Orphan's Court. March 14, 1893. Court met—all the orphans present.

Will of Margaret E. Floyd presented for probate and Court ordered notice to be given to natural heirs.

Mrs. Ellen Bunting was appointed guardian to orphans of Benj. Rickson.

Court adjourned to meet Monday, March 15, instant.

Bill at the Front. Herbert F. Moore, of Moore's Hotel, has made extensive preparations for March Court.

The rooms have been nicely aired and the beds and bedding thoroughly renovated. His table, as is well known, cannot be surpassed in the State.

He has a full supply of champagne and cognac and a full corps of competent waiters who will give every attention to the guests.

John D. Lucas Dead. Mr. John D. Lucas, a Baltimore book and job printer, died suddenly Saturday night at his home, at Ruxton, on the Northern Central Railway, of paralysis of the heart.

Mr. Lucas was sixty-two years old and leaves a family. He was a brother of Charles H. Lucas, of this county, and of W. H. Lucas, of the Baltimore police and fire alarm telegraph, and was a son of the late John Lucas, who carried on the book and printing business in Baltimore for a half century ago.

Mr. John D. Lucas was a partner in the business before his death and has since conducted it on his own account.

Tragic Fire. On Sunday morning Mr. John N. Graves' stable on the Three Notched Road, was destroyed by fire. It was one of the best houses in the county and Mr. Graves had devoted much time and money in improving and beautifying it.

Mr. Graves and family have been residing in Washington, but intending to return to the city, had sent word to have the house repaired and prepared for their reception.

We are told that a colored boy went to the house, saw it and built a fire in the stove, starting it with coal oil. It is thought that the oil can was inadvertently left near the stove and that the fire resulted therefrom.

There was no insurance. Mr. Graves has our sincere sympathy in his loss.

Entertainment of the North East Public School. The annual entertainment given by the pupils of the North East public school, on Saturday evening, in the G. A. R. Hall, closed all previous ones given by the school, and reflects much credit on the principal of the school, Professor Mattingly, for the careful training given each pupil in respect to their performances and deportment.

Notwithstanding the inclement state of the weather in the early part of the day, the hall was filled at an early hour with almost capacity by an attentive and appreciative audience from the town and surrounding country.

The exercises opened with an overture by the Gresham orchestra, followed by prayer by Rev. W. Koone. A greeting song, "Welcome Once a Year," was then sung by sixty pupils of mixed grades. Then came in order a solo, "A Life on the Ocean Wave," by Miss Annie M. Grosh; chorus, "Send Him a Song," by the pupils in the first and second readers, instrumental music by the Gresham Orchestra, duet, "Mill Wheel," Lore Foster and Eva Bacon; instrumental music, "Resort Cavalcade," by the Gresham Orchestra; motion song, "Little Mothers," by the girls in the first and second readers, solo, "Sherman's March to the Sea," by Prof. Coletti; recitation, "Books," by G. Bernard Mattingly; duet, "On the Banks of That Beautiful River," by Misses Grosh; music, by the Gresham Orchestra; motion song, "Our Country's Delight," music, "Garden Hours Schottische," by the Gresham Orchestra; dialogue, "Dear Uncle Zede," in two scenes; duet, "Gospel Path," by Professor and Alfred Coletti; motion song, "The Fisherman's Song," by Irene Foster; trio, "Alpine Horn," by Misses and Mrs. A. Grosh; recitation, "The Little Dutch Boy," by Eddie Hammond; duet, "Old Buck Joe," by Professor and Alfred Coletti; speech, "Pantomimic Gestures," by Axel Cameron; music, "National Melodies," by the Gresham orchestra; cantata, "School Festival," trio, "Twilight is Falling," by Misses and Mr. A. Grosh; chorus, "The Bird's Ball," by the pupils in the third reader; music, by the Gresham Orchestra; chorus, "Singing Song," by the pupils in the fourth reader; trio, "Fading, Still Fading," by Misses and Mr. A. Grosh; spelling bee by the pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades; prizes awarded by Frank S. Everist, president of the county school board; music "Lillian Polka," by the Gresham orchestra, "Closing Song," music, "Madeline Waltz," by the Gresham orchestra.

All the selections were of such a high order that it would seem unfair to make special mention of any one. The cantata, however, viewed from all standpoints, was without precedent, the finest selection ever given by any school in the county. The first prize in spelling was awarded to Mabel Matthews, and was a gold dollar donated by Geo. A. Ash, of the school board.

