Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

STORY AS TOLD IN FIGURES.

Impressive Facts are Given Telling of the Wonderful Growth of the United States.

The United States treasury department has issued a little pamphlet of a dozen pages reciting the wonderful progress in solid figures this country has made during the past twenty years.

Mr. Walter E. Clark, a Washington special newspaper correspondent comments upon these figures in the following comprehensive and fascinating manner:

To reality these pages tell a story of human endeavor and progress in the United States as absorbing as a novel and as fascinating as a story of life. The figures—for there is little else to be found in these pages—are in groups of six and nine and even eleven, for a million is really a small number when one is telling about the "progress of the United States in area, population and material industries," as this publication is called.

No nation in any age, ancient or modern, can show such a record. The facts here stated in the form of statistics have amazed the countries of Europe, and all the civilized world; for they show that in the brief period of twenty years the United States of America have advanced from a relatively minor position to the place of supreme commercial and industrial importance among the nations of the earth. The human mind cannot comprehend the figures, but it can marvel at them and be fascinated by their bigness.

Some Impressive Facts.

This publication of the treasury department tell us that even since 1896, the year of President McKinley's first election, the exports of the country have increased from $882,606,568 to $1,394,483,082, nearly doubled; that the imports of the country have grown from $779,724,574 to $903,327,071. Many statements of progress in other lines are also shown for that brief period. Looking back over the last two decades the story of material advancement in the United States is, of course, still more marvelous. Here are a few of the impressive facts that appear in this publication of statistical tables:

The population of the United States is one and half times greater than it was in 1880.

The combined wealth of the United States, which is put down as the true valuation of real and personal property, has increased from $42,000,000,000 to $94,000,000,000—a good deal more than doubled.

The wealth, on the average of each man, woman and child in the United States, has advanced from $870 to $1,236—more than 50 per cent.

The public debt has decreased by almost one-half—from $1,815,000,000 to $1,000,000,000. The debt per capita has decreased from $28.27 to $14.52.

Circulation of Money.

The total circulation of money has advanced from $[illegible] to $2,055,000,000, and the circulation per capita from $[illegible] as against $18.11.

The annual interest charge has diminished more than one half, from $[illegible] a year to $[illegible], and the interest per capita from $[illegible] to $1.[illegible].

The amount of gold coined is now $99,000,000 a year as against $62,000,000 a year two decades ago.

The total of coin in circulation has nearly trebled in twenty years, having increased from $227,000,000 to $611,000,000. The amount of silver in circulation has more than doubled—the respective amounts being $69,000,000 and $142,000,000.

There are nearly [illegible] times as many national banks—5,996 as compared with 2,056. The deposits in national banks are nearly three times as great, amounting now to $2,024,000,000. The deposits in savings banks are nearly three times as great, the increase being from $819,000,000 to $2,450,000,000—a splendid refutation of the demagogic assertion that the "rich are growing richer and the poor poorer." The number of depositors in savings banks is now 6,108,000. Twenty years ago it was 2,235,000.

Farms and Factories.

The farmer is still the main bulwark of the nation. He is richer now than he ever was before, and his products are in greater demand and command wider markets. The value of farms and farm property has increased from $12,000,000,000 to $20,500,000,000. The value of the annual products of the farms has jumped from $2,212,000,000 to $3,764,000,000. Farm animals are now worth in the aggregate $2,982,000,000. Twenty years ago they were worth $1,882,000,000.

Manufacturers are marvelous thrifty. Two or three decades ago it was said that the United States could never compete with England in manufacturing; now political malcontents and agitators are complaining against the "dangerous" power of the great industrial corporations of the country. The number of manufacturing establishments in this country has doubled in the last twenty years, going up from 253,000 to 518,000. These establishments have a combined output of more than $12,000,000,000—two and a half times as much as it was in 1880.

The number of employes of manufacturing establishments has more than doubled, the number employed now being 5,719,000 as against 2,732,000. The employes' wages have increased in the aggregate from $948,000,000 to $2,735,000,000.

What has become of the product of these factories? Untold quantities of manufactured articles have been consumed at home; more than four times as much has been sent to foreign countries as was sent in 1880.

Imports and Exports.

The imports of merchandise of all kinds have increased by 30 per cent, while the exports have increased more than 40 per cent. Although the nation is buying more in the aggregate from foreign nations than it did twenty years ago, that is only because our population is larger. The per capita imports have fallen off from $12.51 to $10.88.

The production of gold in the United States has more than doubled. The production of silver has nearly doubled.

The output of coal has almost quadrupled. It now being placed at 241,000,000 tons as against 64,000,000 tons per annum. The production of petroleum is now 2,261,000,000 as against 1,100,000,000 gallons.

Pig iron is now being produced at a rate four times as great as twenty years ago. The production of steel has multiplied eight times. Twenty years ago the output was 1,247,000 tons; now it is 10,188,000 tons. Prices on steel rails have fallen from $67.50 per ton to $32.20.

The production of copper has increased ten-fold, that of wool 25 per cent, of wheat 5 per cent, of corn 40 per cent, of cotton 65 per cent, of sugar 60 per cent.

There are now more than twice as many miles of railway in operation as there were twenty years ago. The number of passenger cars is twice as great and the number of freight cars two and a half times as great.

The annual receipts of the federal government have increased from $333,000,000 to $587,000,000. Salaries paid in the public schools have more than doubled—$136,000,000 as against $60,000,000; and yet they say that school teachers are underpaid.

The number of telegraphic messages sent has increased from 29,000,000,000 to 60,000,000,000.

The number of postoffices has increased from 44,000 to 77,000.

The Birmingham Catastrophe.

