Bishop Paref.

We are authorized to announce that owing to the stormy weather Bishop Paref's further visitations to this county have been postponed.

Breeding in Brittan's Bay.

Tuesday last Mr. Clyde Abell, of Brittan's Neck, reported that four dredge boats were working on "Black Walnut" Capt. Thomas Ching, of the Oyster Police Sloop Katie Hines, was conspicuous for his absence.

New Steamer.

A handsome new side-wheel steamer is being built for the Weems Line. She will be 205 feet long and 32 feet beam, and will have 50 staterooms, 25 open berths for first-class passengers, and 75 berths for second-class passengers.

Orphan's Court.

Tuesday, Nov. 27, 1888. The Court met at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. Daniel C. Hammett appointed Executor of Thomas M. Shadruck and bond filed and approved. James C. Bean and T. Edward Loker appointed appraisers.

Newton A. Ramsburg appointed guardian to Alexander K., John E., and Sarah R. Ramsburg and bond filed for $200. Order for sale granted Daniel C. Hammett, exec. T. M. Shadruck, upon usual terms, return of inventory.

Bond of Mary C. P. McKay and Jos. E. McKay, administrators of Susan J. Brady, died and approved. Order for sale upon usual terms granted upon return of inventory.

W. L. Thomas appointed Executor of Elizabeth Thomas and bond filed and approved. Frederick C. Davis and J. L. P. Greenwell appointed to appraise real and personal estate.

At a recent meeting of the Y. M. D. C. it was "motioned and seconded" that a strip of black calico with the initials "Y. M. D." (dead heads) attached should be worn for thirty days for all demonstrators of the district who failed to vote on the 6th instant.

The colored children hereabout are delighted in consequence of Mr. Harrison's election. Frequently they may be heard singing, "We are climbing up the Golden Stair."

W. P. Dunbar is engaged as clerk in Leo Abell's store, near the mouth of Smith's Creek.

The Steamer Leary has failed to stop at Campfield Harbor wharf for several trips; and shippers, merchants and passengers are forced to go to Jones' for the present.

At a meeting of the Society of the Army and Navy of the Confederate States in Maryland held in Baltimore on the 20th inst., General Bradley T. Johnson presiding, Winfield Potter, Secretary, resolutions on the death of Mr. Harry H. Garrison were passed and ordered to be enrolled on the minutes of the Society.

The following members were then elected: Lieut. Randolph Harrison McKim, staff of General George H. Stuart; Sergeant James Wm. Thomas, Company H, First and Company A, Second Maryland Infantry; Captain Charles Kewell Gallagher, Fourth North Carolina Infantry; John S. Pagnod, Jefferson Mounted Guard, body guard of General Beauregard; J. Julius Guthrie, master, C. S. Navy; Wm. S. Pinkney, private First Maryland Infantry. Lieut. McKim is the recent elected rector of Epiphany Church, Washington, D. C.

His career in the Confederate army was one of distinguished bravery. General Stuart has certified his application for membership thus: "At the commencement of the war he was a student at the University of Virginia. He enlisted in Captain W. R. Murray's Company H, First Maryland Infantry, and was a good soldier. In the first part of the year, 1862, when all Confederate soldiers were asked to re-enlist for the war, he was asked to re-enlist to come forward. On this occasion especially he was made my aid-de-camp, served with gallantry at battle of Cross Keys. At Gettysburg he said, 'General, do not ask any one to volunteer while you have a staff officer left,' and he returned with the ammunition. At the close of the war I saw him as captain of the Second Virginia Cavalry." Sergeant Thomas was also a conspicuously brave soldier. He was in the famous charge of his regiment, in General Stewart's brigade, at Gettysburg, on Culpeper Hill, and fell with a shattered leg near where his captain, the gallant Murray, was killed. He is a brother of Captain George Thomas, who succeeded Captain Wm. H. Murray, and of the dashing Colonel Zartosa Thomas.

At a meeting of the Y. M. D. C. it was "motioned and seconded" that a strip of black calico with the initials "Y. M. D." (dead heads) attached should be worn for thirty days for all demonstrators of the district who failed to vote on the 6th instant.

[Correspondence of the Beacon.] GREAT MILLS, Nov. 26, 1888.

