BOYS, GIVE THE GIRLS A RIDE!
HAVING made arrangements for the sale of the goods of several of the largest and leading manufacturers of both light and heavy vehicles in the world, I am now prepared to furnish the people of St. Mary's with almost any imaginable vehicles on wheels.
As all goods will be sold direct from the manufacturers, competition in material, workmanship, general get up and prices are defied. This is not "wind," but solid truth. Old vehicles taken in part payment for new four wheel ones. Cattle will be taken in full payment for all kinds. Horses and second hand vehicles always for sale. In connection with the above, I am selling, direct from the factory, all kinds of implements used by the farmer, from a wheelbarrow to the largest Traction Engines Have on hand now and for sale cheap two 8 horse power portable engines, of the Watertown make, second to none on the market, which are in perfect order, and will be guaranteed to give satisfaction. Having had several years experience in the machine business, and being familiar with all kinds of agricultural machinery, I will act as expert, at moderate charge, in repairing any machine broken or out of kilter. Water forced from spring to house or barn, by wind mill or ram, at a surprisingly low figure.
Fertilizers sold from the well-known house of Baugh & Sons. Any person or persons wanting anything in my line and who will be so kind as to drop me a postal, stating what they want, I will gladly call on them with samples or cuts, and, if low prices and inducements, will be able to make a deal.
I will further more state that I will auctioneer sales in St. Mary's and adjoining counties. Hoping to receive a fair patronage of St. Mary's I am, respectfully, J. A. RENEHAN,

Lord, of the B. & O. R. R., to invite the President and his Cabinet to attend the formal dedication of the new postoffice and court house building in Baltimore on the night of September the 12th next; and also to attend the Exposition at Pimlico, which extends from the 9th to the 14th, inclusive, and witness the sham battle intended as a representation of the battle of North Point on the Pimlico Fair Grounds on the afternoon of September the 12th, and the bombardment of Fort McHenry on the night of the 13th.

at the dedication and also to witness the battle scenes. The Secretary replied that he would gladly render any assistance he could to carry out the scheme, and he requested the committee to furnish in detail what they would be likely to require as to the number of guns, men, ammunition, etc., in written form and then the matter would be taken up and he would see that their wishes were gratified to the extent possible under the circumstances.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.
They then visited the office of the Secretary of State, but unfortunately Mr. Blaine was in New York, but they extended a formal invitation to him through his assistant, who stated that he had received the official communications from Mr. Brown, president of the association, informing him of the proposed celebration and that he had no doubt that the Secretary intended to be present on the occasion, and accepted the invitation on behalf of the Department of State and would present the same to Mr. Blaine on his return from New York. An invitation was also extended to the Assistant Secretary, who said it would afford him great pleasure to be present some time during the celebration.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.
The next visit was to the Department of Agriculture. Secretary Rusk being absent from the city, an invitation was extended through the Assistant Secretary, who said he accepted the invitation on behalf of the Agricultural Department and the Secretary; that it would be a pleasure to Secretary Rusk and himself to be present at the celebration. Mr. Brown then stated to the Assistant Secretary that in addition to his being postmaster he was President of the Exposition Association and a practical farmer, and he appealed to him as an agriculturist for his interest in behalf of the exhibition, and as he understood the duties of the Department of Agriculture, they embraced not only the agricultural interest, but the mechanical and industrial interest generally of this country, and as it was proposed to hold on the State Fair Grounds at Pimlico an extensive State Agricultural and Industrial Exposition the association felt they had a claim upon the newly organized Agricultural Department, and he, in his official capacity, appealed to him as representing the Secretary for their co-operation and assistance in rendering the exhibit at Pimlico not only creditable to the association but to the State and country at large. The Assistant Secretary replied that he was glad to learn that the Agricultural Association had a practical farmer at its head, and from the energy already displayed in behalf of this exposition he had no doubt of its success, and that the Department of Agriculture would render all the assistance in its power to make it so.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.
The committee then visited the Secretary of the Interior, who had already been notified of the intended visit and was waiting to receive them. He extended a hearty welcome, stating that he had more interest in Maryland than perhaps the committee was aware. That his mother was a Maryland woman, born and raised in the city of Hagerstown, Washington county, and that therefore Maryland was near and dear to him, although he did not know that his department had any points that could be utilized for the benefit of the exposition unless we could transplant some of the Indians from the West. Mr. Brown took advantage of this suggestion and said, Mr. Secretary, why cannot we get the Indians quartered at Carlisle, Pa., or a representation from the normal school at Fortres Munroe, to which the Secretary replied that he knew of no reason why they could not be obtained and that he would be glad to confer with President Brown upon the subject at some future day; any assistance he could render in this connection would be a pleasure and that he accepted the invitation, not only for the pleasure of witnessing the dedication of the Postoffice and the representation of the battle scenes of 1814, but he would visit Maryland with pleasure as the home of his maternal ancestor; that it was always a pleasure to him to feel that he rested on Maryland soil.

