ST. MARY'S BEACON

Wanted: a piece of board sawed planed on the outside," said Mr. Donlevy. "We had a few friends at the house last night to a christening, and the lower panel of the door got kicked out in the merriment."

"How wide do you want the piece cut?" asked the carpenter.

"The width of the door, as course," replied Mr. Donlevy.

"And how wide is the door?"

"Well, it is as wide as a chair is long, just. Ye kin jist lay a chair across it to kape the children in an' the pigs out, an' it fits as though it war matched for it."

"But all chairs are not the same size," said the carpenter.

"Awd thunder and turf! yer thick-er headed nor a railroad spike. The chair comes up just even wid the edge of the windy sill."

"But how high is the window sill?" asked Mr. Chips.

"Bother the badgering tongue o' ye," growled Mr. Donlevy; "it's only the wideness av my hand, barring the thumb, higher than the rain-water barrel that stands outside, and if ye can't make it from that ye can't have the job, and I'll take it to some carpenter that understands his business, and knows the measure av a dure in his head without making a catechism av himself. Say, can ye cut me a piece av the size av that, ye leather-headed wood butcher, ye, or will I go find a man av your craft that has half the sense ye war born wid?"

And he had to find one.

A shrewd little fellow lived with an uncle who barely afforded him the necessities of life. One day the two were out walking together and saw a very thin greyhound, and the man asked his nephew what made the dog so poor. "I expect he lives with his uncle," said the boy.

"Beauty" may be "only skin deep" but the secret of a beautiful skin is pure blood. Those coarse, rough, pimply complexions may, in most cases, be rendered soft, smooth, and fair by the persevering and systematic use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

HIS WAY.—Maud—I do not see how you can marry a man like the count, who is marrying you only for your money.

Maria—He does not put it in that way. He says he is marrying my money only for me—Brandon Banner.

GAVE HERSELF UP.—Florence—Why, Mabel, I thought you said you would never accept Arthur? Mabel—So I did, dear. But he just put his arm around my waist when he proposed, and—well, I yielded to pressure.—Judy.

Will They Wear Their Stock?—First Burglar—No use to break into that place to-night. Second Burglar—Why? First Burglar—It's the night of the diamond merchants' banquet.—Jewelers' Weekly.

Mrs. Jones was telling Mrs. Smith that her husband intended giving her an insurance policy. "O, that's nothing," replied Mrs. S. "My husband is going to give me a $1,000 bond, and he has cut all the coupons off so that I won't have any trouble with it."—Newport News.

Fenton—I had a letter from my wife that has made me happy all day long. Friend—Full of love, was it? Fenton—Not so much that, but she didn't finish up by asking for money.—Inter Ocean.

SUITS HIM.—Maxwell, Assistant Postmaster-General, may be a muggump, an anti-snapper, or a son of a gun from Dutch Ridge, but all the same he is removing Republicans from office with surprising and pleasing celerity.—Parkersburg Sentinel.

BOUND TO BE EXACT.—"Can I kiss you?" he asked the Boston girl after his proposal had been accepted. "I do not know whether you can or not," she replied critically. "He hesitated a moment. "May I kiss you?" he murmured. "That's different," she responded and he gathered them in.—Detroit Tribune.

One of the curiosities of politics in this country is to see Massachusetts raise a snout fairly dripping with swill to protest against the Demoralizing Mania for Spoils.

According to the New York Staats-Zeitung, Secretary Gresham recently said to Senator Vest: "Beim Himmel, ich bin der beste Demokrat in Washington." It is very strange if Mr. Gresham said that to Senator Vest. If he did, Mr. Vest must certainly have thought him crazy to address an ex-citizen of Scythia in such language.—Republie.

Coughing leads to consumption. Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once.

Offered the latest swindles practiced in this part of the country in an advertisement reading like this: "Cut this out and send $2.50 and you will receive a beautiful steel engraving, 'The Landing of Columbus.' This engraving is authorized by the government and is an exact copy of the work of one of the great masters." Some people answer it and receive in return a Columbian postage stamp.—Hagerstown Mail.

When Myra Clarke Gaines died, in 1887, her estate was worth $925,000. The contest that has since been going on over her will has used up $800,000 of it, and a fresh start was made in Brooklyn courts on Thursday toward whittling down the balance.

For Bronchitis
 "I never realized the good of a medicine so much as I have in the last few months, during which time I have suffered intensely from pneumonia, followed by bronchitis. After trying various remedies without benefit, I began the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and the effect has been marvelous, a single dose relieving me of choking, and securing a good night's rest."—T. A. Higginbotham, Gen. Store, Long Mountain, Va.

La Grippe
 "Last Spring I was taken down with la grippe. At times I was completely prostrated, and so difficult was my breathing that my breath seemed as if confined in an iron cage. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and no sooner had I begun taking it than relief followed. I could not believe that the effect would be so rapid."—W. H. Williams, Cook City, S. Dak.

Lung Trouble
 "For more than twenty-five years, I was a sufferer from lung trouble, attended with coughing so severe at times as to cause hemorrhage, the paroxysms frequently lasting three or four hours. I was induced to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after taking four bottles, was thoroughly cured. I can confidently recommend this medicine."—Frazz Hoffman, Clay Centre, Iowa.

ROMANCE
 The Monthly Magazine of Complete Stories.
 ROMANCE is made for that multitude of people who love stories in the good old sense of the word—not "studies in character," nor "stories with a purpose," nor "moral lessons," but stories that are simply stories, full of life and vigor and action—the sort of thing that arrests the reader's attention at the start and engrosses it to the end.
 ROMANCE contains 160 pages and publishes every month from 15 to 20 complete stories, original and selected from all literatures. During 1892 it has printed stories by Dumas, Tolstoy, Maupassant, Daudet, Dickens, Hugo, Miss Wilkins, Hawthorne, Maupassant, Haggard, O'Connell, Octave Thomet, and a host of other famous writers of the past and present—of all sorts, and of all times interesting.

ROMANCE
 publishes more stories than any other magazine in the world, and is the cheapest as well as the best subscription, $2.50 a year; Christmas number free to subscribers for 1893. A sample copy will be sent for 10 cents.
