THE CITY.

CITY GLOBULES.

A through sleeper from St. Paul to Pierre, Dakota, is to be put on the Northwestern railroad next week.

The Young Ladies' Christian association have charge of the bootblacks and newsboys excursion into the country on Tuesday.

Wm. Smith and Charley Johnson were found sleeping in the Carver cave on Dayton bluff yesterday by an officer, and were brought in to the city hall.

There were no violations reported at the city hall yesterday of Acting Mayor Allen's special order for closing the saloons from 12 o'clock Saturday night to 2 p. m. on Sunday.

James Neale, a United States' prisoner, was lodged in the county jail yesterday morning. Sheriff O'Gorman had not learned the charge against Neale up to a late hour last night.

Sister Helena, of the order of the Sisters of St. Joseph, whose maiden name before taking her vows was Norah Higgins, deceased yesterday at the age of forty years. Her funeral will take place on Tuesday.

J. H. Cooper, a vagrant, and Thomas White, a suspicious colored man with dangerous weapons on his person, were arrested at an early hour yesterday morning and put under lock and key at the city hall.

A lad named Zimmerman, seven years old, and resident on Conway street, Dayton's bluff, disappeared from home very mysteriously at noon yesterday and had not up to midnight been heard from by his anxious parents, though the police, who had been telephoned, had faithfully sought for the wanderer.

James Hanson, the youthful bootblack who fired the Kittson barn a few days since, will be tried in the municipal court this morning. He has been in the county jail a week in company with the criminals therein, to his great detriment, as it is thought the charges against him will not hold and that he will be acquitted.

C. Le Clair, who fell from the fourth story of the Davidson building on Saturday morning, is still living, but his family physician Dr. Nelson, of Seventh street, says that there is no possibility of his recovery, although he may linger along for a few days. His fatal injuries are the fracture of the sacrum, or the bone which forms the posterior part of the pelvis.

The popular and elegant sidewheel steamer St. Paul, of the favorite St. Paul Packet company, arrived early this morning heavily laden with passengers and freight. She will depart for St. Louis and way landings at 10 o'clock sharp this morning. Parties wishing a ride on the most magnificent and swiftest steamer of the upper Mississippi, can do so by applying at levee, foot of Jackson street.

Away Down in Dixie.

Mr. R. B. Bass, Cunningham's Store, Person County, N. C., says he sells more of St. Jacobs Oil, the great pain-cure, than any other remedy he ever kept.

PERSONALS.

J. Earl Atkinson, of Philadelphia, and F. E. Ames and F. B. Tallcott of Milwaukee, were at the Windsor yesterday.

Maj. Jno. M. Bacon and wife and Lieut. Col. D. W. Brotherton, U. S. A., were guests at the Metropolitan over Sabbath.

Mrs. Coppingeo, of New York, and F. E. Ridgway, of Cedar Grove, Kansas, were guests at the Clarendon, yesterday.

Mrs. J. W. Scott, wife of Maj. J. W. Scott, U. S. A., will leave the city to-day to join her husband at Cholka, Idaho, where he is stationed.

W. D. Eaton, of Chicago, author of "All the Rage" and several other dramas, stopped over in St. Paul yesterday being en route Northwest.

S. H. Parsons, of Washington, D. C.; J. I. Richards and Miss Richards of Erie, Pa.; W. A. Hanson, of Louisville, Ky., and C. H. Shallingberger, of Chicago, are guests at the Metropolitan.

Among the arrivals at the Clarendon hotel yesterday were Mrs. Cappinger and servant, of Washington. Mrs. Cappinger is the daughter of Hon. James G. Blaine, and she is en route of Ft. Assinnaboine to join her husband, who is in command of the post.

Mr. L. W. Harris, brother of President Harris, of the Northern Pacific Railroad company, arrived in St. Paul Saturday night from the east. He is making a tour of the Northern Pacific, and he is accompanied by Mr H. Wadsworth, the private secretary of President Harris.

Col. P. M. Cleary, a prominent citizen of Chicago, and now visiting St. Paul where he is extensively acquainted, received information yesterday of the fact that he had been made $200,000 richer by a bequest. The Colonel says that "he had enough to live on and live well, but that the inheritance may be useful to his children."

