CHARITON COURIER

KEYTESVILLE, MO.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 18, 1884.

A New Departure.

We have concluded for the year 1884 to put the price of the Courier down to one dollar, invariably in advance. If not paid in advance the subscription price is to remain the same as heretofore, $1 50 per year. At $1 per year there is no good reason why every family should not take a county paper.

We are satisfied there is but little money in an all-home print paper at that price, but if we don't make, there is no probability of our losing as heavily as when the subscription is taken cash if we can get it, and credit if we can't.

We fell like taking off our hat every time we meet one of our cash subscribers, some of whom have called and paid for the succeeding year before the old one expired.

If all our subscribers were to do us that way there would be comparatively little worry about running a paper. Then we could pay cash for everything we buy, and buy at cash rates.

We hope this liberal reduction in the price of the Courier will encourage our delinquent subscribers to call in at an early day and settle up. Money we must have. The individual indebtedness of each delinquent is small, but to us it aggregates a large sum. We send out the paper this week as usual, but if many do not pay ere another issue we will be compelled to cut them off and collect our dues as best we can.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, boasts of a citzen who was wounded during the war and drew a pension regularly until quite recently, but his wounds having healed he declines to accept charity from the government any longer.

FRIDAY night a remarkable wedding was solemnized at Pilot Knob, Mo., that of Henry Johnson, aged 50, to Charlotte Cooper, aged 105. The bride seemed as coy and bashful as brides usually do, though her posterity to the fourth generation attended her wedding, those of the third generation being older than the

THE steamer City of Columbus, on her route from Boston to Savannah, was wrecked on the Atlantic coast on the 17th inst., with a loss of seventy passengers and thirty-four of her crew.

THE boiler of Brink & Elkin's steam saw and grist mill, in Boone county, exploded on the 18th inst., scalding two men fatally and inflicting severe injuries upon several others.

A colored barber was tried at Springfield, Mo., last week, under a charge of violating the Sunday law. The jury returned a verdict for the defendant, deciding that shaving on Sunday was a necessity.

MINNESOTA, where a Sunday school was first established thirty-seven years ago, has now 1,444 schools, with 76,000 scholars and 11,000 teachers and officers. The net gain last year was 119 schools of 4,000 scholars and 100 teachers.

JOHN CUDDIGAN and his wife were hanged by the vigilants at Ouray, Col., on the 10th inst., because of their inhuman treatment of a twelve-year-old girl, whom they had driven from their house during the bitter cold weather, and who was found frozen to death.

THE whale fisheries continue to decline. Only 125 whalers left Atlantic ports last year, the smallest number in a third of a century. Perhaps, however, if not extensively molested, the finny population of the deep will multiply enough to make whale fishing profitable in the future.

A QUEER example of religious zeal was witnessed at the little town of Austin, Ark. The colored church was submerged by the sudden rise of a bayou, but the minister, an old-fashioned plantation negro preacher, took a position on the roof and the congregation gathered about in skiffs and listened to the sermon.

A CAPIAS has been served upon General Joe Shelby, from Davis county, where he is indicted for carrying concealed weapons. The General attended the Frank James trial at Gallitin, and forgot to leave his "pop" at home. Hence the indictment.

SENATOR MACKAY must not be overlooked when the Democrats are making their slate for the State ticket. Old Chariton is one of the wheel horses in the Democratic party, and should have the second place on the ticket. Three cheers and a tiger for Senator Mackay for Lieutenant Governor.

THE Linn County News brings forward Hon. A. W. Mullins as a suitable appointee for the judgeship made vacant by the resignation of Judge McCrary, of the Eight United States District. Of course no Democrat need apply. As we have to have a Republican in the position, we are glad to state that we know of none more worthy than Major Mullins.

THE unexpected death of Mr. Samuel P. Glover removes one of the best men of St. Louis. A well rounded character, equally deserving of praise as a lawyer, a citizen and a politician, he was of a type as rare as it is worthy. His career was singularly favored in its uniform success and serenity, and his loss will be sincerely mourned by the whole city in which he lived and worked during his long life of usefulness and honor.—Post-Dispatch.

THERE is a dead-lock in the Kentucky legislature in the election of a United States Senator. The friends of Williams, one of the present incumbents, seem to be confident that they will win, while the friends of Blackburn, the next highest aspirant for the honors, seem to be equally as confident. Both are good, true and staunch Democrats, and will do credit to the country and the old Commonwealth. May the luckiest man win.