Mr. Mattingly is a native of this county and a son of the late Geo. Mattingly—Eds. BEACON.

Charged With Bigamy. John T. Merryman is held at the eastern police station upon the charge of bigamy, preferred by Dora Merryman. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Merryman swore out a warrant for her husband, which was served by Sergeant Jones. Mrs. Merryman says she married John T. Merryman, February 24, 1891, after a five-weeks' acquaintance, and that the ceremony was performed in the gate-house of Greenmount Cemetery by Rev. W. C. Curley, of Greenmount Methodist Episcopal Church. She has a child fourteen months old. The Merrymans live at 1733 Eastern avenue, and the husband is employed in the shipyard of the James Clark Company. Mrs. Merryman refused to say anything more than that Merryman has another wife in Washington. Merryman says he was not married to the Washington woman. Mrs. Merryman was formerly Miss Dora Brown. She says she is twenty-two years old, and her parents are dead.—Sun, March 11, 1893.

The records in the office of the Clerk of the Mary's Circuit Court show that between the 23rd day of February 1891, and March 4th 1891, one John T. Merryman was married to Ida V. Norris by Rev. J. B. Gaffney, S. J. If the man under arrest in Baltimore can be identified as the man who was married here the case against him will be conclusive.

A Game Dredger. Last week information was brought to Commander O. G. Hayden that dredgers were working in the mouth of the Wicomico river. Knowing that it was useless to start them there in the Besiege, Mate Coode and two men were sent down in a small boat to reconnoitre. Meanwhile preparations were made to get the Jones under way but as soon as she was seen to make sail the dredgers started to run. Lieut. Coode, who by this time, had come up close to them, ordered one of the vessels to leave to the dredger's stern. Then the dredger and the ball opened. So effectively did Mr. Coode and his men ply their rifles that spokes of the dredger's steering wheel were shot out, his dredge crank broken and his yawl riddled. Still he kept on. Then a chase began. After sailing all the afternoon the Jones got within a mile and a half of the dredger, off Colonial Beach, and opened on him with her cannon. Five shots took effect, the jib was brought down and the officers of the law took possession of the Mary C. Ward, Capt. Ashbury Middleton. The prisoner was taken before Justice Lancaster, of Charles county, tried, adjudged guilty and fined $50 and costs, which he settled, remarking that he had paid dearly for finding out where not to dredge.

The Case of Raphael Downs. His Honor Judge Crane heard argument last Thursday in the habeas corpus case of Raphael Downs, who is charged with assaulting L. J. Wise with intent to kill. Counsel for the prisoner contended that the bail of $500 required by magistrate Justice was excessive. State's Attorney Camaller argued that the Circuit Court had no power to review matters which the law leaves to the discretion of magistrates and that the amount of a bail bond was altogether discretionary with the committing Justice, who, in the present case, in the exercise of a wise discretion, had fixed the penalty of the bond at a figure commensurate with the importance of the charge. Judge Crane decided against the State's Attorney and after hearing testimony in the case placed the bail at $300. Sureties were found for this amount and the prisoner was released from custody. Mr. Wise was not present at the hearing being absent from the county on an extended trip. As soon as Mr. Downs was out of jail he was re-arrested on a peace warrant and taken before Justice Jo. F. Morgan who held him in $100 bail. F. N. Holmes Esqr., became surety for this and Mr. D. went his way. Monday, another warrant for his arrest was sworn out before Justice Coletti and a hearing was set for Tuesday. Downs could not be apprehended.

Lowtown Local. (From our Regular Correspondent.) It is 6 o'clock p. m., and the bell in the steeple of St. Michael's church warns the faithful to make their devotions. Luna does not shed her comforting rays upon this part of mother earth until the chancery has informed us that the minute and hours hands are together indicating that another portion of time called a day has been numbered with its many predecessors. A great loneliness steals over us like the choke in the throat of the 14 year old boy whose mother won't let him go to the only frolic of the season. We endeavor to bear our fate in a philosophical like manner, notwithstanding the patent fact that we cannot boast of a heavenly disposition of spirit.

We are not dealing in visions of fancy when we state that Mrs. B. E. Dunbar, Mrs. A. S. Benville, Mrs. W. C. Welch, Mrs. Fannie Dice and Miss Mary E. Hebb are regaling their normal health. Merchants are doing a tolerably brisk business, and oysters of "xx" and "xxx" brands are being shipped twice a week from Jones, Miller's and Benville's wharves.

