SAINT PAUL.

SOCIAL AND OTHERWISE.

Card Party at the Irish-American Club Rooms.

One of the pleasantest card parties of the season was given at the rooms of the Irish-American club last night by the ladies of St. Michael's parish. Fifteen tables were in play, and the prize winners were: First lady's prize, Miss Etta Norton; second, Miss Martha Sweeney; third, Miss Alice Regan, fourth, Miss Kitty Foran. First gentleman's prize, Charles Karst; second, W. J. Tierney; third, Cornelius Crowley.

Mrs. Ellen M. Henrotin, writing in regard to the biennial meeting of the General Federation of Women's clubs, gives much interesting information, and shows that the anticipations of a great gathering are based on a sure foundation. One matter of interest to come up is a revision of the constitution adjusting the relations between the state federations and individual clubs. Several Minnesota clubs, which were members of both the general federation and the Minnesota federation, have anticipated the action of the convention and have decided to drop their membership in the former, others have concluded to wait until the matter has been brought up at Louisville and definitely determined. As the club year is practically closed this latter plan would seem the best.

It is not yet certain how fully Minnesota will be represented, but although the members may not be large, two or three prominent women who have signified their intention of going will represent her well.

The play "Our Club and Its Aspirations" and the pretty fan drill, so successfully given at Christ Church Guild hall Thursday night, will be repeated by request at a matinee performance this afternoon in the guild hall. Both the play and the drill were charmingly given Thursday night under the direction of Mrs. Harvey Officer.

St. Luke's Aid Society of St. Paul's Church met yesterday with Mrs. Powell, of Pennsylvania avenue.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of Dayton Avenue Church met yesterday afternoon in the church parlors. Mrs. M. N. Adams read a paper on "Woman." A discussion followed.

The Woman's Missionary Society of First Baptist Church met yesterday afternoon in the church parlors.

St. Clement's branch of the Woman's Auxiliary met yesterday afternoon in the guild hall. Interesting papers were read on city work.

The Catholic parish at St. Anthony Park gives a card party at Irish-American club rooms next Friday night.

A dance and entertainment has been arranged by the bookbinders' union to be held this evening. C. W. Hornick, president of the Employing Printers' association, and Harry Franklin, president of the local typographical union, will deliver addresses, in addition to which there will be the following programme: Overture, Twin City Mandolin club; song, Miss Mary Banker; zither solo, K. Eue; song, Miss Aggie Arth, accompanied by Louise Ellis; musical quartette, by members of the Minneapolis union, accompanied by Miss Dora Kraus; Swiss mountain song, "Baudoman," R. Lawrence; piano solo, Miss May Trutten; dancing. Admission is by invitation.

EXCURSIONS FROM IOWA.

St. Paul Jobbers Looking There for Business.

Secretary D. R. McGinnis, of the Commercial club, in company with a Minneapolis & St. Louis railway excursion agent, has gone to Iowa to aid in arranging for excursions to the Twin Cities, June 14 and 15. Mr. McGinnis represents not only the Commercial club, but the Jobbers' union as well. The business men of St. Paul recognize the fact that there is a large territory in Iowa at present supplied by Chicago houses, but whose trade legitimately belongs to the Twin Cities, if convenience of location as a distributing point is to be considered. Hence it is designed to run these excursions for Iowa business men, though they are free to all who wish to visit here. The Iowa retailers will get acquainted with the St. Paul jobbing houses, and it is expected that as a result the jobbers here will cut into the new field very appreciably. This is the plan, as explained by President Lindeke, of the Jobbers' union.

MONTANA AND McKINLEY.

F. C. Powers Says Its Delegates Will Go Uninstructed.

"What you read in the papers generally, including the St. Paul papers, is not the sentiment of the people by a long ways," said ex-Senator T. C. Powers, of Montana, at the Merchants' yesterday. "And if the papers do not get in touch with and try and represent the masses of the people, a wave of popular disapproval four years from now will bury them out of sight. The people will assert their rights, and it will be a stronger wave than the present one for McKinley."

In speaking of the probable attitude of the silver states at St. Louis he expressed the opinion that all, or nearly all, would send uninstructed delegates. "My state," said he, "is not for McKinley. The people will not secure any relief by the election of McKinley. Some of them think they will, but they won't. Why, young man, do you know that over half the money of the world is silver, that there is 1 per cent more silver in use than gold? In 1873, when John Sher—." And just then Mike McCormack, the South Dakota breeze, who has just returned from a trip to California, greeted the ex-senator, and the great crime is still unexplained.

