There is no periodical published that so thoroughly meets the requirements of the entire household as "Peterson." Its varied contents offer at the same time entertainment and instruction. The November number is full of the illustrations, and among its stories are "Christine," by Miss M. G. McClelland, one of the best short stories we have ever read by this popular author, and "The Gap Between," by Frank Lee Benedict. "The Isles of Many Names" is a charmingly illustrated sketch. Minna Irving contributes a beautiful poem, "The Flight of the Birds," "Folk-Lore of Finger-Rings," "Upholstering at Home," and "Some Interesting Relics," are all good and full of useful information.

Some pretty designs and valuable suggestions for making Christmas gifts are given. The Fashion and Household departments are, as usual, admirably edited.

For 1892, the Magazine will be strengthened by some new contributors—among them Julian Hawthorne, Ellen W. Mormon, author of "Paris," Henry Cleveland Woods, and Andre Gerard, a noted French writer. The additional talent will add much to the value of "Peterson."

Have Fishing in Texas.

Friday night L. Frankel, Mr. Smith, Miss Isadore Smith and others got into a skiff and started up the stream, rowing up among the water lilies and logs. The river was even stirred muddy from the rain, and before the boat had proceeded far a large bass leaped from the water into the boat. It was followed by another and another, until within the space of a few minutes there were fifteen flopping, flounding bass in the bottom of the boat, ranging from half a pound to 11 pounds in weight.

The action of these fish cannot be accounted for, as there was no light whatever in the boat. Several of the larger fish attempting these acrobatic feats jumped entirely over the boat.—San Antonio Express.

Singularities.

A court house was sold one day last week in Georgia for $25.

Arizona has a well fed hog. He will doubtless be "in the swim."

Statistics go to show that the male population of the civilized world is falling farther and farther behind the female.

A meteorological station is to be established in Siloam, Palestine, a place 682 feet below the level of the Mediterranean sea.

Dollinger, Ia., chicks a living skeleton in the person of a man who is 5 feet 8 inches in height, and weighs but sixty-five pounds.

There are two bearing apple trees in Indiana county, Pennsylvania, that were planted in 1792. One of them is two feet in circumference.

A 3-year-old owned in Greenville, Ill., swallowed, to four excess the other day. Strong nature seems to share in the general lessening of the extraordinary year.

T. C. Kennedy of Lebanon, S. D., sold his colt for $1 to a Chicago museum man for $1000. The noble beast is the proud owner of two heads, two tails and eight legs.

Dr. Elmer of Paris has found that hypnotic patients sing the phonograph as readily as they do a living speaker. He therefore records the whole theory of animal magnetism.

There is a man in Chinatown, San Francisco, who has not lain down for twenty years. And it isn't very probable that he will ever lie down again until death overpowers him.

While a student was attending a doctor in Connecticut the other day he tore open a rattlesnake chest and smashed a bottle of chloroform. The fumes stupefied the animal, and it was easily killed.

A curious white frog has been on exhibition in London this summer. It is a full grown specimen of a pure white color, its ruby eyes fringed with a golden hue, strangely contrasting with its pink iris and milky eyelids.

William Innes died and was buried at Corunna, Ind., in 1888. At the time of his death Mr. Innes weighed 180 pounds. In May of this year, when the remains were disinterred, they were found to be petrified, to look like marble, and to weigh exactly 400 pounds.

Women's names appear this year for the first time on the list of vice presidents of the board of directors of the National Educational association. Eighty-one per cent of all public school teachers in the country are women.

A Convenient Ring.

The following incident happened at Oroville, Cal.: It was a handsome solitaire, and she evidently desired the jeweler to know that it was her engagement ring.

"I would like to have this ring cut down to fit my finger," said the handsome heart-crushed maiden, handed the brilliant ring before the eyes of the jeweler.

The jeweler took the ring and smiled—he had seen it before.

"I can fix that in a minute," replied he. Screwing a magnifying glass in his eye, and taking a small sharp pointed instrument in his hand, he touched a middle button on the inside of the ring and made it the exact size, saying as he placed it on her finger, "you see these rings are made in this manner for the reason that they are worn by so many different people; it is a great convenience."

The young lady sailed out of the store burning with indignation, and the reason she did not fly was because she didn't have the wings. What did she think? You know, and it is only necessary to state that she did not wear the ring. Another girl has it now, but this time the jeweler was not permitted to touch the button—the young man did it himself.—Jewelers' Circular.

Sleep in Sickness.

Concerning sleep in connection with sickness, there is a good deal of heresy regarding the matter among otherwise well informed people. "Don't let her sleep too long!" Be sure to wake him when it is time to give the medicine; it will do a great deal better for him not to sleep too long at one time. How often have we heard these words, or words to that effect worn, in a, in nine cases out of ten, and very likely ninety-nine cases out of the hundred, they were the exact opposite of the truth. Gentle, restful sleep is better than any medicine; and how often—even now almost invariably—does the "change for the better" for which anxious friends are waiting so painfully, come during sleep, making its first manifestation when the patient arises with brightened eye, stronger voice, a faint tinge of returning health in mantling the features in place of the wan hue of threatening death.

In the words of Sancho Panza we may all say, "blessed be the man who invented sleep." There are, of course, critical situations in which a troubled, imperfect sleep may be broken to a broader mechanism, but in these latter days physicians quite generally give the caution that in case of restful sleep the patient is not to be awakened for the administering of medicines.

The St. Louis Republic never waits to be thrown among the path of progress by sharp competition, but leaps on for it the bold that competition is an impossibility. Its first bold departure was the publication of its weekly in five separate editions one each for Missouri, Illinois, Texas, Arkansas and Kansas, and a general edition for the rest of the country. Next, it made the Weekly Republican semi-weekly, issuing it in two sections of six pages each. Then it established a special Tariff Department, edited by Hon. W. L. Wilson, M. C. Now, it announces that each of these original features will continue permanently, and besides, that two more pages will soon be added to one section each week, giving subscribers fourteen pages regularly every week, for only one dollar a year. Sample copies will be sent free on application.

A careful study of the Democratic theory of a tariff for revenue leads one to the conclusion that those articles only upon which the tariff is a tax are the ones which the Democrats claim should be taxed.