Messrs. Editors:—The body of Jeff Drury was recovered from the mill pond of Mr. W. W. Cecil yesterday about 11 o'clock by Mr. Hill, a son-in-law, and a younger son of Mr. Drury. Justice Watts held an inquest over the body yesterday evening, and the jury, after hearing testimony, rendered a verdict of "accidental drowning." Mr. Drury left the store of Mr. Armsworthly, Indian Bridge, about 9 o'clock last Monday, and with some articles of merchandise, was in the boat across the creek. At his home, it is thought that he had a snag, and the retreat of the boat caused him to pitch overboard, as when the boat was found next morning it was partially filled with water and his hat and some articles of merchandise were still in it. Different parties have been searching and dragging for him during the past week. He leaves a wife and several children.

Snow commenced falling here last night and is now about four inches deep and still coming down. A much larger crop of wheat than usual has been seeded here this season; that which was seeded early and is up looking remarkably well, while some of the latter seeding is not yet up.

A Wedding at Rockville. A special to The American from Rockville says: "At an early hour Wednesday the parlor of Dr. Charles J. Maddox of the town, presented a scene of beauty seldom witnessed in the rural portions of the State. The occasion was the marriage of Miss Mary E. youngest daughter of the late Lemuel Clements of this county, and Mr. Lee Offutt, third son of Nicholas D. Offutt, one of the most prominent citizens of Rockville. The bride, a modest and popular beauty, wore a white gown of fine fabric, en train, with pearl pendants, and was escorted to the altar by her father, and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Misses Lullie Offutt, the groom's sister (wearing pale green China silk); Mat Barry, of Baltimore (in light blue silk); Lizzie Prettyman (in cream silk); and Annie Maddox (in yellow satin and tulle) as bridesmaids. The groom, a handsome gallant in the early blush of manhood, was supported by Richard R. Beall as best man, with Robert Peter, Thomas Vinson, Alexander Kilgour and Paul Combs (of Leonardtown) as ushers. The entrance of the bridal party through different doors and from different directions, was as unique and graceful as it was novel, and when resting in front of a background composed of every variety of evergreens and flowers, and sparkling with lights, presented a picture of unusual attractiveness. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father James F. Mackin, of St. Matthew's Church, Washington, D. C. After the congratulations the doors to the dining-room were thrown open, where a handsome spread of every delicacy of the season, amidst a profusion of flowers and lights, awaited the guests. The presents were handsome and numerous. Among those who graced the occasion was the widowed mother of the bride, who was a Miss Abell, one of the old cavalier families of St. Mary's county. At 9-10 the happy couple started for the East, where they will make a short stay."

The Tobacco Question. Experience, the best of teachers, is fast convincing Southern Maryland farmers that tobacco culture no longer pays. Occasionally, it is true, we hear of a planter having received a paying price for his crop, but reports of this kind are yearly getting rarer. That "the cultivation of tobacco does not pay" has become almost the universal verdict of the growers. Why? Many reasons are assigned, and not the least frequent of them is our "Inspection Law." Very few farmers can be found who do not subscribe to the belief that the present Act is a failure, and many think that the old law is the best we have ever had. Under the present system the buyers have everything in their own hands, and like all other combines or trusts, are to be trusted to see that the profits do not get into the farmer's pockets. We have seen these gentlemen virtually say to State Inspectors: "Your deputy's samples don't suit us. Turn him down or we will not buy tobacco sampled at your house." The inference is, that the reason the deputy does not suit is that he pays too much attention to the farmer's interest in the matter. If he erred on the buyer's side there would most likely be no complaints. And so it goes on and all the time the tobacco grower gets poorer and the tobacco buyer richer. There is a demand for Maryland tobacco and with a fair show its growers could reap a profit by supplying this demand. Under the present system it would seem that they have not a fair chance, and unless the question be agitated by them they never will have it. Under the old law, tobacco sold better than it does now, and if we returned to the old system with its Supervisor to overlook the Inspectors we might better things. We would hardly make them worse. The Supervisor could assign to the different warehouses their quota of hogheads and thus do away with the electioneering now in vogue. There are many other ways in which such an official might be made to earn his salary and benefit the farmers. Present indications are that farmers will soon see either the sale of their warehouses or a return to the old system.