Mr. Powers retired from the senate last March, being succeeded by Senator Lee Mantle. He has been East on business and departed on yesterday afternoon's Great Northern 3 o'clock train for home.

HOT WAVE LINGERS.

Thermometer Reached Thursday's Mark Again Yesterday.

The parity between the Montana cold wave and the local weather observer's predictions was not maintained yesterday, or at any time during the succeeding hours, to any appreciable extent. The mercury, instead, rose a couple of notches, and at 7 o'clock yesterday morning showed 68 above, against 66 the day before. At 3:50 p. m. the maximum was reached, when it showed the same as Thursday, 87 above. However, it is comforting to know there was a heavy frost in Helena, Mont., yesterday morning.

For today and tonight Observer Lyons predicts occasional showers and cooler. He says, also, that the barometer is very high in the East, and until it subdues a few notches it will not cool off to any appreciable extent.

SEVENTEEN CARS OF SILK.

Brought From the Coast in Five Days.

A freight train, composed of seventeen cars filled with Japanese and Chinese silks and curios, arrived at the Minnesota transfer yesterday at noon, after making the trip from Portland in the incredible short time of five days. The merchandise carried on this train was a part of the cargo of the steamship Chittagong, with which the Great Northern exchanges business. The train was made up May 3, and started from Portland at noon. On the 5th it arrived in Spokane and yesterday in St. Paul. The time made would be a credit to any ordinary passenger train.

TO DIVIDE POLK COUNTY.

Old Agitation Likely to Be Renewed Soon.

A delegation of Polk county citizens, including A. C. Rhinehart, who has taken an active part in the agitation for a division of that county, were at the governor's office yesterday, and it is likely that another effort will be made to have the largest county in the Red river valley partitioned. Similar efforts have been made several times, but up to the present the requests have been denied by the state boundary commission, consisting of the governor, auditor and secretary of state.

Married in St. Louis.

Miss Katherine C. Jones, of St. Paul, was married on Wednesday at St. Louis to David J. Foster, president of the Sportsmen's Park Racing association, the ceremony being performed at 11 a. m. at the Methodist church, at Garrison and Lucas avenues. Following the ceremony, luncheon was served at the St. Nicholas hotel, and later the bride entertained a few intimate friends of her husband. For the present they are at the West End hotel, but next week will begin housekeeping.

Battery A's Inspection.

Lieut. A. B. Johnson, U. S. A., adjutant of the Seventh infantry, will complete the inspection of the local militia companies with an examination of Battery A, M. N. G., on the evening of the 22d.

That

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that

Tired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired

Feel-

ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that

FRANK AGNEW DEAD

FORMER RESIDENT OF ST. PAUL DIED LAST EVENING AT HIS CHICAGO HOME.

HE BUILT THE RYAN HOTEL,

GLOBE BUILDING, ENDICOTT ARCADE, NEW YORK LIFE AND OTHER BUILDINGS.

RELATIVES LIVE HERE YET.

A Daughter, Mrs. E. J. Darragh, and Two Sisters, Mesdames Cox and Clancy.

Francis Agnew died at 6:30 last night in Chicago. He had been sick but a few days, and the telegrams announcing his death came as a surprise to his St. Paul relatives and friends. Bright's disease was the immediate cause of death.

Frank Agnew, as he was familiarly known in St. Paul, was one of the best known and most successful contractors in the Northwest, if not in America. He was born in Dundee, Scotland, of Irish parents, and came to Chicago in 1851. There he learned the bricklaying trade, with his uncle, Charles O'Connor, and after pursuing his trade for a time, he engaged in the business of a general contractor in 1865, and ever since has continued one of the leading men in that line. In his early years he was a member of the Chicago volunteer fire department, and remained in the service for a time after it became a pay department. For several years he was president of the Veteran Firemen's organization. In 1874 he was elected sheriff of Cook county, being the first Democratic sheriff that the county had elected since Chicago was a small town. His popularity was evidenced by the fact that he ran several thousand votes ahead of his ticket. Mr. Agnew was president of the Bermuda Asphalt Paving company, and was the builder of the great manufactures building at the world's fair. He married a native-born Chicagoan, Miss Ellen O'Neill, and his oldest son, John Agnew, is the oldest male child of a Chicago born mother.

