Death of Captain Bouvier Favrot.

On last Saturday, a truly good man, Captain Bouvier Favrot, sank quietly into eternal rest after an exemplary existence of eighty-two years, in this world where sorrows and happiness are inseparably linked. He was in reality a land mark of Baton Rouge, a perfect type of those French and Spanish cavaliers, whose names have thrown a glamour around the history of the colonial days, when honor, bravery and fidelity to race and country were the characteristics of the knights, who sans peur et sans reproche carried triumphantly the flags of Castile and France, over the vast territories of Louisiana and Florida.

Captain Favrot spent his whole life in this city, and from his earliest infancy to the day of his death, walked unostentatiously in the path of righteousness and virtue, amid the esteem of all who knew him.

Our oldest citizens remember him as the honored Captain of the Chasseurs, a company to which belonged many of the fathers of the present generation of Baton Rougeans.

He was ever a true Louisianian, proud of the history of his State and traditions; devoted to her fair name and glory.

Following the dictates of the purest and most unselfish patriotism, an old man already in 1861, foreseeing the events that were to follow, he pointed by his example to the policy that would have secured the independence of the South in the desperate struggle which ended in dismay and ruin. He organized a company of volunteers composed of the free colored element of that time and sought thus to induce his compatriots to augment the number of their battalions with his sable warriors, whom the enemy afterwards brought into line against the largely outnumbered heroic defenders of Dixie's land.

After the disbandment of this last company, Captain Favrot returned to the quietude of his every day life, until the day of the battle of Baton Rouge, when he went forth to succor the wounded boys in gray. Since then, we have known him among the faithful citizens, who could only protest with their ballots against the iniquitous rule of the Republican party.

Captain Favrot, honored every draft made upon him by his State, one of his sons giving up his life for the lost cause, while two others followed its banners until they were folded.

It was on Christmas morning that the remains of the good man and patriotic citizen were followed through the drizzling rain, by his family and relatives, to the secluded family burial ground where his ancestors de Favrot's, have preceded him.

It was not an occasion for mourning tears for a loved one who has been taken away from the family circle, for he has reached the fullest course of human existence.

More than this could not have been asked for him of the Almighty, who had blessed his relatives and the community by permitting him to stand through those eighty-two years, a shining example of all that is admirable in man, like the sturdy moss covered oak of the forest under whose shade his earthly form will rest while his soul dwelleth in the realms above.

It was amid the devout love and respect of true friends who were present that earth to earth was consigned around the name of another Favrot whose memory will add to its lustre through succeeding generations.

He was the father of Messrs. C. D. and Joseph Favrot, of this city, and the uncle of Colonel Henry S. Favrot, of West Baton Rouge.

Major J. Numa Augustin, of that splendid corps, the Louisiana Field Artillery, generously contributed the friction primers to fire the salute to the steamer City of Baton Rouge, on her arrival here. In behalf of the Executive Committee of the Council and citizens, we tender the gallant Major appreciative thanks for his friendly contribution.

Mr. J. Kornmeyer, would respectfully inform the public that he has employed a first-class cabinet-maker, and is ready at all times to make new and repair old furniture in the very best style. tj.

The Kris Kringle Cantata.

On Friday evening last, a very large audience was present in Pike's Hall, to witness the Kris Kringle Cantata, which had been heralded by numerous local advertisements in our city papers for some time past.

The programme opened with Christmas carols, and as the sweet strains of music filled the Hall, imagination wended back to the starlit Eastern night when shepherds watched their flocks by night, and a host of angels appeared and revealed the glad tidings of the fulfilment of the prophecy that a Saviour was born to men.

It would be invidious to single out any one performer to praise where all were good; but the beautiful little Miss Tite Rosenfield, who sang so sweetly "Too Young to Marry Yet," elicited rounds of enthusiastic applause, as the little prima donna only numbers some six brief summers.

After the Cantata the curtain was lowered, but soon rose on a magnificent X mas tree, laden with lovely gifts from the ever bountiful Kris Kringle. Old Kris himself stood beside the tree in fleecy robes with bells merrily gingling.

The committee who had charge of the gifts on the tree came forward and the distribution commenced briskly; the fun and frolic at this hour came near being turned into a thrilling tragedy, for the good Kris Kringle in handing the gifts over the foot-lights, unfortunately came too near a gas jet, and in one brief moment his fleecy robe was one mass of quick devouring flame. Every heart stood still at sight of this disaster, but owing to the prompt assistance afforded by the gentlemen on the stage, the fire was soon extinguished. Mr. McDuffy, the unfortunate sufferer, hastened to reassure the almost panic-stricken by appearing on the stage in person and assuring them that there was no further need of alarm. The united efforts of Mr. Skolfield and others soon restored order and the distribution of the gifts continued.

