CONTINUOUS IN THE SUBWAY.

A Moving Picture Show Which Lasts All Day Long.

A tissue of patches with a smile on top, a very broad, well-dentated African smile—that's what each of them was. They flattened themselves against the front door of a downtown subway express and watched the moving picture show as the train whisked past station after station on the way to Brooklyn bridge.

That they were black and diminutive and tattered you could tell from behind. It was there that most of the patches were, anyhow. The smile you saw when the train came to a stop and they turned around to wriggle through the crowd of scattering passengers.

You couldn't help following them. Those patches held your eye, and you chased them up one flight of stairs and down the next and watched them run plump up against the closed doors of an express just starting up town.

"That don't make no matter," said one patch.

"We got all day," agreed the other.

Then they both laughed.

"All day in the subway?" you asked in wonder.

"Sure!" in concert.

"But isn't it expensive, that is, don't you have to have a lot of nickels?"

"Two," answered the first patch.

"For the both of us," put in the other.

"What, for all day?"

They took counsel. "Say, Ferdy, shall we put him wise?"

"Sure!" came the verdict.

And then with the air of those who know and are willing to tell:

"Fourteenth street"——

"Tha's fi' cents"——

"An git on a train to here."

"Sure. Tuh here. And then come acrost there," and he pointed to the bridge between the platforms over which you had followed them.

"Yes!" you encouraged.

"Back to Fourteenth and go acrost one o' them things ag'in."

"And the ticket chopper—I mean the man who asks you for a ticket—what's he doing all this time?" you inquired.

"Oh, t'ell wi' him. His biz is off to the other end of the station."

Then the express slid in and the patches dug for front seats at the five-cent moving picture show that lasts all day.—New York Sun.

ABOUT THE STATE

Lake Memphremagog at Newport is frozen over as far as the eye can see and the skating is excellent.

The water is all out of the lower pond in Hinesburg and it is said that thousands of fish, pout, perch, bass and pickerel, are frozen in the mud.

The Rev. J. K. Williams of Peacham, in forty-two years has been absent from his pulpit one Sunday only and then because of sickness in his family.

Navigation on Lake Champlain will close with the trip of the steamer Ticonderoga Saturday from Burlington to Plattsburg and return. Thursday the steamer will make its last trip to Essex.

A choral union of twenty-five or thirty members has been organized at Woodstock with the Rev. Benjamin F. Swift as director. It is expected that the membership will be increased to about forty.

James Bulley, of Middletown Springs has been fined $35 and costs by Justice Leroy Southworth for Sunday hunting. He had five grey squirrels in his possession when arrested November 22. County Game Warden B. H. Stickney of Rutland prosecuted.

Considerable uneasiness is felt in regard to the length of time the supply of water remaining in Minard's pond at Bellows Falls will last if the present state of weather continues. Fears are entertained that unless rain or melting snow relieve conditions within two or three weeks it will be necessary to establish a pumping station, as was necessitated a number of years ago. It is probable an article will be introduced into the warning of the village meeting next month to see if the voters will not authorize the raising of the dam of the reservoir the additional five feet that was discussed when it was raised the first five feet a few years ago. Pumping would have been necessitated a number of months ago if the village had not raised the dam the first five feet, and with the extreme dry season it is probable the water would have been exhausted.

Diseased Cattle Not Yet Disposed of.

In connection with the finding of 76 out of 126 cows tested infected with tuberculosis, on the Vermont Marble Co.'s farms in Ruland couny yesterday, it is said that none of the cattle has yet been killed and it has not definitely been decided where this will take place. They will probably all be driven to one place and there be slaughtered and buried. The cattle infected with the disease are Jerseys, grades and a few Holsteins.

The testing of these cattle grew out of the discovery by Dr. Robert Weir at the Temple Brothers' farm of about 90 cattle which were suffering from tuberculosis or cow consumption. The milk from these farms has been delivered in Proctor on milk routes.

Wanted on Charge of Burglary.