The following were guests at the Merchants yesterday: R. L. McCulloch and wife of Montana, H. E. Horton of Rochester, H. B. Grace and Geo. E. Williams of Portland, Oregon, H. O. Sikes of Cleveland, Jules A. Parcott of Quebec, James E. Spear and E. Gage of Boston, O. M. Onanchamp of Montreal; D. Lisdale of Simcoe; S. Becker of La Crosse, A. Wallin and Geo. P. Wilson of Fargo; C. L. Watrous of Duluth, F. D. Honey of Brainard, Geo. C. Howe and F. L. Bortlin of Bradford, Pa., Mrs. Ferrell of Montana, J. T. Gray and N. C. Lawrence of Anoka, Dr. Wm. A. Bentley and E. M. Fuller of Bismarck, Dr. H. J. Rowe of Casselton, Dakota, A. Bailey of Mandon, Geo. E. Reed, E. J. Goodkind, J. E. Corland and Col. Wm. Thompson of Bismarck and S. J. Willard of Stillwater.

AT CHICAGO YESTERDAY.

HE IS A MIND READER.

An Absurd Exhibition at Market Hall by J. Randall Brown.

And his name is Brown.

The rest of his name he uses as an initial and as a parting in the middle. Standing at the door of Market hall, in a short pilot cloth coat, last night he looked like a man taking tickets as a matter of business, and wondering where he would get his hair cut for summer. When he came on the stage in evening dress his coat tails, his boots, his hair and his down cast drawl were alike long. If in speech he was dilatory and in his sentences he failed to have the finite verb agree with its nominative; he was none the less singularly interesting as a linear study and a spiritualist. His advertisements, freely distributed with charming cuts of spirits pulling up tables while mortals vainly endeavored to hold down, of arms that waved without bodies to help them, legs that danced without feet upon which to rest, string instruments played upon with hands, and horns and reeds without breath, and vague and shadowy things in all the strength of color and perspective, coupled with the general interest on subjects mysterious, gathered a goodly company of people to witness his entertainment. Well, after Mr. Brown do not let the deluge come, but let St. Paul have theater's open and gala Sunday night ballets.

The audience was say 1,000 people. Small boys with uncombed hair sat in the front row of seats. Pale spiritual men sat in the succeeding rows back, and a lot of fellows, chiefly with girls under escort, took up the rest of the space that was required. At the beginning Mr. Brown took tickets at the door. The boys in the front row whistled and stamped, the more reverent of the spiritualists looked and doubtless were shocked by such unseemly behavior by the small boys, and the fellows made love to their girls in undisturbed appreciation of the pleasure of the hour.

Finally the curtain in response to the unremitting demand of the front row was rolled up and there were discovered a frame draped with colored curtains and known to the well informed by the title of cabinet. Also six chairs. In a few minutes, to be exact, J. Rundall Brown appeared. The fact that he advertised a "religious illustrated lecture" (sic) commanded him to the respect of his audience and he began as is usual in these matters to secure a committee. He appealed to the audience to select the committee. There was no one to lead the way and he ended up by selecting his own committee, to all intents and purposes, and having caged them upon the platform he did the trick of finding a concealed article, he being blindfolded, an article being put in some place in the hall of which he was not informed, he then taking the hand of a man who knew where it was and bringing the article to view. A combination of tests which were an elaboration of the first trick followed, and the lecturer proceeded to throw himself into a trance and receive a communication for Anderson, of the committee, who wished to hear from the spirit land. W. Anderson got a communication and declared himself satisfied. Last he wrote the name of the person from whom he wished to hear on a small piece of paper. This he folded up while the medium's back was turned and then gave it to the medium. The medium deftly changed it to another piece of similarly folded paper, held the dummy to his forehead, beat upon the table, acted in a generally absurd manner, and then calling for paper on which to write the communication, wrote an answer from the spiritland and signed the name that Mr. Anderson had written. Before he did so, however, he had read surreptiously the original writing, so gratuitously exposing the fact, that half the people left the hall more than satisfied with the ridiculous inanity of J. Randall Brown.

The Spanish Students.