THERE was a bad wreck on the Wabash road, on Monday morning, four miles south of Macon City—the cannon-ball train being thrown from the track. A broken rail caused the disaster. The engine, baggage car and first coach passed safely over the broken rail, but the coach and sleeper left the track, and the sleeper turned completely over. There were about forty-five people in the two cars, nearly all of whom were more or less bruised. Fortunately no one was killed.

IN the supreme court of the United States, on Tuesday, the case of the Excelsior Manufacturing Company, appellant, against Eben Bussey et al., appeal from the circuit court of the United States for the Eastern district of Missouri, was heard. This was a suit brought by Bussey et al. against the Excelsior Manufacturing Company for an alleged infringement of three several patents upon improvements in cooking stoves. The decree of the circuit court is reversed, with costs. This decision disposes also of the cross appeal of Bussey et al.

FROM Richmond, Mo., comes the news of a strange and painful accident which befell Dunk Gant, living near Knoxville, in the northern part of the county. He was watering his drinking the other reached out and bit him on the face, tearing out his whiskers and flesh, leaving the jaw-bone exposed and knocking off his hat. He at once started for the house, knowing that he had been bitten, but not how badly until passers by found his hat with the flesh and whiskers in it. The man is suffering untold agony.

LAST Friday the jury in the Gibson murder trial, at Troy, Mo., returned a verdict of not guilty, after a few minutes deliberation. The defendant was charged with the murder of his uncle, who had always been a good friend to him, and with whom he had been living for some years. The murdered man, a short time previous to his tragic death, had made his will, giving the bulk of his property to his wife and this same nephew. Some ugly rumors were afloat in reference to this nephew and aunt, but the prosecution failed to connect their criminality with the killing—hence the verdict of acquital.

A VERDICT of not guilty was rendered in the Nutt case, at Uniontown, Pa., as was generally expected. A jury acquitted Dukes, who slandered Nutts sister and killed her father. Now another jury, a Northern jury be it remembered, has acquitted young Nutt, who waylaid the slayer of his father. This is a recognition by one jury of his right to overrule the decision of another jury and impose on a wrongdoer the penalty withheld by the courts. It is jury justice sandwiched with the right of private vengeance. Public feeling sustains it in Pennsylvania as well as at the South, and legal doctrinaires may say what they could never reconcile any community in this country either to the acquittal of Dukes or the conviction of Nutt.—Post-Dispatch.

THE composition of the house of representatives reveals some queer facts. More than half of the 325 members are new men. There are 221 lawyers, 10 manufacturers, 18 farmers, 10 editors, 8 merchants, 7 bankers, 5 doctors, 2 lumbermen, 2 railroad presidents, 2 railroad operators, 1 minister, 1 druggist, 1 zoologist, 1 hatter, 1 railroad ticket agent, 1 cooper, 1 printer and 1 capitalist—with 22 not classified as to occupation. Of these 119 served in the army or navy during the war, 63 on the union side and 44 on the confederate; all of the latter are Democrats, while of the union veterans 50 are Republicans and 15 are Democrats. Seven-eights of the Southern representatives are lawyers. Of the 19 manufacturers 7 are from the state of New York.

WHETHER there is, or is not, any action taken by the present Congress upon the tariff question, it promises to be one of the leading issues in the political contest of the present year, notwithstanding the efforts of certain politicians to keep quiet in reference thereto. A system of taxation that draws $700,000,000 annually from the people, only about one-fourth of which ever finds its way into the public treasury, is faulty, and needs to be reformed. The people know it, and will demand relief from the burdens it imposes. It is true there is a difference of opinion existing on the subject of the tariff. Neither of the dominant parties is a unit in reference to it. There are those of each party who have announced in favor of "free trade," while others say let the tariff remain as it is. The parties may meet in State and national conventions, and place planks in their platforms that will for a time smother out this question, but the people are moving, and sooner or later they will be heard.

A DESTRUCTIVE fire occurred at Fayette, Mo., last week, being the third one they have had within the last few years. The Advertiser says about $65,000 worth of property was destroyed, including most of the block east of the court-house, extending from Mrs. Shaffroth's residence to A. F. Davis' bank—only three buildings on that side of the square being saved. All the parties interested are losers to a greater or less extent, as none of them were fully insured. The fire not only occasions a loss, but subjects some of the business men to great inconvenience. Many of the goods were saved, of course, in a damaged condition, but no suitable rooms could be procured to open up business again. We hope this last fire will ultimately result in good to the city, as did its predecessors. It is hard to down an enterprising people like there are in Fayette. We have no doubt the burnt district will be rebuilt at no distant day, and that the old structures will be replaced with creditable structures, fully abreast with the times.

