ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

In a final drive, Rutland sold the alloted 500 tickets to guarantee the Chautauqua there this season.

S. C. Rich, for 16 years a baker in Northfield, has purchased the Daylight bakery of E. C. Hoisington in Claremont, N. H., and has taken possession.

The death of Mrs. Harriet W. Sanders Battey of Brattleboro Monday brought to mind the fact that in a family of ten children the initials of all the children's names were the same, H. W. S.

Miss Mina A. Smith, for two years superintendent of nurses at the Mary Fletcher hospital, Burlington, and before that of the hospital at St. Albans, has entered Columbia university for a course in hospital administration.

Emeric Seymour, an 11-year-old Burlington boy, has been taken to the industrial school to serve the remainder of his minority for stealing $10 from the cash register of the Richards drug store in Burlington last Sunday.

It is estimated that at least 40 students who intended to attend the summer school at Johnson were kept away by living or having taught in Washington county, where poliomyelitis conditions kept them from the school.

Leon E. Peabody, son of Rev. and Mrs. Leon E. Peabody of St. Johnsbury gave his parents a good scare recently when, after a fishing expedition, he failed to appear. Search was made along the river bank without success and then someone thought of looking in his room at home, where he was found asleep.

Burlington is to be covered with posters for the U. S. navy and anyone who refuses to allow space for such posting will be reported to the government and placed on the list of those who will bear watching. There is also a $2,000 fine for anyone tearing down or mutilating the posters.

Minard pond, the source of the Bellows Falls water supply, has been under guard since early in May. These guards are paid by the village and the town has now 50 special constables, whose commission will be in force for one year. One man is on duty at the dam in the daytime and two at night.

Articles of association have been filed with the secretary of state by the Jay Mountain Recreation company, Inc., with business in Jay and Westfield. The capital stock is $75,000. The incorporators are: W. Edward Benson of Greenfield, Mass., John S. Dorsey of Rutland, William H. Bostford of Rutland, Charles F. Clark of Greenfield, Mass., and Ernest W. Stone of Greenfield, Mass.

The state board of health and the Northfield health officer have put strict regulations in force in that place, although there are no cases of infantile paralysis there. All traveling shows are barred from entering the place until further notice, which is understood to include the Community Chautauqua, due there soon. The picture houses and churches are not included in the action.

Edgar Fletcher of Milton jumped from the motor launch in which he was taking a pleasure trip in that place Sunday and sank in deep water, the body never coming to the top and it has not yet been recovered. Fletcher without doubt made the leap with suicidal intent. His wife died about two years ago and there is no family. He was 50 years old. Several other men were in the boat when Fletcher called out, "Good-bye boys," and jumped.

Edward H. R. Green, son of Mrs. Hetty Green, was married July 10 in Chicago to Miss Mabel Harlow. Mr. Green is 48 years old and his bride is 47. They had known each other for 15 years. Mr. Green lived during his boyhood and for some years after at his mother's home in Bellows Falls. He gave his bride a wedding gift of $625,000—$500,000 in the form of a check and the remainder in Liberty bonds.

The report of the Vermont customs district at St. Albans for the month of June shows total imports of $4,113,010; duties collected $52,375.50. In June, 1916, the imports amounted to $3,513,620, and on these duties of $25,028.53 were collected. The free merchandise imported last month amounted to $3,815,316 as compared with $2,319,025 for the corresponding month last year. Last month the dutiable merchandise amounted to $297,694 compared with $194,596 in June, 1916.

JAIL-BIRDS CAUGHT IN VERMONT.

Austin Newell and George D. Blythe Had Fled from Keene, N. H.

Keene, N. H., July 12.—Austin Newell, 18, of Saxtons River, Vt., and George D. Blythe of Keene broke out of the Keene jail between 11 and 12 o'clock Tuesday night, stole a Ford runabout owned by Samuel Cole, which stood on the street near the owner's home, and escaped into Vermont. They were caught by Deputy Sheriff George P. Alexander of Saxtons River yesterday forenoon on an old wood road near the Cadoret place about a mile and a half northerly from Houghtonville village, 12 miles from Saxtons River. Mr. Alexander took the young men to the police station in Bellows Falls and kept them there until the arrival of the noon train from Keene bearing Sheriff Lord, who accompanied the youths back to Keene.

Newell was put in jail recently in default of bail of $600, to await the action of the grand jury in October. He is charged with the theft of an automobile from Mrs. Mary Edson of Keene. Blythe was in jail in default of bail on a forgery charge. His case also will come before the grand jury in October. He has a court record. The privileges of the jail which they enjoyed before breaking out will be denied them.

Blythe and Newell were the only prisoners in the jail when locked in a cell Tuesday night at 6 o'clock. It is thought that they had loosened a nut on the cell door before being locked up. By reaching through the bars of the cell door they were able to remove the nut and then the door. With a brace from the bed after reaching the corridor they knocked out some bricks in the jail wall about four feet from the floor and then crawled through the opening six feet above the ground. It was an easy matter to climb over the 12-foot iron fence around the jail.

Sheriff Lord and Jailer Charles Williams live in the jail building, but so far from the cells that they heard no noise of the removal of the brick, and the escape of the two prisoners was not discovered until Jailer Williams went to the cell yesterday morning.

