At the close of the business session, delightful musical numbers were contributed by Miss Greenfield, the Misses Ethel Carlson and Cora Osmundson and Mrs. Walter Hackett. Rev. Leonard of Minneapolis then spoke briefly, and it was a source of regret to all present that he cut his address so short. He said that nothing he could say could equal the eloquence of the reports already read. What has happened in Kandiyohi county has also happened in every other county in the United States, and the result has been stupendous.

ANNUAL FAIR MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Kandiyohi County Fair Association will be held at the Masonic building next Tuesday afternoon, when three members of the Board of Managers will be elected for three wears and the annual officers will be selected.

Notices have been mailed by Secretary Wm. O. Johnson to the hundred and fifty stockholders in the county. Every progressive farmer and business man in the county ought to be a stockholder and booster to help make this institution what it ought to be.

Soldier Returns Home.

Pvt. Edw. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Johnson was discharged from the service last week at Camp McArthur, Waco, Texas, and arrived home yesterday in company with his uncle, Peter Sherman, who has been visiting Texas for a month past. Private Johnson has just recovered from a case of influenza and pneumonia at the base hospital at the camp. Mr. Sherman says the climate of Texas is subject to too much variation in temperature to suit him.

Special Patriotic Service.

Last Sunday evening, a patriotic service was held at the Swedish Baptist church. The church was decorated with the Allied Flags and there was special music for the occasion. The meeting opened by singing America. A very interesting sermon was given on Conditions in France during the war and the great work that the United War Workers have done and are doing for our boys over there. There was a large crowd who attended this patriotic service.

Two Boys Are Back.

Walter Larson and Irving Peterson returned today from Fortress Monroe, where they were discharged from military service. They joined the S. A. C. T. at the State University this fall, and on the second day were detailed to go to Fortress Monroe on special training. Both are enthusiastic over their experience with soldier life.

FARM BUREAU MEMBERS TO MEET NEXT MONDAY

Review of Work Accomplished Since Organization Last April.

Kandiyohi County Farm Bureau Directors held a meeting at the Court House last Tuesday afternoon.

Annual meeting is to be held Dec. 2nd at 2 p. m., Court House. There will be reports of committee work accomplished, a new program, election of officers and an outside speaker. You are welcome to attend this meeting even though not a member of the Bureau.

Membership campaign as conducted throughout the county and state will be carried on in Kandiyohi County Dec. 2nd to 7th. Every citizen in the county is eligible to membership in the Farm Bureau. All are urged to help in this matter.

The Farm Bureau has been in operation in the county since the first of last April. A brief statement of some of the work may be of interest.

Fifty samples of shelled corn and a hundred fifty bushels of ear corn was tested for germination in the seed corn laboratory equipped and conducted by the Farm Bureau. A hundred bushels of good seed corn was secured from reliable sources outside of the county at reasonable prices. Several farmers were saved from buying poor seed or were able to make adjustments or return poor seed after having it tested in this laboratory.

Through the Farm Bureau organization two hundred thirty farm hands were secured and located. Hany of these were delivered right at the farm.

Thirty-one drainage systems were surveyed and planned, which means turning twelve hundred acres of wet land into general farm land. This engineering service has saved the farmers of the county hundreds of dollars. The surveying alone would amount to five hundred dollars.

Twenty-six farmers had trouble with sick live stock. State and Federal Veterinarians were secured through the Farm Bureau. Cattle were tested for tuberculosis. Hogs were examined for Hog Cholera. Several farmers were advised not to vaccinate where Necro was found instead of Hog Cholera. Where contagious diseases were found, immediate steps were taken to prevent their spreading.

Four hundred fifty-six office calls during the past seven months have been made at the Farm Bureau Office in the Court House. The Bureau has secured steady office help and the manager stays in the office practically all day each Monday. In this way the Bureau helps in the exchange of live stock, grain and seeds. It also helps in securing information for farmers and the Government on request. Reports have been made to the Government regarding grain threshed, crops, wood, live stock, wool, hides, diseases, machinery, farm labor, and the draft. The services of this office and organization are at your service absolutely free of charge or fee. Join the Farm Bureau and help in the good work.

KANDIYOHI FARM SELLS FOR $175 PER ACRE

Old Redy Place Sold to Altona, Ill., Man at Record Price.

Elmer F. Gustafson, of Altona, Ill., Monday purchased the former Redy place near Kandiyohi station, eighty acres, from C. P. Lundgren. The consideration was $175 per acre. The deal was negotiated by John A. Johnson, the land man. Mr. Gustafson will take possession of the place March 1.

