DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES.

IN PURSUANCE of the recommendation of the Democratic State Central Committee, the Democratic voters of St. Mary's county are hereby requested to assemble in Primary Meetings at the usual places of holding said meetings in the several Election Districts of St. Mary's county, on SATURDAY, July 16, 1887, at 3 o'clock, P. M.

For the purpose of selecting ten delegates from each district to represent them in a County Convention to be held in Leonardtown on at 12 M., upon which Convention will devolve the duty of selecting three delegates to represent St. Mary's county in the Democratic State Convention to be held in Baltimore city

ON WEDNESDAY, JULY 27, 1887, at 12 M., for the purpose of nominating one candidate for Governor of Maryland, one candidate for Comptroller of the Treasury, and one candidate for Attorney-General of the State.

And also for the purpose of nominating a County ticket, viz: two candidates for Members of the House of Delegates, one candidate for State's Attorney, three candidates for Judges of the Orphans' Court, one candidate for Sheriff, one candidate for Surveyor and five candidates for County Commissioners of St. Mary's county.

By order of the Committee.

Balloting will begin at 3 o'clock and close at 4.

J. T. BALLENGER,
JOSEPH H. KEV,
WM. S. COPPAGE,
June 8, 1887-41.

The Jackson boom which now is assuming such proportions as to seem likely to land that clever gentleman in the gubernatorial chair should set St. Mary's democrats to thinking if there is not a possibility of a Comptroller coming from our county. Prince George, Charles, Calvert, all have good positions and no considerable office has yet been given to St. Mary's. Southern Maryland is entitled to a place on the ticket and in the event of Jackson's nomination if a man like Col. John F. Dent or William A. Loker is strongly pressed by our delegates the prize might and we hope will fall to the county.

In view of the strong fight being made in the primaries for the honor of representing the St. Mary's democracy in the Baltimore Convention and the apparent absorption of everything else in that issue, it would seem to be advisable for next Tuesday's Convention to defer, as it has the power to do, the nomination of the county ticket to some future day. It is incumbent upon the Convention to place in the field a ticket which will command the support of every democrat in the county without regard to faction or prejudice. It is doubtful whether this can be accomplished next Tuesday with the feeling that at present obtains in regard to the delegates to the gubernatorial Convention. Nothing will be lost by consideration, and we believe that a stronger ticket would be put up if the Convention in its wisdom should see fit to adjourn for a few weeks and then re-assemble.

The Sunday Advertiser, of the 10th instant, says that "the German people set up a great shout yesterday for Robert Ober, of this city, for governor. Before his name had been started, the German-Rasson brigade was disposed to cheer alternately for Jackson and Brown. The betting politician who offered to wager his fortune on Brown as the winner, with Jackson a good second, has reversed his favorites, and is now inclined to bet on Jackson as first choice and Brown second."

The party could go a deal further and fare much worse than it would with Ober to the front. The Beacon has already expressed its opinion of this gentleman and developments have served rather to strengthen than weaken its views.

WASHINGTON, July 11, 1887.

MEMBERS EDITORS—fine excuses of people from the city on Independence day was so great as to leave the streets nearly deserted. All of the outgoing trains and excursion boats were taxed to their utmost capacity to accommodate those who desired to spend the day at the various pleasure resorts. The day was appropriately observed at the White House. The President drove in from Oak View early in the day and remained at his desk until late in the afternoon, though nearly the entire force of employees were off for a holiday. Secretary Whitney gave a picnic party at his country seat for the benefit of the employees of the Navy Department which was largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed. There was no formality about the affair, and the day was passed very pleasantly by all present.

The clerks in the new Pension Building who are required to work in rooms upon the fourth floor during the present very warm weather complain of the excessive heat. These rooms have no ventilation excepting through small holes in the skylight and it is said that several days during the past week the temperature in the rooms has reached 120 degrees, and no less than eight of the clerks were overcome by the heat and had to be conveyed to their homes. When the building was constructed, the rooms upon the upper floor were not intended to be occupied by clerks, but were intended as file rooms. The health authorities have been appealed to with the hope that they will come to the rescue of the clerks who are doomed to work in such uncomfortable quarters.