It was about 1880 that Mr. Agnew came to St. Paul. From the first day of his arrival he was a prominent man in the community. He, in connection with Hennessy Bros. & Cox, built the Ryan hotel, the Globe building, the Endicott arcade and the New York Life Insurance structures in St. Paul and Minneapolis. He also built the West hotel in Minneapolis and the Spalding hotel and the Board of Trade building in Duluth. For several years he made his home here, living in the old Merriam homestead on Woodward avenue. During the time of his residence he made friends on all sides, especially among the Irish-American residents. At the time of the Land League agitation he was a most liberal contributor to the fund of the Irish parliamentary party; and, in fact, every deserving cause had access to his purse.

Mr. Agnew was at one time a resident of Idaho, and was a heavy stockholder in the Gold Hunters' Mining company. If Idaho had been Democratic, or anywhere near even in party strength, he would undoubtedly have represented the state in congress, for his personal popularity was great. After meeting him President Cleveland entertained a very high opinion of him and was not backward about expressing his friendship.

Mr. Agnew has two sisters married in St. Paul—Mrs. Ben Cox and Mrs. T. C. Clancy. He also has a daughter living here, who is the wife of Corporation Attorney Darragh. One brother is a priest of the Catholic church, stationed in Chicago. Luke Agnew, of this city, is also a brother of the dead man. All of the relatives, and several of his most intimate friends and business associates, will go to Chicago tonight to attend the funeral. Mr. and Mrs. Darragh were in Chicago when Mr. Agnew died.

WATKIN MILLS' RECITAL.

High Class Music Is but Poorly Patronized.

R. Watkin Mills, of England, gave a song recital at the People's church last night. The audience was not large. Mr. Mills commented upon that fact in a little speech preceding his recital, in the course of which he remarked that the small attendance indicated that St. Paul was not a musical town, or that the people had forgotten him. Mr. Mills sang in this city a year ago and created a favorable impression, and doubtless a greater number would have been present last night had the weather not been so oppressive.

Mr. Mills is the possessor of a resonant basso cantante voice, which he manages with commendable skill and taste. He sings with notable ease, producing his biggest tones without perceptible effort. His programme was ambitious and lengthy, consisting, as it did, of sixteen solos, all sung by Mr. Mills, and ranging from selections from Handel's oratorios and Wagner's "Tannhauser" to ballads like the "Maid of Dundee" and "Father O'Flynn." Such a programme, interpreted by one artist, must of necessity prove somewhat monotonous, in spite of the variety of the music, but under the circumstances Mr. Mills sustained the interest as well as could be expected. He accepted no encores, but sang the numbers without any undue waits between them. The piano accompaniment, furnished by Miss Katherine Collins, was excellent.

The most enjoyable numbers interpreted by Mr. Mills were the buffs aria from Mozart's "La Nozze di Figaro," "Honor and Arms" from Handel's "Samson," "O, Thou Sublime, Sweet Evening Star" from "Tannhauser," Spohr's sweet song, "Bright Star of Night," and "The Two Grenadiers," by Schumann.

FIVE ARE INDICTED,

And Two of Them Are Not Under Arrest.

Five indictments were returned by the grand jury at 5 o'clock last evening. Two of the indictments were kept secret, and bench warrants were ordered to issue for the parties. The three indictments made public are against Frank Masterson, Robert Tate and James Jackson.

Masterson is a waiter, who is charged with having carnal knowledge of Mary Beamer, a child under the age of sixteen years.

Tate must stand trial for assault with a carving knife. His wife, Maria Tate, was the intended victim of his wrath.

Jackson is indicted for grand larceny. He is alleged to have stolen various articles of wearing apparel from May Small.

No bills were returned against Arthur Leach, William G. Robbins, William Sanders, Charles Kell and J. B. Wallace. Judge Kelly ordered that the men in custody be discharged, and that the bonds be exonerated if any are out on bail.

When the report had been examined the court congratulated the jurymen that their labors had been light, and that good order prevails in the city. He said he did not deem it prudent to discharge the jury at this time, and compelled their existence until June 15, when they will meet again.