Records to Be Sealed.

The local board have received orders that as soon as they have finished the task of classification and tabulation of the registrants the cases in which the records are filed are to be sealed and kept for safe keeping at the Court House. Tho they are public records they are not to be opened by anyone except by order of the governor or the Provost Marshall General.

WM. F. COOLEN DIES IN HOSPITAL IN FRANCE

Another Kandiyohi County boy has made the supreme sacrifice for his country. William Frank Coolen who left Willmar with the contingent of recruits July 26 has passed away in a hospital in France from pneumonia. His aunt, Mrs. William McKinzie received a message to this effect Tuesday. We expect to give more particulars in a later issue.

ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL TO BE TAKEN SOON

Mr. E. F. Fink, county chairman of the annual Red Cross Christmas Roll Call, wishes to call attention to the fact that, the Red Cross memberships expire now, and that a campaign will soon be made throughout the county, that will be known as the Annual Red Cross Roll Call. All members will be expected to respond with the membership fee which is only one dollar, as before. New Members will also be solicited. This canvass will begin Monday, December 16 and continue till Tuesday, December 24.

The necessity of the Red Cross work on a large scale will continue for several years even though the fighting has ceased. There will be thousands of soldiers and sailors still under arms that need the service of the Red Cross as well as the army hospitals and many other branches of service.

The people will respond to the Red Cross roll call in the same spirit as they have responded to every other patriotic and worthy movement undertaken in the county. Save your dollar for renewed membership and watch for further particulars.

SECOND WILLMAR BOY BACK FROM FRANCE

Harold Styles is Back After Eight Months' Service on Alsace Border.

Harold Styles, son of Mrs. J. H. Styles of this city, is back for a visit after less than two years absence, and his experiences in the meantime read like a romance. He left Willmar for Kirksville, Mo., where he worked in a printing office for a few months, and was married. He enlisted for the war, and went to Fort Sill, Okla., for training. He became a member of 139th Inf. regiment and the 35th Division. From Camp Donithan they were transferred to Camp Mills, L. I., after two weeks in early April they embarked in the British steamer Corona. They landed without incident at Liverpool, stayed two weeks in an English rest camp, went thru Southhampton to The Havre. They then went into training camps with British and Scotch officers to instruct them in bayonet work, etc. They used the English Enfield rifles. They hiked across France, passing the outskirts of Paris. In due time they reached the town of Arches, in the Vosges mountains near the Alsace border .After a week's rest they had an eight hour motor train ride up towards the trenches which had been recaptured from the Germans shortly before. They were stationed between two mountains, along the sides of which they could trace the trenches running up. Anti-aircraft guns were planted on both mountain tops. The Germans shelled them two or three times a week.

At mess time one fine morning the alarm came that the hostile aeroplanes were coming for an attack. They lost no time getting under cover. A few miles north of Cariment a gas shell exploded near him, and put Harold out of commission. The shell shock was so severe that he shook as if he had St. Vitus dance for several days. The poison gas had also seriously affected him. He was at the 137th Field Hospital at Bussang two weeks, at Base Hospital No. 116 three weeks, at Sevigny, near Paris a month. Then a Red Cross hospital train took him to Brest, where he went aboard the U. S. S. Henderson hospital ship . On the voyage back the ship encountered a storm while in the Gulf stream. One of the engines of the ship was disabled for a time and the way the ship rolled in the troughs of the sea was not pleasant. One of the amusements of the men was to watch the flying fish, snow-white which would fly from the crest of one wave to the other. The ship finally landed safely at the U. S. Navy yard at New York and Harold was taken to Ellis Island where he had a room from which he could see the Statue of Liberty for two weeks. He was then transferred to Fort Porter at Buffalo, and was discharged from army service two weeks ago. He has secured a good position with the Des Moines Electric Company at good wages, and expects to return to Des Moines next Saturday to take up his work. There he will be joined by Mrs. Styles and a little daughter five months old, and they will settle down to the happy life they have dreamed about.

Notice to Subscribers.

Last week thru an error old mailing list sheets were used instead of those corrected for this month. As a result two or three hundred subscribers, who had changed address, or who had recently subscribed or been reinstated failed to get their paper. Anyone who has not yet received last week's copy and desires it will receive one on request.

Synod Confirmation.

Confirmation services will be held at the United Lutheran Synod church next Sunday morning at 10:30. The class numbers thirty-five, the largest in the history of the church. The services will be conducted almost entirely in the English language.

—Manley Palm is on the sick list this week.
