The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

DONALD KENNEDY, of ROXBURY, MASS., Has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston. Send postal card for book.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the right quantity is taken.

When the lungs are affected it causes shooting pains, like needles passing through them; the same with the Liver or Bowels. This is caused by the ducts being stopped, and always disappears in a week after taking it. Read the label.

If the stomach is foul or bilious it will cause squeamish feelings at first.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it. Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bedtime. Sold by all Druggists.

See that bump?

It's the feature of the DeLONG Pat. Hook and Eye. No matter how you twist and turn, it holds the eye in place.

Send two cent stamp with name and address, and we will send Mother Goose in new clothes containing ten color plates; ten black and white pictures; and lots of lively jingles.

RICHARDSON & DeLONG BROS., Philada.

A Figure of Speech.

Miss Fosdick—I suppose Mabel has all the money she can spend now. When she married Mr. Dolyers, I heard him say: "With all my worldly wealth I thee endow."

Miss Bittish—From all I can learn, Mabel is receiving the endowment in small and reluctant installments.—Bay City Chat.

Her Only Hope.

"Did you ever see Miss Winch wether?"

"Mr. what of her?"

"She was married the other day to a blind man."

"How very odd!"

"No; you wouldn't say so if you'd ever seen her."—Chicago Record.

Not a Matter of Merit.

Ethel—So Gertrude de Montmorency Fitz-Vere de Vere has lost her good name?

Sybil—Has she? Well, there I'm not surprised. How d'you know?

Ethel—It says so in the paper; says she's married a Mr. Bloggs!—Ally Sloper.

A Risky Experiment.

"You can't tell whether a man is a bachelor or the father of a family simply by his looks."

"Certainly not; but there is one infallible method of finding out."

"What may that be?"

"Give him a young baby to hold."—N. Y. Recorder.

The Real Reason.

"I'm going to have my wife join the new golf club; it's a pretty expensive sport, but I believe it will pay."

"Certainly it will; there is no more healthful game going."

"That's so, and then, you know, no one is allowed to talk in it."—Brooklyn Life.

A Guarantee of Good Faith.

Miss Giddins—Oh, Ethel! do you think the count is really sincere in his attentions to me?

Miss Simnick—Why, how can you doubt it, Maude? The poor fellow is absolutely poverty-stricken.—Puck.

FASHION LETTER.

Original Designs in Winter Costumes—Artistic and Beautiful Creations.

Special New York Correspondence.

The fashions for the winter season are now fairly launched, and the varied productions of the designer's artistic brain are appearing in rapid succession. Originality is comprehended in arrangement, adaption and combination. The present strife between the picturesque ideals of the Louis periods and the more conventional styles of the present century results in the most artistic and beautiful creations for both day and evening wear, embracing the beauties and despoiled of the undesirable features of both periods. The rampant sleeves and the over-full skirts, for example, are replaced by models greatly modified and far more graceful in outline. The princesse dress is a revival of fashion, which this winter appears in various forms of both simplicity and elegance. For matronly women, it requires very handsome materials and a skillful modiste to give it style and, ensemble—flowered satins, black and dark French moires and brocades, being used for portly women, while velvets, both plain and figured, as well as fancy satins, shot-silk and beautiful French cashmeres are made into princesse dresses for young ladies—the most youthful models fastening up the back. The Louis Seize coats, another revival, is made very attractive in modern dress. It is shaped with a plaited basque, and broad revers turned back from a vest of Persian brocade, with a dainty jabot of Venetian lace at the throat, the vest fastening with Persian buttons, set with Rhinestones or finely-cut mock jewels that are quite as brilliant as real gems.

The elegant materials that are so prodigally used this winter are made still more so by the beaded and spangled garnitures resplendent with semi-precious stones, and shaded silk, the exquisite laces and Persian passementries, the beautiful insertions outlined with sequins and opal beads, cream gimpure embroidery with jet and edged with fur and appliques of white lace on black net, which make lovely collars, and Marie Antoinette fichus, with frills of cream Venetian lace around the edge. Passementrie decorations are now more than ever in vogue. Those which emanate from Paris are exceptionally beautiful, and many of the bands and appliques are marvelous in their devices and color-blending.

Eastern ideas now appear among the less expensive dress trimmings, many of which are used upon corduroys, bouretees, and a new and pretty cloth fabric which exactly resembles a basket plait in design, the goods doing excellent duty as a serviceable material for tailor gowns and jackets. These less costly garnitures are likewise used to decorate the rough tweeds with glossy curls on the surface, the silk and wool checks, tartans, changeable repped goods and opalescent armures and bengalines with tiny spots or indefinite stripes on their vari-colored surfaces. An odd and fanciful waist to wear with a handsome black skirt is of cerise red silk velvet of elegant quality and rich lustre, with full sleeves of Roman plaid silk taffeta. A jetted yoke covers nearly half of the velvet waist, which fits very snugly in the back and has one wide box-plait down the front, decorated with large cut jet buttons.

