on the BINDER question. We don't claim to sell the most goods. Neither do we claim to have the biggest pile of old machines piled up behind our place of business. And all of this reminds us of a funny story.

It is said that Abraham Lincoln, when a young lawyer engaged in a stubborn case, met as his opponent a lawyer of a very fluent and voluble address. This lawyer made credulents of the jurors and talked to them so powerfully, so sympathetically, so confidentially, that Lincoln concluded that when the lawyer got through with his speech that he had completely captivated the jury.

Lincoln arose and said: "My friend reminds me of an Ohio steamboat I knew of once. This steamboat had a 6ft boiler and a 10ft whistle. When it was not whistling it ran quite well. When it began to whistle it stopped dead still, because it took all the steam to blow the whistle. He said his friend the lawyer could think fairly well when his mouth was shut, but the moment he began to talk his thinking machine stopped like the Ohio steamboat.

This story reminds us of our competitors. So long as they keep their mouths shut and go straight ahead attending to business, they do pretty well, but the moment they open their 10ft whistle they get into the predicament the lawyer got into when he began talking—the thinking machine stops.

We thought we had the largest stock of buggies that ever came to Jasper, but we find now that we have not. We have been told by people on the outside that we were unquestionably selling more Buggies and Implements than our competitors. We had always believed it impossible to compare our business with that of our competitors as the usual fact is that the amount of sales are always regarded as a secret.

The fact of the business is we have never measured our business with other peoples business, neither have we tried to learn whether we sold more goods than our competitors or not. It is of no consequence. Russia is said to be larger than Japan, But

We have the famous COLUMBIA BUGGY to stand pat on and we on and we know that when we sell one of them to a farmer that he wont be back next week with all kinds of questions regarding the springs and shafts. When we sell a COLUMBIA Buggy we know that the deal is ended as every one who buys a Columbia Buggy is our friend forever. We will soon be in the new Opera House building with the finest line of Buggy that ever came down the Pike. Don't forget the DEERING MOWER. It does its own talking.

THE S. S. CONVETOWN.

ATTENDED BY A LARGE CROWD SUNDAY.

A Number of Prominent County Sunday School Workers in Attendance.

The Sunday Schools of Preston twp. met in convention in the grove at M. E. Church South, in this city last Sunday, in charge of township president Ray Boucher. The convention was largely attended and greatly enjoyed by all.

The convention opened at 10 o'clock with a song service led by N. C. Spencer followed with Sunday School under the direction of J. W. Spain. The gathering was divided into classes according to their ages and the regular lesson for the day was considered. Rev. Ferguson gave a short review of the lesson and offered a word of welcome to the Sunday School workers of the township and county.

Mr. Spencer, the county president, gave an interesting talk on the work of the society. He reported lines were progressing nicely and emphasized the county convention which will meet at Carterville in August.

Time was finished by an address by Mr. J. F. Walker a prominent Sunday School worker of Joplin and superintendent of one of the departments of the county work.

At the conclusion of Mr. Spencer's talk Mr. Boucher appointed a committee on nominations as follows: J. F. Leiss, W. L. Gossett, Miss Embree, Geo. Andrews, A. A. Mackey, F. W. Wescott and Mr. Matthews.

The convention then adjourned for dinner. It was supposed to have been a basket dinner but only a few came prepared and this feature was not as great a success as it might have been.

The convention convened at 2 o'clock and listened to a number of talks from county officers and local workers.

C. J. Counts, who is superintendent of the House to House visitation department for the county, told of the work of his department.

Judge McGregor, of Carthage, county treasurer for the Sunday Schools talked on the finances and urged that all Sunday Schools in the township come up with their share toward the county and state work. Following his talk a number of the schools pledged $5.00 each and others promised to give whatever their schools deemed proper.

Mrs. Matthews gave some pointers on how to teach temperance lessons in the Sunday School. Mrs. Matthews concluded by saying that many christians were like a rainbow—they come out bright after the storm is over.

A. A. Mackey, field worker for this district conducted round table, after giving a good talk himself he called on Messrs. J. W. Spain, Geo. Andrews, Mrs. Crandall, Lynn Monroe and Mr. Matthews who gave short talks on different phases of the Sunday School work.

The committee on nominations reported as follows: For Township President, D. Matthews, of Dewey School; Vice president, F. W. Wescott, Lyndland; secretary, Miss Anna Dearduff. The report of the committee was unanimously adopted, Miss Dearduff refusing to accept the secretaryship Miss Annie Boucher was elected in her place.

The Convention then adjourned.

THE KEATH-ROMEISER WEDDING

Bride Is A Former Jasper Girl.

The marriage of Miss Ida Romeiser, a former Jasper girl, to Mr. W. G. Keath, took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs. P. F. Romeiser in Chillicothe Wednesday, June 8. The Tribune of that city gives the following extended account of the happy event which will be read with a great deal of pleasure by the bride's many friends in this vicinity:

It was a scene of beauty, and one long to be remembered when the Romeiser home was thrown open last night to its friends and relatives to witness the marriage of their eldest of its beautiful daughters, Miss Ida Romeiser, to Mr. William G. Keath.

