisco, stopped Lewis' batting streak by blanking him.

The score—	R.	H.	E.
Salt Lake	1	7	1
San Francisco	7	11	0

Batteries: Kallio, Gould and Dormans; Scott and Agnew.