Mr. McDuffy is painfully but not seriously burned, and his physician, Dr. Reynaud, has no apprehensions of a fatal result. Mr. McDuffy has been most generous in his efforts to contribute to the success of the numerous entertainments lately given for our churches, and during his short stay in our community has made many friends, who deeply sympathize with him in his unfortunate mishap, and wish him a speedy recovery. We are sure the good people in aid of whose cause he received his injuries will not forget him in his hour of suffering.

We regret to hear that Mrs. Goodale was prevented by illness from being present at the entertainment she had labored so hard to make a success, and that it was pre-eminently successful the applause of a large audience amply testified.

Mrs. Valentine Gorlinski, daughter of Mr. S. Wrotnowski, and a lady of great acquirements, died at Salt Lake City, on the 25th of October last. Of her nine children, three sons and two daughters remain with other relatives and friends to mourn her loss. Mrs. Gorlinski had many friends among the old residents of this city, who knew her when she resided here. We tender to the bereaved family our earnest sympathy.

RECEPTION OF THE STEAMER CITY OF BATON ROUGE.—The Committee have arranged the following programme for the reception of the steamer Baton Rouge, which will arrive this evening, at 4 o'clock. The speakers, City Council, Executive Committee and their families, will embark at 2 o'clock on the tugs and barges to meet the Baton Rouge. The presentations will take place after her arrival, in the order already made public.

OUR HALF SHEET.

To enable our employees to enjoy the holidays, we gave up our edition of last Tuesday, and give but a four-page edition of this weekly. We will commence next week the promised publication of the DAILY CAPITOLIAN. Until the transformation is thoroughly completed we ask the indulgence of our patrons for any short-comings.

School Board Proceedings.

BATON ROUGE, LA., Dec. 26, 1881.

The Parish School Board met pursuant to adjournment, with the following present: B. Feibelman, President pro tem, J. B. Magruder, Secretary; A. Burris, T. B. Brown, M. C. Aldrich.

On motion Miss Behnstedt was allowed pay at the rate of $40 per month for the time that she has already taught, and also $6 for rent of school house.

Mr. Aldrich was appointed by the President on the Finance Committee in place of Mr. McMain, resigned.

Seven dollars and fifty cents was allowed to Mortimore Price for three months rent of school house in 5th ward. On motion of Mr. Brown, $42,50 from the contingent fund of the 3d ward was passed to the credit of the teacher's fund of the same ward.

By Mr. Burris: Whereas, in consideration of the fact that the funds at the command of the School Board are very limited and unsufficient for the payment of teachers, and in the opinion of this Board, parents should be willing to contribute something towards the education of their children, therefore, be it resolved. That hereafter all rents of school houses and all other contingent expenses incident to the proper conducting of the schools be furnished or paid by those who patronize the school. This resolution does not apply to the 1st and 2nd wards.

By Mr. Aldrich, Resolved, That from the contingent fund of each ward, pro rata, a sufficient amount be appropriated to pay the salaries of the Treasurer and Secretary, and the remainder of the contingent fund in each ward, except that of the 1st and 2nd, be transferred to the teacher's funds of the respective wards and that hereafter there be no contingent fund in any ward except the 1st and 2nd.

By Mr. Aldrich:

Resolved: That the schools in the city of Baton Rouge be authorized (at their own request) to continue their session two months longer, or until the 1st of March, 1882, on condition that they wait for their salaries until a sufficient amount has been received by the Treasurer to pay them.

At the request of patrons representing 115 pupils, A. H. Colwell was appointed an assistant in the colored school in town, at a salary of $[illegible] per month.

On motion of Mr. Aldrich, the Rev. R. F. Patterson was elected permanent President of the Board.

The Board then adjourned until the first Saturday in January, 1882.

B. FEIBELMAN, Pres. pro tem.

J. B. MAGRUDER, Secretary.

Dr. D. Stocking, the skillful Dental Surgeon, will be at his headquarters at Mrs. Curran's, on next Monday, January 2d, to attend to all professional calls.

A CARD.

The thanks of the Pastor, the ladies and the people in general, of Bruly Landing, West Baton Rouge, are extended:
