Saint Mary's Beacon COUNTY NEWS.

Lost.
A suit of gentleman's clothing on road from St. Clement's Bay to Leonardtown. Reward if returned to BEACON OFFICE.

The Virginia Trip.
The Leonardtown Baseball Club returned Tuesday evening last from its visit to the Northern Neck most elated by two victories—one over the Montross and another over the Warsaw nine—and loud in its praise of the hospitality of our Virginia neighbors. The score in the first game was 9 to 35, and in the second game 11 to 26. A full account of the games will appear in our next paper.

Should be Done at Once.
Mr. James T. Abell, one of our best citizens and truest Democrats is justly wroth at the condition of the Brittan's Neck roads and the way they have been managed. He says the Farmers' Club offered to furnish team and implements free for the repair of these roads and all the county is asked to do is to pay the labor. This is a fair proposition from good Democrats and our county fathers should accept it at once.

Fancy Ball.
There will be a Fancy Ball at Moore's Hotel in Leonardtown on next Wednesday, July 27th instant, under the management of the ladies of St. Andrew's Parish, the proceeds to be devoted to a charitable purpose. The ladies attending the ball are expected to appear in Fancy Costumes. Admission to Ball, 25 cents. Refreshments at reasonable prices. All must come for sweet charity's sake and see how well the ladies can wait on them.

Commissioners' Court.
Monday, July 18, 1892. Board met—all the members present.
Ordered that James E. Heard's assessment of 3rd District, be returned insolvent for year 1890.
Treasurer was ordered to pay James F. Abell $28.97, accounts omitted from levy of 1892.
Ordered that John W. Tippett, insane pauper, be sent to Alms House.

Mr. W. W. Cecil re-appointed collector for the 1st collection district.
Board adjourned to Tuesday, August 9, 1892.

The Appointments.
Governor Brown has named the School Commissioners and assigned their terms as follows: Ezra E. Mattingly, six years; Joseph H. Key, four years; J. Frank Bohanan, two years.

On the Board of Election Supervisors Mr. Tippett is replaced by Mr. Samuel Rawleigh, of the 1st district, and Messrs. B. R. Abell and J. Frank Smith have been re-appointed.

Calvert county was given the Patuxent Police Boat and St. Mary's gets the Katie Hines with Mr. Oscar G. Hayden as Captain.

Of course, there will likely be some dissatisfaction with the appointments. There always is; but it must be confessed that the Governor and also the members of the Board of Public Works have tried to deal fairly with the different elements of the party in St. Mary's. The Democracy of the Democratic appointees is of the "all wool" kind. Mr. Mattingly has been given the long term as School Commissioner and Mr. Hayden has received the Police Boat, thus substantially recognizing two good Democrats and prominent leaders. We hope, now that the appointment agency is over, the party will no longer be distracted by differences as the claims for preferment of individuals but that it will be a unit in opposition to the High Tariff and Force Bill doctrines of the enemy.

St. Nicholas' Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Monday, July 18th instant, the contracting parties being Mr. L. Raymond Peak, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Fannie L. Bohanan, of this county. At 6.30 P. M. the bridal party entered the Church and were met at the chancel by the Rev. Father Ryan, who performed the ceremony. The bride, who is one of St. Mary's fairest and winsome daughters, was attired in a dress of steel cream cloth, trimmed handsomely in silk and braid, with hat and gloves to match. She carried a lovely bouquet of La France roses. The groom was attired in the conventional black, and looked handsome and happy. He is a well known Washingtonian, being assistant secretary of Corcoran Fire Insurance Company. The bride is the only child of the late Dr. W. T. Bohanan and step-daughter of John L. Hilton, Esq.

After receiving the congratulations of their many relatives and friends, they were driven to Millstone Landing, where they took the steamer for Baltimore, on route for an extended Northern tour. Many relatives accompanied them to the wharf to wish them God speed. May Heaven's choicest blessings rest upon them and may their life be long and happy. They will return to Washington, the home of the groom, to reside. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hilton accompanied them on their bridal tour, where they will visit many places of interest.

Among those present were, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hilton, parents of the bride; Genevieve and Henry Hilton, sister and brother of the bride; Mrs. Peak, of Washington, mother of the groom; Mr. C. M. Bohanan and family, Mr. J. F. Bohanan and family, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Purcell, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. McKay, Mr. C. M. Hilton, Misses Mollie, Carrie and Katie Hilton, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hilton, Mr. Geo. Bohanan and family, Mr. B. Harris Camaleri and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Haley, Mr. and Mrs. Craddock, Mr. and Mrs. Jarboe, Mrs. Bean, Miss Maggie Tucker, of Baltimore, and many other friends.