LAW DEPARTMENT.
The Attorney General was then visited, but owing to the lateness of the hour and his arrangements to leave in a few moments for a train to keep an engagement, he was unable to receive the committee, but said to Mr.
Brown that he would accept through him the invitation, and would be glad to have him call and explain the details at some future day, but regretted exceedingly that he had not time to see the committee and catch the train.
The committee having completed the program for which they visited Washington returned to Baltimore on the special car "Delaware" of the B.
& O. much pleased with the results of the visit, fully satisfied that they had not only secured the presence of the President and Cabinet, but that they would have the hearty support of all the departments in Washington on behalf of the Exposition. The Association has beyond doubt scored a strong point through the work of this special committee, and it now remains for the citizens of the State generally, the agricultural, mercantile, manufacturing and other interests to make the Maryland Exposition one of the grandest that has ever taken place in this section of the country, and to make the battle scenes which have already been set forth by the press, the most complete representation of the defeat of the British at Baltimore that the most enthusiastic and critical could desire.

Rev. Sam Jones whoops up the boys sometimes and makes them terribly about their gambling and drinking frolics. "Oh, I've been along there, boys. I know all about it, and I used to go to balls and dance, too, boys.
But when I wanted to get married, when I wanted to settle down with a good wife, I quit drinking and gambling, and I didn't go to a ball room to get my wife, but I went to a prayer meeting and I got a good one." He told this in Texas, and when he returned to his boarding house his landlady, who had heard his remarks, said:
"I don't blame you, Brother Jones; but poor Sister Jones, where did she get her husband?"
They say this is the only time he has been floored since he quit drinking.
Some of the mottoes on the old poor rings are beautifully quaint.
The list of them is entirely too long to be embodied in this article, but I cannot refrain from giving a few:
In thee my choice, I do rejoice.
May God above increase our love.
Not two but one till life is done.
My heart and I until I die.
As gold is pure, so love is sure.
As long as life your loving wife, Love is sure where faith is pure.
Love is heaven, and heaven is love.
Not for a day, but love, for aye.
When this you see, then think of me.
In gold I'm cast to bind two fast.
My heart is thine, true love of mine.
—Pittsburg Bulletin.
Postmaster General—"I say, Tracy, what do you call those long wooden strips fastened crosswise on the masts of ships?" Secretary of the Navy (ringing a bell)—"Blame me if I know, John.
Wait till I call a messenger." Postmaster General—"No, don't. I remember now—they are yard sticks." Secretary of the Navy—"That's so.
I remember myself now. I'm a little slow at first, John, but we catch on big after a while, don't we."—Washington Critic.
From the mouth of our young hopeful of five summers, who was with us in San Francisco a short time since, and was out on Market street when the Governor's funeral was passing. He was very much affected by the sad music, and looking around to me he said:
"Mother, there are two things that will make anybody cry."
"What are they?" I said.
"Oh, onions and solemn tunes," he said.—Boston Globe.
You were a nice quiet little boy in Sunday school this morning, said the minister. I was very much pleased with you.
Yes, said Bobby, pa said if I behaved myself in Sunday school I need not go to church.
Douglas Mactervish—"Sandy, remember this, mon. Honesty is eye the best policy." Sandy—"How do ye know, Donglas Mactervish?" Douglas Mactervish—"I hae tried baith."
"In what condition was the patriarch Job at the end of his life?" asked a Camden Sunday school teacher of the quiet looking boy at the foot of the class.
"Dead," calmly replied the quiet looking boy.