THE thirty-fourth annual report of the Superintendent of Schools of the State of Missouri has recently been submitted to the Governor. To the thoughtful it will prove an interesting document. It shows that progress has been made, at the same time we gather the idea that there is still room for great improvement. According to said report there are in the State of school age (six to twenty years) 762,993 children; 719,670 are white and 43,323 are colored. Of those there are enrolled in the public schools: White children, 487,509; colored children, 23,820; total in public schools, 511,329; State school fund, $3,181,131 65; State seminary fund, $496,000; total appropriations made by purposes, $1,843,330 93. The number of teachers employed in the State is 12,077, and the average salaries paid per month is $46 61. There are 8,409 school buildings in the State, and 264 buildings rented for school purposes. These buildings have a seating capacity of 541,198. The number of white schools in operation is 8,601, and colored schools 497. The average cost per day for tuition for each child is .066. School property of the State is valued at $9,289,405 95. The amount paid out last year for teachers' wages was $2,653,582 02. School houses have been erected during the year valued at $442,589 24. The total amount of receipts into the school fund during the year amounts to to $4,272,190 04. Mr. Coleman closes his report by stating that two things must be secured before our system of public schools in Missouri can prove a success: First—The employment of the county commissioner for his whole time. Second—County teachers' institutes established by law, requiring that each county commissioner shall call, organize, conduct or have conducted an institute for a term of two, three or four weeks during the summer vacation.

Phelps Will Run.

"I am in receipt of a letter from my friend, Governor Phelps," said Colonel J. C. Normile today, "and I can give you some very positive information concerning his candidacy. You can say that John S. Phelps is an unconditional candidate for Governor, and that as soon as the weather moderates he will in person visit his friends in all parts of the State and give them that assurance."

"Was Colonel Armstrong mistaken, then, in his recent statement on that subject?"

"No; he simply expressed himself in an unfelicitious manner. He did not mean to convey any doubts as to Governor Phelps' candidacy, and he will tell you so. You see Governor Phelps has nothing to tie him to his home, and hence it is quite natural that he should choose to spend the period when we have such blustering weather here in the climate of Los Angeles, Cal. He never was in better health than when he left for the west, and the only ailment which has troubled him prior to that time was the rheumatic gout, a disease the most pronounced characteristic of which is to quicken and brighten the intellect. Just bear in mind, and I say it authoritatively, that Governor Phelps is a candidate."—Kansas City Times.

SALISBURY DEPARTMENT.

BY A. W. JOHNSON.

Mr. Johnson is authorized to receive and receipt for Subscriptions, and any Advertisements handed to him will receive our prompt attention.

—J. M. Campbell, Esq., went to Columbia last Friday to be present at the opening of the new opera house.

—We learn that Myer Bros. contemplate opening up a branch house at Huntsville, Mo., in the early spring. This popular house will do well anywhere, and we congratulate our sister city on her good fortune.

—Items are scarce this week.

—A little daughter of John Johnson has inflammatory rheumatism.

—A little daughter of Mrs. Jackson, living in the west part of the city, fell on the ice Monday, breaking her right arm just above the wrist. She recieved the proper attention and is doing well.

—We are glad to learn that Miss Fannie, daughter of our esteemed friend, John Vincent, is recovering from an attack of pneumonia and we trust that she may soon be restored to health.

—Ben F. Davis, Esq., one of our successful young business men, did a very sensible thing last week when he and Miss Mattie Jackson, a beautiful girl, went to Moberly and got married. Though not personally acquainted with the fair bride we can say that she has all the requisite qualifications for a good wife, while the groom is a noble, manly fellow, of whom his wife cannot be too proud.

—A new establishment in Salisbury is the broom factory, Messrs. Carlton Bros., proprietors. These young gentlemen come among us full of push and energy and will doubtless build up a fine trade. We have seen samples of their work and must say they do it well. Such an enterprise should recieve encouragement, and being a home institution, should be liberally patronized by every one who would build up our growing little city. We need more manufacturing establishments here and the way to bring them is to lend INDIANA has 3,737 church edifices, valued at $12,555,000. She pays her ministers $1,037,837.

—Mrs. Tab Courtney and sons were in the neighborhood making friends and relatives a week's visit.

—Oswald Herndon, from near Mendon, and Willie Crockett, near Triplett, were in this vicinity to buy hogs and cattle, and passed a few hours with Dr. Bowman's family. If the girls in their vicinity let leap year pass without capturing one or both of them we will decide that they (the girls) don't know a good looking fellow when they see him.

