ABOUT THE STATE

Happenings of Interest from Different Sections.

Waterbury Center is making plans for a community playground, with a playleader.

The centennial celebration of the settling of the French homestead in Glover in 1819 was held at the farm July 2.

Alex Gardenell got one foot caught in one of the gears at the pulp mill in East Concord, Monday, cutting off three toes and jamming the other two so that they had to be amputated.

A building boom has struck Bennington, 11 houses being under construction there at the present time. For some time there has been a great scarcity of tenements in the place.

A special town meeting has been called for Saturday in Townsend to see if the voters will authorize the leasing of the property of the Leland and Gray seminary to be used as a high school.

Mrs. W. B. Atwood fell the length of the cellar stairs at her home in St. Johnsbury a few days ago, breaking her left wrist and right arm, besides injuring one hip and badly bruising herself otherwise.

Mr. and Mrs. Pliny Duprey passed their 65th wedding anniversary at their home in Northfield June 30. They are brother and sister of Mr. and Mrs. Zeb Duprey, who have been married 59 years and who also live in Northfield.

Several Starksboro farmers have lost cattle within the past few days from Paris green poisoning, having secured the poison in some way from an adjoining field, where potatoes had been treated. Edward Sorrell lost one heifer, John Dike four and Henry Dike one.

Walter Peatman, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Peatman of Stowe, had his right leg broken in Waterbury on July 4. He was riding a bicycle when struck by an automobile. After being taken home he came down with the mumps.

G. E. Moody of Waterbury has purchased the so-called Slayton farm between Stowe and Waterbury for $10,000. This farm has been in the Slayton family for nearly 100 years, Abial H. Slayton, who died in 1917, being born there in 1829 and his father settling there in 1821.

Nelson A. Goss, an employe of the Middlebury branch of the Vermont Marble company, got his left hand on the rail of the traveling crane at the plant Wednesday and the three middle fingers were nearly severed at the knuckle joints. It is doubtful if any of them can be saved. Goss had been in the marble business for 27 years.

Two samples of water have recently been sent to Burlington from the Brattleboro water works supply, the report on one being favorable, while the other was reported "polluted; unsafe for domestic use." The sample marked "favorable" was taken from the office of Dr. Henry Tucker and the other was from his house.

After nearly 14 years of continuous service as health officer for Brattleboro, Dr. Henry Tucker relinquished his duties Tuesday because of the decision of the board of selectmen not to employ a special health officer for the town in addition to the district health officer, who is appointed by the state board of health under the provisions of the new law enacted by the last session of the legislature.

Several hundred dollars' damage was done to a Hupmobile car owned by J. J. Shakshober of Bennington and a like amount damage done to a Willys-Knight Overland owned by Roy M. Paddock of the same place, by the collision of the two in Bennington. One person was severely cut and both cars were completely smashed up. Both cars were trying to turn out for a Ford and in the mixup the other two collided.

A serious runaway occurred at Binghamsville, a village in Fletcher, July 7, when a team belonging to Miss Spaulding was left standing in front of a store with a small boy in the wagon. A passing truck frightened the horse, which ran, throwing out the boy and also running over a three-year-old girl. Both were quite badly hurt, how seriously is not yet known, and the wagon was completely demolished.

NEW PROFESSOR AT MIDDLEBURY.

Dr. H. P. Williamson de Visme to Head French Department.

Dr. H. P. Williamson de Visme, at present head of the French school of the Middlebury college summer session, has accepted a permanent position on the college faculty and will hereafter make his home in Middlebury. The importance of the work in modern languages at the summer sessions has made advisable the organization of a division of modern languages, of which Dr. de Visme will be the head. He will give instruction in the French department.

Dr. de Visme is a graduate of Middlebury college of the class of 1896. After graduate work in French at Princeton and Paris, he became associate professor of French in the University of Chicago. In 1912 he founded the Ecole de Chateau de Soisy, an institution for English-speaking students, which has met with much success. This school in France will be continued and be related to Middlebury college, and students will pass from one institution to the other. Already five French boys are in attendance at the present summer session.