Miss Lula Duncan and Mr. B. D. Sullivan, of Baltimore, are visiting at Mrs. Saunders, 3rd district. Mr. Sullivan says he is staking out partridges and rabbits preparatory to slaying them the coming Fall.

Island Items.
That the Island is to have a Catholic Church is a reality. Work upon said Church has been started and under the skillful management of Messrs. Forrester and Ingram is progressing very rapidly. The Church is being erected near the center of the Island and will when completed be a commodious and handsome structure. It is reported a P. E. Church will also be erected here in the near future. The Rev. Maurice Vaughan has labored hard to accumulate sufficient money to erect a Church and well deserves the success which he has met. He conducts bi-monthly services at the Potomac Hotel.

Capt. Rodgers, of Alexandria, Va., is engaged in building a wharf for Adams Bros., proprietors of the Potomac Hotel. The building of this wharf supplies a long felt want.

It is with profound regret we chronicle the death of Mrs. Jno. E. Bland. She leaves a husband and two children to mourn her loss.

Quite a large number of persons from Washington, D. C., are sojourning at the Potomac Hotel.

Lowtown Local.
(From our Regular Correspondent.)
Although the mercury lingers within the neighborhood of 90 degrees those who like to dance frequently enjoy themselves. We do not think that the entertainment which was given to the students of Loyola College, 18th instant, by Messrs. A. S. Beville and Company, will soon be forgotten.

It was an enjoyable affair, as the many who were present can testify. At the conclusion of the calisthenic exercises, the students gave a musical and vocal concert, which added to the pleasure of the happy occasion. Not until fair Lanna's rays gladdened the beautiful flowers and odoriferous shrubs, which charmed with new sweetness the surroundings, did the parting word 'good night' greet the ear.

Fond hearts have been made glad by the appearance of the absent one. A manly form entered the old homestead a few days ago after an absence of three years, and Willie Lee, son of Mr. Henry Clarke, was greeted with an affection which knew no bounds.

Our poultry fancier has been very fortunate so far. His incubator works well, and the Belphe brooders do their work effectively. They are said to be the best in use.

The Beacon's predictions that praise in lieu of the reverse would be heard in the near future to the condition of the roads are happily realized herewith. The road leading from the Pine to the wharves on Smith's Creek is in a most excellent condition, and roads of other sections have been substantially repaired.

Fish, such as trout and crocus, are being caught, and reasonable figures are asked for them. Mr. B. M. Dunbar, our leading angler for sheephead, reports that the catching is satisfactory. They retail from 50 to 75 cts. each.

Logan Hopewell, colored, who was badly scalded a few days since by the explosion of an engine, is slowly recovering.

Corn continues to suffer on account of the worm.

Fruit is exceedingly scarce, and we notice that the pear trees are dying. The little boys are having a pleasant time, so they say, gathering blackberries, which they readily sell and bank the proceeds for future investments—peanuts, taffy and jowharps.

Mr. J. C. Goodrich and Messrs. Jarboe and Dunbar, undertakers, have a plentiful supply of caskets—all of the latest styles.

Mr. Henry Wible, our suburban blacksmith, keeps his bellows a-going, despite the cry of hard times and sultry weather.

Mr. Geo. L. Smith, mail sub-contractor, reports that flies are very annoying to horses and cattle at Point Lookout.

Cupid, feroch, is active and we presume that his arrows seldom if ever miss the mark.

The W. and B. Club is gradually diminishing in numbers. It is really sad to contemplate the same, yet such is the stubborn fact. A possible dozen may be captured before the prospective meeting in September. Thirteen was the total membership in June. To-day, alas! there is a perceptible decrease. Well, those whose hopes are too much buoyed up have always to meet the severest disappointments. The key to the matter is an invincible tendency to huber-aller is the basis of the character of the majority of the members of the Club.

Mr. Nelson Ridgell, than whom there is no better farmer in the district, informs us that the corn of his section is greatly injured by the worm.

Our old friend and fellow ex-robber, William Wilson, has entirely recovered, and we trust that we may live to have many social chats relative to the time which sorely tried our souls.