Elegant walking and visiting gowns are made of faced cloth in plum color, moss green, violet, and many shades of brown, and among lighter gowns just received are those in fawn color trimmed with Persian beaver bands and sable tails; a novel tint is pale strawberry shading to damask, and lovely tints in suede, mouse gray and reseda. Some of these costumes show peplin fronts lined with satin of a contrasting color, or long overskirts, very slightly raised over a simulated petticoat of velvet and a Louis coat, closely fitted and finished with velvet accessories. A tan cloth suit trimmed with astrakhan, a violet camel's-hair with very narrow bands of sealskin and a hunter's green corduroy with leather trimming overlaid with green cloth appliques studded with gold spangles, are among these new gowns.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

An American Malady Caused by Our Manner of Living.

From the Star, Washington, D. C.

We Americans hurry too much. We do not take time enough for our meals. We haste to get rich, and wear out our bodies by the strain on our nerves. The result is nervous prostration. Probably there is no malady which will reach all cases. Pink Pills come nearer being a specific for it than anything we know, however, and we have just interviewed two Washington people who have tried them for this malady in order to get some local testimony. The first is W. Hearick Robb, of 303 New Jersey Avenue, N. W.:

"For a long time," said Mr. Robb, "I suffered horribly with nervous prostration, and tried many physicians and various highly recommended remedies without experiencing the slightest benefit. Last fall my business called me to Pittsburgh, Pa., and while there my mother, who remained in Washington, wrote recommending that I should try Pink Pills. To please her I procured a box. At this time and for a long period previous my condition was most deplorable. I could not walk alone, and had I attempted to do so would have fallen. After I had taken them for a month I felt stronger than I had for many months. I should have mentioned that, until I had been taking the Pink Pills for about a week and for a long time before, I had to force myself to eat, but after the first box of pills had been used by me my appetite returned and I was able to eat rayenously. I should also have said that when I began taking the Pink Pills my legs had become as seemed to me like wooden legs, and my body was fast becoming in the same condition. The use of two boxes of Pink Pills, however, drove all trouble away and I regard them as wonderful medicine."

Miss C. R. Lewis, No. 1229 N St., northwest, one of the teachers in Miss Payne's School of Cookery, says: "Dr. Williams' Medicine Company's Pink Pills have been of great benefit to my health. I am very much averse to talking for publication, but feel that I ought to testify briefly to the facts in my case. I had suffered from nervousness for a long time and was all run down. I tried various remedies but none of them did me any good. Last summer while in Delaware I was told of some wonderful cures that had been effected by means of the Pink Pills and bought a box. They helped me wonderfully after taking them for the past few weeks. I have been entirely cured of what was a severe and prolonged attack of nervous prostration."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

THE DOCTOR—"Queer saying that, about truth lying at the bottom of a well." The Lawyer—"You wouldn't think so if you knew the amount of pumping we lawyers sometimes have to do to get at it."—Boston Traveler.

Very Rich Indeed

In the elements that supply the human system with bone, muscle and brain substance is a circulation fertilized with the supreme tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which begets thorough assimilation and digestion, and gives a healthful impulse to every function of the body. Dyspeptic and weakly persons give strong testimony in its behalf. So do those troubled with biliousness, malaria, rheumatism, constipation and inactivity of the kidneys.

THE John A. Salzer Seed Co. have recently purchased the catalogue seed business of the Northrup, Braslan, Goodwin Co. of Minneapolis and Chicago and have added this to their already large business. This gives this wide-awake firm the largest catalogue trade in America. The firm in magnificent shape to take care of all seed orders as they are large growers of farm and vegetable seeds, own their own lands and have recently added a large and commodious seed store to their already mammoth building at La Crosse, Wis. If you are in want of choice seeds, this is the firm to write to. They mail their new catalogue upon receipt of but 5c postage.

IN the year 1894, the De Kalb Fence Co., of De Kalb, Ill., doubled the capacity for producing their lines over 1893 which gave them an output of 20 miles per day. The demand for their goods has been so great the past season, that in order to be able to supply their trade, they have been compelled this year to double the capacity of 1894, which now gives them an output of 40 miles per day.

This in itself speaks well for their product and merits the attention and inspection of readers and all that are in need of smooth wire fencing of any kind. It will be to your interest to write for their catalogue, which describes in detail their goods, comprising the largest and most complete lines of smooth wire fencing now produced by any one plant in the country.

Bottlebinding.

You can't judge of the quality of a book by the binding, nor tell the contents by the title. You look for the name of the author before you buy the book. The name of Robert Louis Stevenson (for instance) on the back guarantees the inside of the book, whatever the outside may be.

There's a parallel between books and bottles. The binding, or wrapper, of a bottle is no guide to the quality of the medicine the bottle contains. The title on the bottle is no warrant for confidence in the contents. It all depends on the author's name. Never mind who made the bottle. Who made the medicine? That's the question.

Think of this when buying Sarsaparilla. It isn't the binding of the bottle or the name of the medicine that you're to go by. That's only printer's ink and paper! The question is, who made the medicine? What's the author's name? When you see Ayer's name on a Sarsaparilla bottle, that's enough. The name Ayer guarantees the best, and has done so for 50 years.

It matters little of how long standing the pain has been; chronic cases yield readily to ST. JACOBS OIL and RHEUMATISM of many years' standing.
