ANNUAL MEETINGS.—To close the Masonic year, of 1860, with appropriate and proper ceremonies, the brethern of the fraternity, will notice the regular meetings now coming off. On Saturday night next. St. James Lodge No. 47, and on the Monday night following Washington R. A. Chapter.

SITUATION WANTED.—Attention of parents is called to the advertisement of a situation wanted. The young lady, is worthy and well qualified. For particulars, refer to this office.

THE SLANDER REFUTED.—A rumor has floated about the atmosphere of this city, and passed as currently as false coin until the acid of truth, has been applied to test it, that the head and front of "the greatest—most novel, and unique exhibition on earth—combining all the wonders of nature and art, with a good many more thrown in for lianappe"—in a world that the Dan Rice referred to in the large and small bills, is not the old original and regular Dan of old, but an imitation, a counterfeit—in a word a spurious article. The Comet is authorized to say that this is the original, and in order to satisfy the skeptical, he bears with him a certificate of his birth. The story of his having been swallowed by the lion of a menagerie, is a gross fabrication gotten up to get rid of him, in order that some less worthy rival, might stand in his shoes as the great Shakspearean delineator. Our word for it, that this is the old original. Such skeptical and unbelieving christians, as still doubt, will have an opportunity of removing their doubts on Wednesday next, the 4th inst. Four bits will do it. Would anybody be convinced on more reasonable terms.

THE COLOR OF THE OCEAN.—It is a commonly observed fact, that the usual color of the ocean is a bluish green near land, but of a deeper hue at a greater distance from it. According to Dr. Scorby, the hue of the ocean to the North, or the Greenland Sea, varies from ultramarine blue to olive green, and from the purest transparency to great opacity. The surface of the Mediterranean, in its upper parts, is known to have, at times, a purple tint. In the Gulf of Guinea the sea sometimes appears white; about the Maldive Islands, black; and near California, it has a reddish appearance. Various causes must of course, co-operate to produce this diversity of tint. The prevailing blue color is generally ascribed to the great refrangibility of the blue rays of light, which, by reason of that property, pass in greater abundance through the water. The other colors are ascribed to the existence, of vast numbers of minute animalculæ; to the color of the ground under the water; the infusion of earthy substances, and very often the tint is modified by the aspect of the heavens. The phosphorescent or shiny appearance of the ocean, which is a common phenomenon, is also ascribed to animalculæ, and semiputrescent matter diffused through the water.

The temperature of the ocean also exhibits some peculiar and interesting phenomena. Within the tropics the mean temperature of the surface is about 80 deg Farenheit, and generally ranges between 77 deg and 84 deg. At greater depths the temperature is probably the same under every latitude. In the Torrid Zone it is found to diminish with the depth, while in the Polar Seas it increases with the depth.—Nautical Gazette.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

IT IS OUR BOUNDEN DUTY EsTHER in times of prosperity or adversity, to bow down in humble submission to the chastening manifestations and decrees of Divine Providence, and to acknowledge the inscrutable wisdom and justness of His decrees—it now becomes us, after a season of general good health and comparative prosperity to recognize the same All-wise power as the Supreme Source of all blessings and enjoyments.

And as it has been customary in this State to observe a day of Thanksgiving, therefore, I have thought proper to recommend that

THURSDAY the 29th day of November, next, be set apart for that purpose, and suggest to persons of all creeds and denominations, the propriety of suspending on that day their usual business avocations, that it may be dedicated exclusively to the worship of Almighty God.

Given under my hand and the seal of the State, this 17th day of October, 1860, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the eighty-fifth.

THOMAS O. MOORE.

By the Governor:
J. HAMILTON HARDY, Assistant Sec'y of State.

PROCLAMATION.

BY THOMAS O. MOORE, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF LOUISIANA.

Executive Office,
BATON ROUGE.

WHEREAS, The Constitution of the State of Louisiana authorizes the Executive to convene the General Assembly thereof on extraordinary occasions; and whereas the election of Abraham Lincoln to the office of President of the United States, by a sectional and aggressive anti-slaver party, whose hostility to the people and the institutions of the South has been evinced by repeated and long-continued violations of Constitutional obligations and fraternal amity, now consummated by this last insult and outrage perpetrated at and through the ballot-box, does, in my opinion, as also that of a large number of citizens of all parties and pursuits throughout the State, furnish an occasion, such as is contemplated by the Constitution.

AND WHEREAS, some of our sister States, aggrieved like ours, are preparing measures for their future security, and for the safety of their institutions and their people, and both patriotism and the necessity of self-preservation require us to deliberate upon our own course of action.

Now, THEREFORE, I, THOS. O. MOORE, Governor of the State of Louisiana, do hereby convene the legislature of this State in extra and special session, and do appoint

MONDAY, the 10th day of December next, at 12, o'clock, M., the day and hour for the meeting of both Houses of the Legislature at the Capitol in Baton Rouge.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the great Seal of the State, to be affixed at the city of Baton Rouge, the Seat of Government of the State, on this 19th day of November, A. D., 1860, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the eighty-fifth.

T. O. MOORE.