Much wheat is being shipped per steamers Sue and Tygart to Baltimore.

Boards continue to arrive, and Capt. W. T. West has all that he can accommodate.

Mrs. Jake Bradshaw, nee Ridgell, died on Smith's Island and her remains were brought to the district and interred in St. Michael's graveyard Saturday, 16th inst. Much sympathy is expressed for the bereaved husband and family.

If prudence has its laws, it certainly has its bounds. If we obey her behests, her limits will probably be respected, i. e., not overstepped. It is a natural consequence that sickness of some kind will overtake us between the cradle and the grave, yet, much of the complaints with which we more or less suffer are occasioned in consequence of imprudence—a total disregard of the call of the plain laws of prudence.

Will not an over indulgence in eating, bathing, etc., produce unpleasant results? The lustreless and phrenzied eye, the pallid and sunken cheeks and jaundiced and yellow skin are a suitable answer. A word to the right-thinking, we think, will suffice.

Miss Marion Smith is visiting her relatives, the Misses Smith, near Point Lookout, and Miss Mamie Barnea, after a pleasant visit to friends at Cedar Grove, has returned to Pennsylvania.

PERSONAL.—The late arrivals at "The Branch" are Mrs. P. M. Dyer, Messrs. Edwin H. Hess, Morton G. Luchs, Will Emory Day and J. E. M. Riley, of N. Y.

Game Week.
Recently we had the pleasure of visiting the Canoe Neck section of the 7th district. The neighborhood evidences the thrift of its inhabitants in their well-kept and handsome houses. The places of the brothers Beitzell and of Mr. Lewis K. Mattingly are models of comfort and neatness. Mr. M.'s artesian well is a treasure and some of our party evidently thought they had "struck it rich" when they found they had hit his cold storage box. Mr. William Thompson is the carpenter for the neighborhood and he is now engaged on a yacht for Mr. Jos. F. Neal which is 30 feet long, 10 feet across the beam and when completed will be the handsomest and fastest boat of her class in the two bays.

[COMMUNICATED.]
VALLEY LEE, July 16, 1892.

Messrs. Editors.—In a card in your last issue, entitled "the steamboat controversy," the writer tells our people some plain, undisputed facts. The Md. and Va. Steamboat Company is a monopoly of the rank-and-file. They have us in their power and are not at all over zealous in their efforts to conceal the fact we are at their mercy, and, what is worse, that we are contented that such should be the case. Like Boss Tweed of unblest memory, they laugh at our complaints and ask us "what we are going to do about it?" That some of the officers of the line are clever, polite, agreeable and indeed everything that is pleasant, it is not the object of this card to deny. That the patrons of this line pay and pay handsomely for the service they get or not with respect for the truth will or can refuse to admit. Now, when we are compelled to pay prices of the highest order, is it unreasonable or unjust or ungentlemanly to expect in return services of the highest order? We may be wrong and may be doing these poor gentlemen an injury, but we think not. Do we get even ordinary services? Let the complaints of freight landed at the wrong wharf, or not landed at all, answer the query. The writer has had personal experiences in this particular and will give it if occasion demands. And what is still more aggravating in a great many instances if redress is sought, no one can be found willing to accept responsibility for mistakes, and you are sent from official to official, until sometimes you find that you are chasing the rainbow. In the eye of the law the common carrier is the servant of the public and is held to a strict accountability for his acts, but the Md. and Va. Company is in practice the public's master. Are we, then, in the face of extortionate charges, poor services and official impudence, to continue to cry down all offers of competition?

PASSENGER.
Seventh District Family.

Congressman Bynum and family at River Springs—Congressman Youmans at Capt. Palmer's—Boy Fatally Burned, etc.

The Hon. William D. Bynum, the distinguished Indiana Congressman, is on a visit, with his family, to Dr. R. P. Blackstone's popular Summer Resort, River Springs.