In Brief, And To The Point. Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature. The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics. But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remedies.—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

Illegal Dredging.

The captains of the dredging boats have selected the mouth of the Patuxent river to carry on their work of illegal dredging. Thursday night of last week Captain Hook of the sloop Louisa Whyte spied four schooners and a barge at work on "Hawk's Nest," a bar just above Point Patuxent. The dredgers upon seeing the sloop approaching, bore down upon her, the five sailing abreast, under a light breeze and bright moon, and surrounding her made the occasion warm for Captain Hook for about one hour, during which time his vessel was fired upon by his assailants about one hundred times. Captain Hook returned the fire as fast as possible but was unable single handed to cope with the larger and swifter schooners who easily sailed away from the Whyte after the engagement. Saturday night the boats returned to their work on the same place and were again attacked with the same result. Wednesday night, however, the Steamer George Thomas under command of Captain Loker came to the assistance of the sloop and the two were successful in capturing two of the boats. Captain Loker arrived at the Island in the morning and after advising with Captain Hook, left for the Eastern shore. About midnight the two boats re-appeared upon the scene of the illegal dredging, and accepting the challenge which the oyster boats had given, succeeded in capturing the schooner Anderson, Captain John Carey, a noted violator of the oyster laws in all the waters of the State, and another barge commanded by James Walter. Considerable difficulty was experienced in arresting Carey. When his boat was captured he refused to surrender himself and had to be taken from the cabin by force. He drew a revolver upon the men making the arrest but was overpowered and taken. In addition to his revolver, a "black jack" was found on his person. The men and boats were taken in charge by the police boats and taken before Justice M. M. Davis at Solo man's Island for trial.—Calvert Journal.

Preliminary Hearing. Tuesday, before Justice Jo. F. Morgan, was held the preliminary hearing in the case of the State vs. Wm. Oscar Swann, charged with assaulting James T. Blair with intent to kill. Ernest Blakistone was the first witness sworn. He testified: "I was at Bowling's Store on the night of the difficulty. Saw Jim Blair there. Saw Mr. Swann also. I saw Mr. Oscar Swann strike Mr. Blair with the bar of the door. The bar was a wooden one. I was on the porch when the blow was struck. I saw Mr. Blair and Mr. Swann walk in the Store. Saw Mr. Swann come out with the bar of the door in his hand. Mr. Blair was standing in the doorway. Swann struck Mr. Blair and knocked him down. Mr. Blair had his hands down and was not advancing on anyone. Blair was not much under the influence of liquor and was talking quietly when I heard him. I didn't hear Mr. Swann make any remarks. There were wild times in the Store. Shooting going on in there. I saw one or two balls running up and down the floor. When the fuss commenced I jumped the counter and ran in room. Could see flashes of pistols running up and down the floor. I thought it was getting too lively for me and went out of the Store. When Blair fell he fell as dead as I ever saw a man. I think he was struck on the left side of the head. I left Blair in Store and with Mr. John Dean, went after the doctor." On cross-examination Blakistone testified: Saw Swann coming out of the Store with the bar of the door in his hand. Don't know whether Blair had anything in his hand or not. Didn't know whether there had been any prior trouble between the men. Never heard either man say anything. Swann came out of the door pretty fast. I saw no one between him and Blair.

John Dean was the next witness. He testified: I was at Milestown. I saw Mr. Blair and Mr. Swann there. Didn't see Swann strike Blair. Saw Swann and Blair when they came in the Store from off the porch. When they got in Store, Swann jerked away from Blair. Dudley Davis was trying to push Jim in Store and the boy out. Heard Swann say, "Let him alone. I can settle him." Jim stood by the counter for a couple of minutes and then walked to the door. I heard the lick but didn't see who hit him. Blair did not speak a word. Frank Bowling and Jim Swann picked him up and laid him on the counter. The doctor came to see him at the Store. I went after the doctor and came back a little ahead of him. Blair was under the influence of liquor. When Blair went to the door his hands were down and I did not see him advancing on anyone. Everything was pretty lively, drinking and going on. I heard two pistols fired. Didn't see who fired them. Never heard Blair say anything. When Blair and Swann came into the door together Blair had hold of Swann's arm. Boy jumped away from him. On cross-examination this witness said, that Blair did not seem to be pulling boy in. Didn't see anything in Blair's hand. Didn't know whether Blair fired pistol or not.