Owing to the many and sudden changes of the weather, road supervisors find it not feasible to repair the roads in an effective way. We labor under the impression that one great end of reason is to regulate the solicitations of desire and we would counsel the impatient to entertain a proper regard for the potent auxiliaries, patience and hope, otherwise hypochondriasis may invade the sacred domain of thought and transform them into pessimists, a softened expression for hopeless souls. Our word for it, the weather will temper down to its accustomed condition—it is a little abnormal now—and then the roads will be substantially repaired and the vexed problem will have been satisfactorily solved.

One by one the veterans of Hampton's Legion (S. C.) are answering to their last roll call. William Clarke, near relative to Judge S. Clarke, H. Clay Clarke and the late Robert Clarke, died suddenly in Ohio, while drumming for a Western firm. Mr. Clarke, or "Sergeant Will" as we familiarly called him, made a good soldier. Few of the original members of the Legion survive, and we presume that we are the only member living in St. Mary's, our adopted home since '65—a Volunteer to us indeed!

The Brittan's Neck Farmer's Club met Saturday, March 11th, at the residence of Mr. Geo. H. Payne, with eleven members present. The proceedings of the last meeting were read and approved. The report of the examining committee read as follows: We, the examining committee, have looked around and find tobacco crop stripped and hung up, and looks as though it had been handled very nicely; cattle and horses in good condition. We found a very fine brood sow with nine beautiful Yorkshire pigs in good shape. We think the wheat field and binder should not be used for chickens to roost on as they cost too much money. The wheat is as good as any we have seen. The rye, which is to be turned in for the tobacco crop, is very fine. The poultry very fine and poultry house as clean as can be; the dwelling and surroundings neat and comfortable.

J. A. T. ABELL, W. S. DAVIS, WILFRED GOGGIN. A motion was made by Leo M. Wathen to suspend the rules and elect Mr. C. A. Roid Graef by acclamation, which was carried, and the secretary was ordered to notify Mr. Graef of his being elected an active member.

The subject, corn preparation, was then discussed. Mr. Payne recommends deep plowing, and also deep cultivation twice in a row both ways.

Mr. F. N. Holmes has ordered lumber for a new dwelling to be erected on his lot near the wharf. Misses Lottie May Penwick and Annie Lovejoy, of Washington, are visiting Leonardtown friends. A candy manufactory will be one of Leonardtown's attractions during the coming season of Court. At the present writing there is but one person in our county jail, awaiting trial at next Monday's Court.

Miss Nora Tippet, of Choptico, has just returned from a trip to Baltimore and Washington, where she has been visiting relatives and friends. The recent Baltimore M. E. Conference assigned Rev. W. C. Brian to Leonardtown circuit and Rev. Mr. Irving Dice to St. Mary's circuit, this county.

The case of Mr. F. K. Thompson to obtain possession of his children will not be brought to trial, it having been settled Monday last by consent.

Monday morning last, Benjamin Cottingham was released from the county jail on bail, F. N. Holmes, Esqr., becoming surety for his appearance at Court in the sum of $350.

Monday last, Daniel F. Graves, Esqr., held a public auction of household and kitchen furniture at Leonardtown and removed to Washington. We wish Mr. Graves much success at his new home.

Jurors must attend at the opening of Court Monday next, for if drawn on the Grand Jury and not on hand to swear in they will be disqualified. The Grand Jury must be filed the first day of Court.

Mr. Tazewell Thomas, son of Capt. Geo. Thomas, made the highest average in the recent examination at St. John's College. Mr. Thomas is a member of the Junior Class and his percentage was 4.73 out of a possible 5.

The March term of our Circuit Court will convene Monday next, the 20th instant. When you come to attend it don't forget to bring the small amount you know you owe the printer. We will be pleased to find that we are remembered.

Mr. V. H. Neale will be in Leonardtown Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of Court week and will take pleasure in showing his horse Rinaldo to all lovers of fine animals. Mr. N. will also give his merchant friends pointers on groceries and sell them the best goods at the lowest market prices.

Capt. James T. M. Raley—old "Grey Fox"—has replenished his bar with a choice lot of fine whiskeys, etc., etc. His table will not be surpassed in Southern Maryland. A full supply of provender on hand. He will be glad to see all his old friends and acquaintances during Court, and will make their time pass pleasantly and—feed them.