ITALY'S SALVATION SOLDIER.

Maj. Melan, of Gen. Booth's Staff, Coming Here.

Maj. Malan, late private secretary to Gen. Booth, will visit Minneapolis May 22. He is a Waldenisian, and sings and speaks charmingly. He is coming from the Pacific coast, where he has been specialing with Mrs. Booth-Tucker.

One of the San Francisco newspapers says of Maj. Malan: "An uncommon man this officer is; he is a lithe, clean cut Italian with compressed lips, wavy hair, and eyes that fairly glitter. His high-pitched voice startles you and his gestures startle you more. He translates his little song as he sings it, and the effect is indescribable quaint, and it would be laughable with most people, not so here. The man's enthusiasm is simply wonderful; with arms outstretched, eyes cast up toward the roof, as if they would pierce it, voice choking with emotion, and face intense and spiritual, he absolutely holds every person in the building spell-bound."

Big arrangements are being made for his visit to this city.

YOUNG HERLING'S BODY

Recovered Yesterday Near the Wabasha Street Bridge.

The body of Allen Herling, who was drowned in the Mississippi river last Sunday, was recovered yesterday. The body came to the surface just above the Wabasha street bridge and lodged in a pile of brush wood near the river bank.

Dynamite had been exploded in the water the evening before, the effect of which brought the body to the surface. The remains were viewed by Coroner Whitcomb and Deputy Coroner McNamara, after which the body was turned over to the boy's father, who ordered it taken to Hurley's undertaking rooms, on the West side.

The funeral will take place at the residence of the boy's parents, 19 West Fairfield avenue, at 10 o'clock this morning.

CHECKING UP THE RETURNS.

City Clerk Preparing a Report for the Council.

City Clerk Jensen and his assistant, Mr. McCrea, spent yesterday checking up the election returns preparatory to submitting a report to the common council. Both bodies of the council will meet today, the assembly at 11 a. m. and the board of aldermen tonight, but the city clerk's report will not be submitted until the next regular meeting of the board to be held May 19. George Nettleton, the bookkeeper of the city treasurer's office, was present to represent the interests of John Wagener.

MONEY FOR FIRE FUNDS.

Wisconsin Companies Have Contributed $1,500 Already.

The state insurance department will soon pay to the city of St. Paul $1,500, and to the city of Minneapolis $900, the same to be credited to fire department funds under the retaliatory taxes enforced upon Wisconsin companies doing business in this state. This state is the only one so operated against, in that it is the only one operating against Minnesota thus, and the money soon to be paid over represents what has been accumulating for three of four years.

IN THE BOUGHTON CASE.

Referee Reports Testimony to the Supreme Court.

Referee Trask, to whom was referred the taking of evidence in the proceedings for disbarment against Charles E. Boughton, the Red Lake Falls attorney, yesterday filed his report with the clerk of the supreme court, and the case will come up for argument May 15. The report presents the testimony of the respondent, consisting chiefly of a number of witnesses to the good character of the accused.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

"SQUAW MEN" AND NETS.

They Make Trouble for the Fish Commission.

Executive Agent Fullerton, of the state game and fish commission, has been called upon to decide a unique case, in respect to a "squaw man," living near Lake Superior. The government treaty exempts the Indians of the tribe to which the squaw belongs from the provisions of the fishing law for twenty-five years. Mr. Fullerton holds, however, that the man in question, Peter Gagnan, must not fish without a license.

Warden Nash, of Minneapolis, seized a number of nets yesterday in the river near the Washington avenue bridge.

Advertising Northeastern Minnesota.

A very handsome paper, full of valuable information, is the Immigration Journal for Northeastern Minnesota. It covers all the points that any intending purchaser or settler would be likely to want, with elaborate write-ups of all the main features of the Sixth congressional district. The paper is largely the work of A. G. Bernard, editor of the Grand Rapids Magnet, and is a credit to him in every respect. Copies can be had by addressing Mr. Bernard at Grand Rapids, Minn., or at Immigration headquarters in St. Paul.

Willie Michaud's Death.

After a full investigation of the facts surrounding the death of Willie Michaud, Coroner Whitcomb yesterday decided an inquest unnecessary. The funeral of the dead boy took place from the residence of his parents, 318 West Seventh street, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Michaud is still very ill from the nervous shock attendant upon the accident.