Fred Bartlett, 19 years old, who is wanted in Bellows Falls, on the charge of breaking, entering, and larceny in cottages last summer, was arrested in Northampton, Mass., Sunday. Two or three young men, implicated in the same burglaries, were captured, but Bartlett escaped, and there was reason to believe he was in Northampton.

The local chief of police, who was given a minute description of the young man, has been on the watch all the fall, but it was not until Sunday afternoon that anyone answering his description was discovered. When Bartlett was taken to the chief's office he declared that he was not the man wanted. So sure was the chief that he telephoned to Sheriff A. H. Thompson, of Bellows Falls, and the latter came down on the afternoon train, recognized Bartlett, and took him home on the Montreal express, last evening, the young fellow being willing to go without requisition papers.

He had been at work in Thayer's stable about a week and went under the name of I. Lamontaigne. He told the chief that he went from Bellows Falls to Canada and did not go to Northampton until a week ago.

Largest Round Barn in New England.

Probably the largest round barn in New England was erected last summer by R. J. Lang of East Charleston. S. E. Norris of Charleston, had charge of the work.

The building is 100 feet in diameter and is 22 foot posted. It is sided with single boards and novelty siding. The roof is a two-thirds pitch, is shingled, and has a cupola 13 feet high. The stable, which is built around the inside, is 27 feet wide and ties 60 head of cattle, 12 horses and also leaves space for three walks into the feed floor, a separate room, where a gasoline engine furnishes power to run the separator, churn, ensilage cutter, and thresning machine. There is plenty of room behind the cows to tie calves. The second floor, reached by a drive under the main drive way, is arranged for storing machinery and tools. The drive floor is 28 feet above the sills and is reached by a covered driveway of easy grade. The bay space is 17½ feet deep and extends around the barn directly over the stables. The center or core of the barn is 45 feet in diameter and runs from the drive floor to the basement with doors on the different floors. It is arranged for silos and bay. There is plenty of room in the bay spaces for over 300 tons, and not a fork full has to be pitched up. Feed traps are arranged on the second floor so the fodder can be dropped near the mangers.

About 100,000 feet of lumber was used in the building and 80,000 shingles on the roof, all of which Mr. Lang cut on his farm and sawed out in his mill. When the building was partly completed a planer and matcher and some other machinery was set up in the stable and run by a gasoline engine and the finish lumber was gotten out there. Patent swing stanchion are used in the stable.

RANDOLPH

Water Shortage is Again Causing Much Alarm.

The water commissioners have ordered a canvas for the examination of every faucet in town to discover if possible where the waste of water is. For the last few days the water in the large reservoir has lowered more than two feet and the pump is broken at the small reservoir so no water can be pumped from there into the main and the outlook is very discouraging.

Miss Gertrude Pearsons of Montpelier is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. H. Ingalls, this week.

Rev. W. T. Sparhawk of Cabot is at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Sparhawk, for a few days this week.

George Clough of Braintree has sold his farm to Fred Lane who has for a long time been on the Victor Spear farm.

Charles Stockwell has returned from Northfield, where he has been for two days in the store of Stockwell Brothers at that place.

Rev. and Mrs. W. I. Chalmers after spending a month with Mrs. J. P. Cleveland, left for their home in Riverhead, L. I., on Wednesday.

Mrs. Walter Wedgwood had a severe fall on the walk near her home on Wednesday night and although no bones were broken she was unable to get up till assistance came from a passer by.

Justin Holman has purchased the house on Park street between Mr. Carney's and Mrs. Jones and is moving it forward several feet and raising it higher and will convert it into a comfortable tenement with perhaps a shop or workroom for himself in one story.

SWANTON TO CELEBRATE.

Will Assist in Champlain Tercentenary With Its Own Event.

Swanton, Dec. 10.—A largely attended meeting of the board of trade was held Tuesday evening at the Taquahunga club. W. H. Crockett of St. Albans, a member of the Champlain Tercentenary commission, gave an address, following which it was voted by the association to hold a big celebration Saturday, July 3, in connection with the general tercentenary celebration. A committee was appointed to make arrangements and another meeting will be held within the next ten days.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