The following card from prominent citizens in St. Paul speaks for itself:

Having recently heard the Spanish Students in New Orleans, we do not hesitate to say that they present the most unique, charming and wonderful musical entertainment it has ever been our pleasure to hear. They are first class in every way. It will be a great musical treat to the people of St. Paul to hear them. We shall gladly avail ourselves of the opportunity of hearing their enchanting music again.

STATE MUSICAL FESTIVAL.

Great State Musical Festival!

AT MINNEAPOLIS.

The Philarmonic Association of Minneapolis respectfully announce the first GRAND STATE MUSICAL FESTIVAL under their auspices, which will occur in Minneapolis Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, and Thursday Matinee, June 10, 11, and 12. The features of this Festival will be the same as those held by Mr. Thomas this season in Boston, New York, Chicago, and Cincinnati, including the same great artists.

The Following is a Brief Synopsis of the Principal Attractions:

MUSICAL CONDUCTOR—Theodore Thomas, the greatest leader of modern times.

ORCHESTRA—The Grand Orchestra of Mr. Thomas, consisting of sixty solo musicians.

CHORUS—The St. Paul Choral Society, numbering 258 singers, and the Minneapolis Philharmonic, numbering 350—total over 600.

VOCAL SOLOISTS—1. CHRISTINE NILSSON, the greatest living Prima Dona; 2. FRAU FRIEDRICH MATERNA; 3. HERR HERMANN WINKELMANN; 4. HERR SCARIA—composing the marvelous trio whom Wagner pronounced the first dramatic singers of the world; 5. EMMA JUCH, a charming young Soprano, long an admired Prima Donna of Her Majesty's Opera Troupe; 6. EMILY WINANT, since Cary's time the first American Contralto; 7. THEODORE TOEDT, considered by Mr. Thomas the best American artist for the work required of him; 8. FRANZ REMMERTZ, next to Myron Whitney, the best Bass in America.

DATE—The 10th, 11th, and 12th of June.

PLACE—The great University Coliseum of Minneapolis, which will hold, including Chorus and Orchestra, nearly 4,000 persons.

Facilities of reaching it: The entire railroad system of the State, which will deliver passengers in Minneapolis and return for one and one fifth of the regular fare, for particulars of which see "Excursion Rates" below.

Prices of reserved seats for single concerts, from $1 to $3.50, according to location, and for season seats for the four concerts, from $5 to $12. Admission, $1.

The board for the reservation of season seats will probably open on Monday, May 26, and for single concerts the ensuing Monday, June 2, 1884.

EXCURSION RATES.

The entire railroad system of the State will be at the disposal of excursionists at ONE AND ONE-FIFTH FARE for the round trip, tickets to hold good during the first five days of the Festival week.

On the Manitoba road these rates will extend to Litchfield and St. Cloud, and on the Northern Pacific to points at an equal distance. Beyond these points as far as Fargo, these rates will be extended to parties of ten and over, and special rates may be given for large parties if early application is made to the General Manager of the Philharmonic Association.

On the Chicago & Milwaukee road these rates will extend to La Crosse on the River division, to Austin on the McGregor division, and to Bird Island on the Hastings & Dakota division.

On the Omaha road these rates will extend to Mankato, and on the West Wisconsin division an equal distance. To parties of twenty-five on this road a half rate will be given, and from Eau Claire and Mankato to a party of this size, or larger, a special round trip rate of $3 will be given. From Stillwater a round trip rate of $1.

On the St. Paul & Duluth a fare and one-fifth from all points, and from Duluth a special rate of $6 for the round trip to parties of twenty-five or more, and $1 from Stillwater. For a large party from Duluth it is probable that a still better rate can be secured.

On the Minneapolis & St. Louis a fare and one-fifth from all points in the State, and special rates for parties from Waseca, Albert Lea, etc.

These reduced railroad tickets will be sold only on condition that an admission ticket to one concert of the Festival ($1) is purchased with each excursion ticket. These admission tickets will be for sale by the ticket agents on all the roads, and may be exchanged for a reserved seat of any class by a payment of the difference in price.

A special train of the Manitoba road will leave the St. Paul depot at 7:20 each evening of the Festival, and at 1:15 on the afternoon of the Matinee, delivering passengers at the door of the Coliseum (which is situated directly on the track) and returning them to St. Paul, immediately after each Concert.