On Court street Newell and Blythe saw Mr. Cole's runabout, which had been left in the street by a man who had been handling it, Mr. Cole having sustained an injury to one foot. They jumped into the car and made a hurried departure for the Green mountain state.

When the men were missed Sheriff Lord got busy on the telephone and Deputy Sheriff F. J. Bennett, City Marshal Philbrick and Mr. Cole started out to scour the country. Later the sheriff got news from Deputy Alexander of Vermont that the fugitives and machine had been captured, and he called his deputy and the other men.

The capture by Deputy Sheriff Alexander was effected through a valuable tip from a Grafton man and good work by the officer. Early yesterday morning the Grafton man called Deputy Alexander by telephone and asked if Newell wasn't supposed to be in the Keene jail. He said he used to know Newell and had seen him in the morning with another man in an automobile. The officer was quick to take the situation and was soon on the trail, the automobile track in the unused road helping materially. He followed the trail to where the car was left in the woods and then went on toward the abandoned Cadoret place, where Newell formerly lived.

Deputy Alexander had gotten nearly to the building when he heard voices and stepped into the bushes. Presently Newell and Blythe came down the road from the house and the officer confronted them and they surrendered without opposition. In the automobile were a jar of strawberry preserves and some biscuits, but it was not learned where the articles were obtained.

WARNING TO POTATO GROWERS

Late Blight Infection Is Greatly to Be Feared.

The weather conditions of the past week have been very favorable to the development of the late blight of the potato. A careful examination by the agricultural extension service of the state university of potato plants from plots in Burlington has shown the disease on some of the leaves. The disease appears as irregular dead, shrivelled, brown spots on the edges or sides of the lower leaves, especially those leave sin contact with the soil. The weather conditions at Burlington (high temperature and humidity) have probably been fairly general throughout the state. A general late blight infection is therefore to be feared, and growers of potatoes—whether city lots or in fields—are warned of the danger to their crop unless spraying with Bordeaux mixture is carried out as soon as possible.

Treatment.

The Spray Mixture: No better compound has been discovered with which to combat potato diseases than home-made Bordeaux mixture. It is made of copper sulphate (blue vitriol), water-slaked lime and water. It is only a fungicide and does not kill the Colorado potato beetle. If combined with paris green or arsenate of lead, both insect and fungus are attacked. Paris green is quicker in its action than arsenate of lead, but washes off more readily and is most costly. Either works well. Both adhere to the foliage much longer if applied in connection with the Bordeaux mixture. The spray mixture should be made as follows:

Dissolve 30 pounds copper sulphate in 30 gallons of water in a wooden vessel by suspending the crystals in a sack over night. Slake 30 pounds lime with water and add enough more to make 30 gallons. These are the stock solutions. They may be prepared at the beginning of the season and will keep indefinitely, but must not be mixed until the day they are to be used. On the day the spraying is to be done, put three gallons of the blue vitriol solution in separate container and dilute this to approximately 20 gallons. Put three gallons of the lime solution in another container and dilute this to 20 gallons. Then mix the two solutions, stirring rapidly as they are poured together. The mixture should be strained through a sack or piece of cheesecloth to remove the lime particles. Stir three-fourths pound of paris green or one and one-half pounds dry of arsenate of lead) in a little water until it forms a paste and add part to each barrel of the mixture. Then add water enough to bring the whole to 50 gallons.

Time of Application: The first application should be made when the newly hatched "potato bugs" are seen or the flower buds appear, usually the first week in July. The foliage, especially the lower leaves, should be thoroughly covered. Other aplications should be made at intervals of about two weeks. An application about Sept. 1 is especially desirable since late blight epidemics at this time are usually followed by destructive potato rots.

Cost of Materials: Two barrels to the acre should be used, costing:

3 pounds of copper sulphate	@ 18c	$0.54
3 pounds of lime	@ 1c	.03
1½ pounds of paris green	@ 55c	.83
One application		$1.40
Four applications		$5.60

The Results: Bordeaux-arsenical spraying, if properly conducted, insures the crop against blight and beetles. No bank should loan money on potatoes that are not thus cared for. The protection against early death from tip-burn and flea-beetle injury will repay the cost of the spraying in years when no blight occurs.

Didn't Need a Doctor.

"Let me kiss those tears away!" he begged tenderly. She fell in his arms, and he was busy for the next few minutes. And yet the tears flowed on. "Are you suffering? Can nothing stop them?" he asked, breathlessly sad.

"No," she murmured; 'it's only a cold, you know. But go on with the treatment."—Ladies' Home Journal.

A Grand Combination

For one week, beginning July 7, we will give a new Champion milk cooler, value $8, with every No. 17 DeLaval separator sold and more than that we will sell you the separator at the old price. You know, of course, that all DeLaval separators have advanced $10 each. The price on a No. 17 now is $120; for one week our price for both will be only $110.

Come and see.

For Haying—You Need Them Now!

You can have them. A Studebaker low wheeled truck at $35, is the handiest thing in the world for haying and at that price is better than compound interest. A genuine New York Champion Rake, you know what that is, price $25.00. Both for one week only or until stock is exhausted for only $55. Early buying is safe buying.