Edward Yates was sworn. He testified: I was going out of the door and met Mr. Blair and Swann coming in. I hadn't more than gotten out the door when I saw Swann with the bar. I wondered what that meant. I looked over my shoulder and saw Blair's head pointing out of the door. Next I knew Blair was hit and down. I didn't see anything but Blair's head and the lick slap him. He fell perfectly dead. I said to Swann, "there you have killed the man." He never said anything, but kept on out. Blair was drinking a little—could stand on his feet. Didn't see him quarrelling with the man. On cross-examination, said, Couldn't tell you leading part of the thing. Heard everybody talking loud. Heard pistols fired in the Store. Mr. Bowling asked who fired? No one would own it. It was about 10,30 or 11 o'clock. Didn't hear any more noise from Blair than anyone else. Bernard Owens was next sworn and testified. I don't know anything about it. I was standing at counter. When I turned around I saw Blair lying down.

Frank Slye sworn. Testified: I am clerk for Mr. Bowling. I saw Mr. Blair have hold of the young man. Didn't see Mr. Blair doing anything to him. He was carrying young man along. I didn't hear any words. Young man jumped away from him. Saw Blair turn around. The cross-examination of this witness elicited nothing new.

Dudley Davis was the first witness sworn for the defence. He testified: "I was on the porch when Mr. Blair and Uncle Lewis Davis were talking. My Uncle said to him 'you or somebody else came near shooting me—shot very near my foot.' Mr. Blair said, 'you are a—' and began taking off his coat. My uncle said, 'I am not man enough to fight you.' Some one else saw you shot and Uncle Lewis said, 'Oscar, didn't you see him shoot?' Oscar Swann said, 'Yes, Mr. Blair, I saw you shoot and I can't help telling you about it.' Blair then said, 'I want to know something more of this man Swann. He then took hold of him and started into the store. He dragged Swann over the end of the counter and struck at him. I tried to part them saying, 'let the boy alone.' Blair fired his pistol once right across my breast. He said he was going to shoot his—guts out. He cocked the pistol again and Swann hit him. Bernard Owens was right behind Blair.

McKenny Gray was next called and sworn. He testified: There was a great row raised in the house. Some shooting was done and I went out. I don't know who did the firing. I was excited. While I was on the porch Mr. Lewis Davis came out and said to me, 'I came near being shot.' Blair came out with a gun and went to the end of the porch. Mr. Davis said to him, 'you or some one else came near shooting me.' Blair said if you say I shot, you are a liar. Mr. Davis says here is a man who saw you shoot. Blair then took hold of Swann and took him in the store saying, 'I want to see who Mr. Oscar Swann is.' I started in the store. I saw Swann come out and Blair following him with a pistol in his hand. Dudley Davis was between them. The pistol was fired once, and then Swann said to Blair, 'if you come out I will hit you.' Blair cocked the pistol and Swann hit him. Lewis Davis was called and sworn. His evidence was corroborative of that of Dudley Davis and Gray and brought out nothing new.

Mr. Hammett represented the State and Messrs. Robt. C. Combs & Son the prisoner. There were no arguments by counsel.

Justice Morgan said: "It is a charge in which I can only hold a preliminary hearing. In such cases my idea is, that if there be a probable ground of guilt the prisoner must be held. I suppose that in this case there is a probable ground of guilt. When I fixed the bail for Mr. Swann's appearance at this hearing I had not heard the testimony in the case. I am free to say that if I had final jurisdiction in the case, from the evidence that I have heard so great a doubt of the guilt of the prisoner has been produced, that I would acquit him. As it is I will hold him for his appearance at March Court in $100 bail."

LOCALWISE AND OTHERWISE. Both the Orphan's and Commissioners' Courts were in session Tuesday. The sale of Personal Property at the Watson farm has been postponed until Thursday, Dec. 6, proximo. Governor Jackson has issued a proclamation designating to-day, Thursday, November 29, as Thanksgiving Day. The last issue of the Enterprise contains the announcement of John T. Ballenger as a candidate for the Republican Senatorial nomination. The Board of Public Works have authorized Secretary LeCompte to procure certain cannon of proper size for the use of the oyster navy. When our friends, the enemy, succeed in parading the different county post-offices they will find that patronage is not always productive of harmony, and all will not be "quiet along the Potomac." Dr. A. Jack Spalding, of Leonardtown, is still in Baltimore. The doctor has had a cataract removed from his eye and is, we are pleased to learn, doing well. Dr. Murdoch performed the operation. Dr. R. P. Blakistone, Mr. J. T. Blair's attending physician, has written Justice Morgan that his patient is doing well and is likely to recover. Tuesday morning he was sitting up before the fire. The doctor's communication was dated, Nov. 27, 11 o'clock, a. m.