THE MUSICAL FESTIVAL.

An Event of Which the State at Large Has Every Reason to be Proud.

Placing Minnesota on a Par With Any Other Commonwealth in a Musical Way.

A Great Leader, a Great Orchestra, Great Artists, and a Great Chorus.

A FEW DETAILS.

The GLOBE has from time to time given partial particulars of the great musical enterprise which the Philharmonic association of Minneapolis has enabled the people of Minnesota to enjoy. The enterprise is one which will commend itself to the public of Minnesota at once. They have engaged for a grand half week's festival on the 10th, 11th and 12th of June the same great artists secured for the Boston, New York, Cincinnati, and Chicago festivals, including Theodore Thomas as conductor and his famous orchestra of sixty solo musicians. The vocal artists consist of the great singers, whom Wagner selected from the opera singers of the world as the only ones who could adequately sustain the heroic roles of his great music dramas, which were produced just before the great composer's death in the vast theater built for him in Bayreuth by his patron and friend, the King of Bavaria. These artists have appeared for the first time in America at the festivals just held in Boston and New York, and the music lovers of those two cities have been thrown into a fever of enthusiasm by their wonderful voices and the dramatic fervor and passion of their singing. In company with Mr. Thomas, the great leader who devises and directs all these festivals, these artists were called out seven times at one of the Boston concerts, while the excited people got up on their chairs, waved their hats and handkerchiefs, and indulged in the wildest plaudits and cheers. In addition to these renowned artists, the association has engaged Christine Nilsson, the famous Swedish songstress, regarded by musicians as the greatest living singer, and a quartette of the first American artists, viz.: Emma Juch, Emily Winant, Theodore Toedt, and Franz Remmertz. In addition to this great army of talent, a chorus of 600 voices from Minneapolis and St. Paul will render the choruses of the "Messiah" and the "Creation," and several choruses from the Wagner operas of "Tannhauser," "Lohengrin" and the "Meistersinger," the great Wagner artists, Nilsson and the others taking the solo and concerted parts. The festival will be in all respects the same as in the great cities above named, and is to cost our plucky Minneapolis company at least $18,000.

THE PROGRAMMES.

The programmes of this great festival are what might be expected from the character of the artists engaged, and the grandeur of the ensemble of soloists, orchestra and chorus.

THE FIRST CONCERT

will consist of about half of the oratorio of the "Messiah," Christine Nilsson taking the soprano parts, and the others of the great artists the tenor and bass solos. The choruses will be done by the St. Paul Choral society, Signor Janotta, director, and the Minneapolis Philharmonics—600 voices in all. The second part will consist of Beethoven's immortal "Pastoral Symphony" and Rubinstein's "Ball Costume," by the orchestra, and the "Jewel Song" from Faust, by Christine Nilsson.

THE SECOND CONCERT

will be a grand Wagner night, in which the great Wagner artists, Materina, Winkelmann and Scaria, will take the solos. The music will be selections from Wagner's great opera of "Tannhauser," the "Meistersinger," and act III. of the "Walkurie," from the "Niebelugden Ring."