—Hope that bachelor member of the Q. B. C. will confer a lasting and ever to be appreciated favor upon the many weary mothers and quite as weary hearers of criers, by publishing and distributing copies of his essay on "How to Keep Babies Still," any way short of severing the jugular vein.

—The services held at the Presbyterian Church conducted by Rev. Sharpe, have been well attended and are very interesting, for the preacher is a great expounder of sound doctrines and a belief of loving and giving, and an an urgent persuader "of every church member taking his own church paper," a fluent speaker, with a memory well drilled, so that many who have heard him here will be glad to learn that he is to fill the Cumberland Presbyterian Church pulpit at Salisbury as pastor this year and many will, no doubt, avail the good roads and go to hear him there during his pastorate.

—We learn that Wm. M Hill and his estimable wife are to reside with Mrs. Lewis Bennett the coming year. Every one rejoices who know them, and a hearty welcome awaits their coming.

—George Mackay, accompanied by Miss E. Mackay, left for Virginia on a short visit this week. Miss Mackay will make her home in the Old Dominion.

—Wonder if all the turnips and potatoes buried in heaps, sound as much like rocks rattling as a basketful did here the other day, if so I am afraid seed potatoes will be at premium rates next spring.

—We overheard two young sprigs, for voting honors, say the other day that they expected to vote for two certain young ladies, for the president and vice-president of the nation as it was leap year. As it is their first experience, let us hope they will be let down easy.

—The tony correspondent from the city of Chraneville had a fourth of July and Washington's birthday picnic all to himself one day not long ago. Passers by on the main road saw a board coming down the hill with a tremendous momentum and were amazed at beholding the worthy correspondent, with flashing eyes and tumbled hair, fastened to the center of the plank, while he held aloft, in one hand, the device, "News for the Courier." Well, the "shoemaker" is abroad, and the worthy correspondent of the Courier will probably have to wear patched breeches for a week or so, but he probably thinks the fun he got off that hillside and that plank was worth the day's work in sliding down and walking back to the top, and that it beat the skating rink all over, but he was awful selfish in trying to keep it all to himself.

—W. G. Agee was absent from his store the 19th. He was out to see his ——.

—John R. Minick has returned to his home in Dalton. I don't see what attractions there are for him unless it is Miss L. G.

—There was a Leap Year party not long since, but the girls failed to come.

—Messrs. J. R. Johnson and De Jarnett are buying hogs, for which they are paying 4½ cents per pound.

Chraneville Doings.

—News is scarce this week.

—Plenty of cold weather.

—Health is tolerably good.

—A society has been organized at Bell's school-house called "Pilgrims for Jesus." The members select verses from the Bible with the view of living up to their requirements for one month. I thought all Christians were required to live up to Bible requirements through life.

—Dr. McEuen's regular appointment at Bell's school-house is the first Sunday in each month.

—Mrs. A. Bochm was in this ing her liege lord, but he was artful enough to give her the dodge. Such is life—while some men are anxious to get wives, others would like to get rid of those they have.

—Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brooks, on the 19th inst., a daughter. Jesse, of course, is in high glee.

—Two young ladies of this neighborhood went sleigh riding on a plank. The sleigh ran away with them and capsized. The result was that one received a slight wound on the arm, and the other was terribly frightened.

—The patrons of the Courier are glad that you reduced the price of your paper to one dollar. I believe many more will subscribe, as this is to be a shining year in politics.

—Times are brisk, and stock of all kinds are commanding a good price. Hogs are selling at about $4 50 to $4 75 per hundred. Cattle are scarce and high, as there is only a few for sale.

—There is no cattle being fed in this township, and only a few hogs.

—Corn has advanced to 45 cents per bushel. Our farmers are planning for a large crop this year, and it is said that we always have a good crop in leap year. We hope it will be so. If not in produce, it will be in candidates.

—Captain Robert Bull, so long confined to his bed, is mending.

—Levi T. Fawks, of Salisbury, has moved into our vicinity, he having traded his property for a farm near Prairie Hill.

—Your correspondent would like to know if "Luna C." has found a market for that dog of Dr. Bowman's that cat up a trace chain, a set of harness and several fence rails?

—Prayer meeting at Scribner's school house every Friday evening at early candle light.

—E. E. Gunette has erected a new barn, and will go into the flue-curing tobacco business this season.

—Horse shoeing is the principal work of the blacksmiths at present.