The Sun, of the 26th instant, says: Capt. Jeff. D. Loker of the steamer George Thomas, recently captured the schooner Anderson, recently captured the schooner Anderson, and the barge Nellie Reil, Capt. Wm. J. Walter, and sloop Wm. J. Leonard, Capt. J. Takerley, of Somerset county, charged with illegal dredging in the Patuxent river. He also arrested four parties charged with scrapping in St. Mary's river, who were taken before a magistrate and fined.

A Good Idea. Mr. Braganter, of Charles county, proposes to give fifty acres of land, in five-acre lots, to each head of a family who will comply with certain conditions. The conditions are that the party receiving the tract of land, shall on the first year, put a good substantial enclosure around the tract, and keep the same in good condition. Within the second year, he shall erect a comfortable dwelling with at least two rooms, 12x14 feet, or more. During the third year, he shall erect a stable and cow house. Within the fourth year, he shall have a well and dairy house. And within the fifth year, he shall have all of them in good repair, shall have a poultry house, and at least two acres well set in grass. If the conditions are not fully complied with, the obligation to be void. But if there is a faithful compliance with the conditions, to be determined by three disinterested farmers in the vicinity, then a deed in fee simple will be given for the same. Mr. Braganter is an energetic, live man, who has traveled extensively, and fully realizes what great difficulties those who live in thinly settled countries have to contend with. He, in the manner as proposed above, will strive to obviate this difficulty as much as possible. He reasons that if the amount of land is given free of cost to the heads of families, after the improvements required are made thereon, the owners will then purchase additional adjacent tracts, and there will be ten owners of small farms where there are now but one. If the last owners throughout the county would follow the public spirited example set by Mr. Braganter, in a very few years the thousands of idle and uncultivated acres would be reduced, and there would be a more general prosperity than at present exists. We sincerely trust that other land-owners will follow in the footsteps of Mr. Braganter, who in this movement demonstrates his public spiritness.—Md. Independent.

CARPENTER DUDLEY & CARPENTER, GENERAL Commission Merchants, No. 57 Light Street, BALTIMORE. Particular attention given to the careful sampling of Tobacco. Toilet and laundry soaps, of every variety at the Brown store. Ladies cloaks are going off like wild fire at the Brown store.

You'll Get Left! That's what Showman Barnum says of that class of people who are always expecting to buy two dollars worth of goods with one dollar of cash. He's right—you know he is. You've no confidence in any statement to the contrary. One dollar never bought two in any legitimate every-day transaction.

HERE'S WHAT YOU WANT. You come into the city—say for a day—to transact the month's or week's business. Time is precious. You want some place where merchandise that is honest and worth buying is for sale. You want one hundred cents worth of value for just one dollar—no more, no less. You want to buy where the prices are made to stand the test of close-knowing city buyers—the figures, or prices, are plainly marked so a child can buy as well as a man, and where the price is not charged to oblige anyone.

Here's is Where You'll Find These Things. You have the opportunity to select from a stock that is as large as all the others hereabouts combined. You get the best that money can buy at just the smallest selling profit above actual cost. You'll be told the plain, absolute truth, no matter what it may be. We call a spade a spade and don't mince matters. You can undoubtedly get a pair of pants for $1, and maybe a whole suit for $5—but NOT FROM US. We'd be ashamed to show you such truck.

Order Your Goods by Mail. Having confidence in us, if you can't get the opportunity to come in person, send us your order and we'll attend to it at once. We are sure we can please you; but anything that is not satisfactory will be made so. EVERYTHING FOR THE MALE MEMBERS OF YOUR FAMILIES, FROM THEIR HEADS TO THEIR FEET, AND FOOT-WEAR FOR ALL.