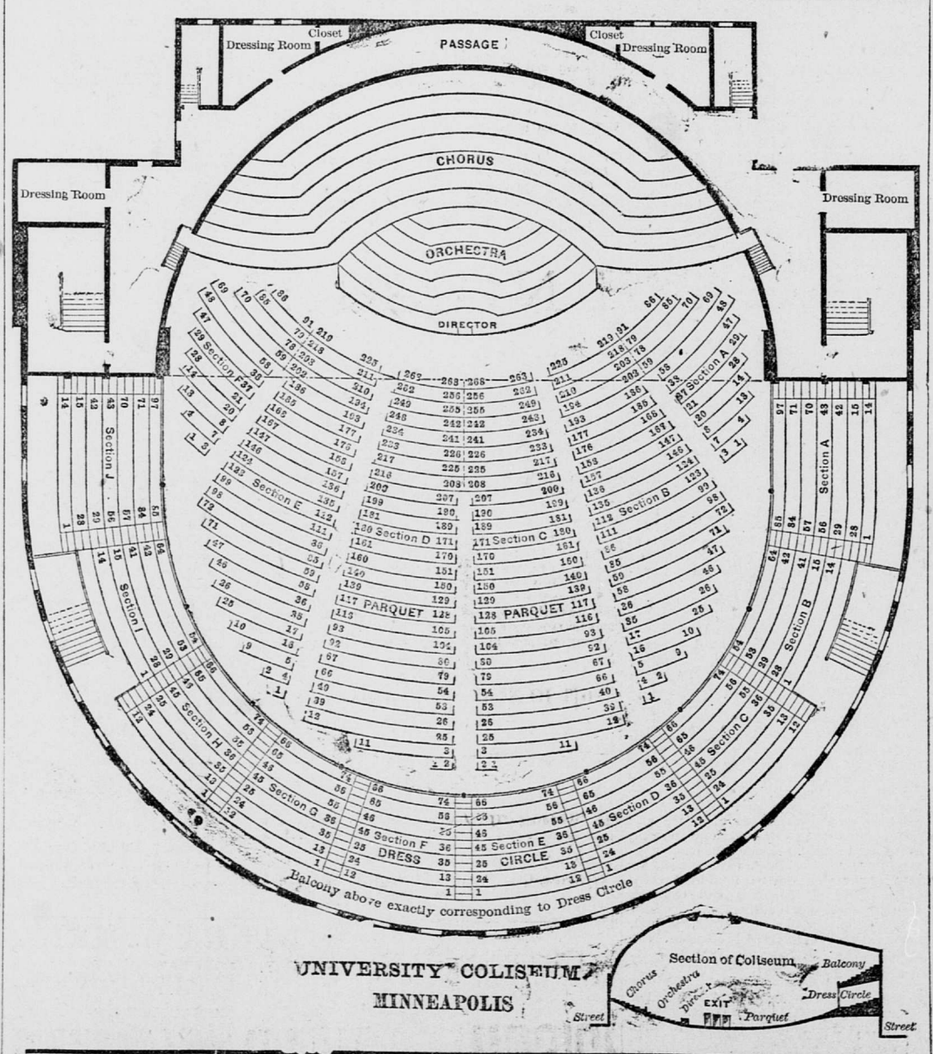
THE THIRD CONCERT

will be a matinee, consisting of popular miscellaneous selections, with choruses by 1,000 children. The authors will be Beethoven, Mozart, Gluck, Wagner, Weber and others. The artists will be Materna, Miss Emily Juch, Miss Winant and Herr Scaria. This will be a very popular and attractive concert.

THE LAST CONCERT

will be a grand finale. Selections from the oratorio of the "Creation" will be sung, with Christine Nilsson, Endly Winant, and Franz Remmertz taking the solos, and the Minneapolis and St. Paul choruses of 600 voices taking the choruses. The second part will consist of orchestral selections, and the third act of "Lohengrin," with Christine Nilsson and the Wagner artists taking the solos. This will be a grand conclusion of a remarkable festival.

The following is a diagram of the great University Coliseum in which the festival is to be held.



PRICES OF SEATS.

FIRST CLASS—The entire parquette (except the front four rows and sections A and F), together with the first two rows of the dress circle are $3.50 for single concerts, and $12 for the season of four concerts.

SECOND CLASS—The front four rows and sections A and F of the parquette, together with the five rear rows of the dress circle, and the two front rows of the balcony are $2.50 for single concerts, or $8 for the season.

THIRD CLASS—The rear five rows of the balcony (which is directly over and corresponds exactly to the dress circle) are $1.50 for single concerts, and $5 for the season. Admission without reserved seats $1.

For the Education of Young Ladies
DUBUQUE, IOWA.

Parents desirous of placing their daughters in a first class school, will do well to investigate the claims of this institution. To the present building, which is both spacious and beautiful, a large addition is being erected, which will contain music, exhibition and recreation halls. The course of studies in the different departments is thorough, nothing being omitted that is necessary to impart a finished education. The musical department comprises a thorough course for graduation in Theory and Practice. Every advantage is afforded to those who wish to pursue a special course in painting; general instructions in drawing are given in class-rooms. For particular apply to SISTER SUPERIOR. 3544