Rev. P. C. Gowen's wife returned Tuesday from Birmingham, Ala., where she had been as a delegate to the convention of the Shiloh Baptist church, and gives a most vivid and graphic account of the scenes attending the disaster which befell the convention, full accounts of which have been given in our telegraphic columns.

This good woman says that she was saved by a very brave man frantically rushing by her and shoving her into an aisle. She was stunned by the blow, and when she recovered a woman pulled her by the skirts and made her sit down and quieted her by telling her there was no fire.

She says the people were fearfully panic stricken, and for an hour there was a bedlam of confusion and a scene of the wildest terror. Shrieks, moans, ravings of despair and the most awful lamentations were heard. Men, women and children rushed madly about like a lot of caged hyenas, and in the vestibule bodies were piled up ten feet deep. Many died of suffocation.

Rev. Gowens is a Methodist and his wife a Baptist. She says she is ready to stay at home now and attend her husband's church, and she never wants to witness a scene so heartrending again.

Devoured by Worms.

Children often cry, not from pain, but from hunger, although fed abundantly. The entire trouble arises from inanition, their food is not assimilated, but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once, very much to the surprise and joy of the mother. 25c at Anti-Monopoly Drug Store. m

NOTICE OF ELECTION

WHEREAS, THE LEGISLATURE OF 1901, under the Constitution of 1885, of the State of Florida, did pass two joint resolutions proposing amendments to the Constitution of the State of Florida, and the same were agreed to by three-fifths of all the members elected to each House, that the vote on said joint resolutions were entered upon their respective journals, with the yeas and nays thereon, and did determine and enact that the said joint resolutions be submitted to the electors of the state at the general election in November 1902.

Now, therefore, I, R. Clay Crawford, secretary of state of the State of Florida, do hereby give notice that a GENERAL ELECTION will be held in each county in Florida on Tuesday next succeeding the first Monday in November, A. D. 1902, being the 4th day of NOVEMBER, for the purpose of voting for the ratification or rejection of the said joint resolutions proposing amendments to the Constitution of the state of Florida, viz:

ARTICLE XIX.

That the following amendments to the Constitution of the State of Florida be, and the same are hereby agreed to, and shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Florida at the General Election in 1902 for ratification or rejection.

Sec. 2. Art. V of the Constitution is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

The Supreme Court shall consist of three justices, except as hereinafter provided, who shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state at the time and places of voting for members of the legislature, and shall hold their office for the term of six years, except those first elected, one of whom, to be designated by lot in such manner as they may determine, shall hold his office for two years, another, to be designated in a like manner, for four years, and the third for six years, so that one shall be elected every two years after the first election.

The chief justice shall be designated by lot in said manner, and shall be such during his term of office. The first election for said justices shall take place at the next election for members of the legislature after the ratification of this amendment, and their terms of office shall begin on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January after their election.

Upon the adoption of this amendment [illegible] the Constitution the governor, by and with the consent of the senate, shall appoint three justices of the supreme court, [illegible] of whom shall have the same powers and shall receive the same compensation as each of the other justices of the Supreme Court and each of the justices so appointed shall hold office until the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January in the year [illegible] and may further hold office until his successor shall be elected and qualified, if it shall be so provided by law. For the year 1903 and for the subsequent years the legislature may provide by law for the election of such number of justices of the supreme court as it may determine, and prescribe their terms of office, not to exceed six years: Provided, That the number of the justices of the Supreme Court holding office at the same time shall not be less than three nor shall not be greater than six, and provided that no justice of the Supreme Court can by such an act of the legislature be deprived of his office during the term for which he was elected.

Sec. 3 of Art. V of the constitution is hereby amended so as to read as follows: The majority of the justices of the Supreme Court shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of all business. But when there shall be six justices of the supreme court the court may hear and determine cases and exercise any of its powers when sitting either in banc or in two divisions, under such rules as may be prescribed by law, only the business to be so transacted and recommitted therewith. The concurrence of a majority of the justices of the court sitting in any division shall be sufficient to decide any matter before such division, and when any judgment or decision of the court shall concern the validity of a law, or construction of any provision of the constitution, or shall affect any state officer, such judgment or decision shall be concurred in by the court sitting in banc. The manner of trying the supreme court and the number of justices to be present shall be regulated by law. All terms of the supreme court shall be held at the seat of government, as now fixed by law.

ARTICLE XX.

That the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Florida be, and the same is hereby agreed to, and shall be submitted to the electors of the State at the General Election in 1902, for ratification or rejection. Section 6 of Article V of the Constitution is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Sec. 6. There shall be eight Circuit Judges who shall be appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate, and who shall hold their office for six years.

The state shall be divided by the legislature at its first regular session after the adoption of this section into eight judicial circuits, and one judge shall be assigned to each circuit. Such judge shall reside in at least two counties in each circuit, within his circuit every year, and at such times and places as shall be prescribed by law and may hold special terms.

The governor may, in his discretion, order a temporary exchange of circuits by the respective judges in order that any judge may be enabled to hold terms in any county in any circuit [illegible] the judge in the circuit [illegible] is judge.

This section shall be operative [illegible] eight circuit judges [illegible] shall be appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate, and who shall hold their office for six years.

The state shall be divided by the legislature at its first regular session after the adoption of this section into eight judicial circuits, and one judge shall be assigned to each circuit. Such judge shall reside in at least two counties in each circuit, within his circuit every year, and at such times and places as shall be prescribed by law and may hold special terms.

The governor may, in his discretion, order a temporary exchange of circuits by the respective judges in order that any judge may be enabled to hold terms in any county in any circuit [illegible] the judge in the circuit [illegible] is judge.

This section shall be operative [illegible] eight circuit judges [illegible] shall be appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate, and who shall hold their office for six years.