The President's letter to the mayor of St. Louis revoking his acceptance of an invitation to visit that city during the annual exposition of the Grand Army of the Republic, has been generally discussed here during the past two or three days. The friends of the President insist that he has pursued the proper course in view of the abuse that he has been subjected to since his acceptance of the invitation. It is probably however that the St. Louis incident will not interfere with the President's contemplated western trip, as he has received numerous invitations from other western cities, and has upon several occasions expressed a desire to visit the west during the summer, in case he finds it possible to do so without interfering with his official duties.

A very interesting and valuable addition to the exhibits of the National Museum has been made by Mr. Thomas Wilson who for many years was Consul to Ghent, Belgium. The exhibit comprises without doubt the most complete and valuable collection of antiquarian relics, ever gotten together by an individual and aside from the great expense incurred by Mr. Wilson, he has devoted all of his time during the past five years to the study and classification of the relics.

DIED.

At the residence of his parents in this town, on Saturday, the 9th instant, JOHN, infant son of Joseph F. and Leah Morgan.

At her residence in this town, on Sunday, the 10th instant, PRISCILLA, relict of the late Robert Wathen, aged about 40 years. May she rest in peace.

At the residence of his parents, in Miles-town district, on June 27th ultimo, WILLIAM MURRAY, infant son of T. B. and Irene Farr, aged 3 months and 13 days.

As the sweet flower that scents the morn But withers in the rising day, Thus lovely was this infant's dawn, Thus swiftly fled its airy way.

At the residence of his grandmother, Mrs. Lucretia Farr, on July 10th, 1887, ANNIE DOHA, infant daughter of John G. and Irene Farr, aged 3 months and 13 days.

Dora was a bright and cheerful little girl, the pride of his parents and the life and joy of their household. 'Tis sad that one so young and promising should die, but death in its savage sweep of human life from this earth to the world above spares neither the young nor old, the bright nor dull. All are to rest sooner or later in the cold and silent grave. The mission of life of the dear baby was early ended. Life to her was but a few hours and she was no more. Her ruddy lips are now closed forever. Her bright and cheerful smile we never can see again, and that little hand we have so often clasped now lies motionless above a pulseless heart. Alas, how sad! But her bright father, be comforted! Remember, that He who giveth, hath taken away.

We watched her breathing through the night Her breathing soft and low As in her heart the wave of life Kept heaving to and fro, God needed another angel Amidst His heavenly band And so He bent with loving smile And clasped our darling's hand.

C. L. F.

Near Choptank, July 9th inst., GEORGE REDDER, son of George R. and Mary Brown, aged 3 months and 10 days.

So over thy fond parents passed, The delecting weep, Wee that could not be comforted; Tears that could ever flow; But God to their benighted hearts The healing balm has given, For their dear little child is now An Angel bright in Heaven.

A FRIEND.

Fell asleep in Jesus, on the 30th ultimo, after a lingering illness, GEORGE THOMAS KEATING, infant son of Thomas D. and Mary E. Mattingly, aged 2 months and 19 days.

Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven.

Weep not, fond parents, for our little Keating. It was hard to see him die, To leave us all in grief and pain To take a home on high.

Take not from me my dear, But take from me the world of pleasure And ah! bring back my nephew here.

BY AUNT KATE.

At the residence of his parents, in this village, on the 13th instant, MARY, daughter of Philip D. and Ada Love, aged about 18 months.

"ONE PRICE TO ALL."

Only one fair, living cash profit, and beyond this is unfair. The only alternative on God's earth in which every honorable citizen can proclaim a freedom from the galling yoke of the credit system. Look for a moment around us at what a terrible havoc it has made of our country! Its lands are mortgaged, the tobacco consumed to meet the exorbitant demands of credit systems—hence, a continuation of fostering crimes are going on.

It is only a matter of little time that we will become admirably familiar with the system of the
