Oh, the Poor Clerk.

When my Myrtilla heaves a sigh
And says new shoes she'll have to buy
I feel quite sorry for the clerk
I know just how he'll have to work.

I know that she'll compell that man
To show her every shade of tan
And then she'll set him to unpack
Two dozens boxes of the black.

She'll say one minute that she feels
She must have military heels;
The next, without the least pretense
Of shame, she'll want the "common sense."

She'll call for button, ankle high,
And then she'll want an oxford tie,
And then again she'll change her mind
And ask him for some other kind.

When she has settled on the style
She'll sit and try them on a while.
For hours and hours and hours she'll sit
And yet she'll never get a fit

The reason is, she always tries
To get them in her proper size.
She stubbornly insists that twos
Are what she always takes in shoes.

Perhaps the clerk, by slow degrees,
At last will squeeze her feet in threes
I'm mighty sorry for that clerk:
I know just how he'll have to work

ABOUT THE STATE

Miss Sarah R. Place has been appointed town superintendent of schools in Highgate in place of Miss Lillie McKenney, resigned.

The graduating class of St. Michael's college, Winooski, numbers twelve members. The Rev. D. J. O'Sullivan of St. Albans is to deliver an address at the graduating exercises to-morrow afternoon.

Mrs. C. North of Shoreham, state regent, and Mrs. L. B. Lord of Burlington, state chaplain, have organized the General Lewis Norris Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, in Springfield. The new chapter has forty-seven charter members.

John W. Buemond of Bellows Falls has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the office in Rutland of F. S. Platt, clerk of the United States court. He has liabilities of $2,115.48, and his assets amount to $1,786.19, of which $265 is claimed to be exempt.

John G. Scofield, whose promotion to the new position of assistant secretary of war and chief clerk, created for him by Congress at the session just ended, becomes effective July 1. Mr. Scofield was born in Pittsford, December 27, 1860, and was educated in the public schools of Philadelphia and at Middlebury. He was graduated from Middlebury college in the lease of 1880 and was a member of the Chi Psi college fraternity.

Edward D. Leonard, a son of Mrs. Cora G. Leonard of Brattleboro, and a graduate of the Brattleboro high school in 1904, has been selected as a member of the Hitchcok biological expedition which left Greenfield, Mass., Saturday to hunt fossils in the West under the direction of Professor Loomis of Amherst college. Mr. Leonard is now in his junior year at Amherst and next year he will act as assistant in the biological department. The party, consisting of Professor Loomis and three Amherst students, will go direct to Rapid City, S. Da., and will travel with horses and wagons two hundred miles to some Indian stone quarries in wild country in Converse county. Then they will visit sections of Nebraska and Colorado in search of horse, camel and rhinoceros bones.

Boys Held on Charge of Burglary.

Jesse Tenney and Louis Boyette of Vergennes, each 16 years old, have been placed under bonds in the sum of $500 by Judge E. W. Gibson of Brattleboro, to appear at the next term of the county court at Newfane to answer to the charge of burglary. M. I. Reed of Vernon became surety for Tenney, but the other boy was taken to Newfane jail. The burglary was committed a week ago, the post-office and store in Vernon, run by Elias P. Johenson, being entered. About $8 belonging to the telephone company and some stamped envelopes and a revolver belonging to the postmaster were stolen. Later the revolver was found in the possession of another boy, who said he bought it of Boyette. Boyette said he got it of Tenney, and the latter confessed that he and Boyette committed the burglary. They waived examination before Judge Gibson.

To Erect Memorial on Fort St. Anne.

Green Mountain chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, went Saturday to Isle La Motte, where a special meeting was held at the home of ex-Lieut.-Gov. and Mrs. Nelson W. Fisk. The trip was made on the steamer Chateaugay in connection with the annual boat ride of St. Paul's Sunday school.

The meeting was held to consider the part which the local chapter will take in defraying the expenses incidental to the erection of a memorial next year on the spot near the site of Fort St. Anne, where Samuel de Champlain and his followers landed, being the first white men to traverse that section of the country. The daughters also made this their observance of Flag day.

The memorial is to be erected by the combined efforts of the Daughters of Revolution throughout Vermont. This memorial will be a huge boulder on which will be mounted a bronze tablet, suitably inscribed. It will be dedicated in connection with the observance of the Champlain tercentennary celebration in the summer of 1909. The site chosen for this memorial is an elevation a short distance from the lake shore and commands an excellent view of the water and surrounding landscape. It is supposed to have been an ancient Indian look-out. Ex-Lieut.-Gov. Fisk, who has made a considerable study of the historical associations of Isle La Motte, gave a very interesting talk to the women. Remarks were also made by Gen. T. S. Peck.

American Vulgarity.

The old-fashioned American who enjoyed hearing the eagle scream will find much satisfaction in Ellen Terry's "My First appearence in America" in the June McClure's.

"Are you glad to get back?' said an English friend.

"'Very.'

"'It's a land of vulgarity, isn't it?'

"'Yes, if you mean by that a wonderful land—a land of sunshine and light, of happiness, of faith in the future!' I answered. I saw no misery or poverty there. Everyone looked happy. What hurts me on coming back to England is the hopless look on so many faces; the dejection and apathy of the people standing about on the streets. Of course there is poverty in New York, but not among the Americans. The Italians, the Russians, the Poles—all the host of immigrants washed in daily across the harbour—these are poor, but you don't see them unless you go Bowery ways and even then you can't help feeling that in their sufferings there is always hope. Vulgarity? I saw little of it. I thought that the people who had amassed large fortunes used their wealth beautifully. When a man is rich enough to build himself a big, new house, he remembers some old house which he once admired, and he has it imitated with all the technical skill and care that can be had in America. This accounts for the odd jumble of style in Fifth Avenue, along the lake-side in Chicago, in the new avenues in St. Louis and elsewhere. One millionaire's house is modelled on a French chateau, another on an old Colonial house in Virginia, another on a monastery in Mexico, another is like an Italian palazzo. And their imitations are never weak or pretentious.

Only Twenty-five Years Ago.

That time and change do better team work in America then elsewhere is the general impression left by Ellen Terry's "My First Appearence in America" in the June McClure's.

"I set out in 1883 form Liverpool on board the 'Britanic' with the fixed conviction that I should never, never return. For six weeks before we started the word America had only to be breathed to me, and I burst into floods of tears! I was leaving my children, my bullfinch, my parrot, my 'aunt' Boo, whom I never expected to see again alive, just because she said I never would, and I was going to face the unknown dangers of the Atlantic and of a strange, barbarous land. Our farewell performance in London had cheered me up a little—though I wept copiously at everyone—by showing us that we should be missed. Henry Irving's position seemed to be confirmed and ratified by all that took place before his departure. The dinners he had to eat, the speeches he had to make and to listen to, were really terrific! One speech at the Rabelais Club had, it was said, the longest peroration on record. It was this kind of thing: 'Where is our friend Irving going? He is going like Nares to face the perils of the far North. He is not going like A— to face something else. He is not going to China,' etc.—and so on. After about the hundredth 'he is not going,' Lord Houghton, who was one of the guests, grew very impatient and interrupted the orator with: 'Of course he isn't! He's going to New York by the Cunard Line. It'll take him about a week!'"

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.