Your correspondent had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Bynum and his wife, during a brief call, on Sunday last, and was most favorably impressed by the pleasant and affable manner in which he was received. Mr. Bynum conversed freely upon public questions and discussed them in a manner which showed a thorough familiarity with national affairs. He thought Mr. Cleveland's nomination the strongest that could have been made. He believed he was the choice of an overwhelming majority of Democrats of the country and felt not only hopeful but reasonably well assured of his election. Of course, we could not expect such a phenomenal majority as that in 1890, but he believed that, for the first time in many years, took their places in the Democratic column, would remain with us this Fall, though probably by reduced majorities. He thought Tariff Reform, opposition to the Force Bill and an economical administration of our national government were the great issues upon which the Democrats would win. Free coinage is dead for the present, and in all probability for many years to come, or until there is an agreement by an international monetary conference. He thought it was a mistake in Democrats to attempt to press the passage of the bill after our National Convention had proclaimed the policy of our party to be opposed to the measure. Though, as the bill was passed by a Republican Senate and defeated by a Democratic House, he did not anticipate any evil effect from its consideration, though he admitted that Free Coinage was strong in the South and many of the Western States. The people, however, were so strong in their faith in Mr. Cleveland's honesty and ability, that they were willing to trust him, even though his views might not be in entire accord with their own on some public questions.

Mr. Bynum was one of the Congressional Committee to visit Homestead, the scene of the recent riot at the Carnegie works. He regards the situation there as quite serious. All will be quiet so long as the military remain, but it is very uncertain what state of affairs may result from a withdrawal of the troops and the attempt of the company to introduce non-union workmen or to guard their works with Pinkerton Detectives.

He paid a high compliment to our immediate representative in Congress, the Hon. Barnes Compton, whom he said was an able, faithful and efficient member, and one whose social and personal qualities rendered him popular and influential.

Mr. Bynum is a gentleman of distinguished bearing, but whose pleasant address and affable manners render him of easy approach. His accomplished wife, and daughter give a charm to his family circle and smooth the rugged path of a statesman's life.

Congressman Youmans, of Michigan, visited the family of Capt. John Palmer last week. Ex-Judge Fred Stone and Senator Adrian Foley have been among the guests at River Springs this season.

A son of Tom Clarke, colored, was fatally burned a few days ago, by the explosion of a can of oil, while kindling a fire. He lived only a few hours.

With fair weather, wheat-threshing will be about completed in this section this week. The yield has been fair and the quality good, but prices are too low for profit to the producer.

Congressman Bynum, of Indiana, has returned to Washington leaving his family at River Springs. He is expected to visit that popular resort again after the adjournment of Congress.

(Correspondence of the Beacon.)
As we have so many magistrate trials in our neighborhood, I think it would interest some of your readers to know how they are disposed of sometimes. In violations of the dredge law the cases are generally settled for $5.00 and costs; for fighting, $1.00 and costs; for gunning on Sunday, $1.00 and costs. Now, with such heavy fines, you would think we had a quiet neighborhood, yet we have a few fights and other violations of law. Now, gentlemen, we had a case on Wednesday, the 6th instant. I cannot understand, as I do not know much about law, and am rather thick-headed, but the case is this—There is living near me a gentleman who two years ago bought a farm that was turned into the common, built a fine house, and in Summer had a number of guests from the city. Some ten days before the trial one of the little boys got a gun in some way, as boys will do, for boys are never so happy as when they have a gun. (Why, gentlemen, when I was a boy I would almost give my head for a gun.) Well, this little boy got the gun; he did not shoot himself or any one else; I don't know that he even shot a bird, and he did not go outside of the gentleman's enclosure, but just had a little fun firing the gun off. You know boys like to hear the report of a gun. Well, the gentleman who owned the place and the boy's father were both in Washington; a colored gentleman living near, who may be very good, did not like the Sabbath broken and swore out a warrant before a Justice of the Peace, who we all know is the best of men, and I don't suppose would fire a gun on Sunday or take a drink for anything, issued a warrant to a constable, one of our best men, of course, or he would not have been appointed constable. Now, gentlemen, you would not think that these good men would have taken that little boy, but they did, and the boy, not having a man to take his part, a lady had to go with him to a store. You know what a country store where whisky is sold is like. Well, these good men took this little boy and they did not let him go until they got $1.00 fine and costs $2.00. I suppose the county gets $1.00 and each of the officers $1.00 and the good colored gentleman nothing, unless they gave him the $1.00 fine to inform on the boy. Now, to those who would like to have my opinion, which is not worth much, I will say I think it an outrage for an officer to arrest a boy and take him to a public store, when he has only a lady to defend him, and impose as much fine for firing a gun on Sunday as he does on a man who takes a four pound weight and tries to knock another man's brains out. That is what our good Justice has done. Gentlemen, just imagine your wife and child sometime in a strange place in the same position. How would you like it? Are not such actions a bad advertisement for old St. Mary's, who we have always boasted of our hospitality to strangers? The Justice, I am told, excused himself by saying he would make an example of the boy, but he has plenty of opportunities without taking a boy and a lady who are strangers for an example. Firing a gun on Sunday is no rare occurrence in this neighborhood, and there are plenty of other violations of Sunday law which they could easily ascertain if they desired; and nearly Winter these same officers could on nearly any day, in this section, see a dozen or more men that they knew violating the oyster cull law. Why did they not make an example of them? That would have been doing their duty. But, no, they prefer to take a little boy who had done no one any harm, and a stranger in a strange land, and impose as much fine on him as they would on a lot of drunken men for fighting and polluting the air with profanity and obscenity. That is the justice we get from this great and good man, who will not let a little boy fire a gun on Sunday. He forgets that he was once a boy. In God's name, must the people of dear old St. Mary's put up with such travesty of fairness? Dear Editors, tell all the little boys you see that if they come to this neighborhood not to go gunning on Sunday, for if they do they will get into trouble. I love good little boys who do not gun on Sunday and do not want them to get in trouble. GNOXON.

