WALKING BACKWARD IN DEMOCRATIC TRACKS

Representative Stevenson (Dem S. C.) in a recent speech gave these specific instances wherein the present republican administration has walked in the tracks of the previous democratic administration.

"Well, we are to have our foreign policies reversed. Let us see what we have done up to this time about reversing the foreign policy of this government. On the question and rights of this nation in Mesopotamia the policy of the former administration is being absolutely followed by the present administration. As to the question of the rights and policy of this nation in the island of Yap our present administration is standing squarely in the tracks made by the administration that preceded it. On the question of our dealings with Russia the present administration has not veered an inch from the administration of that was before it. On the question of cable control, this house unanimously passed a resolution to follow the leadership of the democratic administration on that very important question. On the question of the treaty with Colombia whereby we re-establish relations with the government of the United States of Colombia the administration sent the treaty negotiated in 1916 by a democratic administration. The present administration has followed the policy of the Wilson administration in the matter of backing up the banks of this country in making a loan to China.

"It is one of the crying shames of the country, according to republicans, that General Pershing, instead of General Wood, was sent to France. Yet we find the present administration has indorsed the proposition by making General Pershing the chief of staff of this country instead of the great and heroic General Wood. (Applause.)

"Judge Hughes, when a candidate for president in 1915, denounced the appointment of E. Lester Jones as the head of the geodetic survey and called him an incompetent 'horse doctor.' Mr. Harding reappointed this 'horse doctor' in March, with the statement that his services were indispensable.

"President Wilson put post offices under the civil service, and Harding has followed suit with a scheme that the politicians hope to use to cover the spoils system which they hope to run. Indeed, the republican administration thus far is walking mostly in the tracks of the democratic administration, but they appear to be walking backward and stumbling occasionally." Dunklin Democrat.

OVER A HALF TON OF MISSOURI PORK

Victor, one of the biggest porkers ever raised in the middle west, the property of state hospital No. 4, Farmington, Mo., was weighed and butchered Friday May 20, under the supervision of the Farmington chamber of commerce. He weighed 1126 pounds. His photo was taken for display at the St. Louis chamber of commerce, union station, and will be a companion photo of Dexter, the largest Holstein steer of record, recently bred and fed at state hospital No. 4.

CAPE GIRARDEAU STUDENTS BURN BOARD IN EFFIGY; ALL AROUSED

After adopting a resolution condemning the action of the board of regents of the southeast Missouri teachers college in refusing to re-elect President W. S. Dearmont, the student body struck Wednesday. No school work was in progress, and the school halls were deserted.

Picketing the college buildings here from early in the morning, the students prevented school officials entering. Not until the members of the board of regents arrived to hold their meeting at 9 o'clock did the students lift the blockade. The members of the board were forced to make their way between lines formed by the thousands of students who hissed and shouted disapproval.

The board members also saw themselves burned in effigy.

Suspension of school work Wednesday came as a result of a mass meeting held last night by students, immediately after the announcement by the board of regents of the election of Prof. Joseph Serena of William Woods college, Fulton, as president.

President Dearmont was refused a re-election Tuesday over the protest of several hundred citizens of southeast Missouri, of alumni of the college and of the student body.

The board of regents voted six to one against him, it was stated, altho it was known that previous to the meeting three members of the board favored his re-election.

The naming of a new college president came as a distinct surprise here. According to statements of those opposed to Dr. Dearmont, the charges preferred against him were that he was active in politics. This charge was denied by the speakers, and no evidence was presented to uphold it.

Dr. Dearmont came to the school in 1899 and in September would have finished his twenty-second year. The college has grown from an enrollment of 300 to 1,800.

The new president, Prof. Serena, at present is head of William Woods college at Fulton, a girls' school. He was expected to arrive today to consult with the board.

The election of a successor to President Dearmont marks the control of the state teachers college by politicians. The fight has been watched with great interest here and the retirement of Dr. Dearmont is being bitterly resented by persons of all political parties.

Some prominent republican leaders here feel that a great mistake has been made and that the party will suffer as a result of yesterday's action.

That Governor Hyde and his advisers have been determined to replace Dr. Dearmont has been known by many for weeks because of the fact that when new members of the board of regents were named last winter the governor was very anxious to be in absolute control and appointed more than the required number of republicans on the board. With the discovery of this mistake Mrs. Richard Ralph of Clayton was replaced by a democrat from St. Louis county who is believed to be friendly to the Eason-Ralph machine. Mrs. Ralph is the wife of Senator Ralph of St. Louis county.

