A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of the Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a cultur innoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.

It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only preventative of baldness is the destruction of the germs which can be successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.

Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.

Accept no substitute. "Destroy the germ you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in coin for sample to The Herpicide Co.

Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.

Death of Well-known Musician.

A. B. Stockbridge, aged 57 years, well known in the cello school of Blaisdell's orchestra some years ago, died at Woodstock Monday night from the effects of a shock of paralysis suffered about two weeks ago. He had been a member of the Woodstock Inn orchestra several seasons. He leaves a wife, who was once a member of a Swedish ladies' quartette, and three sons. The body was taken to his home in Hyde Park, Mass.

"Regular as the Sun" is an expression as old as the sun. No doubt the rising and setting of the sun is the most regular performance in the universe, unless it be the action of the liver and bowels when regulated with Dr. King's New Life Pills. Guaranteed by Red Cross pharmacy. Price, 25c.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

ABOUT THE STATE.

News of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Bristol citizens have voted to exempt C. G. Rose from taxation for five years, providing he erects a wood-working factory there.

In an experiment with a new marble cleaning fluid, School Commissioner J. F. Lamb and Albert Young, of Rutland, recently burned their hands. The cleaner contained hydrofluoric acid.

A strenuous effort is being made to keep Walter L. Main's show on, at Middlebury August 24, which, will be one of the days of the county fair. As grounds have been leased and license paid, it is thought it will be difficult to keep the circus out.

Lieut. J. H. Holden, of the United States navy, who has been in Burlington and with his parents at Cedar Beach for the past month has returned to Washington, D. C., to resume his duties at the naval gun factory. After a short stay there he expects to go on a three years' cruise. Mrs. Holden will remain in Burlington for the present.

Town Clerk O. M. Jones of Warren recently went into the pasture to catch a horse when J. L. Cummings's bull chased him. He crawled to the summit of a high rock and out of immediate danger. Henry Stearns went to his rescue with a pitchfork and soon attracted another rock. Finally Fred Lane, familiar with the playful ways of the beast, coaxed him to the barn and the two men were safe.

Lightning's Freaks.

A bolt of lightning came down the chimney of the Edward Crane house in Danville, shattering the brick work to the ground. Then ran all over the house, tearing off tiles and plaster in several rooms, upsetting the furniture, scattering the contents of a clothes press into the adjoining shed, bending flat the doubler of a carriage nearby and finally leaving by the telephone wire. The telephone instrument was thrown across the room and the boards of the house were torn off at the point where the wire entered, but no fire was started. Mary and Harry Crane were in the house all through the storm, but were uninjured, although the bed on the side of Harry's head was singed.

During a heavy thunder shower in Sutton, lightning struck the residence of Otis Jenerman. It demoralized the chimney and entered the room where Maud Jenerman was seated, tearing off the door casing about four feet from where she was sitting. The house was set on fire, but Miss Jenerman was uninjured.

AN EMPRESS' ESCAPE.

Count Nigra Tells How Eugenie Was Taken from Tuileries to Safety.

The late Count Nigra, whose death was reported the other day, was once Italian ambassador at Paris, and in that capacity helped the Empress Eugenie to escape from the Tuileries in 1870.

The incident is thus related by Nigra: "Napoleon was a prisoner, all Paris was crushed by the desolating news which eventually arrived, and thousands surrounded the Tuileries. The empress was in despair and could not be persuaded to leave the palace. To General Trochu the task of protecting her majesty had been committed. He showed himself, however, very inactive, and seemed inclined to let matters take their course.

"In the ante-chamber to her majesty's apartments Count Richard Metternich and Count Nigra suddenly appeared and demanded admission. The adjutant on duty refused to let them pass. The two diplomats brushed him aside and threw open the door where the empress sat. They advised her immediate flight, telling her she would otherwise inevitably be lost. At last their advice prevailed, and accompanied by Mme. Lebreton, and wearing only a light mantilla, she hurried through the picture gallery and a long corridor to a side door, where the sentinel refused to let them pass.

