Mud Lark.

Congress Longworth at a dinner told a story about mud.

"An American in Liverpool, waiting for a boat home," he said, "ate his last dinner on foreign soil with an Englishman.

"The Englishman complained of the mud in America. He told a number of tall stories about the execrable roads of America and the scrapes they had got him into, both walking and driving.

"At the end of a particularly tall story of this kind the American said:

"'Yes, we have a lot of mud in America. I admit it. It is nothing to the mud over here, though.'

"'Nonsense,' said the Englishman.

"'Fact,' the American replied. 'Why, this afternoon, on a walk out Chester way, I had a remarkable adventure—came near getting into trouble with an old gentleman—all though your accursed mud.'

"'Some of the streets are a little greasy at this season, I admit,' said the Englishman. 'What was your adventure, though?'

"'Well,' said the American, 'as I was walking along Bold street I noticed that the mud was thick, and presently I saw a high hat afloat on a large puddle of rich ooze.

"'Thinking to do some one a kindness, I gave the hat a poke with my stick, when an old gentleman looked up from beneath, surprised and frowning.

"'"Hello," I said, "you're in pretty deep."

"'"Deeper than you think," he said. "I'm on the top of an omnibus."'"—Exchange.

Rediscovery of Woozle-Doozle.

Note.—Great excitement was caused recently in archaeological and dramatic circles by the discovery of an ancient manuscript, purporting to be a copy of a musical comedy of the time of Shakespeare, written, perhaps, by the great dramatist himself. Learned antiquarians and decipherers of obscure hieroglyphics are now at work upon the text which, unfortunately, is legible only in spots. However, from the few specimens that have so far been extracted it is plain that the Elizabethan musical comedy lacked none of the qualities that make the modern article a thing of joy to all lovers of true dramatic art. What could surpass the tender pathos and haunting melody of the following line, which was one of the first to be recovered from this long-lost library treasure!

The Woozle-Doozle frazzled in the fair moonshine.

On the principle of "Ex pede Herculem", which enables your learned archaeologist to build up a complete true-to-life copy of an ichthyosaurus or a pterodactyl from a fragment of the little toe nail, the following verse have been appended to the above giving delighting lay. Attention is called to the last two words in the line, which have been altered, there being no evidence in support of the theory that the Woozle-Doozle was a native of Kentucky:

On the Woozle-Doozle frazzled in the bright moonlight,
As he danced the razzle-razzle with a blim-blam sprite;
Then he hitched the razzle-dazzle with the wings of night
To the airy barma-scarum for a whir bang flight.

Down the milky way they frizzled o'er the gew-gaw glass,
While the Wiggle-Waggle wobbled in the spring-song breeze;
Then the gimble-gromble frewaled with a floogleen sneeze,
And they skinned till they stranded in the moon's green cheese.

When the sniffle-diffle found 'em in the squeezeless ooze
They were sadly flaggergaster by the zero wind-groom,
And the barmla-parmla with a sneezeless sneeze
Had emotionally squinted all the chell bamboos.

Then the Woozle-Doozle kringled on a gamboge,
Which he flinkously smuggled 'neath a nimble tree;
Then the sprite and he emblitzled with a hong wineere,
But, alas, they sally gloogled in the gleemere sea.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair tonics may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and Stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
