TRADES COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

The council was called to order Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, President Stambaugh, presiding.

A communication was received from the Label Department of the American Federation of Labor, showing facsimile trade marks of prison made wearing apparel.

By motion the council made a donation to the striking stone cutters of Bedford, Ind.

The committee appointed at the last meeting to interview the proprietor of the St. James Theatre reported that he dsired to be known at all times as friendly to union labor. The delegates were instructed to notify their respective unions that the council had no grievance against the St. James theatre.

The committee appointed to visit the Pacific Grocery Co. made an interesting report to the council. A demonstration was given them of the methods used by different fruit canning concerns. Cans of various fruits were opened and shown in some cases to be only a little over half full and in other cases to be half water. In contrast to these goods the committee were shown brands known as "The Quality" and "Solid Pack Ever Best." The latter brands were without exception solidly packed and the fruits were in the best possible condition. With the prevailing high prices of all food stuffs it is needful that all purchasers should get both quality and quantity for their money, and the council believes that the working people should know what they are buying. The Committee was retained by the council and will be known as the "Provision Committee," and will in the future endeavor to ascertain where honest goods can be obtained and report to the council.

DIDN'T LIKE THE STONE—CALLED A SPECIAL SESSION

HELENA, Mont., Dec. 27.—A special session of the legislature convened here today to consider the appeal of organized labor for an additional appropriation which will permit the proposed wings of the state house to be built of Montana stone instead of cheaper material from Bedford, Ind.

For International Federation.

Discussing the international conference on labor in Paris in his annual report, President Gompers said:

"On the whole, the conference served to clear the field for a possible deliberative international body democratically organized, leaving to the labor movement in each country its autonomous rights and excluding questions not within the sphere of trades unionism.

"I am fully persuaded and have no hesitancy in recommending that, though the international secretariat leaves much to be desired, the best interests of the workers of America will be served by our adherence thereto. Financially the cost would be but small, the substantial benefits would of necessity be exceedingly meager, yet the spirit of international fraternity which it would foster would be immeasurable.

"I feel assured also that our adherence to the international secretariat would hasten the establishment of an international federation of labor."

Strike Committee For Textile Workers.

Power to call a strike whenever the occasion demands was conferred on a special committee, known as the "emergency committee," by the eighth annual convention of the United Textile Workers of America. The action came as an amendment to one of the bylaws and is the direct result, it is claimed, of the growth of the organization. The committee is to be composed of the president of the order, the secretary-treasurer and three members of the executive council and takes the place in the matter of ordering strikes of the executive council, with a membership of fifteen.

Judge Upholds Liability Law.

In Cincinnati Judge Sater, presiding in the United States district court, upheld the federal employers' liability act, and his decision has been cited as opposing those recently made in Connecticut and Texas unfavorable to the law. A railroader resident at Hamilton, O., was injured and brought suit in the district court within whose territorial jurisdiction the accident had occurred. Judge Sater denied a motion to dismiss the action on ground of unconstitutionality of all or part of the act of congress and directed that the case proceed.

An Incident of Travel.

In Nuremberg, having occasion to ask my way, I said in my best Meisterschaft to a gentleman passing:

"Koennen sie mir vielleicht sagen wie man nach das Deutschen museum geht?"

Imagine my mortification when he replied: "I am going that way. I will show you."

We walked on, and, learning that I was an American and had traveled in England, he said:

"I am professor of English here. That is why I speak English so well. But I didn't been in England already once yet."—Lippincott's.

Women Who Work.

There are 6,000,000 wage earning women in the United States, working not only for less wages than men in the same industries, but very frequently they work longer hours and under less satisfactory sanitary conditions than men. Statistics of the bureau of labor show that the percentage of women workers is steadily growing, and this is attributed to the increase in cost of living, which is a permanent condition, as well as to the growth of the city population, women in cities being deprived of the opportunity to do dairy, garden and other congenial work, which her country sister enjoys, and therefore forced, where she must help maintain herself or the family, to take up work that in the majority of cases brings her into direct competition with men, to the disadvantage of both.

Cummings Library Sent to Home.

The library left by the late Amos J. Cummings has been forwarded to the Union Printers' home by his widow. This was done in conformance to a request made by the deceased printer, editor and congressman. The books will prove a source of great benefit and enjoyment to the residents of the institution, forming a link in the memories of the past. Mr. Cummings' autograph is in each book, written in during his last illness in anticipation of their being sent to the home. This addition to the library will be a valuable acquisition when the new structure is completed.

LABOR BRIEFS.

The thirtieth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor will be held at St. Louis.

John Weaver Sherman of Boston has been elected chairman and John J. Griffin of Lynn secretary of the Massachusetts state branch A. F. of L. legislative committee.

John Manning of Troy, N. Y., international president of the laundry workers, will represent the A. F. of L. as fraternal delegate to the Canadian trades and labor congress.

Boston branch of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers has given notice that it will co-operate with Boston lodge of machinists in its organizing work and its demand for a 20 per cent increase in wages on May 1.

The great shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad company at Altoona, Pa., employing 12,000 men, are now working full time. This is the first time since the financial depression of 1907 that all departments of the great shops have been operated.

Miners Want a Five Day Week.

According to reports from the coal mining fields, a new issue has been raised by President Thomas L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers' union, which is a five day working week of eight hours per day. Mr. Lewis says he desires to inaugurate a system of "five days for work, one day for God and one day for humanity." There are now so many miners in the business that in many sections of the country the men work only two to four days a week. President Lewis believes that by restricting the working time to forty hours per week steady employment would become more general.
