Appalachia Notes

M. V. Wells and wife, Rev. J. B. Craft, wife and daughter, came up from the Gap Sunday for services, and were pleasant guests at W. N. Breeding's home.

F. P. Hart, of Norton, spent a few days last week in town.

C. S. Ellison came over from Chicago for a few days last week.

R. P. Mullins made a business trip here from Gate City last Saturday.

Mrs. Jerome Wells and Mrs. S. Polly, of Big Stone Gap, attended the services at the school house Sunday, and were entertained by Mrs. W. H. Tompkins and family.

Miss Mattie Jarvis, of Big Stone Gap, spent Sunday with Miss Everedge.

Mrs. George Bentley and children returned last Tuesday from a few days' visit with her mother at Keokee. Her sister, Miss Ollie Morris, accompanied her home.

W. B. Henry came over from Bristol last week and made a professional (?) visit.

J. S. McConnell and wife returned last Thursday from quite a pleasant visit with relatives in Scott county.

B. S. Grim spent a few days with his wife here last week.

Miss Mamie Lou Broyles, of Oklahoma, is spending this month in Virginia visiting relatives. She is at present with her brother and wife here in town.

Miss Kate Jones and brother, Ed, of Scott county, are the guests of their brothers, Sam and Orbin Jones.

Joel Kayler and wife have taken one of the Wolfe cottages, on Kentucky avenue.

Mrs. Earl Cubine and little daughter left Friday to visit Cubine's parents at Kings Mill and relatives also at Bristol.

Mrs. O. T. Smith and children, accompanied by her sister, Miss Sutler, spent a portion of last week in Bristol.

H. N. Burke, proprietor of the Intermont Hotel, has been sick for the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Honeycutt's little child has been critically ill the past week.

Miss Mary Barston was here from Stonega Saturday.

Mrs. T. M. Pepper, of Norton, was in town last Thursday, en route as a delegate to the annual meeting of the Woman's Home Mission Society at Morristown, Tennessee.

S. T. Webber, of Chicago, was here on business part of last week.

Miss Sunshine James, of Mendota, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. T. P. Williams and friends.

Mrs. Broyles, of Greenville, Tenn., spent a few days visiting her son and wife, returning home last week.

Miss Nannie Hale, teacher of Second Grade and Expression, has been quite sick the past two weeks, but her friends will be pleased to know she is improving. Her mother came from Clinchport to assist in caring for her.

The school exercises were exceedingly well rendered at the auditorium Saturday evening by the little folks mostly, which always delights the audience best of all, and reflects credit on teacher, pupil, and we may add also, patron, for a properly advanced little child needs the hearty co-operation of patron with teacher. A lesson on character building was given by nine little boys, declaring their aim in life when they become men. The whole was interspersed with good music by Miss Wynn's pupils, but best in the music line were two vocal pieces, the first sung by Ollie and Elsie Burgrens, the little adopted children of Miss Burgrens; the other song by little Ruth Guntner, six and one-half years old: "This Letter is for my Papa." The annual sermon was delivered Sunday at eleven by Rev. J. B. Craft, who preached an inspiring sermon on Benhadad-Elisha, the man of God.

"MEMORIES"

You have heard the expression, "I would give all I possess for a picture of my child." That remark was made by some one who had neglected their opportunity and after it was too late saw their error.

Don't put such things off. If you have a family or a child of whom you are very fond, have their pictures taken. Don't leave it for tomorrow, for tomorrow may never come. Do it now while there is health and strength, while the family circle is unbroken.
