TRAFFIC TO ORIENT

THE CHINESE BEGINNING TO APPRECIATE GOODS OF AMERICAN MANUFACTURE

WAR A GREAT OBJECT LESSON

Reports of Consuls Now Coming in Show an Unusual Activity in Foreign Trade and the Development of a Permanent Demand for the Products of the United States—Things Most Wanted.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 10.—The annual report of consuls abroad are beginning to arrive at the state department and all concur in one particular—that the export trade with the world at large has increased to a point never before reached in the annals of the country. The report of the secretary of the treasury, recently presented to congress, made this same statement, and showed statistics to prove its correctness, but these reports from consuls are of even greater interest, as they give detailed statements of the distribution of American manufactures at the different points throughout the world. Consul General Wildman, in his annual report, from Hong Kong, says:

"A careful survey of the economic conditions at Hong Kong during the first half of the year 1898 reveals two facts—first, a general, permanent increase of trade; second, unusual activity in mercantile circles, owing to the great demands made on the local market by the large American squadron and army on this coast. While this second condition may be temporary and may carry with it corresponding depression in some lines, I predict that it will be of great permanent benefit to American exporters. Nothing that could have happened to this coast would be of so great a help in the introduction of American goods in these markets as the presence of so large a body of American consumers in our midst. Our forces of occupation have done more than conquer a country; they have made an impression on Asiatic markets that can never be effaced. When our fleet first arrived here (in February, 1898) there were a few sample cases of American milk, fruits, meats, whisky and beer in the big English and German wholesale houses. The imports from America were made up almost wholly of California flour and American kerosene. Today every steamer and ship from America brings cargoes of American goods. While their ultimate destination is Manila, they are handled by European firms here and come before the public in such imposing quantities that first curiosity is aroused and demand follows.

AMERICAN AGENTS.

"The great difficulty in the past has been to get the great body of Chinese consumers to sample our manufactures. Even if this were possible, the goods came over in small consignments and at prices which were prohibitive to all but those who could afford to pay for luxuries. With the influx of the Americans into Manila, American firms have found it to their advantage to send out men to study the needs of this climate. Already one house has been established in Hong Kong, with a branch at Manila, which is meeting with gratifying success. I am informed that there is a shipment of 45,000 bales of upland cotton from Texas on its way here, which has been purchased by a large Chinese firm, and is laid down here as cheaply as the Indian cotton. The trouble with the introduction of cotton hitherto has been that American producers have tried to place on the market the lowland cotton, which is too heavy a staple, besides being too expensive. Even our upland cotton is superior to the best Indian growth. The new cotton spinning mill, regarding which I wrote on Jan. 15, 1898, is nearing completion, and it is hoped will be in operation early in the year. It will create a new market for cotton in this colony. If our upland cotton can continue to compete with the Indian and Chinese growths, the demand will be almost unlimited. As Hong Kong is the feeder for three of the richest provinces of Southern China, with a population of over 80,000,000 people.

INTEREST IN PHILIPPINES.

"There is necessarily very great interest felt in the Philippine islands, as the large English firms doing business there have offices here, and the bulk of the transshipment cargo from all European countries, save Spain, goes through Hong Kong. In the year 1897 313 ships entered this port from the Philippine islands (tonnage 138,000), carrying 106,431 tons. As a comparison, 151 ships entered the same year from Great Britain (tonnage 351,178), carrying 179,087 tons of cargo and 429,609 tons in transit. The ships clearing at this port for the Philippines were 103 (tonnage 111,487), carrying 42,065 tons of cargo and 16,691 tons of bunker coal. During the same period 109 ships cleared for the United States (tonnage 224,945), with 173,020 tons of export cargo."

Kerosene oil and flour form the principal imports from America to Hong Kong, as to all of the Chinese ports, and the demand for these articles remains steady. The exports from that colony to the United States for the six months ending Sept. 30 amounted to nearly $5,000,000, Mexican money. There will be an increased demand for cheap sewing machines, now that they have been introduced, and canned meats and fruits are also in the market to stay. Altogether, the consul says, the United States ought to control the greater portion of trade in the East, and this within a few years, if the present rate of increase is maintained.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

Appropriation for Continuation of Chippewa Pine Lands Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The committee on Indian affairs of the house today decided to appropriate $45,000 to continue the examinations and estimates for the Chippewa pine lands in Minnesota, $10,000 to be immediately available, but with the proviso that the work shall be finished in the current year.

The committee has agreed upon appropriating $25,000 for the school for the Sheviet Indians, in Utah. Commissioner Jones informed the committee that he had not recommended the usual appropriation of $20,000 for the Lincoln school in Philadelphia, because it was claimed the school was denominational. He also said that $106,600 would be necessary to carry out the provisions of the Curtis act for the Indians in Indian territory.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Dec. 10.—The enrollment of the Chickasaw nation has been completed by the Dawes commission. These are the figures which the report will show: Chickasaws, by blood and intermarriage, 4,925; Choctaws, by blood and intermarriage, 1,769; Chickasaws admitted by the courts, 688; Choctaws admitted by the courts, 1,559. Total Chickasaws and Choctaws by blood and intermarriage, 8,712; Chickasaws freedmen, 4,825; Choctaws freedmen, 463; total enrollment in Chickatow nation, 13,500.

Capt. C. H. McGill, assistant adjutant general on the staff of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, has tendered his resignation, and will be mustered out in St. Paul.
