Concert Tonight.

A Kingston, Can., paper says of the Mozart Symphony club, which shows at the Barre opera house tonight:

"A rare musical treat was the concert given by the Mozart Symphony club of New York to a large audience in the Grand Opera House Sunday evening. It was an hour of rich enjoyment to the finer senses, the enjoyment with which music thrills, satisfies and delights. The overture, 'Titus' (Mozart), as rendered by the full orchestra, was thoroughly pleasing. Apart from her playing, Miss Marie Stori won her listeners by her charming manner; her violin solo, 'Rapsody, Hungarian,' was played with a satisfying sweetness, the plaintive notes appealing, the deep chords, rich and beautiful. 'Because,' with violin obligato, played and sung by Miss Stori, was a sweet solo, well rendered, and her encore, 'My Old Kentucky Home,' the simple familiar strains of which added further appreciation to her as an artist of rare ability. Herr Theodore Hoch is an excellent player, a master of many instruments; his 'Vertessin,' on the Alpine echo horn, and 'Kaiser Parade,' on the Herald's trumpet, being exceptionally well played. Miss Julie Petersen, as a flutist and pianist, is to be praised. The viola d'amour solo ('Virgin's Last Slumber'), by Richard Stoelzer, was remarkably well rendered, and his violin solo, as an encore, was truly the gem of the evening."