"Counts Metternich and Nigra made, however, short work of him, and led the empress into the street, where a man was haranguing a crowd and violently abusing Napoleon to some thousands of people. Nigra called to a passing fiacre. A boy exclaimed: 'You are the empress.' Count Nigra gave the boy a blow, crying: 'Take that for having cried, "Long live the Prussians!"' Then followed the well-known flight to the house of Dr. Evans, from which place she proceeded on her journey."—London Telegraph.

And So Did He.

He oftly loved a little maid
One rich in looks and clothes,
But fate was most unkind to him,
He never could propose.

One day while in his motor car
He murmured "Will you be"—
And then the honking' back broke down,
And so did he.

Again, while in his motor boat
He started, "Dear Marie"—
When suddenly the engine stopped,
And so did he.

While on a surface car one night
He spoke, "Oh, promise me"—
And then the car got off the track,
And so did he.

So she got spliced to some else,
And so did he. —Puck.

OBITUARY

Elizabeth Bennett Dyer passed away at her home in Concord, N. H., Tuesday, July 5, 1904, after a six weeks' illness. She came to reside for the two last years, providing for uncle a wood-working factory there.

In an experiment with a new marble cleaning fluid, School Commissioner J. F. Lamb and Albert Young, of Rutland, recently burned their hands. The cleaner contained hydrofluoric acid.

Lydia Huntington Eastman.

Lydia Huntington Eastman, wife of William G. Eastman, died at her home in Washington, Tuesday, July 26, after an illness of several months. Mrs. Eastman was the daughter of Charles W. and Alice Dickey Huntington, of Washington. She was born March 11, 1871, and was one of five children, the others being Fred C. Huntington, Hattie S., Forrest L. and Ethel Huntington Eastman, all living. At 15 years of age she was baptized and united with the Free Will Baptist church of Washington, and until her death was a faithful, earnest and conscientious Christian woman. She was a member of the Washington lodge of Good Templars, the Ladies' Church Aid and Christian Endeavor societies. She was always faithful to the duties she owed to them and will be greatly missed by all.

In the early winter she had to give up her active duties and everything that could be done was done to restore her to health. She wanted to live if possible for the sake of her family, but for several weeks before her death it was evident that the end was near. On the morning of the 26th she called her family around her and quietly passed on to the better land. She had fought a good fight, she had kept the faith.

The funeral services were held in the Baptist church Thursday at 2 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, Rev. F. H. Perkins, from II Timothy, 4:8: "Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness."

There were many beautiful floral tributes, among them being a lovely pillow from the family with the word "Mother," asters and smilax from her father; carnations from Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Eastman; wreath from brothers and sisters; pillow of pansies and candytuft from Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dickey; carnations, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Huntington; sweet peas and roses from Harry Dickey; asters from Mrs. George Cassey; day lilies, Mrs. R. F. Richardson; asters, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Richardson; roses, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Tillotson; asters, Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Hutchinson; star of flowers, Dr. and Mrs. Minard; asters, Mrs. Sallie Rock; mixed flowers from the Ladies' Aid society; asters, Good Templars; carnations, Christian Endeavor society.

She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, W. G. Eastman; three daughters, Florence E., Jessie A. and Ethel A., and one son, Theodore R., of sixteen months. Interment in family lot in new cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere thanks for the kindness of our friends and neighbors in our bereavement, and for the floral tributes to the memory of our beloved wife and mother.

W. G. Eastman and family.

RECENT DEATHS.

Word has been received in Underhill of the death in Brattleboro Thursday of Edwald S. Whitcomb, who was for many years and until his health failed, a prominent business man in that section. Mr. Whitcomb was 56 years of age and is survived by a wife and three sisters, Mrs. Ellen H. Mann of this town, Mrs. Burl H. Day of New York city and Mrs. Martin L. Washburn of San Francisco, Cal.

James Butterfield of Lincoln died Tuesday evening. He had been in failing health all summer, but was confined to his bed only since Friday. He was a highly respected citizen, having lived in Lincoln since early manhood. He survived not only his immediate family, consisting of a wife and two daughters, but all his brothers and sisters. His niece, Mrs. Hannah Varney, had kept his home and cared for him the last three years. He was born in June, 1819.