Professor W. W. Martin, head of the teachers' training department, who resigned from the faculty is the husband of Mrs. W. W. Martin, who was so active in the last campaign for the democratic ticket. Mr. Martin expected to be forced off the faculty later and resigned rather than be forced to undergo any unpleasant situations or be compromised in any way.—Missouri State Journal.

A MONTH OF FREE VACATION

The athletic field at Camp Pike, Arkansas, will be specially prepared for the 400 Missouri boys who will be the guests of the United States government for a month's free vacation during August. Athletic features will be scheduled daily during the term of the camp. It has been suggested that boys who have baseball and athletic uniforms bring them with them to camp.

This is the first time that congress has made an appropriation to give a free outing to the young men of this country. The entire limit for the nine camps will be 10,000. The quota for Missouri is 400.

The offices of the Citizens' Military Training Camps association in St. Louis and Kansas City are besieged with inquiries for application blanks. They can be had by addressing the association in care Irwin R. Kirkwood, Kansas City, or at the association's office in St. Louis, in care of chamber of commerce. All applications are being stamped numerically, and a priority in filling them will be considered by the committee when the final selections are made. The names of all the successful applicants will be filed with the committee, and should any of them desire to go to camp next summer, they will be given the preference in the selection of the 1922 candidates.

The committee is anxious for a large over-subscription of applications, as this list will be helpful in the camp campaign next summer when it is believed that congress will send 1000 Missouri boys to a training camp.

Every effort will be made to safeguard the standards of the Citizens Military Training Camps by encouraging attendance only of moral and upright men. A certificate of character will therefore be required from all applicants. This certificate may be given by a schoolmaster, clergyman, priest or rabbi, and space for this purpose is provided on the application blanks furnished applicants.

Enrollment at Camp Pike implies no later military obligation on the part of those who enjoyed this free outing, tho at the expense of the United States government.

Each candidate will bring to camp one piece of hand luggage containing, shaving and toilet articles, four suits of underwear, two pairs of pajamas, six pairs of socks, six handkerchiefs, four face towels and two bath towels. It may be well also to bring athletic uniforms and equipment, musical instruments and bathing suits, in so far as each has these articles. Military clothing and equipment will be furnished and laundry service provided free.

108-YEAR OLD CHAP BUYS A NEW SUIT

James Jackson, 108-year-old resident of Gipsy, Bollinger county, was in Cape Girardeau a few days ago buying some new clothes. He bought a new serge suit at N. Tepper's and said that he expected it to last the rest of his life. His father lived to be 114 years old, Uncle Jim says, and he does not expect to beat his father's record very many years.

Jackson wears his hair long and in several small braids as the Indians do. He claims to have spent the most of his life in this part of the country and was here when Daniel Boone chased the Indians over the Ozarks.—Cape Missourian.

HOW PRINTERS GROW

The kind of a boy who makes a good printer is the sort who begins to loaf around the print shop on press day as soon as he starts to school. He is the boy who feels honored when he is told to bring in a bucket of fresh water, and he would trade his jackknife and a tin whistle any day for the privilege of "kicking off" a hundred dodgers on the old foot press. By and-by, refusing to be chased off and stay chased, he is sweeping the floor mornings and running errands such as going to the store after a left-handed monkey wrench or to the furniture store to ask for the return of the paper stretcher. Later he learns to recognize type lice and wash the rollers, sort the p's and q's out of the hell box, and so industrious for the joint where he is on the pay roll to the amount of $1 every Saturday afternoon and says "our paper" when speaking of the "Weekly Gimlet." Such a boy is the only kind that ever grows up to be a real printer.—Salem (Neb.) Telegraph.

Now that the parentage of correspondence schools has become so strong that 10,000 people are reported to be "going to college" by mail in thirteen of the American universities, one may look for marked changes in the social status of many individuals. It would appear that whoever lives where the mail goes is a potential college man, and may in due time be taught nearly everything in the curriculum of his alma mater, even to the college yell. Indeed, postage stamps may one day become a major item of expense in higher education.—Christian Science Monitor.

COULDN'T MISS HIM

A man named Dodgin was recently appointed foreman at the gas works, but his name was not known to all the employes. One day while on his rounds he came across two men sitting in a corner smoking and stopped near them.

"Who are you," said one of the men.

"I'm Dodgin, the new foreman," he replied.

"So are we," replied the other workers. "Sit down and have a smoke."