Localities and Otherwise.
Mr. Geo. Combs of Washington, son of Dr. Charles Combs, of this village, is on a visit home.

Miss Julia and Master Carroll Hayden, are visiting their sister, Mrs. B. H. Camaleri, Leonardtown.

Mr. J. B. Russell, formerly of this district, at present of Washington, is stopping at Moore's Hotel.

Miss Young, of Washington, who has been visiting the Misses Forrest, of "Della Brooke," has returned to the city.

Miss Angela Petty, of Washington and the Misses Gibbons, of Georgetown, were among recent visitors to Leonardtown.

A festival in aid of Sacred Heart Church will be given on Wednesday, August 10th in the old Church. Particulars next week.

Miss Winnie Caswood of Leonardtown is in Baltimore under the care of Dr. Jos. Baden. We trust she will soon be restored to health.

Mrs. R. M. Bonis, nee Edwards, and her little daughter Grace, of Washington, D. C., are on a visit to Mrs. T. Lee Mattingly of this village.

Philip H. Tuck, Esq., of the Baltimore bar, and Mr. Samuel R. George, were in Leonardtown Tuesday in attendance upon the sale of the Cedar Point Estate.

John W. Tippett, alleged to be insane, was, Sunday last, confined in the county jail and on Monday the Commissioners passed an order for him to be taken to the Almshouse.

Misses Ellen and Edna and Master James Edelen, children of the late William J. Edelen are visiting their relatives in Leonardtown. Mrs. Jennie Edelen is at St. Inigo's.

Tuesday, special officer G. W. Maddox brought to Leonardtown and lodged in jail on warrant of Justice Sive, Frank Robinson, colored, of Chaptico district, alleged to be insane.

Mrs. Sarah A. D. Klein, of Virginia, has purchased, through William F. Ford, the La Grande Estate near Millstone Landing and moved there. She brought with her to this county a fine herd of Jersey cattle.

The many friends of Dr. John T. Spalding sincerely regret his confinement to his bed by sickness and join with the Beacon in wishing him a speedy restoration to health. We hope he will soon be able to resume his practice.

The promotion of Capt. Silvester to the Presidency of the Maryland Agricultural College leaves the principalship of Charlotte Hall Academy vacant. We hope some St. Mary's man will be honored by the appointment. Capt. George Thomas, J. Frank Coad, J. Marshall Dent, J. Felix Fenwick or George W. Joy would be good men for the place.

The Cedar Point property was sold Tuesday at public sale. The tract known as Big Woods, containing 110 acres, was bought by Dean H. Dawson for $800; the tract on the Three Notch road, containing 380 acres, was bought by Samuel K. George for $1140, and Cedar Point, containing 700 acres was bought by Richard J. Readmore for $6,000.

The New Sacred Heart Church will be dedicated on Sunday, July 24th at 10 a. m., by the Rev. E. V. Baunard S. J., Rector of Woodstock College. A three days mission will begin at 5 p. m., under the direction of Rev. Daniel Doherty S. J., an eloquent preacher. Sermons for Adults during the mission will be given at 9:30 a. m., and 5:30 p. m. Instructions for children at 3 p. m., on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The public are respectively invited.