The night was perfect, and as the guests entered the delicately lighted home, they realized the occasion was one of great joy and happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Romeiser stood in the center of the reception hall and gave each guest a cordial and hearty welcome. Mrs. Romeiser looked so youthful and beautiful in her all white gown that she seemed rather the sister than the mother of the bride.

The house was decorated most artistically with cut flowers, potted plants smilax and ferns. In the reception hall the eye was caught by a beautiful arrangement of longouns ferns and leaves in the fret-work of the stairway. Great vases of white roses filled the windows and the piano, and the area between the hall and parlor was trimmed with white flowers and smilax. In the parlor the curtains were caught with white roses and smilax, and the mantle was completely covered making a most fitting back-ground of ferns and white roses for the ceremony. The library showed the same profusion of flowers and in there Miss Cora Hitt presided over the punch bowl. A bands of red ribbon barred the dining room, which was gorgeous with its red decorations. Under a red-shaded lamp stood the table which proudly held in the center, on a beautiful lunch cloth, a vase of great American Beauties. Lighted red candles were placed at each corner and bands of ribbon reached from the lamp to the corner of the table. A screen of red roses and smilax and vases of roses completed the beauty of the room.

At eight o'clock the rooms were filled with guests and shortly after eight, Miss Alice Grace, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Ezra Fish, sang clearly and sweetly, "Oh, Promise Me," and then even more sweetly, she sang "With You." After the last strains of the song, Mrs. Fish glided into the dearly familiar chords of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, and slowly, down the stairs came the bridal party. First came the maid of honor, Miss May Romeiser, sister of the bride, and the best man, Mr. Don Dider. Miss Romeiser was the personification of girlish beauty in her dainty, yet exquisite gown of white chiffon cloth. She carried pink roses. They were followed by the bridal pair. Stately and calm, the bride made a beautiful picture, leaning on the arm of the groom who was erect and handsome. The bride wore an elegant grown of white dotted chiffon, over silk, with a bridal veil. She carried white roses. Both the groom and best man wore conventional black.

The party came slowly through the hall into parlor, where at the mantle they paused and turning, faced the guests. While Mrs. Fish played softly "Annie Laurie," Rev. Jackson pronounced the ceremony, using the ring ceremony which was a most impressive one.

After the congratulations and greetings the guests went up stairs to see the wedding presents, which were many and costly and made a beautiful sight.

The dining room was then thrown open and after serving the bridal party, Miss Lena Romeiser and Miss Mary West served the guests to bricket ice cream, cake and nuts.

Later, the bride, standing on the stairs, threw her bouquet down to the crowd of girls and Miss Anne Grace caught it. The groom then threw the single rose from the stairs and it was captured by Mr Ray McNally.

The wedding cake was then cut and Miss Florence Hitt drew the charmed needle. Miss Cora Hitt drew the ring and Miss Robinson the dime.

One by one the guests departed wishing the young couple all the joy and happiness in the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Keath left on the 12:01 Harrington train for St Louis, and when they arrived at the station they found many friends waiting for them. But they guarded their trunk and grip so well that the foundlers succeeded in getting only one placard upon it. But the crowd showered them with rice and gave them a good sendoff.

Many people remarked what an unusually happy wedding it was, and naturally, for it united two unusually fine young people, and was the fitting end of an unusually happy courtship.

SAM WALLER MARRIED.

Former Jasper Boy Weds At Marceline.

Samuel Waller, a former Jasper boy, son of Mr and Mrs John Waller, and Miss Delia Whiteman were married at Marceline Sunday, June 5. The Marceline Journal gives the following account of the marriage:

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock Rev Thos. Wolcott pronounced the words which made Mr Sam Waller and Miss Delia Whiteman man and wife. The wedding which had been planned for later in the month was hastened by the death of Miss Whiteman's father. The family felt that in the honor of their sorrow that it would be better for the young people to be married that he could better assist them in their hour of affliction. Sam Waller is one of our very best young men. A partner in the firm of Waller and Company, an excellent business man, honest, energetic, steady, a husband of whom any woman might be proud. And fortunate indeed was he in winning as a bride Miss Whiteman whose quiet, refined worth, has won her many and lasting friends. Miss Whiteman is an excellent musician and like Miss Hemmings was a member of the St Cecilia Music club. She possesses the many home loving traits of character which it takes to make a truly happy home. At present they will make their home with Mrs Whiteman

THE FLOWER PARADE.

WILL BE AN ELEGANT 4TH OF JULY ATTRACTION.

Open To Citizens Of Jasper And Surrounding Country

When the Fourth of July committee set aside $15 as prize for the best decorated carriage in the flower parade on the Fourth they evidently intended this to be one of the most attractive features of the day and it is safe to say that they will not be disappointed.

Wesley Spain who has this feature in charge reports quite a number who have already signified their intention of entering the contest, but he is very anxious to secure many more to take part in the parade. This contest is open to anybody in Jasper or surrounding country, and Mr Spain hopes that a number from the country will try for the prizes.

The time is getting short and all who are contemplating decorating should begin preparations. All who intend to enter the contest are requested to notify Mr Spain as soon as possible. Three prizes are worth striving for and everyone who can possibly do so ought to try for them.
